IRAN CLOSES HORMUZ HOURS AFTER TRUCE WITH US

Ceasefire collapses

April 8

LESS THAN 24 hours after the deal was signed between US-Israel and Iran to halt the conflict in West Asia, Tehran has said that it has closed the Strait of Hormuz after Tel Aviv continued to strike Lebanon where over 100 people have been killed on Wednesday.

A two-week ceasefire was agreed upon by Iran and the US earlier on Wednesday, with first in-person direct negotiations expected to take place in Islamabad. The new strikes threatened to scuttle what US Vice President JD Vance called a "fragile" deal.

"Aggression towards Lebanon is aggression towards Iran," Gen. Seyed Majid Mousavi, Iran's Revolutionary Guard aerospace commander, wrote on X.

Cautious RBI holds rate, policy stance

- GDP growth seen at 6.9% in FY27, inflation at 4.6%

MAHESH NAYAK
Mumbai, April 8

THE RESERVE BANK of India (RBI), in its first monetary policy of FY27 on Wednesday, kept the policy repo rate unchanged at 5.25%, while warning of lower growth and higher inflation as the West Asia crisis reverses a "Goldilocks phase" for the economy. The six-member Monetary Policy Committee (MPC) voted unanimously to retain the neutral stance, signalling flexibility to respond to evolving conditions without committing to either tightening or easing at this stage.

"Real GDP growth remains strong, but elevated uncertainty warranted a pause before taking a call. With a neutral stance, the repo rate can move in either direction. It is possible that low rates may persist for an extended period," said RBI Governor Sanjay Malhotra. He added that with the economy facing a supply shock, it is prudent to wait and watch how the growth-inflation dynamics evolve.

The decision comes against the backdrop of heightened geopolitical tensions in West Asia, which have disrupted energy markets and global supply chains. Rising crude prices, freight costs and insurance premiums, along with supply chain disruptions, are expected to weigh on growth momentum.

Safe-haven flows have strengthened the US dollar, pressuring emerging market currencies, while equities and sovereign bond yields have turned volatile.

For FY27, GDP growth is projected at 6.9%, with downward revisions for Q1 and Q2 to 6.8% and 6.7%, respectively. CPI inflation is estimated at 4.6% for the year, with quarterly variations ranging from 4% in Q1 to 5.2% in Q3.

For the first time, the RBI has projected core inflation at 4.4% for FY27. "While core inflation has always been monitored, this does not mark a shift in monetary policy. Headline CPI will remain the primary anchor," Malhotra said.

March contraction hits FMCG amid Iran crisis

VIVEAT SUSAN PINTO
Mumbai, April 8

FAST-MOVING CONSUMER GOODS (FMCG) sector saw a sharp deceleration in growth in the March quarter of FY26, as weak urban demand and geopolitical tensions in West Asia weighed on consumer sentiment, according to Bizom data shared exclusively with FE.

Value growth in the January-March quarter of FY26 fell to 3.6%, nearly a fourth of the 12.4% recorded in the year-ago period, indicating a broad-based slowdown in consumption. The deceleration was more pronounced in March, which saw a contraction of 0.4% in value terms, compared with growth of 5.7% and 5.5% in January and February, respectively. The retail sales platform, which tracks FMCG categories in 8 million outlets, does not report volume growth.

The data suggest a visible shift in consumption patterns, with consumers prioritising essentials such as food and staples while cutting back on discretionary categories. Segments such as packaged food, dairy, branded commodities and beverages continued to report value growth in the range of 7-10%, while home care declined 2.7% and personal care remained flat.

Analysts attributed the slowdown to a combination of external and domestic factors. Geopolitical tensions in West Asia added to uncertainty during the quarter, while earlier pressures including an urban demand slowdown, GST-led price corrections and trade-related disruptions had already weighed on growth through the year.

Mumbai–Pune Missing Link opens May 1 with next-gen safety tech at its core

Tunnel that thinks & responds

COME MAY 1, when traffic

ENGINEERING MARVEL

- If a car or bus were to catch fire,
- Even before emergency

begins to flow through the long-awaited "Missing Link" on the Mumbai–Pune Expressway, commuters may barely notice the most remarkable part of the journey: a tunnel that is quietly thinking, sensing and responding in real time. Inside this engineering marvel, safety is not left to chance—it is automated.

If a car or bus were to catch fire, sensors embedded along the tunnel walls would detect a spike in temperature within seconds. Even before emergency teams can react, a high-pressure water mist system would kick in, drenching the vehicle and the surrounding area. Linear heat-detection cables run the entire length of the tunnel, triggering nozzles placed every four metres that release 36.5 litres of water per minute. Simultaneously, control rooms are alerted, digital signboards flash warnings, and traffic is regulated to prevent pile-ups.

Air, too, is constantly monitored. Massive overhead jet fans—stretching nearly 200 metres and operating at 1,500 RPM—continuously track carbon monoxide and nitrogen oxide levels. The system automatically adjusts airflow, pushing out toxic gases and maintaining breathable conditions even under stress scenarios.

Layered onto this are multiple redundancies: emergency push buttons every 60 metres, SOS call boxes every 150 metres, and a dense network of cameras that track traffic, enforce speed limits and relay real-time visuals to control centres.

In effect, the tunnel functions as a self-aware corridor—one that can detect, respond and guide.

Investor wealth jumps by ₹16.25 L cr

BENCHMARK INDICES SURGE NEARLY 4% IN SECOND-HIGHEST SINGLE-DAY GAINS; RALLY RECOVERS 65% OF RECENT LOSSES

ANJANA THERESE ANTONY
Mumbai, April 8

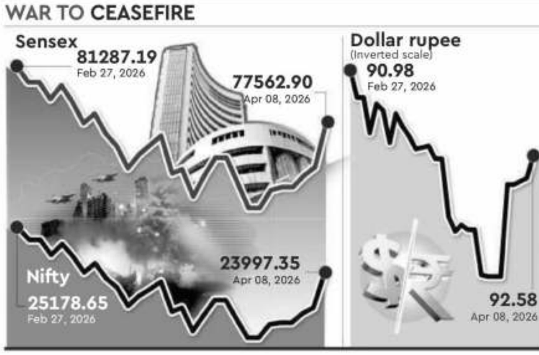
MARKETS ROARED BACK to life on Wednesday as bulls charged ahead following the announcement of a two-week ceasefire between the US and Iran. Brent crude futures plunged by $14, or 13%, to $95 per barrel, boosting investor sentiment.

The Reserve Bank of India's Monetary Policy Committee's status quo on key interest rates and retained a neutral stance lent further support to the market.

The Sensex and Nifty posted their second-highest single-day gains in terms of points, while investor wealth surged by ₹16.25 lakh crore—marking the largest single-day increase on record. With this rally, investors have recouped ₹33.10 lakh crore of the ₹51.09 lakh crore lost since the onset of the West Asia conflict—about 65% of the decline.

Extending gains for the fifth consecutive session, the Sensex soared 2,946.32 points (3.95%) to close at 77,562.90.

WAR TO CEASEFIRE



The Nifty jumped 873.70 points (3.78%) to settle at 23,997.35, just shy of the 24,000 mark. Broader markets also participated, with the BSE Midcap and Smallcap indices rising 4.09% and 3.92%, respectively. Meanwhile, the India VIX dropped 20.23% to 19.70, signaling easing market volatility.

Over the past five sessions, the Sensex and Nifty have gained 7.80% (5,615.35 points) and 7.46% (1,665.95 points), respectively.

Welcoming the ceasefire, Nilesh Shah, MD of Kotak Mahindra AMC, highlighted its significance for India. Key factors include the safety of around 9 million Indians in the Middle East, improved energy availability with the reopening of the Strait of Hormuz, stabilising energy prices, and steady remittance flows.

"Markets have witnessed a relief rally driven by short covering but will continue to react to events. There could be many slips between the cup and the lip," Shah cautioned.

Swarup Mohanty, vice chairman & CEO of Mirae Asset Investment Managers (India), noted that the de-escalation came when risks were still manageable, triggering a swift rebound, particularly in beaten-down sectors. He added that markets are likely to stabilise as the West Asia situation improves, with focus shifting back to earnings growth and valuations.

Globally, South Korea led the rally with a 6.87% rise, followed by Japan (5.39%), Germany (5.32%), the Eurozone (5.30%), and France (4.89%).

Market breadth remained strongly positive, with 3,858 gainers against 536 losers on the BSE. All sectoral indices ended in the green, led by realty, auto, banking, financial services, and consumer durables, each gaining over 5%.

According to provisional BSE data, foreign portfolio investors sold shares worth ₹2,811.97 crore, while domestic institutional investors bought shares worth ₹4,168.17 crore. Among Sensex stocks, InterGlobe Aviation (IndiGo), L&T, Bajaj Finance, Mahindra & Mahindra, and Axis Bank were top gainers, rising up to 8.22%. HDFC Bank alone contributed nearly one-fifth (567 points) of the Sensex's 2,946-point rise. Along with ICICI Bank, L&T, Reliance Industries, and Axis Bank, it accounted for 1,107 points, or 37% of the total gain.

Gaurav Dua, CIO of Standard Chartered Securities (India), observed that recent global uncertainties had overshadowed several domestic positives, including a resilient macroeconomic environment, a bottoming-out of earnings downgrades, and reasonable valuations. "It is not surprising to see a sharp rebound following positive developments in the US–Iran conflict, especially given oversold market conditions," he said.

Looking ahead, volatility may persist in the near term. However, the recent correction presents opportunities for investors, Dua added.

Bond yields log biggest slump in four years

● Rupee gains 42 paise to close at 92.57

FE BUREAU
Mumbai, April 8

BOND YIELDS FELL by 15 basis points on Wednesday – their biggest single-day fall in four years – triggered by a 14% drop in Brent crude prices after the announcement of the ceasefire in West Asia buoyed the market mood. The 10-year bond yield closed at 6.90%.

What added to the positive sentiment was the Reserve Bank of India's assurance that ample liquidity will be provided and the system will continue to in the surplus. Industry experts said a further rally in bonds and the rupee will depend on the duration of the ceasefire and actual fundamentals.

"The ceasefire is positive if it holds. Pre-war, oil prices were at $65 per barrel and coming back to that level will take time. So, markets will need to find a new range," said Rajeev Pawar, head of treasury, Ujjivan Small Finance Bank, adding that the policy was a bit dovish, which also helped.

"Markets feared a hawkish tone, which would have driven yields to 7.15%. If the ceasefire holds, I expect the 10-year benchmark bond to trade range bound with plus or minus 5 bps from current levels," he explained.

SMART RALLY

Meanwhile, the rupee continued to gain and closed at 92.57 to a dollar – up 42 paise. The Reserve Bank of India assured that the strictures issued on the non-deliverable forward market is only to handle the current volatility and 'not a structural change'.

Dilip Parmer, research analyst at HDFC Securities, said the rupee gained from several key "tailwinds", including a plunge in crude oil prices, supportive commentary from the RBI regarding recent regulatory curbs, and a sharp rally across global equity markets.

Oil prices tumble below $100/bbl

REUTERS
New York, April 8

OIL TUMBLED BELOW $100 a barrel on Wednesday after US President Donald Trump said he had agreed to a two-week ceasefire with Iran, subject to an immediate and safe reopening of the Strait of Hormuz. Brent crude futures were down $14.83, or 13.57%, at $94.44 a barrel by 11:02 am. WTI futures slid by $17.92, or 15.87%, to $95.03.

Investors are likely focusing on de-escalation and are selling oil as a result, UBS analyst Giovanni Staunovo said. Trump's turnaround came shortly before his deadline for Iran to open the Strait of Hormuz or face widespread attacks on its civilian infrastructure. About 20% of the world's daily oil supply passes through the narrow waterway.

Iran had said it would halt its attacks if strikes against it stopped and that safe transit through the Strait of Hormuz would be possible for two weeks in coordination with Iranian armed forces, according to a statement by Foreign Minister Abbas Araqchi. Iran could open the strait in a limited and controlled way on Thursday or Friday ahead of a meeting between US and Iranian officials in Pakistan, a senior Iranian official involved in the talks told the news agency on Wednesday.

Marine insurance costs likely to remain elevated, say insurers

NARAYANAN V
Chennai, April 8

THE TWO-WEEK CEASEFIRE in West Asia is unlikely to offer any reprieve to exporters, with freight and insurance costs expected to remain elevated. Insurance industry players said vessels transiting the Persian Gulf will continue to be classified as "high-risk" for some time, necessitating additional risk cover and higher premia.

