Rescue efforts on a war footing in Nepal as disaster toll hits 675

167 Indian nationals rescued; nearly 2,500 people still missing; in the last two days, 279 rescued from hydropower tunnels and India, China dispatch tunnel rescue experts as over 900 people working with 11 hydropower projects remain missing

Sanjeev Satgainya
KATHMANDU

The death toll from Nepal's devastating flash flood rose to 675 on Saturday, as authorities said rescue operations continued for a fourth day, though hindered by the remoteness of the region. The country's National Disaster Risk Reduction and Management Authority (NDRRMA) said at least 2,498 people remained missing, while more than 7,514 had been rescued.

According to the Nepal Tourism Board (NTB), 261 tourists have been rescued, including 167 from India and 40 from China. There were eight people from Ukraine, four from Malta, and three from the U.S., apart from 21 unidentified people who were also brought to safety.

Challenging task
According to the NDRRMA, more than 900 people associated with 11 hydropower projects, including those under construction, remain unaccounted for. It said that in the last two days, 279 people were rescued from hydropower tunnels and hundreds more are believed to be trapped in tunnels as well, creating a daunting challenge for rescuers.

A tunnel rescue team from India reached Nepal on Saturday with specialised machinery, in accordance with an earlier reconnaissance team sent on Friday, India's Ministry of External Affairs said. China also dispatched five tunnel experts on Saturday, who landed directly in the disaster-affected area.

Nepal Foreign Minister Shishir Khanal dismissed reports that Nepal had rejected international assistance and support, saying that the government had requested specific and specialised assistance "from our friendly neighbours to strengthen search-and-rescue efforts, particularly in the tunnels."

Six teams of Indian forensic experts are expected to reach Nepal this weekend, to help identify the mortal remains that are being recovered in the disaster-hit areas, the MEA said.

In a social media post, Nepal Prime Minister Balendra Shah said that DNA and other evidence of identification would be preserved for bodies that cannot be identified. "Bodies identified by families would be handed over to them," he said, adding that 18,708 security personnel have been mobilised in the flood-affected areas.

Not a good sign if a Bar Council loses respect: SC judge

Krishnadas Rajagopal
NEW DELHI

Supreme Court judge Justice B.V. Nagarathna said it is not a good sign if a Bar Council, whether at the Central or State level, loses the respect of its members.

The senior judge was speaking at the 13th convocation of National Law University Delhi on Saturday.

"The Bar Councils, whether the Central or the States, must introspect on their role and importance in upholding professional ethics, morality and professional competence. When a Bar Council does not earn the respect of its members, it is not a good sign for the legal profession," Justice Nagarathna said.

Her words gain added resonance following the recent public outrage and pushback from the legal fraternity over an aborted attempt by the Bar Council of India (BCI) and its long-standing chairperson and senior advocate Manan Kumar Mishra to restrict the 2026 graduating batch of NALSAR University of Law, Hyderabad, from professional enrolment.

The students had objected to inviting Chief Justice of India Surya Kant as the chief guest for the convocation, reportedly taking offence to his oral remarks peppered with terms like 'cockroaches' and 'parasites' in the court room.

However, even the CJI took strong exception to the BCI's intervention, calling it an "unwarranted interference". He had said the BCI had no business, whatsoever, to come between him and NALSAR students who were only exercising their right to protest.

Addressing graduating students, faculty and guests at the convocation, Justice Nagarathna said the legal profession was a liberal pursuit in the truest sense of the word.

India, China yet to announce 2 more border meeting points

Vijaita Singh
NEW DELHI

India and China are yet to announce the locations of two additional Border Personnel Meeting (BPM) points along the Line of Actual Control (LAC). However, government sources said that at least two rounds of meetings between local commanders of the two countries have been held at Kepang La in Arunachal Pradesh's Upper Siang district over the past year.

According to an eight-point outcome document released by both countries on August 26 following the 25th round of talks between the Special Representatives (SR) on the Boundary Question, India and China have also agreed to establish two additional meeting points to hold General-level or Senior Highest Military Commander-level meetings.

India was represented at the talks by National Security Adviser (NSA) Ajit Doval, while China was represented by Wang Yi, Member of the Political Bureau of the Chinese Communist Party Central Committee and Director of the Office of the Central Commission for Foreign Affairs. At present, there are five BPMs in the western and eastern sectors of the LAC - Daulat Beg Oldie and Chushul in Ladakh, Nathu La in Sikkim and Kibithu and Bum La in Arunachal Pradesh.

According to a Defence Ministry statement in 2019, the BPM mechanism has evolved into an important interface where local issues get discussed and resolved, thereby fostering confidence among the Border Guarding Troops. "This ensures prevalence of peace and tranquility along the LAC."

A government source said that a year ago, the Chinese People's Liberation Army (PLA) had suggested that Kepang La in Tuting be declared a mutually agreed meeting point for flag meetings and other high-level interactions.

The source said Kepang La is a place of religious significance for people on both sides of the undefined border, and locals are allowed to visit the Chorten, a Buddhist holy site.

Cong., BJP spar over 'purification' ritual

The Hindu Bureau
NEW DELHI

Leader of the Opposition Rahul Gandhi on Saturday said the alleged shuddhikaran (purification) ceremony held at the venue of a rally addressed by Congress president Mallikarjun Kharge in Haldwani earlier in August amounted to the practice of untouchability.

Accusing the BJP and the RSS of seeking to prevent Dalits from progressing and living with dignity and respect, Mr. Gandhi urged Prime Minister Narendra Modi to ensure that an FIR is registered against those responsible.

However, the BJP cited testimonies of two Scheduled Caste eyewitnesses and the "20-day delay" in raising the matter to assert that there was "no genuine issue".

T.N. to set up safe houses for vulnerable inter-caste couples

Activists say courts should monitor these shelters to be set up in all districts; they will offer lifeline for couples and survivors facing threats

Dennis S. Jesudasan
CHENNAI

When a couple goes against their parents' wishes to get married, they often need immediate refuge, especially if they cross caste or religious lines. The Tamil Nadu government's recent plan to set up a 'safe house' in each district offers a lifeline for individuals and families vulnerable to caste killings, and related violence.

"If only we had such a safe house earlier, I would not have lost my husband Shankar," said activist Kausalya Shankar, welcoming the "historic" decision.

Announcing the plan in the State Assembly on Friday, Social Justice Minister Vanni Arasu said it was in line with the Supreme Court's ruling in the Shakti Vahini vs. Union of India case, and followed representations from survivors of caste-related killings and activists.

"When a groom is murdered in an 'honour' killing and the bride survives, she is thrust into a state of utter devastation and helplessness," said anti-caste activist and filmmaker Geeta Ilango. "While a surviving groom in a similar tragedy might eventually find a way to move on, a surviving bride faces a uniquely harrowing reality," she said, noting that a safe house would let her "rebuild her livelihood, and fearlessly pursue her legal battle for justice".

Activist Evidence Kathir offered a note of caution. "It should be ensured that the space is not used to hold talks with the couples to persuade them to end their marriage. The safe house should be under the direct monitoring of the courts," he said.

Mr. Kathir also pointed out that Tamil Nadu had set up special cells with a 24-hour helpline to receive complaints in this regard as early as 2018. However, they were not functioning properly, he said.

Convenience compromised: Passengers find it painful to walk to the multi-level car park to board the cab at the Meenambakkam airport where phase 2 modernisation is yet to get over. The facilities here are not at all comparable to those at Bengaluru and Hyderabad. B. VELANKANNI RAJ

Grounded until take-off

With the Parandur airport now a closed chapter, Tamil Nadu has to press ahead with another alternative, viable site for Chennai's second airport. Sunitha Sekar takes a look at the options ahead of the State and the processes involved in establishing a new airport. Cheyyur in Chengalpattu district and Gummidipoondi in Tiruvallur district are the top contenders for Chennai's second airport

Nearly three decades after the idea to build a second airport for Chennai was first mooted, the Tamil Nadu government finds itself at the drawing board again, hunting for a fresh site, after the Tamilaga Vetti Kazhagam (TVK) government cancelled the Parandur airport project.

Cheyyur and Gummidipoondi were among the 11 locations originally considered when the search for the second airport project began nearly seven to eight years ago. At the moment, it is not clear why these two locations had never made it to the shortlist of four sites – Parandur, Pannur, Thiruporur, and Padalam. Though discussions had been held on Pannur too, it is not clear if it is still in the race.

Cheyyur airspace under IAF

Sources say that if the Cheyyur site is pursued, the State government may have to get the approval of the Ministry of Defence since the site could fall within the airspace controlled by the Indian Air Force, Tambaram. At Gummidipoondi, the Pulicat Lake is closer to the site, and it remains to be seen how bird movement will affect air traffic. "No decision has yet been taken on the site. The State government will take a decision soon," a source says. It is learnt that a site inspection is expected to happen anytime.

After finalising the site, the government must request the Airports Authority of India (AAI) to do the pre-feasibility study and give its recommendation. Subsequently, roping in a consultant and applying for the site clearance will start afresh.

After the Sriperumbudur airport project proposed in the mid-2000s was aborted, Parandur came the closest to hosting Chennai's second airport. Now, all the procedures for building a second airport must begin from scratch.

For the second airport project planned at Parandur in Kancheepuram district on 5,846 acres, the government had completed the acquisition of 1,802 acres, which Industries Minister Keerthana said would be used for industrial purposes.

Enhancing capacity at Meenambakkam

Since building an airport at any chosen site will take a minimum of five to seven years, the State government has shifted its immediate focus to enhancing the capacity of the existing airport at Meenambakkam by constructing T5 Terminal (near the remote bays and between the main and secondary runways). With the completion of phase 2 modernisation (building of T2 and T3 Terminals), the airport's capacity will increase to 35 million passengers a year and the handling capacity will further be expanded to 55 million passengers a year on the completion of T5 Terminal. An elevated corridor from National Highway 32 needs to be constructed to enable air passengers to enter T5 Terminal.

But air passengers and aviation experts say a few projects being carried out by the AAI are already reeling under delays. For instance, phase 2 modernisation's original deadline was 2022. But it is yet to be completed.

An airport is far more than a piece of transport infrastructure; for a capital city and economic powerhouse like Chennai, it is a strategic enabler of economic growth, global competitiveness, trade, tourism, investment, and job creation

Losing lustre

Aviation experts underscore the need for a second airport to boost Chennai's aircraft and cargo movement. From the third position in passenger traffic nationwide, the Chennai airport has been pushed to the fifth spot, with insufficient amenities.

Constructing the elevated corridor and the terminal will take years, an aviation expert says. He points out that a detailed project report needs to be prepared for T5 Terminal and the elevated corridor. "To fix the designs, call for bids, and then complete the entire process, it could take a minimum of five years, provided the AAI meets all the deadlines and the project is carried out at a meticulous pace," he adds.

'Facilities better at Bengaluru, Hyderabad'

Sandhya Vedullapalli, a frequent flyer, says she has encountered a few issues at the Chennai airport. "It is painful to walk to the multi-level car park to board the cab. For years together, they have been modernising the airport and building an integrated terminal, and this is putting so many people to inconvenience. It is not easy to push the trolley and walk outside the airport since it is not a smooth contiguous path," she adds.

Be it the state of washrooms or the number of dining and shopping options, everything is so much better at the Bengaluru and Hyderabad airports, Ms. Vedullapalli says, adding that if the second airport had been built at Sriperumbudur by now, air passengers wouldn't be suffering. "There should be policy continuity. One government proposes it, then another drops it. Until another airport is built, it is the air passengers who will have to put up with various issues, and it is unfair," she adds.

The government should soon find a site to address the development needs of the city even while balancing the environmental concerns.

A. Sankar, another frequent flyer, says Chennai has lost out on adding direct flights to many destinations, while Bengaluru seems to have

Delays in completion of projects at Chennai airport

Second cab pick-up point was ready in December 2025. But it hasn't been opened to passengers. Delayed by nearly two years.