"There is a significant rise in freight cost due to non-availability of vessels plying in this high-risk area. Due to high-risk exposure and as the War covers are withdrawn by many reinsurance markets, the insurance cost has also gone up," said Arti Mulik, chief technical officer at Universal Sompo General Insurance. While the ceasefire has offered some relief, it is unlikely to ease freight and insurance costs. "War cover is still essential as uncertainty remains," she said.

GULF RISK

■ Persian Gulf routes likely to remain tagged 'high-risk'

■ Vessel shortages in conflict zones continue to push shipping rates higher

■ Withdrawal of reinsurance war covers adds to rising insurance burden

■ Insurers say only a full halt in hostilities can trigger meaningful pricing relief

Balasundaram R, head of marine Insurance at Policybazaar for Business, said while the ceasefire offers some relief to insurers, the larger concern remains around global exports routed to the Persian Gulf ports via Hormuz including essential commodities such as foodstuff, meat and general merchandise. "If the ceasefire extends into a complete cessation of hostilities, only then can insurers breathe easy and look at gradually easing war insurance pricing."

US President Donald Trump on Tuesday announced a "double-sided ceasefire" for two weeks just ahead of a planned bombing and military strikes on Iran, subject to the immediate opening of the Hormuz, a vital choke point carrying a fifth of the world's total petroleum liquids and oil supply.

Marine underwriters have imposed war risk premiums on vessels passing through the Gulf since the start of the war. As the conflict escalated, underwriters also issued cancellation notices under standard seven-day war clauses on certain annual hull war policies, revised additional premiums for transits through high-risk areas, and heightened underwriting scrutiny for voyages. Vaidhehi Desikan, EVP - practice leader, marine, cargo and logistics at Anand Rathi Insurance Brokers, said freight rates are unlikely to ease immediately.

Drawing parallels to past events such as the Gulf War and the Covid-19 pandemic, she noted that surcharges typically remain in place for three to six months due to fuel cost volatility and operational caution. "While freight normalisation will take time, insurance is more responsive to risk signals. We could see a 30–40% reduction in war-risk rates in the near term for at least the next 10 days, although they are unlikely to return to pre-conflict levels just yet."

Silver, gold script sharp comeback amid truce

SILVER PRICES SURGED ₹11,000 to ₹2.51 lakh per kilogram in the national capital on Wednesday, while gold advanced to ₹1.56 lakh per 10 grams amid strong global cues after the US and Iran agreed to a two-week ceasefire. According to the All India Sarafa Association, the white metal zoomed by ₹11,000, or nearly 5%, to ₹2,51,000 per kg (inclusive of all taxes) from Tuesday's closing level of ₹2,40,000 per kg. Gold of 99.9% purity also appreciated by ₹3,200, or 2.09%, to ₹1,56,400 per 10 grams (inclusive of all taxes). —PTI

India calls for free navigation via Hormuz

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA
New Delhi, April 8

INDIA ON WEDNESDAY welcomed the two-week ceasefire between the US and Iran and called for unimpeded freedom of navigation and flow of commerce through the Strait of Hormuz, while hoping that lasting peace will return to West Asia.

New Delhi said it continuously advocated that dialogue and diplomacy are essential to bring an early end to the hostilities. The conflict was triggered by US-Israeli strikes against Iran on February 28.

India's reaction came hours after Iran and the US agreed on the conditional ceasefire that included the opening of the Strait of Hormuz, the strategically key waterway between the Persian Gulf and the Gulf of Oman that handles roughly 20 per cent of global oil and LNG (Liquefied Natural Gas).

"We welcome the ceasefire reached and hope that it will lead to a lasting peace in West Asia. As we have continuously advocated earlier, de-escalation, dialogue and diplomacy are essential to bring an early end to the ongoing conflict," External Affairs Ministry spokesperson Randhir Jaiswal said. "The conflict has already caused immense suffering to people and disrupted global energy supply and trade networks."

"We expect that unimpeded freedom of navigation and global flow of commerce would prevail through the Strait of Hormuz," he said. Jaiswal said India hopes that the "development" in West Asia will also encourage peace efforts in Ukraine.

The announcement on the ceasefire resulted in a fall in the global crude oil prices and a rally in stock markets. Oil and gas prices had surged after Iran blocked the Strait of Hormuz. The move severely impacted energy supplies to countries around the world.

Caution prevails as carriers delay full return to West Asia skies

NITIN KUMAR
New Delhi, April 8

DOMESTIC AIRLINES ARE in no hurry to fully resume operations over West Asia airspace, adopting a cautious, wait-and-watch approach despite early signs of easing geopolitical tensions.

Executives across carriers said flight paths through sensitive corridors near Iran will remain restricted until there is clear and sustained evidence of stability, highlighting concerns that the situation could deteriorate quickly.

"Resuming in a rush does not make sense at this point," a senior airline official said. "The situation remains fluid, and the risks of sudden escalation cannot be ruled out."

The war involving the US, Israel and Iran triggered widespread airspace closures from February 28, disrupting international flight networks and forcing airlines to reroute or suspend services.

Operations across the region remain patchy. In the UAE, airlines are operating limited, non-scheduled commercial flights based on safety assessments. Flights from Saudi Arabia and Oman to India continue, while Qatar's airspace is only partially open. Qatar Airways is expected to operate 8–10 flights to India on Wednesday.

Kuwait and Bahrain, however, remain largely closed. Carriers such as Jazeera Airways, Kuwait Airways and Gulf Air are operating special flights from Dammam in Saudi Arabia to maintain connectivity with India. Alternative transit corridors have been activated, via Egypt and Jordan for those in Israel; through Jordan and Saudi Arabia for travellers from Iraq; and via Saudi Arabia for passengers from Kuwait and Bahrain.

Airlines said weak passenger demand has compounded the uncertainty. Flights on existing routes are reporting low occupancy, particularly on outbound sectors from India, making it commercially unviable to scale up operations.

"With demand still muted and uncertainty persisting, restoring capacity aggressively would not be prudent. Neither tourists nor workers are in a hurry to return so soon," another airline executive said.

Industry insiders said airlines are balancing operational readiness with financial discipline, wary of deploying capacity without adequate passenger loads.

A broader resumption of services, they added, will certainly depend not only on geopolitical stability but also on a tangible recovery in travel demand.

The government, meanwhile, said it is closely monitoring the evolving situation. The Ministry of Civil Aviation said on Tuesday it remains in constant coordination with airlines and other stakeholders.

Since February 28, about 760,000 passengers have travelled from the region to India, indicating continued, though constrained, connectivity. While outbound figures have not been disclosed, industry estimates suggest they remain in the low thousands.

An airline executive said that if outbound traffic rises sharply, carriers may add routes to safer parts of the region while continuing to avoid high-risk zones.

FACING HEADWINDS

- Flight paths near Iran remain restricted despite early signs of de-escalation
- Airlines adopt 'wait-and-watch' stance amid fears of sudden geopolitical flare-ups
- Conflict since Feb 28 disrupted routes, forcing rerouting and suspensions globally
- UAE sees limited ad hoc flights; Saudi Arabia and Oman routes to India continue
- Qatar partially reopens; Kuwait and Bahrain largely shut, prompting workaround hubs
- Weak passenger demand, especially outbound from India, weighs on capacity decisions

The confirmation of the talks came after relief over a truce between the United States and Iran gave way to alarm that fighting was still raging across the region, as Israel launched its biggest attacks yet on Lebanon, and Iran struck Gulf neighbours' oil facilities. No immediate relief for airlines, travel bodies

YI-CHIN LEE, JULIE ZHU & ALESSANDRO PARODI
Singapore/Hong Kong, April 8

US PRESIDENT DONALD Trump's two-week ceasefire with Iran is unlikely to provide immediate relief to the global aviation industry as it reels from its worst crisis in years, executives said on Wednesday, even as airline shares rallied after the deal.

Willie Walsh, director general of the International Air Transport Association (IATA), warned it would take months for jet fuel supply to recover even if Iran reopened the Strait of Hormuz, given disruptions to West Asia refining capacity.

Delta Air Lines forecast lower-than-expected profit for the second quarter and said it would cut capacity across the board to make up for the $2 billion in extra fuel costs it expects to book in the second quarter.

Airline shares surge

Jet fuel prices normally move in tandem with oil prices, but they have more than doubled since the Iran conflict, far outpacing a 50% rise in crude prices prior to the two-week ceasefire. That has inflated costs, disrupted schedules, prompted airlines to cut routes and pushed the limits of what travelers will pay. On Wednesday, Delta said it expects to pay about $4.30 a gallon for jet fuel in the June quarter, adding more than $2 billion to the price a year earlier.

Even so, global airline and travel stocks rose, Australia's Qantas Airways jumped more than 9%, Air New Zealand rose over 4%, Hong Kong's Cathay Pacific climbed 5% and while India's IndiGo rose 8%. In Europe, travel operator TUI was up over 12%, Wizz Air gained 10%, Air France-KLM climbed around 14%, and Lufthansa was up 11%. —REUTERS

Iran said the deal would allow it to formalise its new practice of charging ships passing through the Strait of Hormuz, a crucial transit lane for oil. But the details were not clear, nor was it known whether vessels would feel safe using the channel or whether ship traffic had resumed. It also was unclear whether any other country agreed to this condition.

Pakistan, which helped to mediate the deal, and others said fighting would pause in Lebanon, where Israel has launched a ground invasion against the Iran-backed Hezbollah militant group. Israel said it would not, and strikes hit Beirut on Wednesday.

The fate of Iran's missile and nuclear programmes - the elimination of which were major objectives for the US and Israel in going to war - also remained unclear. Trump said the US would work with Iran to remove buried enriched uranium, though Iran did not confirm that. In the streets of Tehran, pro-government demonstrators screamed: "Death to America, death to Israel, death to compromisers!" after the ceasefire announcement and burned American and Israeli flags.

The chants underscored the anger animating hard-liners, who have been preparing for what many assumed would be an apocalyptic battle with the United States. Trump warned Tuesday that "a whole civilization will die tonight," if a deal was not reached.

Trump initially said Iran proposed a "workable" 10-point plan that could help end the war the US and Israel launched on Feb. 28. But when a version in Farsi emerged that indicated Iran would be allowed to continue enriching uranium - which is key to building a nuclear weapon - Trump called it fraudulent without elaborating. Vance later said the deal was being misrepresented within Iran, though he did not offer details. Iran's demands for ending the war include a withdrawal of US combat forces from the region, the lifting of sanctions and the release of its frozen assets.

United Nations Secretary General Antonio Guterres's personal envoy arrived in Iran for talks on "the way forward." Pakistan said talks to seek a permanent end to the war could begin in Islamabad as soon as Friday. Trump told The New York Post that in-person talks would happen "very soon." Israel backed the US ceasefire with Iran, but Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu said the deal does not cover fighting against Hezbollah. Trump told the "PBS News Hour" that Lebanon was not included in the ceasefire deal "because of Hezbollah."

Tunnel that thinks and responds

THIS IS PART of the ₹6,695-crore Missing Link project being executed by the Maharashtra State Road Development Corporation (MSRDC) between Khopoli and Lonavala—arguably one of India's most ambitious road modernisation efforts. After nearly eight years of construction, the new alignment will cut travel time between Mumbai and Pune by 20–25 minutes, while bypassing the treacherous ghat section notorious for landslides, sharp curves and chronic congestion.

The scale is equally striking. Touted as Asia's widest tunnel, the twin-bore structure integrates advanced communication, monitoring and evacuation systems rarely seen together at this scale. Satish Sharma, who oversees tunnelling operations for the project, says the combination of width, length and embedded safety systems makes it globally distinctive. While a smaller tunnel in the US may be marginally wider, he notes, few match the overall scale and technological integration achieved.

For India, he adds, this represents a significant leap in tunnel modernisation. Cross-passages connect the two tunnels at regular intervals, allowing vehicles to be diverted seamlessly during emergencies. Drivers can be guided in real time to these escape routes, ensuring that even in worst-case scenarios, traffic does not descend into chaos. For the first six months, only cars and buses will be allowed through, with heavy vehicles to follow later—giving operators time to fine-tune systems under live conditions.

Above ground, the project is no less ambitious. The tunnels are linked by what is billed as the country's highest cable-stayed road bridge—standing at 182 metres above the ground, roughly the height of a 60-storey building—part of a broader redesign of a choke point where the expressway converges with the old NH-4 near Khandala. This stretch has long been a bottleneck, with slow-moving trucks and unpredictable terrain turning routine commutes into hours-long ordeals.