Refurbishment of T1 and T4 Terminals for capacity enhancement and modification of stormwater drains, too, suffer from delays.

Phase II modernisation, which included building an integrated terminal, should have been completed in 2022. T2 Terminal was launched in 2023, T3 Terminal is still under construction and faces repeated delays. The next deadline is December 2026.

Issues that need to be addressed

- 1 Enhancing overall maintenance
- 2 Shifting of cab pick-up point
- 3 Improving wayfinding outside the terminals
- 4 Improving the quality and maintenance of rest rooms
- 5 Increasing the number of retail outlets in multi-level car parking
- 6 Aggressive marketing to draw more airlines and enhance connectivity grabbed them in time. Earlier, there were direct flights to Paris and Tokyo, but they are no longer available from Chennai. Meanwhile, Bengaluru now boasts direct flights to Tokyo, Paris, Amsterdam, Vietnam, and the Maldives. "Chennai really needs direct flights to many European destinations, and initiatives have to be taken," he adds.

Industry leaders have reiterated the need for state-of-the-art airport infrastructure as it will not only help in drawing more airlines and connecting the city directly to more domestic and international destinations but will also drive up the economy. The 'Aerotropolis' model, which is fast emerging now, revolves around airport-led development wherein businesses, commercial complexes, residential communities, and the logistics industry come up in the airport's vicinity. Ravichandran Purushothaman, chairman of Confederation of Indian Industry (CII) Southern Region, summed it up rather well: "An airport is far more than a piece of transport infrastructure; for a capital city and economic powerhouse like Chennai, it is a strategic enabler of economic growth, global competitiveness, trade, tourism, investment, and job creation."

Choose a site quickly: CII

The CII notes in a statement that while modernising the Meenambakkam airport is essential, it is only a medium-term plan for the city. "Choosing a site [for the second airport] quickly is critical and once it is done, the project should be expedited and executed with urgency to ensure Chennai retains its competitive advantage among India's leading industrial and investment destinations."

Vijay Gopalan, former chief financial officer of AirAsia India, says the decision to scrap the Parandur airport project will prove to be a costly mistake, pushing Chennai's growth behind by at least 10 years. While the government claims that an airport alone will not decide investments, what it fails to acknowledge is that such decisions reflect poorly on a city's image, he says. "The perceptions matter so much when you have to attract young talent. While I'm glad the government is finally waking up to the need for setting up more Global Capability Centres (GCCs) for young talent and delegates to choose the city, we need better social infrastructure, and of course a good airport. A world-class airport substantially boosts the image of a city and its branding. The faster we understand this, the better it is for the city. Else, we will stagnate while Bengaluru and Hyderabad grow at a phenomenal pace," he says. Chennai's primary competitive advantage lies in its robust manufacturing ecosystem, which continues to attract substantial global investments into Tamil Nadu, says Dinesh K. Krishnan, national treasurer, The Air Cargo Agents Association of India. "However, the current handling of air cargo fails to match this industrial momentum, falling significantly short of the operational efficiency delivered by privately managed airports in Bengaluru and Hyderabad," he says.

After the Sriperumbudur airport project proposed in the mid-2000s was aborted, Parandur came the closest to hosting Chennai's second airport. Now, all the procedures for building a second airport must begin from scratch

'Improve utilisation'

There is also an argument in a few quarters on whether Tamil Nadu needs a new international airport. Uvakai Research Foundation, in its recent report, says there is scope to improve the utilisation of the existing airport before going in for another major airport. But aviation experts point out that unless a newly built second airport run by a private operator is established, Chennai's aircraft and cargo movement cannot increase significantly. From the third position in passenger traffic, Chennai has been pushed to the fifth spot. "The Bengaluru and Hyderabad airports are growing remarkably because of their efficiency," an expert says.

Mr. Krishnan adds that today, trade logistics face severe operational bottlenecks, and exporters and freight agents frequently complete customs clearance in Chennai, only to transport their cargo by bonded trucks to the Bengaluru airport. "This detour is driven by Bengaluru's faster cargo processing, lower air freight rates, and overall operational predictability," he adds. With professionalised terminal management, the Chennai cargo facility can effectively service regional trade for another 10 to 15 years, while long-term second-airport plans materialise, he says.

Metrowater seeks additional release from Mettur dam to augment Veeranam storage

Officials say the water is expected to reach the tank by first week of September; the tank has only 15% storage against its full capacity of 1,465 mcf and continues to supply 179 mld to Chennai

CHENNAI

Chennai Metrowater has sought an additional release of water from the Mettur dam to boost storage in the Veeranam tank and strengthen the city's drinking water supply. The move comes amid the need to maintain adequate water reserves for Chennai.

The Veeranam tank in Cuddalore district has only 15% storage against its full capacity of 1,465 million cubic feet. It continues to supply 179 million litres per day (mld) of water to supplement Chennai's total drinking water supply of 1,245 mld.

With storage in Chennai's major reservoirs declining and awaiting re-

Precautionary measure: Metrowater authorities had sought the WRD to discharge an additional 500 cusecs of water along with releases being made for various combined drinking water schemes.

plenishment, Metrowater authorities had asked the Water Resources Department (WRD) to discharge an additional 500 cubic feet per second (cusecs) of water along with releases being made for various combined drinking water schemes in districts, including Tiruchi and Erode.

A Government Order had also been issued approving the additional release until the end of September to step up storage at Veeranam, one of the key water sources for Chennai. Water is expected to reach the tank by the first week of September, said Metrowater officials.

At present, the water released from Mettur dam is in its final stretch of 27 km before flowing into the tank. The Vadavar channel is expected to bring an inflow of at least 100 cusecs of water to the tank and help balance inflow and withdrawal.

A recent rain spell in catchment areas, including Cuddalore and Ariyalur, brought an inflow of about 170 cusecs into the tank, helping to arrest the decline in water level, officials said. The inflow is expected to increase further when water is released for Cauvery delta irrigation from September 1. "We are also preparing to draw about 40 mld from the Paravanar channel region as part of contingency plans," said an official.

Meanwhile, the Kandaleru-Poondi canal at the State border in Tiruvallur district, continues to receive nearly 410 cusecs of Krishna water from Andhra Pradesh. These measures would help enhance water availability in the city's major reservoirs, officials added.

City police arrest businessman, two others in POCSO case

The Hindu Bureau
CHENNAI

Businessman R. Veeramani, 84, and two other abettors have been arrested by the Anti-Vice Squad of Greater Chennai Police (GCP) under the Protection of Children from Sexual Offences (POCSO) Act.

The police said that on October 6, 2025, a man approached an Inspector of Anti-Vice Squad of the GCP and handed over a pen drive, stating that he had received it from an unidentified person who had come to his workplace.

On examining the video in the pen drive, the police found that a minor girl had been sexually assaulted by an elderly person.

Based on the complaint, a case was registered on October 7, 2025. After conducting an investigation, the police ascertained that the person in the video was Veeramani. In a press release, the police said

Veeramani had taken a house for rent in Teynampet and entrusted the abettors – Shanthi and her husband Mahendra Simhan – with managing the house.

The police found that he brought several minor girls to the house and indulged in sexual offences. One of the videos containing those acts was seized as evidence.

Further searches at the houses of the accused and offices resulted in seizure of important evidence such as photos of a few other minor girls and women.

Veeramani, Shanthi, and Mahendra Simhan were remanded to custody.

NHAI begins work to remove temporary bunds on Cooum ahead of Northeast monsoon

Around 250 platforms had been put up for construction of Chennai Port-Maduravoyal Elevated Corridor; these will be cleared before the first week of October to ensure smooth flow of water

The Hindu Bureau
CHENNAI

The National Highways Authority of India (NHAI) has begun to remove the temporary work platforms put up along the Cooum River for the construction of the 20-km long double-decker Chennai Port-Maduravoyal Elevated Corridor.

During a meeting on monsoon preparedness convened by the Additional Chief Secretary, Municipal Administration and Water Supply, Gagandeep Singh Bedi, on Saturday, the NHAI promised that the platforms would be removed before the first week of October to ensure the free flow of water in the river during monsoon, official sources said.

Around 250 temporary structures were erected to facilitate the movement of workers and heavy machinery around the pillars. “We will remove the bunds in a phased manner and at places where the work is nearing completion. These platforms are needed for the construction work, as the riverbed and the banks are soft. We have instructed the contractor to complete the work before the rain begins. Each bund, around 10-metres long, would have up to four lorry loads of earth,” they said.

The NHAI had been removing the temporary bunds before every monsoon for the past two years. In 2024, the Southern Bench of the National Green Tribunal directed the Water Resources Department and the NHAI to monitor the flow of water in the river. Residents living along the river had expressed concerns over the bunds.

Postcard collection with illustrations of artist Pavithra Srinivasan released

The Hindu Bureau
CHENNAI

A collection of postcards, bearing the illustrations of iconic buildings of Madras, compiled by artist, writer, translator and heritage enthusiast, the late Pavithra Srinivasan, was launched at the Higginbothams Book Store on Anna Salai on Saturday.

The collection, titled ‘Madras: Arches, Alleys & Icons,’ by Pavithra’s Perspectives celebrates the history and architecture of Chennai. It was launched by the Postcrossing Welfare Society of India, Nam Veedu, Nam Oor, Nam Kadhai, and the Madras Literary Society.

Speaking on the occasion, Principal Secretary,

T.N. Venkatesh IAS, Justice Prabha Sridevan, and historian K.R.A. Narasiah at the launch event on Saturday. B. VELANKANNI RAJ

Handlooms, Handicrafts, Textiles and Khadi Department, T.N. Venkatesh, said Pavithra’s stories in The Hindu Young World for children were very effective and found their mark. He said he was a big fan of her works, including translations.

“We will add her illustrations to our collection of memorabilia and mementoes of the city that have been brought out by Poompuhar,” he added.

Former judge of the Madras High Court Justice Prabha Sridevan said that Pavithra’s illustrations showed how much she loved the city.

Historian K.R.A. Narasiah said he was happy to be part of the launch.

Pavithra’s father, Srinivasan, said his daughter was a musician too. “We are planning to bring out a book on Royapuram and trams, on which she was working. All the proceeds from the sale of her books and other materials fund a non-profit foundation which helps pay school fees for poor children,” he added.

Architect Thirupurasundari Sevvel said, “Pavithra and I were making a game on Madras that will soon be made public. A pack of 12 postcards would cost ₹500 each.”

Copies can be purchased by emailing madras.kadhai@gmail.com or ordered on <https://www.postcardsville.com>

MDMA packets seized by the police in Keralam.

MDMA worth ₹10 cr. seized in Keralam; three arrested

The Hindu Bureau
MALAPPURAM

A police squad from Malappuram in Keralam seized 12.8 kg of MDMA valued at more than ₹10 crore from a car in Coimbatore. Three persons from Malappuram and Wayanad were arrested.

The arrested were Jabir Ali, 32, from Panthallur near Manjeri; Mohammed Salih, 34, from Meppadi in Wayanad; and Shaim Akbar, 21, from Anakayam near Manjeri.

The arrests were made by a special investigation team led by district police chief Chaitra Teresa John. Manjeri Inspector T.G. Di-leep and the District Anti-Narcotics Special Action Force (DANSAF) squad were part of the team.

The police said the MDMA was being transported for distribution in Keralam and Tamil Nadu. The drugs were concealed in the door panels of an Innova car.

The MDMA was packed in quantities ranging from 100 to 500 g for delivery at multiple locations in Keralam, the police said.