First proposed in 1995 and approved in 2017, the Missing Link has been years in the making, delayed by complex terrain and forest clearances

First proposed in 1995 and approved in 2017, the Missing Link has been years in the making, delayed by complex terrain and forest clearances. But its completion marks more than just a reduction in distance—from 19 km to 13 km on a key stretch. It signals a shift in how highways are being built in India: not just faster, but smarter and safer.

Cautious RBI holds rate

MARKETS REACTED POSITIVELY. The 10-year G-Sec yield fell 15 basis points to 6.89%, marking its sharpest single-day decline in four years. The rupee strengthened to close at 92.58, up 42 paise or 0.45%.

"Today's neutral-to-marginally dovish stance suggests a prolonged pause, though much will depend on how geopolitical risks evolve," said Upasna Bhardwaj, chief economist at Kotak Mahindra Bank.

"The policy reflects a careful balancing act. Inflation is contained but vulnerable to external shocks, while growth remains resilient but faces downside risks. The MPC has opted for stability over abrupt shifts," said Gaura Sengupta, chief economist at IDFC First Bank.

Sengupta added that the RBI is likely to remain on pause as long as headline inflation stays within the upper tolerance band of 6%. "Ensuring adequate liquidity alongside a pause will help limit downside risks to growth," she said.

K Balasubramanian, India CEO and Banking Head at Citi India, said the decision reflects a prudent and balanced approach. "Preserving policy flexibility allows the RBI to assess evolving risks while consolidating gains from earlier easing. This supports macro stability while retaining room to respond," he said.

Bhardwaj added that the RBI's emphasis on ample liquidity points to a near-term bias towards supporting growth. "Downside risks to growth, benign core inflation and a commitment to liquidity suggest financial conditions are likely to remain easy for some time," she said.

Among other measures, the RBI said it will rationalise board-related norms, consolidate supervisory instructions and ease MSME onboarding on TReDS to improve ease of doing business. On capital adequacy, banks will be allowed to include quarterly profits in CRAR without NPA provisioning, and the investment fluctuation reserve (IFR) requirement will be withdrawn. The RBI also expanded participation in the term money market to non-bank entities.

With conditions evolving rapidly, Malhotra said policymakers must remain prepared for all eventualities.

"The news this morning was reassuring, though not entirely unexpected. It would, however, be premature to speculate on the MPC's next move," he said.

March contraction hits FMCG

"THE YEAR OF FY26 was mixed. Consumers were dealing with a number of factors from trade and tariff-related concerns to geopolitical issues. While fiscal and monetary policy measures were taken in addition to GST 2.0 reforms, FMCG value growth took a hit during the year," Harshit Bora, analytics head at Bizom, said.

Urban markets remained the weakest link. Urban value growth stood at 1.2% in Q4FY26, with March alone reporting a decline of 2.5%. Rural markets continued to outperform but the pace of growth moderated, with value growth at 5% in the quarter and 0.9% in March. For the full year, FMCG value growth slowed to about 6% in FY26 from 9.5% in FY25. Urban growth came in at 4.9% compared with 6.7% in rural markets, both lower than the previous year's levels.

The data point to a demand environment that remains uneven, with essential consumption holding up but discretionary spending under pressure, particularly in urban India.

Non-urea fertiliser subsidy hiked 11% for kharif season

● ₹41,533-crore outlay approved by Cabinet

SANDIP DAS
New Delhi, April 8

TO PROTECT FARMERS from the volatility in global prices of soil nutrients, the Cabinet on Wednesday approved a subsidy of ₹41,533 crore for phosphatic and potassic (P&K) fertilisers for the kharif 2026-27 season (April-September) under the nutrient-based subsidy (NBS) mechanism.

The NBS allocation for the upcoming season has increased 11% (by ₹4,317 crore), compared to the previous kharif season (2025-26). This means prices of non-urea soil nutrients, largely used for paddy, pulses and oilseeds, will remain unchanged for the next kharif season. Farmers continue to get diammonium phosphate (DAP) at ₹1,350/50 kg bag despite global volatility in its price.

"Since Covid, global price fluctuations have not impacted the prices of fertiliser provided to farmers, although the subsidy burden has increased," Information and Broadcasting Minister Ashwini Vaishnaw said, adding that the West Asia war has impacted fertiliser supplies and prices.

With the increase in NBS, the fertiliser subsidy might cross the budget estimate (BE) of ₹1.7 lakh crore for 2026-27. Of the fertiliser subsidy budgeted for the current fiscal, ₹1.16 lakh crore is for urea and ₹54,139 crore under NBS.

NBS is announced for both kharif and rabi seasons. Even though a policy of "fixed subsidy" has been in place for P&K fertilisers since 2010, in practice, the government has been adjusting the subsidies based on global prices in recent years to help the farmers.

Subsidies are paid directly to fertiliser companies, enabling them to sell fertilisers to farmers at affordable prices using point-of-sale machines.

Usually, the BE is kept at a conservative level and subsequently hiked over the year based on demand and global prices.

Women's credit exposure jumps 4.8 times since 2017: Niti Aayog

FE BUREAU
New Delhi, April 8

WOMEN BORROWERS IN India now hold a ₹76 lakh crore credit portfolio, making up 26% of total system credit, with exposure rising 4.8 times since 2017. This reflects a shift toward deeper, progression-led participation in the formal credit ecosystem, according to a Niti Aayog report.

Prepared under the aegis of the Women Entrepreneurship Platform (WEP) by TransUnion CIBIL and MicroSave Consulting (MSC), the report points to sustained growth in women's credit engagement. Between December 2017 and December 2025, the number of credit-active women borrowers grew at a compounded annual rate (CAGR) of 9%, while credit penetration among women rose from 19% to 36%.

Total credit outstanding to women increased sharply from ₹16 lakh crore in 2017 to ₹76 lakh crore in 2025. With nearly 450 million credit-eligible women in India, the scope for further expansion remains significant, according to the report titled "From Borrowers to Builders: Women and India's Evolving Credit Market."

Credit to women business borrowers recorded a CAGR of 31% between 2022 and 2025, compared to 17% for overall commercial credit. The report also notes a gradual shift among microfinance borrowers towards individual retail and commercial loans, with 19% of active Microfinance Institution (MFI) borrowers now availing such products.

Geographically, women's access to credit is becoming more widespread. Northern states such as Bihar and Uttar Pradesh are witnessing increased growth alongside the traditionally strong southern and western regions. Personal and gold loans remain the most commonly accessed products, while housing loans are gaining traction, pointing to rising asset ownership among women.

The report highlights that rapid digitisation across identity systems, payments, underwriting and loan servicing is helping lower entry barriers and enabling women to transition from informal borrowing to formal financial systems.

The findings are based on longitudinal credit bureau data of around 160 million credit-active women, supplemented by primary research involving 161 rural women nano-entrepreneurs, offering both quantitative and behavioural insights. This year's edition also incorporates microfinance data, making it a more comprehensive assessment of women's access to and progression within the credit ecosystem.

■ Total credit outstanding to women increased from ₹6 lakh cr in 2017 to ₹76 lakh cr in 2025

Voice tariff tweak may impact telcos unevenly

HIT TO PREMIUMISATION

■ Tariff design now favours bundled plans: incremental data coming at a relatively low marginal cost

■ Trai's push for proportional pricing seeks to correct imbalance

■ Industry executives say final impact will depend on the degree of flexibility allowed in pricing and how operators recalibrate their portfolios

TELECOM OPERATORS' ABILITY to drive premiumisation through bundled data plans could come under pressure if the Telecom Regulatory Authority of India's latest draft tariff changes are implemented, analysts and industry experts said.

The impact is expected to be sharper on firms with large feature phone user bases such as Vodafone Idea and BSNL, while remaining limited for Bharti Airtel & Reliance Jio, they added.

The draft Telecom Consumer Protection (13th Amendment) Regulation, 2026, released on Tuesday, proposes that operators offer voice- and SMS-only plans across all validity periods, with tariffs proportionately lower than bundled offerings. "This could dilute the industry's long-standing strategy of nudging users towards higher-value data packs, which has underpinned average revenue per user (Arpu) expansion in recent years," an industry executive said. If implemented strictly, it could widen the price gap between entry-level voice users and data subscribers, weakening the economic incentive to migrate up the value chain, they added.

Analysts indicate that enforcing proportional pricing could lead to revenue compression in the voice segment, particularly if operators are unable to offset losses through tariff hikes elsewhere. This comes at a time when the industry has been relying on premiumisation — driven by higher data consumption and bundled offerings — as a key lever for revenue growth. Companies with a larger base of feature phone users, such as Vodafone Idea and state-run BSNL, are more exposed to potential downtrading risks, as a wider availability of cheaper voice-only packs could anchor a segment of users at lower Arpu tiers.

For Vodafone Idea which has around 65 million feature phone users, a 10% reduction in voice plan pricing could translate into an annual revenue loss of about ₹1,200-1,250 crore, with a potential 15% impact on cash Ebitda, analysts estimated.

Airtel, which has a larger feature phone base of around 75 million users, could see a higher absolute revenue impact of ₹1,400–1,450 crore, although the effect on profitability is expected to be limited to around 1.5% given its larger earnings base. "For Bharti Airtel and Reliance Jio, which have already transitioned a significant portion of their base to 4G and data-heavy plans, the effect may be more contained but still relevant at the margin," an analyst tracking the sector said.

Vi network push leads to surge in data usage

VODAFONE IDEA REPORTED a sharp rise in data consumption and steady growth in 4G and 5G subscriber base, signalling early gains from its network investments. It has expanded its 5G footprint to 133 cities to target higher-value customers amid rising demand for data services.

Average data usage stood at 19.2 GB per user per month in Q3 FY26, up 26.7% on-year, while overall data consumption rose 43%. Its 4G and 5G subscriber base rose to 128.5 million from 126 million a year ago.

"In terms of number of sites added, data usage, revenue, Ebitda, Arpu, broadband subscribers, Vi is moving in the positive direction... We see the beginning of a new era and validation that our investments have been in the right places, in the adequate quantity," said Abhijit Kishore, CEO, Vodafone Idea. —FE BUREAU

One in four cars sold by BMW are now electric

GREEN PUSH

■ BMW Group India posted its highest-ever Q1 calendar year car sales with 4,567 units in January-March

■ Growth was led by a wide portfolio of six EVs as well as its charging infra initiatives

AT A TIME when Audi has temporarily stopped selling electric vehicles (EVs) in India — and Mercedes-Benz sells just one EV for every 10 cars it delivers — BMW Group India has said that one in four cars sold by it are now electric.

Hardeep Singh Brar, president & CEO, told FE that the Group — BMW plus MINI — posted its highest-ever Q1 calendar year car sales with 4,567 units delivered, representing a 17% year-on-year growth, but the tipping point was that EVs now form 26% of its sales.

"We've made electric mainstream," Brar said. "We sold 1,185 units of BMW and MINI EVs in Q1 — achieving 83% growth — and now have 70% market share in luxury EVs."

The growth was led by a wide portfolio of six EVs — BMW i7, iX, i5, iX1 Long Wheelbase, MINI Countryman E, and Countryman SE ALL4 — as well as its charging infrastructure initiatives. "BMW and MINI customers now enjoy access to over 6,000 charging points nationwide," Brar said.

An automotive analyst told FE that of these six EVs, the iX1 Long Wheelbase — priced ₹51.4 lakh — formed almost 80% of sales. "It is the country's most affordable luxury EVs, and is the reason for high EV numbers by BMW," he said. "The carmaker sold almost 950 units of the iX1 Long Wheelbase just in Q1CY26."

Meanwhile, Audi has removed all EVs from its website, but Balbir Singh Dhillon, head of Audi India, said it's a temporary measure. "Audi exhausted its initial quota for the first lot of EVs, and is now in the process of working out something new," he said. Audi was an early-mover, and launched the e-tron SUV and e-tron Sportback in 2021. These were followed by the high-performance e-tron GT and RS e-tron GT sedan later that year. In 2023, Audi drove in the Q8 e-tron and Q8 Sportback e-tron to India. But all have been temporarily discontinued.

Luxury market leader Mercedes-Benz, which has about 10% EV penetration, is now getting ready for the numbers game. It will launch the CLA Electric on April 24. Priced in the ₹60-lakh range, it will be the carmaker's most affordable EV, and yet Santosh Iyer, MD & CEO, Mercedes-Benz India, told FE that Mercedes-Benz won't be competing on price. "Yes, we want to attract Gen Z buyers and driving enthusiasts, but we won't be competing on price," he said.