Revanth seeks 4 more weeks for revision of electoral rolls

Nearly one-third of Telangana electorate has to prove their eligibility, says Chief Minister in letter to CEC Gyanesh Kumar; govt. apprehensive that a large number of voters will be left out of the list

R. Ravikanth Reddy
HYDERABAD

Telangana Chief Minister A. Revanth Reddy on Saturday urged the Election Commission of India to extend the claims and objections period for the Special Intensive Revision (SIR) of electoral rolls in the State by four weeks, citing concerns over the large number of voters flagged for verification and the possibility of eligible electors being left out.

In a letter to Chief Election Commissioner Gyanesh Kumar, Mr. Reddy said the revision had reached a critical stage, with nearly one-third of the State's electorate potentially required to estab-blish their eligibility afresh.

ASDD classification

According to the letter, against the State's electoral roll of 3.38 crore electors as of June 10, around 73.39 lakh entries have been placed under the categories of Absent, Shifted, Dead and Duplicate (ASDD). Of the 2.65 crore enumeration forms digitised so far, 60.5 lakh have been flagged for anomalies and another 32.36 lakh for lack of a link to the previous electoral roll. The two categories are distinct, taking the total number of electors requiring notice to 92.86 lakh, the letter said.

Mr. Reddy expressed concern over the ASDD classification, noting that 45.19 lakh, or nearly 62% of the 73.39 lakh ASDD entries, had been classified as 'permanently shifted'.

Besides seeking a four-week extension of the claims and objections period, currently scheduled from August 17 to September 16, with final publication on October 19, the Chief Minister proposed several safeguards, including public reading of draft electoral rolls.

Cong. expels leader for blocking Satheesan's motorcade

The Hindu Bureau
THIRUVANANTHAPURAM

Chenthi Anil, the District Congress Committee (DCC) member who was arrested by the police on Saturday for stopping Keralam Chief Minister V.D. Satheesan's convoy, has been expelled from the party.

Thiruvananthapuram DCC president N. Sakthan expelled Mr. Anil from the primary membership of the party, even as the district-level leader was remanded in judicial custody for 14 days on Saturday.

Mr. Sakthan told The Hindu that blocking the Chief Minister's vehicle cannot be justified under any circumstance.

Mr. Anil, along with a group of people, had allegedly blocked the convoy and misbehaved with Mr. Satheesan for declining to attend the Sree Narayana Guru Jayanti celebrations planned at Chenthi here.

Following the incident on Friday evening, police had registered an FIR against Mr. Anil and had taken him into custody on Saturday.

Sources in the Chief Minister's office said Mr. Satheesan had been advised against attending the event based on intelligence inputs and that his office had informed the organisers a week ago that he would be unable to attend.

Speaking to reporters on Saturday, Home Minister Ramesh Chennithala said the law will take its course.

Air Quality Code: Poor Moderate Good (Readings indicate average AQI)

SO₂: Sulphur Dioxide. Short-term exposure can harm the respiratory system, making breathing difficult. It can affect visibility by reacting with other air particles to form haze and stain culturally important objects such as statues and monuments.

NO₂: Nitrogen Dioxide. Aggravates respiratory illness, causes haze to form by reacting with other air particles, causes acid rain, pollutes coastal waters.

CO: Carbon monoxide. High concentration in air reduces oxygen supply to critical organs like the heart and brain. At very high levels, it can cause dizziness, confusion, unconsciousness and even death.

PM_{2.5} & PM₁₀: Particulate matter pollution can cause irritation of the eyes, nose and throat, coughing, chest tightness and shortness of breath, reduced lung function, irregular heartbeat, asthma attacks, heart attacks and premature death in people with heart or lung disease

Nepal steps up rescue work as toll touches 675

“Our immediate priority remains clear: to save lives, locate missing persons, rescue them, provide urgent relief to survivors and ensure that affected Nepali as well as foreigners receive appropriate assistance and support,” Nepal Foreign Minister Shishir Khanal said at a press briefing in Kathmandu, noting that given the scale of the devastation, assistance would also be required for reconstruction efforts even after the rescue and relief operation is concluded.

Authorities in Nepal have been continuously monitoring river systems and downstream flood risks, with agencies placed on high alert.

Meanwhile, authorities struggled to manage the bodies washed up in Chitwan district, downstream from the flood-affected Bhotekoshi-Trishuli river system. According to district authorities in Chitwan, as many as 229 unidentified bodies were being kept at holding centres and health institutions. The officials said it decided to bury the unidentified remains after collecting DNA samples, as identification has become increasingly difficult and the decomposing bodies pose a health risk.

Embassy helpline numbers

The Embassy of India in Kathmandu said it is working closely with Nepalese authorities, including the Nepal Police to ensure that the mortal remains of Indian nationals can be handed over to the next of kin after identification. The embassy has provided helpline numbers and an email id for those seeking information: +977 985 131 6807, +977 970 910 7500, +977 981 032 6117, and eoikathmandufloodsupport@gmail.com

The Government of Nepal has been releasing photographs and descriptions of the deceased. Information related to the identification of mortal remains from the recent flash flood can be accessed through the short URL: newsth.live/Nepal (Inputs from Kallol Bhattacharjee in New Delhi)

‘Not a good sign if a Bar Council loses respect’

“Its institutions – courts, tribunals, the Bar, law schools – are among the places in which disagreements can have a civilised implication,” Supreme Court judge Justice B.V. Nagarathna said.

Ms. Nagarathna underscored the importance of legal professionals safeguarding their profession from outside pulls, pressures and preferences. She said the responsibility to preserve the autonomy of the legal profession lies with the lawyers.

“The independence of the Bar is not an entitlement given to lawyers for their own benefit. It exists because a constitutional democracy requires a body of professionals who can advise, argue, challenge and represent without having to ask the permission of the State, the market, or even their own clients before doing so. Lawyers are safety valves of democracies,” Justice Nagarathna said.

Lawyers should adapt

The judge stressed on the importance of adaptability for lawyers of the 21st century.

“You are entering a profession that must constantly adapt and respond to a changing reality. The velocity of change around us is unprecedented – technological advancements, environmental crises, social upheavals, geopolitical shifts, and transformations in the way we live, work, and think. These are not theoretical conundrums. They go to the heart of what kind of society we want to live in – and what role the law should play in shaping it,” she said.