Titan expects 46% revenue growth in Q4

JEWELLERY AND WATCHMAKER Titan Co is expected to have registered a 46% growth in revenue during the March quarter of FY26, aided by surging gold prices, according to the company's latest quarterly update. The Tata Group-managed company recorded a 40% growth in standalone revenue during the October-December quarter.

The jewellery division, which contributed around 85% of its revenue, delivered a strong quarter recording 46% year-on-year growth in Q4FY26, Titan said. Despite a steep increase in gold prices, the jewellery business recorded a "high single-digit buyer growth in Q4FY26" after witnessing a nearly flat increase in the preceding three quarters.

The average ticket size also moved up considerably, contributing to the revenue growth in the quarter, it said.

Within the category, studded jewellery grew in "early thirties, gold (plain) clocked growth in the mid-thirties and coins nearly tripled in sales, respectively compared to Q4FY25", it said. During the quarter under review, Titan's jewellery business added 27 new stores in India — eight of Tanishq, 14 of Mia and five of CaratLane. —PTI

'Funding will help double AUM to ₹30,000 crore'

Digital lender KreditBee has raised $280 million in a Series E round, marking one of the largest startup funding rounds so far this year, that too, at a unicorn valuation of $1.5 billion. The round has drawn participation from a mix of global and domestic investors, and has been nearly three times oversubscribed compared to what the company initially planned to raise, says Co-founder and CEO Madhusudan E. In an interview with Ayanti Bera, he discusses the rationale behind the fundraise, readiness for the upcoming IPO, and how the company plans to scale up its AUM while maintaining asset quality. Excerpts:

Q&A

What drove the need for such a large cheque, and how will you deploy this capital?

As an NBFC, our growth is directly linked to our equity base because of the debt-to-equity leverage model. For every ₹1 of equity, we can raise ₹3 of debt and build a loan AUM (asset under management) of ₹4. So the primary reason for raising capital is to scale up our AUM.

How was investor appetite for the round, especially in a cautious funding environment?

We went to market around October-November for the fundraise and saw very strong demand. The round was nearly three times oversubscribed compared to what we had initially planned to raise. We had participation from both new investors like Hornbill, Dragon, White Oak, and AP Moller, as well as existing backers such as Motilal Oswal, Advent, and Premji Invest.

How are the IPO preparations coming along, and what milestones are you working towards?

We are currently in the process of merging our NBFC and tech entities, which should be completed in the next couple of months. Post that, we are IPO-ready from a structural standpoint. The actual timing will depend on market conditions and board guidance, but we are looking at a potential listing window at the end of this year or early next year.

Your AUM currently stands at around ₹15,000 crore. What are your growth targets?

The opportunity in India is massive, but growth must be balanced with risk management. Our aim is to double AUM over the next 2-3 years, taking it to around ₹30,000 crore. The capital we've raised should support this expansion.

WE ARE LOOKING AT A POTENTIAL LISTING WINDOW AT THE END OF THIS YEAR OR EARLY NEXT YEAR

How has KreditBee maintained asset quality despite macro shocks and regulatory tightening?

Risk management has been our core discipline from day one. Whether it was Covid period or recent microfinance stress, we've stayed resilient. Also, our focus has always been on mid-India, i.e. tier 2 to tier 4 markets which account for over 80% of our customers. These markets are underpenetrated but require strong underwriting capabilities.

Beyond personal loans, how are you diversifying?

We've expanded into SME lending and loans against property (LAP) over the past 18 months. SME lending now contributes around ₹1,000-crore AUM, while LAP is about ₹500 crore. A key strategy here is cross-selling to our existing customer base of over 5 million active borrowers.

How was your financial performance in FY25?

Our consolidated revenue grew from around ₹1,800 crore in FY24 to ₹2,700 crore in FY25, with PAT increasing from about ₹288 crore to about ₹470 crore.

What does your loan book composition look like today?

Over 70% of our AUM is on our own books, with the remaining 30% through co-lending partnerships. We expect this mix to broadly continue, with a strong focus on our own NBFC-led lending.

Vingroup to invest $8.5 bn in Maha; clean mobility in focus

FE BUREAU
Mumbai, April 8

VIETNAM'S VINGROUP WILL invest $8.5 billion (around ₹70,000 crore) in Maharashtra over the next two years, Chief Minister Devendra Fadnavis said on Wednesday, marking a major foreign investment push into urban infrastructure and clean mobility.

The investment, formalised through an MoU with the state industries department and the Mumbai Metropolitan Region Development Authority, will span electric mobility, smart townships, tourism, and social infrastructure. The projects are expected to generate nearly 24,700 direct jobs. Developments will be spread across 5,000 acres in the Mumbai Metropolitan Region and other locations. A key component is the development of integrated smart townships across around 2,700 acres, designed to accommodate about 200,000 people with a focus on sustainable and modern urban planning.

In mobility, Vingroup plans to roll out large-scale electric taxi services and build a mobility-as-a-service platform, along with a statewide EV charging network under its V-Green arm, supporting Maharashtra's clean mobility push. The company will also invest in social infrastructure, including schools under Vinschool and multi-speciality hospitals through Vinmec, across nearly 170 acres.

Fadnavis said the Mumbai-Raigad region is set to emerge as a globally competitive urban hub and assured full government support for these projects.

Separately, Vingroup's EV arm VinFast is investing up to $2 billion in an integrated EV and battery manufacturing plant near Chennai, aimed at both domestic and export markets.

Focus shifts to growth-inflation balancing

Term money mkt opened up for NBFCs, firms

CHRISTINA TITUS
Mumbai, April 8

THE RESERVE BANK of India (RBI) on Wednesday expanded the participant base of the term money market to include non-bank entities such as non-banking financial companies (NBFCs) and corporates. It also enhanced the borrowing limits for standalone primary dealers in the same.

Currently, banks and standalone primary dealers can only participate in the term money market with certain prudential limits. In the term money market, participants can borrow for periods longer than 14 days, up to 1 year.

"An active-term money market, apart from providing an alternative funding avenue to the market participants, also helps in enhancing monetary policy transmission by creating a link between the overnight money market and longer-term interest rates," the RBI said in a statement.

"The daily traded volumes in the term money market are a fraction of the volumes in the overnight money market as participants were limited only to banks and primary dealers (PDs) in the term money market. With the inclusion of more participants, we expect the overall volumes, liquidity and funding for broader market participants to improve," said Karthik Srinivasan, senior vice-president and group head financial sector ratings, Icra.

WIDER ACCESS

- Term money market is a segment where funds are borrowed for more than 14 days, up to 1 year
- Earlier, only banks and standalone primary dealers could participate in the term money market
- Now, RBI has expanded access to include non-bank lenders, corporates
- RBI has also increased borrowing limits for primary dealers

- Avg daily volume in the term money market stood at ₹1,463 cr during April 2025-January 2026
- It was at ₹952 cr during the corresponding period a year ago
- Daily average volume in overnight call money was ₹27,427 cr during April 2025-January 2026

The average daily volume in the term money market stood at ₹1,463 crore during April 2025-January 2026 compared with ₹952 crore during the corresponding period a year ago, data from RBI show. Meanwhile, daily average volume in overnight call money was ₹27,427 crore during April 2025-January 2026 compared with ₹17,799 crore a year ago.

Srinivasan added that as the borrowing limits of PDs is proposed to be enhanced for borrowings in the term money market, this would improve their financial flexibility to participate in the non-statutory liquidity ratio (SLR) market.

Market participants expect the move to enhance liquidity and participation in the term money market.

"It will help us deploy excess funds in the call market, which were previously parked with mutual funds, and margins available were quite restricted. Overall, this diversification slightly enhances returns from a yield perspective," said Tribhuwan Adhikari, MD & CEO, LIC Housing Finance.

Kapish Jain, chief financial officer, IIFL Finance, said that it will help them diversify funding options for NBFCs, steering them away from brittle sources. In times of market stress when liquidity dries up, it provides a strong backup for borrowing, ultimately strengthening the overall liquidity management in the event of any market exigency.

Capital adequacy norms to be eased

KSHIPRA PETKAR
Mumbai, April 8

IN A MOVE aimed at supporting the capital adequacy of commercial banks, RBI on Wednesday proposed to ease norms for including quarterly profits in computation of the Capital to Risk-Weighted Assets Ratio (CRAR) and withdrawing the requirement of maintaining an Investment Fluctuation Reserve (IFR).

Announcing the outcome of the Monetary Policy Committee meet, RBI Governor Sanjay Malhotra said the changes were under consideration for some time. "Both measures have been in the works for some time and banks have been requesting us. NBFCs already had similar provisions, so it was time that we aligned it," he said.

RBI has sought comments on the draft guidelines by April 29.

Under the current guidelines, commercial banks can include quarterly net profits in CRAR calculations only if incremental provisions for non-performing assets at the end of any four quarters of the previous fiscal do not deviate by more than 25% from the average of those four quarters. The proposed removal of this condition would allow banks to recognise profits more quickly in their capital base. "The guidelines regarding the change in the calculation of CRAR are a better reflection of the capital that banks have," Malhotra said.

Salee S Nair, MD & CEO of Tamilnad Mercantile Bank, said the move would enable banks to bolster their Tier-I capital on a quarterly basis. "By removing this restriction, banks can now recognise profits faster, boosting their Tier-I capital on a quarterly basis. It eases capital requirement constraints, freeing up capital for lending and other productive activities," he said.

Sachin Sachdeva, sector head–financial sector ratings at Icra, noted that Tier-I capital ratios typically decline during interim quarters due to growth-led capital consumption. "With the inclusion of quarterly profits, this trend is likely to shift towards a more stable capital trajectory," he said.

RBI also proposed to withdraw the requirement of maintaining the IFR, a 2% mandatory buffer on available-for-sale and held-for-trading investments, maintained to cushion against mark-to-market (MTM) losses.

Malhotra said with existing prudential frameworks in place—including capital charge for market risk and revised norms on classification, valuation and operation of investment portfolios—the additional reserve was no longer necessary.

Currently, commercial banks maintain capital charge for market risk in addition to the IFR. "The existing guidelines for other bank categories are also being revised to address operational challenges in complying with regulatory thresholds on IFR and to harmonise instructions across bank categories," the RBI said in its Statement on Developmental and Regulatory Policies.

Analysts expect the move to provide a marginal uplift to Tier-I capital ratios. Anil Gupta, senior V-P and co-group head–financial sector ratings at Icra, said the removal of IFR, which is currently included in Tier-II capital, would improve reported Tier-I ratios. "We expect this change to have a positive impact of 6-12 basis points on the Tier-I capital ratio of banks," he said.

Tata Sons listing: New framework soon for NBFC categorisation

FE BUREAU
Mumbai, April 8

THE RESERVE BANK OF India (RBI) will release a new framework for the categorisation of non-banking financial companies (NBFCs), Governor Sanjay Malhotra said during the post-policy press conference on Wednesday.

The announcement comes at a time when there is uncertainty over the mandatory listing of Tata Sons.

The RBI governor did not provide further details on the matter, which has been tracked as the central bank is likely to decide if Tata Sons continues to be privately held or is forced to list.

"We are coming up with a new framework for the categorisation of NBFCs into upper, middle layer. Hopefully, it should be out by this month," he said.

For the year 2024-25, 15 NBFCs were part of the upper layer NBFCs' list. These include Bajaj Finance, Shriram Finance, L&T Finance, HDB Financial Services, Tata Sons, among others. RBI had classified Tata Sons as an upper layer NBFC in September 2022, and according to the guidelines for upper-layer NBFCs, it should have been listed by September 30, 2025, unless it received an exemption or it got deregistered.

However, RBI had mentioned that "the inclusion of Tata Sons in the list of NBFC-upper layer is without prejudice to the outcome of its application for deregistration,

'Restrictions on forex position won't remain forever'

In the post-policy press conference, RBI Governor Sanjay Malhotra and the deputy governors spoke on the impact of the West Asia war and the rationale behind the measures taken to arrest the rupee depreciation. Excerpts:

You have started providing forecasts for core inflation. What's the indication?
For us, the headline is the target and we have to ensure that it remains within the band. That's the primary goal for us. But at the same time, the various components of inflation and where they are emanating from are also very important. We will continue to look into all the components and then take a call on how we need to respond to the various components while keeping in mind that the ultimate target is headline inflation.

Please shed light on the recent RBI measures to stem rupee depreciation. With the scenario now shifted, any plans to ease those limits?
We noticed heightened volatility in the forex markets in the last few weeks of March. We saw that positions were being built up, leading to arbitrage between the non-deliverable forward and the deliverable markets. In normal times, these linkages are important in efficient price discovery—which is why we have focused on expanding, deepening, and enhancing liquidity in these markets.

Excessive building up of positions increases volatility, and perhaps does not help in efficient price discovery. Therefore, such kind of measures are taken and these are reactions to the specific market movements. These are not signalling any structural change. From the long-term perspective, we stand committed to the development, broadening and internationalisation of the rupee. So obviously, these are not measures which will remain forever.

Would you provide the comfort again that rates woul remain low?
We are in a neutral state. The possibility of either way cannot be ruled out. So, it is quite possible that these low rates continue for a long time. Structurally, the long-term macroeconomic fundamentals remain very strong and continue to drive growth, while price pressures are contained.

What is the crude oil price assumption that RBI has taken to arrive at the inflation projection? What is your assumption on how long the West Asia crisis will last?
For this year, $85 per barrel, and for the next, it's $75. There is no assumption (on duration of the war).

Kindly elaborate on the move on IFR requirement for banks.
The bond yields are very high. They can rise or fall, impacting banks' profitability. Banks have requested us to allow staggering these losses. We had come out with the concept of an IFR, which to some extent, mitigates. Mark-to-market prices should be factored in because that's the correct position. If they price it as per the markets, the very need for this fluctuation reserve goes away.

Are you seeing any kind of signs of stress in the banking system due to supply chain disruption, high energy prices and weak external demand?
So far, we are not seeing any systemic concerns with regard to banks' profitability. Yes, there will be sectors which will be hit. We have extended the timeline from March 31 to January 30, and export proceeds repatriation to 450 days until June 30. We'll see going forward. As of now, there is no systemic risk.

Is the transmission of the earlier rate cuts into the lending and deposit rates complete?
Of the 125 bps rate cuts, ~90 bps transmitted to lending rates and over 100 bps to deposits. As I mentioned, the transmission is satisfactory.

Is this growth assumption of 6.9% too optimistic, given that supply chain normalisation takes quite a long time?
We have mentioned that there are more risks to the downside rather than to the upside. If there is prolonged disruption in the supply, which we hope should normalise sooner than later, that can put pressure on the assessment of growth of 6.9%.

Is there a structural issue that the rupee faces, given the persistent FPI outflows?
The macroeconomic fundamentals of the country are very strong. FPI flows are volatile, chasing short-term gains wherever they emerge. They are not looking at India alone but at multiple jurisdictions. It is just a matter of time before both FPIs and FDI flow into India's growth story.

In the past few days, we saw the weighted average call rates going below the SDF. Are we going to see a redeployment of VRRR?
Our attempt is to keep WACR as near as possible to the policy rate. In times of high uncertainty, we reassure banks that liquidity won't fall short. That's why we have allowed it to be in the lower end. It's still within LAF. It's only to give them the comfort and not any signal for a rate reduction. —fe Bureau

Pathway to repair

Ceasefire offers a breather; emerging economies such as India should shift focus to limiting economic damage

THE EXUBERANCE IN the markets on Wednesday is perfectly understandable as the US-Iran ceasefire is, without question, welcome news. After weeks of escalation and uncertainty, even a pause in hostilities offers relief—not just to those directly caught in the conflict, but to a world economy already under strain. At the very least, this truce should hold long enough to open a pathway to a formal end to the war. That is the minimum the global community should expect—and cautiously hope for. Even so, the eventual outcome is likely to remain a lose-lose. Wars of this nature rarely yield clear winners. The damage—economic, institutional, and geopolitical—has already been inflicted. What lies ahead may not be a return to the pre-war normal, but it can still be a phase of stabilisation and gradual repair rather than prolonged disruption. The global economy will not emerge entirely unscathed. Supply chains have been disrupted, commodity markets jolted, and investor confidence tested. Yet, the ceasefire offers a chance to arrest these pressures before they deepen further. If it holds, the aftershocks may be contained rather than amplified.

India's experience underscores both the risks and the potential relief. The energy shock has been significant, with disruptions in oil and gas supplies from the Gulf posing risks to growth. The reopening of critical routes such as the Strait of Hormuz should ease some of these constraints and restore supply flows. While the disruption has already imposed costs, including tighter shipments over several weeks, the easing of tensions could help normalise conditions sooner than feared. Beyond economics, the human dimension has been sobering, with large-scale evacuation efforts highlighting the vulnerability of India's vast diaspora in the region. Yet, the ability to bring back large numbers safely also reflects institutional preparedness in the face of crisis.

The Reserve Bank of India has outlined key risks that frame the macroeconomic outlook. Elevated crude prices could still stoke imported inflation and widen the current account deficit. Disruptions in energy, fertilisers, and commodities may weigh on output. Heightened uncertainty could tighten liquidity and affect consumption and investment. Weaker global growth may dampen exports and remittances. And financial market spillovers could raise borrowing costs. Some of these pressures are already visible. Put together, these risks present a cautious but not unmanageable picture. Even if the guns fall silent, growth projections may need recalibration and inflation could remain somewhat elevated. But a sustained ceasefire would give policymakers more room to respond and adapt. There is, however, a broader geopolitical undercurrent. The ceasefire may provide a tactical pause—and a necessary off-ramp for key actors—but it has also raised questions about the stability of the global order. Even so, a de-escalation now offers a chance to rebuild some of that lost confidence over time.

This is why the focus must shift—from conflict to containment and recovery. Damage minimisation should take precedence, but so should coordinated efforts to restore stability. Governments, central banks, and multilateral institutions will need to act in concert to steady markets and secure supply chains. The larger lesson endures: in an interconnected world, regional conflicts have global consequences. But the reverse is also true—timely de-escalation can limit those consequences. The ceasefire, therefore, is not closure, but it is an opportunity to prevent further harm, restore confidence, and begin the process of economic repair. The world may still be somewhat worse off than before the war—but with restraint and coordination, it need not become significantly so.

MPC DECISION

RBI REFLECTS DEEP UNDERSTANDING OF GEO-ECONOMIC REALITIES WITHOUT HINTING AT ANY IMMINENT RATE HIKE

A policy of caution

SOUMYA KANTI GHOSH

Member, 16th Finance Commission, member, Economic Advisory Council to the PM, and Group Chief Economic Advisor, State Bank of India

AS THE MONETARY Policy Committee's (MPC) decision to keep the repo rate unchanged was largely anticipated, the broader market was watching out for the undertone and reading between the lines in the backdrop of the evolving situation in West Asia and its implications for growth and inflation. The economy is confronted with a supply shock, and a conscious and careful watch obviously remains the best course of action at present.

The outlook for domestic growth for FY27, at 6.9%, remains optimistic, with gradual recovery projected in the second half of the current fiscal. Elevated energy and other commodity prices along with disruptions in the Strait of Hormuz (in sync with the precarious position of shattered regional production capacities, chiefly gas and other input materials) may act as a drag on various domestic output capacities.

The supply shock is expected to be largely inflationary, but the assessment so far is that it will stay within the target band of the Reserve Bank of India (RBI) with a FY27 forecast at 4.6%. The development of El Niño conditions has been a concern, and if the adverse weather conditions coincide with a prolonged conflict the double jeopardy can be more significant in FY27.

On regulatory and development policies, the former measures have mostly focused on the banking sector. The RBI has proposed to rationalise two guidelines that affect the capital planning of banks. The first proposal is to remove the rider on deviation in incremental non-performing assets by 25% for taking quarterly profits while calculating the capital to risk-weighted assets ratio. This proposal gives considerable flexibility to banks to plough back internally.

The second proposal is to dispense with the requirement of investment fluctuation reserve (IFR)-an additional reserve under tier-II to cover losses on the non-held-to-maturity investment book. With banks already covering these losses under market risk capital charge and other income recognition provisions, IFR was a duplication in some sense. The proposal irons this out and makes risk recognition more transparent and simpler. Also, back-of-the-envelope calculations suggest Indian commercial banks can find IFR of ₹35,000-40,000 crore getting freed up through a reversal (@2.5 high-frequency trading and FVTPL-AFS [fair value through profit or loss-available for sale]) portfolios of around a ₹14-lakh crore book, presuming a straight-jacketed ~20% of bank investment book of about ₹70 lakh crore). This money can be used optimally and judiciously by banks to further boost Common Equity Tier-1, while possibly having a cascading effect on profit and loss account too although yields have moved up substantially last quarter.

For an emerging market, targeted forex intervention remains an absolute necessity, a testament to the central bank's equaliser status

To strengthen governance with optimal utilisation of time, it is proposed that board-level activity governed by RBI directions will be rationalised with more strategy and risk governance. That should make boards more attuned to strategy and policy formulations, a prerequisite in these tumultuous times.

On the supervision side, the RBI has further consolidated 64 Master Directions in nine functional areas, thus reducing compliance costs for banks.

On payment systems, it is proposed to dispense with the required due diligence of micro, small, and medium enterprises while onboarding on the Trade Receivables Discounting System platform. This measure is expected to further increase trading volumes on the platform and offer liquidity to the sector. Banks and regulators would, however, need to identify risks proactively.

Finally, on market development, the participant base of the term money market is proposed to be expanded to include non-bank participants-namely all India financial institutions, non-banking financial companies, and housing finance companies with enhanced limits for specified public deposits. Since banks are net lenders, the move is positive as it expands the demand for funds and deployment of intraday surplus funds. This is largely expected to have a softening impact on yields.

As emphatically iterated by the RBI governor, the rapid depreciation thrust on the INR of late is not in sync with India's macro fundamentals and a course correction was a much-needed remedy with currency now retreating towards its implied value. As a balancing act, the governor also clarified that the present set of currency-supporting measures are not permanent as the central bank remains prudently committed to curbing higher volatility without targeting any specific level. However, over a longer period, two things are self-evident from the present fiasco. First, the rupee will remain subservient to India's balance-of-payments position and counterintuitive steps on this front are a sine qua non, just as liquidity measures smoothing the market ecosystem. Second, if India wishes to attract long-term patient capital (much preferred across both foreign direct investment and foreign portfolio investment routes) as also hot money, a broad set of investors would continue to explore hedging options that demand a vibrant suite of structures. Similarly, for an emerging market, targeted forex intervention remains an absolute necessity, a testament to the central bank's equaliser status. The question now is, can we pitch GIFT City as a credible alternative to global financial centres with fewer compliance and regulatory hurdles that dissuade the vicious loop and biases impacting a downward outlook on rupee?

Finally, we quantified the information in the policy text using natural language processing techniques and created a score using our custom-made dictionary. Out of the eight statements by the current governor since he assumed office, this is the most cautious in our opinion. But it does not mean a rate hike is imminent. The choice of words and the latent signal of the statement reflect a deep understanding of the evolving global geo-economic situation without hinting at any imminent rate hike as the regulatory gaze negotiates growth and inflationary concerns.

Views are personal

Greatness as a zero-sum game

The waiting game: RBI has done well to hold its horses

RESERVE BANK OF India (RBI) Governor Sanjay Malhotra has done well to refrain from immediate rate action, despite bond markets having anticipated one. His message—dovish yet circumspect—appears prudent. While he flags the possibility of a demand shock, the central bank's forecasts stop short of sounding alarmist.

A rate hike at this juncture would have offered little relief. The economy is already grappling with a sharp oil shock, and the disruptive effects of the West Asia conflict are unlikely to dissipate anytime soon. Even absent the recent ceasefire, holding policy steady would have been the wiser course, rather than risking a reversal later. With multiple uncertainties in play, maintaining a neutral stance preserves policy space—dry powder for when it is truly needed. In any case, with oil prices easing to around $93-94 a barrel and curbs on banks' net forex positions in place, the rupee has recovered some lost ground. Lower oil prices, softer global yields, and the policy stance have also helped calm bond markets, with the benchmark yield closing below 7%.