India, China yet to announce meeting sites

“A suggestion from the Chinese commanders to designate Keping La as a BPM was made last year. However, a final decision is yet to be taken,” said the source.

Recently, a fact-finding committee constituted by the People’s Party of Arunachal (PPA) had alleged Chinese intrusions in the Taksing area of Upper Subansiri district, describing them as “gradual, persistent and well-calculated”, while pointing to gaps in year-round Indian patrolling along the LAC.

While the Indo-Tibetan Border Police (ITBP) is the primary force responsible for guarding the India-China border, operational responsibilities in most disputed areas are determined by the Army.

The committee, headed by former Minister and PPA Chief Adviser Kahfa Bengia, visited Taksing on July 10 and interacted with residents of Taksing, Maza and Galemto, as well as Army personnel stationed in the region.

In its report, the committee cited local accounts claiming that Shera-5 Point, an Indian patrolling point, has remained inaccessible to Indian troops since a confrontation between the Arunachal Scouts and the Chinese People’s Liberation Army (PLA) in 2023.

According to the report, Indian troops withdrew from the point after the incident, while PLA personnel allegedly returned to dismantle signs of the Indian presence and subsequently prevented Indian patrols from accessing the area. The committee also said that Nanga Pahar, traditionally used by local Nah and Mara communities for hunting and yak rearing, has effectively become a restricted zone for residents, which it claimed has aided Chinese advances towards the Indian side.

PM in Uzbekistan for 2-day visit ahead of SCO summit

While in Tashkent, Modi will hold delegation-level talks with Uzbekistan President Shavkat Mirziyoyev; later, he will head to Bishkek in the Kyrgyz Republic to participate in the SCO summit

Press Trust of India
TASHKENT

Prime Minister Narendra Modi on Saturday arrived in Tashkent, the capital of Uzbekistan, where he will hold delegation-level talks with President Shavkat Mirziyoyev, aiming to further strengthen the strategic partnership between the two countries.

Mr. Modi was received by Mr. Mirziyoyev on arrival at the airport on his fourth visit to the nation. This is the first leg of the Prime Minister’s two-nation visit to Uzbekistan and the Kyrgyz Republic, focusing on strengthening India’s strategic partnerships in Central Asia and deepening the civilisational connect with the region.

During his two-day visit to Uzbekistan, Mr. Modi will discuss several bilateral agendas including trade and defence with Mr. Mirziyoyev. “I look forward to my discussions with President Mirziyoyev on further deepening our cooperation in trade and investment, digital connectivity, defence, energy, and on advancing our shared visions of ‘Viksit Bharat’ and ‘Yangi Uzbekistan’,” Mr.

Modi said in his departure statement. Mr. Modi said he would also visit the Shastri Memorial and the Mahatma Gandhi Centre at the Tashkent State University of Oriental Studies.

SCO summit

From Tashkent, the Prime Minister will travel to Bishkek, capital of Kyrgyzstan, to participate in the 26th Shanghai Cooperation Organisation (SCO) Summit, at the invitation of the President of the Kyrgyz Republic, Sadyr Zhaparov. Mr. Modi said in his departure statement, “India has been an active and constructive member of the SCO since 2017. I look forward to advancing India’s vision for the region, anchored in security, connectivity and opportunity, and to working with fellow members for a region free from the scourge of terrorism, separatism and extremism, which continue to threaten peace in our neighbourhood and beyond.”

Officials said Mr. Modi will address the SCO summit, where he will highlight India’s priorities of security, connectivity and opportunity. He will also hold bilateral meetings with SCO leaders on the sidelines of the summit, they said.

The Prime Minister also said he would attend the World Nomad Games.

“I also look forward to meeting President Zhaparov and other SCO leaders, and to attend the opening ceremony of the 6th World Nomad Games, a celebration of the rich living heritage of Central Asia that India holds in deep respect,” he said.

BJP worker in custody for copying SIR forms; 5 BLOs suspended

The Hindu Bureau
THANE/MUMBAI

Five booth-level officers (BLOs) have been suspended after a local BJP worker was caught on Thursday photocopying more than 3,400 Special Intensive Revision (SIR) electoral forms containing voters’ photographs, personal details, and official BLO signatures at a shop in Navi Mumbai.

A case was filed on the morning of August 28, a senior Kharghar police official said.

“Electoral Registration Officers (EROs) were sent to investigate the complaint, where they caught Suraj Patil making illegal photocopies of 3,400 enumeration forms at a photocopy centre in Sector 19, Kharghar. The EROs registered the crime at Kharghar police station,” District Collector Kishan Jawale said.

Five BLOs who were responsible for handing these enumeration forms to accused Suraj Patil, have been suspended, he said.

Prints seized

Kharghar police rushed to the scene and took the alleged BJP office-bearer into custody. All the printed enumeration forms were seized from the premises and taken to the police station.

According to police, Shiv Sena (UBT) workers confronted the man and claimed he was an office-bearer of the BJP’s Youth Wing. Mr. Patil was detained and served a notice as per standard legal procedure before being released, police said. Sena (UBT) workers alleged that Mr. Patil managed to flee the Kharghar police station shortly after being brought in for questioning. The incident triggered a clash between Shiv Sena (UBT) and BJP activists. (With inputs from PTI)

Kharge urges govt. to ensure safety of Indians in Nepal

The Hindu Bureau
NEW DELHI

Congress president and Leader of the Opposition in the Rajya Sabha Mallikarjun Kharge has written to Prime Minister Narendra Modi, urging the government to provide humanitarian and relief assistance to flood-ravaged Nepal and intensify efforts to ensure the safety and evacuation of Indian nationals stranded there.

In his letter, dated August 28 and released on Saturday, Mr. Kharge urged the Prime Minister: “I request you to ensure that adequate humanitarian and relief assistance is provided to the affected people of Nepal in coordination with the Government of Nepal”.

‘Deploy NDRF’

He also urged the Centre to issue necessary directions to intensify rescue and evacuation efforts and make arrangements for their safe and early return to India.