That said, the RBI's assessment of both growth and inflation trajectories for the year appears somewhat optimistic. Price pressures are building—not just from imported inflation via higher oil and gas prices, but also as companies pass on rising input costs to consumers. This trend is likely to persist, and any increase in pump prices would add further to inflationary pressures. The comfort around the 4.6% CPI projection for FY27 seems to stem from relatively benign core inflation. While, as the governor noted, the last two readings came in below 4%, the current environment—shaped by a supply shock—is materially different. If crude averages $85 a barrel, as assumed, inflation may still remain below 5.5%, which would be manageable under present conditions.

shobhana.subramanian@expressindia.com

Inflationary pressures could, of course, be tempered if growth slows. Even so, the GDP growth projection of 6.5% for FY27 appears somewhat optimistic, particularly the revised Q1 and Q2 estimates of 6.8% and 6.7%. With oil prices likely to remain elevated at $85-90 per barrel for an extended period, a persistent gas shortage weighing on domestic production, and merchandise exports facing headwinds in a tariff-unfriendly and slowing global economy, a more tempered outlook might have been expected.

To be sure, the governor acknowledged that an initial supply shock could morph into a demand shock if supply chain disruptions persist. It is possible the RBI prefers to wait for greater clarity rather than signal undue pessimism—note that the upward revision to inflation is more pronounced than any change in the growth outlook. While stronger nominal GDP growth may support corporate profits, a meaningful pickup in aggregate demand appears unlikely unless normalcy returns soon. Even prior to the recent geopolitical tensions, private consumption had remained uneven despite supportive fiscal and monetary measures.

Earnings estimates for FY27 have already been pared back, raising questions about the return of foreign portfolio inflows into equities. While Indian markets may appear less expensive than at the onset of the conflict, several global markets now offer more attractive valuations. Governor Malhotra expressed confidence on foreign direct investment, but while repatriation pressures may ease, fresh inflows are far from assured. The RBI has clarified that recent measures to curb speculation are temporary, but markets would do well to note that the central bank will not hesitate to deploy them again if needed.

For now, much rests on whether the ceasefire holds.

GREATNESS IS A fascinating word. It sounds absolute, like Everest or the Pacific Ocean. But in practice, it behaves more like a school ranking—meaningful only because someone else is below you on the list. Nations love to declare themselves "great", preferably while glancing sideways to ensure others look slightly less so.

The more interesting question, however, is this: Can a country become great by simply doing the right things—investing in innovation, building resilient institutions, imbibing trust, advancing technology, and creating economic systems that attract talent and capital? Or does it require a villain, a foil, and a convenient "other" to outshine?

Enter Donald Trump and the slogan that launched a thousand red caps—"Make America Great Again". It's a phrase that sounds like a nostalgic hug but behaves like a geopolitical elbow.

At its core, MAGA carries an implicit assumption—that America's greatness has been diminished not just by its own policy choices, but by the rise, behaviour, or mere existence of other nations. If that's the diagnosis, the treatment becomes tariffs, trade wars, strategic hostility, and the increasing flirtation with military bravado, all packaged as patriotic duty.

The logic appears to be that if others are brought down a notch, America rises by default. It's the international equivalent of lowering the class average to ensure you top the exam. But greatness built on comparison is fragile. Greatness built on destruction is corrosive. And greatness built on both tends to age as well as milk.

History, humanity's most overqualified and perpetually ignored consultant, has been leaving the same memo for centuries—empires that confuse muscle for immortality eventually get a very expensive reality check. They collect land like Pokémon cards, hoard resources like it's a clearance sale, and build influence that looks invincible—until they also collect resentment, rebellion, and a slow collapse.

The idea that destabilising resource-rich countries can enhance domestic prosperity is not new. It has been attempted, refined, and rebranded with phrases like "national security", "strategic interests", or the ever-flexible "spreading democracy". The outcomes, however, tend to follow a familiar pattern—short-term gains, long-term entanglements, and a global reputation that oscillates between suspicion and outright hostility.

> Nations can compete to innovate, educate, decarbonise, and to uplift citizens. The race does not have to be to the bottom

When a nation begins to act as the world's moral police, deciding which regimes are acceptable, which governments are threats, and which countries require "correction", it enters a paradox. It claims to enforce order but ends up amplifying instability. It seeks to project strength but reveals insecurity. And then comes the selective application of outrage.

If the goal is to "save people" from oppressive regimes, one might reasonably ask why certain countries are spotlighted while others remain curiously offstage. Why is a regime like North Korea, with its well-documented internal conditions, not subjected to the same intensity of interventionist enthusiasm? The answer, of course, lies not in moral clarity but in strategic calculus. Some risks are too high, some consequences too unpredictable, and some adversaries too inconvenient. In other words, morality filtered through geopolitics develops preferences.

When decisions conveniently align with oil fields, trade routes, or electoral optics rather than any consistent moral compass, "moral leadership" stops looking like a lighthouse and starts behaving like a stage light, illuminating only what serves the script. Principles are simply put on a flexible subscription plan.

Now layer onto this the question of global responsibilities, particularly around climate change. The US, as one of the world's largest historical emitters, occupies a unique position in climate negotiations. Yet, by opting out of COP30, it has challenged the rest of the world to take action against them, The absence of such an action emboldened the US to flex its muscles in more aggressive ways ever since—in Venezuela, Iran, and possibly Cuba.

Can a nation claim greatness while sidestepping collective responsibility? True greatness is not just about power. It is about credibility. It is about the ability to lead not merely by force or fear, but by example. And examples, unlike slogans, are difficult to spin.

The real comedy of MAGA is its spectacular misreading of what greatness means. Greatness isn't a zero-sum spreadsheet where you downgrade others to upgrade yourself. It isn't built by manufacturing enemies, but by manufacturing competence. You don't extract your way to excellence, you create your way there.

Nations that binge on external disruption tend to starve internally. Every dollar spent flexing abroad is a dollar not fixing what's broken at home. Fear-based politics may win applause, but it quietly corrodes social trust. And a foreign policy that breeds resentment doesn't create dominance; it creates distance.

Most dangerously, once a country starts bending its moral compass for convenience, it doesn't spring back, it warps.

These are not mistakes that fade with election cycles. Distrust becomes default, alliances become transactional, and credibility becomes expensive to rebuild.

Is greatness comparative? Inevitably yes, but the comparison need not be destructive. It can be aspirational. Nations can compete to innovate, educate, decarbonise, and to uplift citizens. The race does not have to be to the bottom.

And what of the idea that one can achieve greatness by undermining others? That is less a strategy and more a historical rerun with a predictable ending. In the long arc of time, greatness is not awarded to those who dominated the most, but to those who built the most enduring systems of trust, prosperity, and progress.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Welcome ceasefire

The two-week ceasefire between Iran and the US at the eleventh hour, widely welcomed as "encouraging news", has come as a triumph of the recognition of the folly and futility of continuing the war and a relief to West Asia and the rest of the world. No matter what Trump says, it was a failed war for the most powerful nation in the world. Its use of force at Israel's urging achieved nothing but loss of life and economic pain. Trump's "a whole civilisation will die tonight" remark stresses the urgent need for nuclear disarmament if the human race is to survive. Trump's claim in the wake of the ceasefire agreement that "big money will be made" is a statement on him. The two-week window that the US and Iran now have from the "double-sided" ceasefire, brokered by Pakistan, must be seized to start negotiations for a peaceful resolution to the war. The demand for an assurance of non-aggression by the US topping the 10-point proposal by Iran must be acceded to by the US for lasting peace in the oil-rich region.

Amul's milestone

Apropos of "Utterly Amul" (FE, April 8), this milestone not only reflects the Amul brand's phenomenal growth but also highlights the success of India's cooperative movement. Amul has transformed the lives of dairy producers. It is the collective victory of millions of farmers who are the backbone of the organisation. Amul has become a household name and its topical and catchy ads connect with everyday Indian life, which has immensely helped the brand positioning. This landmark underscores the potential of indigenous brands to compete globally.

> AI is a powerful tool when used correctly, but careless use reveals old flaws. Hallucinations aren't new; they're just more visible now

AFTER A YEAR of enthusiastic adoption, India's legal fraternity is learning that artificial intelligence (AI) can occasionally be a little too imaginative. Law firms that eagerly signed up with platforms like Harvey and Legora are now pulling back, chastened by courtroom embarrassment over AI "hallucinations"—fabricated citations that looked convincing until they weren't. The Supreme Court has called it out bluntly: not a glitch, but misconduct.

Aprajita Rana, partner leading the TMT (technology, media, and telecom) practice at AZB & Partners, agrees. "We are increasingly seeing cases where judges are critical of the misuse of AI for legal research and written statements by lawyers," she says. "Yet they're open to AI for routine tasks like case summaries, translations and preparation of procedural documents to improve access to justice."

Currently, the use of AI in the legal sector is driven by client expectations. "Many firms are opting for third-party AI tools, and we are seeing more instances of such tools being used for routine legal tasks like summarising, case law review, proof reading and

Flawless cloud? Think again

GENIUS WONG

FOR YEARS, THE tech industry has operated under a comforting illusion: that the cloud is an ethereal, invincible entity. We spoke of availability zones and regions as if they were abstract logical constructs rather than physical buildings filled with servers, cables, and cooling fans. The recent events in the Middle East have shattered that illusion.

When physical strikes damaged data centres, it was a stark reminder that the cloud lives in real buildings, powered by real grids, located in real-world geographies. When those buildings go dark, the digital economy they support: banks, hospitals, ride-hailing apps, and payment gateways, go dark as well.

The standard design for modern digital infrastructure relies on availability zones, separate facilities within a single region designed to fail independently. If one building loses power, the other stays up. However, this model was never designed for theatre-level events. Like natural disasters, a regional power grid failure, or geopolitical conflict.

Disaster recovery cannot remain a static plan but must be live and continuously monitored. When a region goes offline, engineers are forced to improvise, build new network paths, reconfigure security tunnels, and redirect traffic; all while the business is losing millions per hour. The recent outage revealed that recovery in these scenarios takes days, not minutes. Why? Because the roads between different cloud providers hadn't been built yet. Attemptery (DR) approach keeps business running, ensuring data remains secure, systems stay online, and downtime is minimised. While DR ensures systems and data can be recovered rapidly across environments, a DR-SoC provides real-time visibility, threat detection, and coordinated response during a crisis.

The path forward requires a shift in how we define reliability. We need to stop thinking about networking as plumbing and start seeing it as insurance for autonomy. Resilience today also requires integrating recovery and security into the core architecture and this is where solutions like multicloud networking become essential.

In this model, if one provider's physical infrastructure is compromised, the network can automatically reroute traffic to a different provider in a different location in under 60 seconds. For organisations bound by data sovereignty, this allows a split strategy: keeping sensitive data in a secure, operational local facility while shifting the heavy computing tasks to a safe region elsewhere.

The model is most effective when supported by managed DRaaS, where failover, replication, and orchestration are automated across cloud environments, with a DR-SoC ensuring continuous monitoring and coordinated response. The recent events have moved cloud strategy from the IT basement to the boardroom. We have entered an era where infrastructure must be as ambitious and even legal research," Rana adds.

Legal firms are also investing in collating their in-house templates and advice so that they can rely on quality datasets that reflect the working way of such firms. That said, the jury is still out on how such AI use will impact client billing practices.

Rana notes that in-house lawyers often push AI first drafts on external counsel, but fixes for errors can take longer than starting fresh. She sees hope ahead: better India-specific datasets will help.

The Supreme Court's message is firm: use AI for research help, not as a human replacement. Verify every citation. Courts like Kerala are eyeing rules requiring AI disclosure and human checks—a zero-tolerance stance on risks to court sanctity.

Anthropic's Glasswing targets cyber threats

BIJIN JOSE

AI STARTUP ANTHROPIC has introduced Project Glasswing, a cybersecurity initiative that brings together major technology firms and critical infrastructure organisations to test an advanced, unreleased AI model designed to identify and address software vulnerabilities at scale.

At the centre of the project is a frontier AI system with strong coding and reasoning capabilities, which the company claims can analyse high-risk flaws in operating systems, web browsers and widely used software. Early testing has reportedly uncovered numerous serious vulnerabilities, including some that had gone undetected for years.

Unlike typical AI releases, the model — referred to by partners as Claude Mythos Preview – will not be made publicly available due to concerns over potential misuse. Instead, access is limited to a closed group of collaborators across the tech and security ecosystem.

Microsoft, one of the participants, said the initiative marks a shift in how cybersecurity is approached at scale. "As we enter a phase where cybersecurity is no longer bound by purely human capacity, the opportunity to use AI responsibly to improve security and reduce risk at scale is unprecedented," said Igor Tsyganskiy, Global CISO and EVP of security and Microsoft Research.

Amazon Web Services said it has already begun applying the model in its internal systems. Google emphasised the importance of industry-wide collaboration in tackling emerging threats. "It's always been critical that the industry work together on emerging security issues," said Heather Adkins, VP of security engineering at Google.

Anthropic said the goal of Project Glasswing is to strengthen defensive cybersecurity capabilities in the face of increasingly AI-driven threats. The model can identify vulnerabilities and, in some cases, assist in understanding how they could be exploited. This demonstrates its defensive benefits and risks. The initiative is also positioned as a way to improve security in open-source software, which underpins much of today's digital infrastructure but often lacks dedicated resources. By providing access to advanced AI tools, Anthropic aims to help maintainers detect and patch vulnerabilities.

Opinion

Together, let us empower our Nari Shakti

It is imperative that the 2029 Lok Sabha elections and the Assembly elections to the various states in the coming times are conducted with women's reservation in place

NARENDRA MODI

IN THE COMING days, India will be immersed in a festive season,, with celebrations taking place across the length and breadth of the nation. The people of Assam will mark Rongali Bihu while Odisha will celebrate Maha Bishuba Pana Sankranti. In West Bengal, Poila Boishakh will usher in the Bengali New Year and in Kerala, Vishu will be observed with immense enthusiasm. In Tamil Nadu, Puthandu will be celebrated while in Punjab and other parts of Northern India, it will be Baisakhi, which will usher in a spirit of hope as well as positivity. I convey my best wishes to all those across India and the world who are marking these festivals. May these auspicious occasions bring happiness and prosperity to everyone's lives.

Furthermore, on April 11, we will commence the 200th birth anniversary celebrations of Mahatma Phule and on April 14, India will pay homage to Dr. Babasaheb Ambedkar on Ambedkar Jayanti.

In addition to these special occasions, when the spirit of renewal fills our hearts and minds, our nation stands at the threshold of another historic occasion. It is an opportunity to deepen the foundations of our democracy and to reaffirm our collective commitment to equality and inclusion.

On April 16, Parliament will be convened to discuss and pass an important Bill that advances women's reservation. To describe this merely as a legislative exercise would be an understatement. It is a reflection of the aspirations of crores of women across India. It is an affirmation of a principle that has long guided our civilisational ethos, that society progresses when women progress.

> Every delay in advancing women's representation is, in effect, a delay in strengthening the quality and inclusiveness of our democracy

Women constitute nearly half of India's population. Their contributions to our nation are vast and invaluable. Today, India is witnessing remarkable achievements by women across every field. From science and technology to entrepreneurship, from sports to the armed forces and from music to the arts, women are at the forefront of India's progress. Over the years, sustained efforts have been made to create an enabling environment for women's empowerment. Greater access to education, improved healthcare, enhanced financial inclusion and better access to basic amenities have strengthened the foundation of women's participation in economic and social life.

Yet, their representation in the world of politics and legislative bodies has not always been commensurate with their role in society. This is particularly unfortunate because when women participate in administration and decision-making, they bring with them experiences and insights that enrich public discourse and improve the quality of governance.

It is imperative that the 2029 Lok Sabha elections and the Assembly elections to the various states in the coming times are conducted with women's reservation in place. Over the decades, there have been repeated efforts to provide women their rightful place in democratic institutions by the previous governments. Committees were made, Bill drafts were introduced but they never saw the light of day. But the broad consensus has remained that women's representation in legislative bodies has to increase. In September 2023, Parliament passed the Nari Shakti Vandan Adhiniyam with the same spirit of consensus. I consider it to be among the most special occasions of my life.

This opportunity to ensure women's reservation also resonates deeply with the spirit of our Constitution. The makers of our Constitution envisioned a society where equality is both enshrined and realised in practice. Strengthening women's participation in legislative institutions is an important step towards fulfilling that vision. It reflects our commitment to building a society where every citizen has an equal stake in shaping the nation's destiny.

This is a moment that cannot be deferred any longer. Every delay in advancing women's representation is, in effect, a delay in strengthening the quality and inclusiveness of our democracy. For decades, the need for greater participation of women in legislative institutions has been acknowledged, discussed and reaffirmed. To postpone action now would mean extending an imbalance that we already recognise and have the capacity to correct. At a time when India is moving forward with confidence and purpose, it is essential that our institutions reflect the aspirations of all citizens, especially those who form half our population. Timely action will not only honour long-standing commitments but also ensure that the momentum of progress is sustained. This is truly a historic opportunity to make our democracy more representative, responsive and future-ready.

> The passage of a Bill for women's reservation should reflect the broadest possible consensus and be guided by the larger national interest

This moment calls for collective action. It is not about any one government, party or individual. It is about the nation as a whole recognising the importance of this step and coming together to realise it. It is what we owe to our Nari Shakti. That is why the passage of a Bill for women's reservation should reflect the broadest possible consensus and be guided by the larger national interest. Such opportunities call upon us to act not for ourselves, but for future generations. They remind us that the true strength of a democracy lies in its ability to evolve and to become more inclusive over time.

As we approach this historic Parliament sitting, I appeal to all members of Parliament, across party lines, to come together in support of this important step for the women of India. Let us seize this opportunity with a sense of responsibility and purpose. Let us act in a manner that reflects the highest traditions of our democracy.

India has always shown that when it comes to matters of national importance, it can rise above differences and act with unity. This is one such moment. Let us move forward together and strengthen Constitutional values and empower our Nari Shakti for national progress.

Airport charges cut by 25% to ease airline cost pressure

NITIN KUMAR
New Delhi, April 8

THE CENTRE ON Wednesday announced a 25% cut in airport charges to ease airline cost pressures, directing major airports to reduce landing and parking fees for domestic flights for three months. The move offers relief to the country's airlines, which are under financial strain due to the Iran war.

Following the Ministry of Civil Aviation (MoCA) directive, the Airport Economic Regulatory Authority (AERA) has mandated a 25% reduction from three months.

"Now, as part of a multi-layered response to these unprecedented challenges, the Ministry has taken another significant decision to reduce landing and ports. The measure is aimed at addressing rising operational costs faced by airlines. With expenses increasing, the government has capped domestic Aviation Turbine Fuel (ATF) price hikes at 25%.

Additionally, the government has removed airfare caps and kept the 60% free seat allocation rule in abeyance to provide airlines with greater pricing flexibility. Furthermore, the aviation regulator has temporarily eased pilot flight duty time limitations (FDTL) for long-haul flights in response to global aviation disruptions.

MoSPI mulls mixed approach to estimate District Domestic Product

FE BUREAU
New Delhi, April 8

THE MINISTRY OF Statistics and Programme Implementation (MoSPI) has proposed adopting "a mixed approach" for preparing District Domestic Product (DDP) estimates under the new GDP series with base year 2022–23.

The mixed approach is a combination of top-down and bottom-up methods. For sectors where reliable district-level data are available, the bottom-up method is to be used, while for other sectors, state-level estimates are apportioned to official told FE.

The official said talks with various state governments have started regarding land acquisition and ensuring road connectivity with proposed stations along the corridor. "We will engage with six state governments, and the detailed project report (DPR) for this corridor is now in process," the official said.

In 2024, DFCCIL submitted the DPRs for this project to the Railway Board, but was told to update the same due to a route change. The official said the entire project is likely to be completed in 6 years—1.5 years for land acquisition and 4.5 years for execution—with an estimated cost of ₹2.47 lakh crore. "Just like the existing freight corridors, this project will have the capacity to handle 120 trains per day," the official said.

In February, the finance minister proposed a new 2,052-km freight corridor connecting Dankuni (in West Bengal) with Surat (in Gujarat) to enable seamless, high-speed movement of goods. The project will cover West Bengal, Odisha, Chhattisgarh, Maharashtra, Gujarat, and Madhya Pradesh. Land acquisition is an important aspect of the project since the previous two DFCs—eastern DFC and western DFC—faced inordinate delays due to slow land acquisition by state governments and prolonged environmental clearances.

Meanwhile, on March 31, DFCCIL conducted the successful trial run on the last section (JNPT–New Saphale) of the Western DFC, marking the completion of the project. The official said commercial services should start in late April. "The track part is over. We are waiting for some electrical components from overseas which have been delayed due to West Asia conflict. The western DFC should be operational in 15-20 days."

While the 1,337-km Eastern DFC was fully commissioned in 2024, the Western DFC was stalled due to critical last-mile land acquisition issues, contractor performance and pending signalling and overhead electrification.

Both corridors handled an average of 406 trains per day in FY26. In March, this number rose to 460 against the design capacity to accommodate 480 trains. "We are already running 460 trains per day (both ways) on both corridors. The network is designed to handle 120 trains each way daily on each corridor, however, we might run 130-140 trains in the near future by running long-haul (created by joining two freight trains) and multi-haul trains," the official said.

As per an ASSOCHAM-ASCELA report, DFC accounts for about 15% of Indian Railways' route length, but carries over 55% of India's total rail freight. "DFCs have significantly reduced transit time with the Western DFC cutting port-to-Delhi NCR travel by nearly half and the Eastern DFC improving coal movement.

prevailing tariffs, applicable to aeronautical charges such as landing and parking fees, to mitigate cost pressures arising from the ongoing West Asia crisis. Similarly, the Airports Authority of India (AAI) has also been directed to reduce landing and parking charges at all its non-major airports by 25% of the approved rate. This reduction for all domestic flights will also remain applicable for a period of parking charges for domestic carriers by 25% for a period of three months," the MoCA said.

These measures are expected to reduce landing and parking charges payable by airlines at major airports during the three-month period by approximately ₹400 crore, the ministry said. The move to cut charges comes after IndiGo and Air India sought the rationalisation of some fees levied by air-

According to sources, these measures are intended to cushion airlines against a sharp surge in operating costs driven by higher ATF prices, airspace restrictions, and currency pressures.

In the absence of such interventions, sources said airlines may have been forced to implement steeper fare hikes, reduce capacity, and rationalise routes to maintain financial viability.

districts using the top-down approach. This method balances accuracy and data availability and is commonly used in DDP estimation.

Currently, 26 states and union territories are preparing DDP estimates mainly using the top-down approach through allocation using suitable indicators available at the district level, the statistics ministry said.

Sebi enables lock-in of pledged shares

FE BUREAU
Mumbai, April 8

THE SECURITIES AND Exchange Board of India (Sebi) has introduced a mechanism to lock in pledged shares, particularly those of IPO-bound companies. This effectively restricts the sale or transfer of shares, especially by promoters, during their lock-in period. Depositories will now consider such shares to be 'non-transferable' for the applicable lock-in period, as per a circular issued by the markets regulator on Wednesday. Earlier, the lack of a technical mechanism allowed pledged shares to bypass conventional lock-in restrictions. Sebi's regulations require pre-IPO shares to be locked in for six months post listing, with an aim to prevent sudden rise in supply of shares in the market.

Sebi said that depositories have made necessary changes to their systems and processes to enable the lock-in mechanism, such as incorporation of articles of association, issuance of necessary intimations to the concerned pledgees, and suitable disclosures in the offer documents. It also directed stock exchanges, merchant bankers, and issues to ensure compliance with the mechanism.

The circular follows a notification on March 21 when Sebi had made amendments to its Issue of Capital and Disclosure Requirements Regulations, 2018. Sebi said the mechanism has been introduced to protect the interests of investors and to regulate the securities market.