In a separate letter to Union Home Minister Amit Shah, Mr. Kharge urged the government to consider extending “immediate and comprehensive” humanitarian and disaster-relief assistance to Nepal, and to treat the matter with “urgency and sensitivity”, underlining the deep and enduring ties between the two countries.

He said the deployment of National Disaster Response Force (NDRF) teams, wherever required and in coordination with the Nepal government, should also be considered to assist in rescue, evacuation and relief operations.

Mobile phones, SIM cards, seized from terror convict’s cell

Senjuti Sengupta
KOLKATA

Three mobile phones, Wi-Fi equipment, and ₹31,000 in cash were seized from the cell of Aftab Ahmed Ansari, the mastermind of the 2002 American Centre attack in Kolkata, who is serving a life term at the Presidency Correctional Home, officials said on Saturday.

Senior officials from the West Bengal correctional services said the items were seized during a surprise search operation at the Presidency jail on August 23, following intelligence inputs that Mr. Ansari was allegedly using a mobile phone and had internet access.

“Three smartphones, three SIM cards, two routers, a Wi-Fi hotspot device, a pen drive, an OTG adapter, and wireless earbuds are among the electronic communication devices seized by our staff,” a senior officer said, adding that an investigation is underway to probe the potential involvement of jail staff.

The jail authority has lodged a case against Mr. Ansari at the Hastings police station. Investigators are also attempting to ascertain whether phone calls were made to Mr. Ansari’s contacts outside the country.

American Centre attack

Mr. Ansari was a key member of the Dubai-based Asif Reza Commando Force, a wing of the Pakistan-based terrorist group Harkat-ul-Jehad-i-Islami. He was sentenced to life imprisonment in 2014 for the January 22, 2002, attack outside the American Centre in Kolkata, where two motorcycle-borne gunmen used AK-47 rifles to kill five police personnel and injure 20 others.

AI can aid healthcare, doctors must lead decisions, say experts

The Hindu Bureau
CHENNAI

Artificial intelligence (AI) is becoming an integral part of healthcare and is here to stay, but the skills, judgement and critical thinking of medical practitioners will remain central to patient care, experts said at a webinar on “The Future Doctor: Balancing Clinical Experience with Technology” organised by SRM Institute of Science and Technology, in association with The Hindu.

The panellists comprised R. Jayanthi, Dean, SRM Medical College Hospital and Research Centre; Vivek N, Dean (Dental), SRM Kattankulathur Dental College and Hospital; Ritubhan Gautam, Head - Global Health, Deep Tek.ai; and K. Ganapathy, Honorary Distinguished Professor, IIM Jammu, Distinguished Professor, Tamil Nadu Dr. M.G.R. Medical University, and Emeritus Professor, National Academy of Medical

Stakes high as India seeks to reconnect with Central Asia

NEWS ANALYSIS

Suhasini Haidar
NEW DELHI

Prime Minister Narendra Modi’s four-day visit to Uzbekistan and the Kyrgyz Republic is more than just an outreach to two important states in Central Asia or the Shanghai Cooperation Organisation (SCO). The agenda will include engagements aimed at three additional multilateral platforms – the upcoming BRICS Summit in September, the two-year UN Security Council term of 2028-2029, and planning for the long-pending India-Central Asia Summit, which has not met since 2022. Experts say the delay has led to speculation in the region that New Delhi has lost interest in the engagement, particularly compared with Mr. Modi’s first foray in 2015, when he visited all five Central Asian states.

His biggest challenge during this visit will be to reverse that perception.

In a speech given at Kazakhstan’s Nazarbayev University in Nur Sultan, addressed to the “people of Central Asia”, Mr. Modi had then promised that India would rebuild connectivity to the region. However, while trade in goods has risen from $500 million in 2010 to more than $2 billion in 2025, connectivity prospects have been considerably cut due to geopolitical shifts.

In addition, China’s Belt and Road Initiative has made deep inroads in the region, growing to $106 billion in China-Central Asia trade in 2025.

Bilateral focus

“The broader message is that we have to stay engaged with the entire region, but also bilaterally with each Central Asian state,” Nandan Unnikrishnan, a distinguished fellow at the Observer Research Foundation and a leading expert on Central Asia and Russia, said, adding, “We may not be able to match China and Russia in terms of investment and influence, but we have many economic interests. In addition, India’s soft power is in trade, education, and IT, where Indians have been slow to utilise such obvious advantages.”

In Bishkek, Chinese President Xi Jinping and Russian President Vladimir Putin will attend the summit amongst other leaders of the SCO members. Kyrgyz President Sadyr Japarov will hand over the presidency of the SCO to Pakistan Prime Minister Shehbaz Sharif for 2027, and all eyes will be on whether Mr. Modi gives any indication that he would attend the summit in Islamabad.

The SCO summit will also be Mr. Modi’s first opportunity to meet with Iran President Masoud Pezeshkian since the U.S.-Iran war began, and discuss India’s concerns over the Hormuz Strait blockade. In addition, New Delhi wants Iran to take a more flexible position at the BRICS summit on September 12, where tensions between Iran and the UAE have held up consensus over a joint statement.

Seat contest

The next big hurdle Mr. Modi must cross is with Tajikistan, given that India and Tajikistan are both contenders for the Asian bloc’s vote for the non-permanent seat in the UN Security Council election in June 2027. Despite India’s considerably larger diplomatic footprint, recent votes in the UN General Assembly have delivered upsets – in June, Germany lost out to Portugal and Austria, and the Philippines lost to the Kyrgyz Republic in this year’s UNSC votes.

In addition, Bangladesh’s Khalilur Rahman defeated his rival from Cyprus for President of the General Assembly in a tight race, even though the U.S., European countries, and India are understood to have supported Cyprus. In the absence of a “clean slate” for next year’s election, India’s best bet would be to convince Tajikistan to put off its candidature to another year, and for Mr. Modi to discuss this with both Tajik President Emomali Rahmon and his Central Asian counterparts during the upcoming summit.