2. Recommendations of the committee of independent directors of the Target Company:

   The recommendation of committee of independent directors of the Target Company ("IDC") in relation to the Open Offer was approved on April 06, 2026 and published on April 07, 2026 in the same newspapers where the DPS was published ("IDC Recommendation"). The relevant extract of the IDC Recommendation is given below:

Members of the Committee of Independent Directors	1. Prasad Parameswaranpillai Naga - Chairperson; 2. Prajnaparamita Sarkar; and 3. Rakesh Kumar Shrivastava
Recommendation on the Open Offer, as to whether the Open Offer is fair and reasonable	Based on a review of the relevant information (as set out in the summary of reasons for recommendation below), the IDC is of an opinion that the Offer Price of ₹256.30 (Indian Rupees Two Hundred and Fifty Six point Three Zero only) per Equity Share is in accordance with the applicable regulations of the SEBI (SAST) Regulations and, accordingly, is fair and reasonable.
Summary of reasons for the recommendation	The IDC has perused the PA, DPS, DLOF and LOF issued by the Manager to the Open Offer on behalf of the Acquirer and the PACs, in relation to the Open Offer and particularly noted the following, while making the recommendation: (a) The Equity Shares of the Target Company are frequently traded in terms of Regulation 2(1)(j) of the SEBI (SAST) Regulations. (b) The Offer Price is in accordance with Regulation 8(2) of the SEBI (SAST) Regulations. (c) The Offer Price is higher than the volume weighted average market price per Equity Share for a period of 60 (sixty) trading days immediately preceding the date of the PA as traded on the National Stock Exchange of India Limited (the stock exchange with maximum volume of trading during such period) is ₹253.23 (Indian Rupees Two Hundred and Fifty Three point Two Three only) per Equity Share. (d) The Offer Price is equal to the highest negotiated price per Equity Share of the Target Company for any acquisition under an agreement attracting the obligation to make a PA of an Open Offer, i.e., the price per share under the share purchase agreement dated December 15, 2025 as amended by the amendment letter agreement dated December 30, 2025 and the amendment letter agreement dated January 22, 2026 is ₹256.30 (Indian Rupees Two Hundred and Fifty Six point Three Zero only) per Equity Share. Based on the above, the IDC is of an opinion that the Offer Price of ₹256.30 (Indian Rupees Two Hundred and Fifty Six point Three Zero only) per Equity Share is in compliance with the SEBI (SAST) Regulations and hence is fair and reasonable. This is an Open Offer for acquisition of publicly held Equity Shares. The public shareholders have an option to tender the Equity Shares held by them or remain public shareholders in the Target Company. The public shareholders of the Target Company are advised to independently evaluate the Open Offer and the market performance of the Target Company's scrip and take an informed decision about tendering the Equity Shares held by them in the Open Offer. This statement of recommendation will be available on the website of the Target Company at https://www.indoborax.com/.

   (e) they are assisting the Acquirer only as a lender pursuant to the Financing Agreements, so that Acquirer acquires significant shareholding of the Target Company along with the control over the Target Company. The PACs have independently acquired a 20.00% equity holding in the Target Company but do not intend to exercise control over the Target Company by virtue of the said equity holding.

7.3. Completion of the Underlying Transaction as per the SPA: Upon fulfilment of the condition's precedent under the SPA and in accordance with Regulation 22(2) of the SEBI (SAST) Regulations, the Acquirer and the PACs consummated the Underlying Transaction by acquiring 1,63,00,230 (one crore sixty three lakhs two hundred and thirty) Equity Shares representing 50.80% (fifty point eight zero per cent) (rounded off to the nearest decimal) of the total paid up equity share capital of the Target Company from the Sellers wherein: (a) the Acquirer acquired 98,82,230 (ninety eight lakhs eighty two thousand two hundred and thirty) Equity Shares representing 30.80% (thirty point eight zero per cent) (rounded off to the nearest decimal) of the total paid up equity share capital of the Target Company; (b) the PAC 1 acquired 23,87,496 (twenty three lakhs eighty seven thousand four hundred and ninety six) Equity Shares representing 7.44% (seven point four four per cent) of the total paid up equity share capital of the Target Company; (c) the PAC 2 acquired 24,26,004 (twenty four lakhs twenty six thousand and four) Equity Shares representing 7.56% (seven point five six per cent) of the total paid up equity share capital of the Target Company; and (d) the PAC 3 acquired 16,04,500 (sixteen lakhs four thousand and five hundred) Equity Shares representing 5.00% (five point zero zero per cent) of the total paid up equity share capital of the Target Company on January 23, 2026.

The pledges created pursuant to (ii) and (iii) above, represent a charge over 100.00% of the equity shares of the Acquirer. Upon occurrence of an event of default under the Debenture Trust Deed or related financing documents, enforcement of the pledged shares by the debenture trustee (on behalf of the PACs) may result in a transfer of substantial shareholding and effective control of the Target Company and/or the Acquirer.

7.5. Directors appointed to the board of directors of the Target Company ("Board") by the Acquirer: Pursuant to the terms of the SPA, the Acquirer, in compliance with the first proviso to Regulation 24(1) of the SEBI (Substantial Acquisition of Shares and Takeovers) Regulations, 2011, has reconstituted the Board of Directors of the Target Company on January 23, 2026. VOTING FOR ASSEMBLY elections in the states of Kerala and Assam, along with the Union Territory of Puducherry, will be held on Thursday, marking the first phase of the 2026 state election cycle. A total of 296 Assembly seats across the three regions will go to polls in a single phase. Voting will take place from 7:00 a.m. to 6:00 p.m. Counting of votes is scheduled for May 4.

The incumbent BJP in Assam is aiming to return to power for a consecutive third term while the Congress and its allies will challenge the BJP's decade of dominance in the state. The BJP had first come to power in Assam in 2016, when it had formed the first-ever party government in a Northeastern state.

Chief Minister Himanta Biswa Sarma has spearheaded the BJP's campaign across the state, with the party contesting the polls with its two regional allies – the Bodoland People's Front (BPF), its partner in the Bodoland region, and Asom Gana Parishad (AGP).

The Congress has also stitched up its alliance with regional parties — the Assam Jatiya Parishad and Raijor Dal — along with the All Party Hill Leaders Conference and CPI(M) and CPI(ML). Assam Congress chief Gaurav Gogoi is leading the Opposition alliance unlike the previous elections in 2021, when the Congress-led Mahajot had lacked its face. Gaurav, a three-time Lok Sabha MP and the Congress's Deputy Leader in the Lower House, is also making his debut in the state Assembly election by contesting from the Jorhat.

Two significant players are contesting the polls independently this time, which include the Badruddin Ajmal-led All India United Democratic Front (AIUDF), which is a force in the Bengali-origin Muslim majority belts, and ex-BJP ally in Bodoland, the Pramod Boro-led United People's Party Liberal (UPPL), which is fighting to retain its political space.

In Kerala, the ruling CPI(M)-led Left Democratic Front (LDF) government led by Chief Minister Pinarayi Vijayan has revolved its campaign around development while terming the Congress-led United Democratic Front (UDF) rule between 2011 and 2016 as a "dark period". Some of the LDF's central election planks have been infrastructure growth, welfare measures and continuity.

On the other hand, the UDF has sought to capitalise on "anti-incumbency" sentiments, arguing that a decade in power has led to governance fatigue and unaddressed public grievances. Despite previous elections being centered around anti-incumbency, the campaign this time has seen the Opposition also coming under scrutiny.

quits on election eve

A DAY BEFORE polling in Assam, Congress candidate for the Udalguri seat, Suren Daimari, on Wednesday announced that he has quit the party and "surrendered" his candidature. A senior Election Commission official said Daimari's name will remain in the EVM, and people can still vote for him. Congress Spokesperson Bedabrata Bora told PTI that Daimari has announced his decision in front of the media and has not yet submitted his resignation letter to the party. Earlier in the day, Daimari told reporters that he has resigned from the Congress and "surrendered" his candidature. "There is no benefit of being in the Congress. It has betrayed me," he said. "The Congress only works for the Miyas, but they do nothing for the Scheduled Tribes like me." —PTI

for poor knowledge

THE ELECTION COMMISSION on Wednesday recalled its general observer from a West Bengal constituency for not having basic information about the seat where he was deployed. Officials said during a briefing of the observers by the EC, it was found that Anurag Yadav, general observer, Cooch Behar Dakshin, did not know the number of polling stations in his Assembly constituency. He was immediately recalled by the order of the commission.

West Bengal goes for polls in two phases on April 23 and 29. The poll panel deploys general, expenditure and police observers in poll-bound states to work as its eyes and ears. They report to the poll authority about different aspects from the ground to help it take corrective steps. —PTI

TMC TO MOVE COURT OVER NAME DELETION, VOWS MAMATA

'Feel like starting practising law again'

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA
Kolkata, April 8

"AT TIMES, I feel like starting practising law again," West Bengal Chief Minister Mamata Banerjee said on Wednesday, targeting the BJP and the poll panel over large-scale name deletions from voter rolls under the SIR, while asserting the TMC would move court over the issue.

Banerjee, who has an LLB degree, argued in the Supreme Court on February 4, urging it to intervene in the ongoing Special Intensive Revision (SIR) of electoral rolls to "save democracy", alleging that West Bengal was being targeted. She was the first serving chief minister to argue in the top court.

Her Wednesday remarks at rallies in Hooghly district's Arambagh, Balagarh and Sreerampore came a day after Election Commission data showed nearly 9.1 million voters have been deleted from the electoral rolls in West Bengal from the original voter base of 76.6 million in October 2025 following the SIR exercise.

"You will not be able to defeat the TMC by deleting names. We will move court again to resist the exclusion of names," the TMC supremo said, attacking her principal challenger, the BJP, over the SIR process.

She also said, "We will fight legally to get the names included on the list. If people cannot cast their votes, what is the need to set up the tribunals?" Banerjee also questioned why the voter list for the first phase of polls in West Bengal was finalised despite the matter being pending before the tribunals. "What is this? We will challenge it and try to understand it. I respect the Supreme Court, but I am not satisfied. When the Supreme Court directed that tribunals be set up and those whose names were cancelled could appeal, how was the voter list for the first phase frozen while the tribunal process is ongoing?" she said.

"I am unable to digest this. At times, I feel like going back and start practising law. But I am unable to do that because I am in the chair of the chief minister," she added.

Addressing a rally at Arambagh, Banerjee accused the BJP of trying to manipulate electoral rolls and offering money to woo voters. She also alleged that the Election Commission was intimidating people. "It is working at the behest of the BJP," she claimed.

At Balagarh, she warned people that voting for the BJP would effectively mean "giving up fish and meat, or speaking in Bengali". "People are not allowed to eat eggs, fish, or meat in BJP-ruled states like Uttar Pradesh, Rajasthan, and Maharashtra. The same will happen here if the BJP comes to power," Banerjee claimed.

At the Sreerampore rally, the TMC supremo alleged the BJP was planning to divide Bengal under the garb of the delimitation of constituencies.

Palaniswami's remark against Stalin triggers controversy

A REMARK ALLEGEDLY made by AIADMK chief Edappadi K Palaniswami targeting Tamil Nadu Chief Minister M K Stalin on Wednesday triggered a controversy and the latter strongly condemned the comment and asserted that he was not afraid of death and that he would go to any extent to protect the people.

Palaniswami, addressing a poll rally in Chennai, had asked: "During the DMK regime, was there drought, flood or cyclone? Or did the coronavirus pandemic break out? There was nothing; had this (pandemic) emerged, he would have gone (died) in the pandemic." When DMK assumed office in May 2021, the state was in the grip of the second wave of the pandemic, while it first surfaced during the AIADMK regime. Addressing a rally in Villupuram, Stalin said driven by fear of defeat, Palaniswami speaks daily in a

Assam case: Khera moves Telangana HC for anticipatory bail

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA
Hyderabad/New Delhi,

A DAY AFTER the Assam police searched his Delhi residence, Congress leader Pawan Khera on Wednesday moved the Telangana High Court seeking anticipatory bail in a case filed in Guwahati in connection with his allegations against Assam Chief Minister Himanta Biswa Sarma's wife.

The chairman of AICC's Media and Publicity Department, who showed his residential address in Hyderabad, requested the court to release him on bail in the event of his arrest. Khera's wife hails from Telangana and he has a residence in Hyderabad. The state is ruled by the Congress.

The petition was filed on April 7 and will be taken up on Thursday morning. Khera party. The Congress leader said he is ready to cooperate in the case against him and hence be given pre-arrest bail.

The Congress leader had, in a press conference on April 5, alleged that Sarma's wife, Riniki Bhuyan Sarma, has multiple passports and foreign property, which were not declared in the chief minister's election affidavit. The allegations were rejected as "false, fabricated and malicious" by the Sarmas. On a

PM to address three rallies in Bengal today

PRIME MINISTER NARENDRA Modi will intensify the BJP's election campaign in West Bengal on Thursday with rallies in Haldia, Asansol and Siuri. The choice of venues underlines the BJP's attempt to consolidate its support in areas where it has made major gains while also pushing into regions considered strongholds of the ruling TMC.

According to the schedule shared by the BJP, Modi will address his first rally at 9.30 a.m. in Haldia Township in Purba Medinipur district, followed by another at the Outdoor Stadium in Polo Ground in Asansol at noon. The third public meeting is scheduled to be held at Chandmari Field in Siuri town of Birbhum district at 2 p.m.

Haldia is regarded as the backyard of Leader of Opposition Suvendu Adhikari and remains one of the strongest bases of the BJP. The party had won eight of Purba Medinipur district's 16 Assembly seats in reckless manner and makes below par statements.

"Palaniswami has said that had there been an outbreak of the pandemic during my tenure, I would have gone (died)... I am not someone who is afraid of death," he said, and recalled the torture he had faced in jail in 1970s. —PTI