Finally, officials hope that a date for the India-Central Asia Summit will be set during the PM’s visit.

Sciences. Dr. Jayanthi said AI has become an important part of healthcare and medical education, and doctors and institutions must adapt to the AI era.

She stressed the need for medical students to develop AI literacy and a strong “verification reflex”, ensuring that AI-generated information does not undermine clinical reasoning and critical thinking.

AI with responsibilities

AI should support clinical decisions, but doctors should never outsource their responsibility to the technology, said Dr. Ganapathy.

He underlined the importance of strengthening judgement and accountability, and of asking the right clinical questions while assessing how reliable an AI prediction is for a particular patient and setting.

Dr. Vivek pointed to the role of AI in automating several aspects of diagnosis and treatment. At the same time, he said, the technology remains a decision-support tool and cannot replace the dentist, who must continue to make the final clinical decision.

From a public health perspective, AI can act as a force multiplier in areas where specialist clinicians are scarce, said Mr. Gautham. He said it could make screening more accessible in rural and underserved settings and help prioritise patients requiring urgent attention, while accuracy, bias and clinical oversight remain important considerations.

A drone suspected to be from Pakistan was spotted hovering over forward areas along the Line of Control (LoC) in Jammu and Kashmir's Poonch district, prompting security forces to launch a search operation in the area early Saturday, officials said. The drone was spotted in Balakote in the Mendhar sector late Friday evening, and it moved towards the Mangalnar-Dabrote side near the border before returning to Pakistan, the officials said. They said Army troops guarding the LoC intensified surveillance and launched a search operation at first light to determine whether it had dropped or carried any suspicious material. ^{PTI}

The results of the UGC National Eligibility Test (NET) for 84 subjects have been announced, with more than 4,000 candidates qualifying for the Junior Research Fellowship, the National Testing Agency has said. 6.07 lakh candidates took the exam, out of which over 97,000 have cleared it, a senior NTA official said on Friday. The examinations were conducted in June, with the NTA releasing the UGC-NET answer key on August 16. It also issued a special notice for re-examinations in Sociology, Commerce and English papers after an expert committee found factual, typographical, and language-related errors in the question papers. ^{PTI}

The Bombay High Court on Saturday disposed of a public interest litigation (PIL) petition against a recent language rule after the Maharashtra government informed the court that auto-rickshaw, taxi and cab drivers in the State would be given one year to acquire a working knowledge of Marathi. A Division Bench of Acting Chief Justice Ravindra Ghuge and Justice Gautam Ankhad was hearing the PIL filed by four Uber drivers challenging the government's requirement that drivers possess a working knowledge of Marathi to obtain permits.

A special court on Saturday has taken cognisance of a chargesheet filed by NIA in connection with the explosion near Red Fort in New Delhi on November 10, 2025 which killed 14 people and injured dozens. According to the 7,500-page chargesheet, filed in May, the explosion was allegedly orchestrated by a terror module led by a group of doctors who had been searching for a suicide bomber for a year. Dr. Umar-un-Nabi, the prime accused, allegedly drove the explosives- laden vehicle that detonated near Red Fort. The NIA arrested 11 people accused of facilitating the attack by providing logistical support, sheltering suspects and attempting to destroy evidence.

Nepal seeks to import power earlier from India after floods

In the wake of the devastating flash flood that severely impacted Nepal's power infrastructure, Kathmandu has asked India to give the requisite approvals for the transmission of electricity to Nepal earlier than usual, senior officials in the Union Power Ministry said on Saturday. "Nepal has asked that India advance import approvals, starting from September this year, in view of the generation deficits caused by this disaster. The concerned authorities are processing the requests," an official said. According to officials, India is willing to provide any additional power that Nepal may need. Nepal usually imports electricity from India during the winter months.

Ather unveils new bike Konarc, battery platform

Ather Energy, Bengaluru-based electric two-wheeler manufacturer, announced Konarc, Ather's newest scooter; Ather True Health, a comprehensive vehicle health report and resale-value assessment; the fifth-generation Ather Bedrock Battery platform and Ather Node, a charging solution for apartment communities. The announcements are expected to address key barriers consumers continue to face with electric two-wheelers, from everyday usability and battery safety to long-term battery health, resale value and access to convenient home charging, according to the EV firm. Konarc, the first product built on Ather's new EL platform, is targeted at mainstream Indian riders, focusing on ride comfort, stability, everyday usability, and serviceability. Konarc is available in six variants.

'No material price hit on CBG on revised offtake framework'

Addressing concerns over compressed biogas (CBG) turning expensive with the revised offtake price, the Union Petroleum Ministry assured the pricing cushioned with government-funded support and stacking with substantially wider gas pool would avert any material price impact. The Union Cabinet August 6 okayed GOBARDhan scheme that introduced CBG offtake price of ₹2,110/metric million British thermal unit. Responding to a media report, it said the revised pricing framework seeks to provide CBG producers with a "stable and viable" price that would help them operate "sustainably". The Ministry clarified full offtake price would not be recovered from gas consumers. It explained the government would provide an affordability cushion of ₹10 per kilogram of CBG.

IRDAI panel bats for simpler, easier-to-use health covers

N. Ravi Kumar
HYDERABAD

A sub-committee on health insurance under Insurance Regulatory and Development Authority of India (IRDAI) Chairman Ajay Seth underscored the need to make health covers simpler, more transparent and easier for policyholders to understand and use.

Simplification of policy wording, strengthening underwriting at the point of sale to minimise claim issues arising from inadequate disclosures and facilitating hassle-free claim settlements were discussed by the Sub-Committee, of the Insurance Advisory Committee (IAC) at its meeting on August 28. The role of insurers, intermediaries, agents and TPAs in supporting policyholders at hospitals was also discussed, IRDAI said.

It also considered steps to encourage insurers and hospitals to join the National Health Claims Exchange (NHCC), including possible sops linked to onboarding, payments and faster settlement and incentivising policyholders who undergo periodic health check-ups.

The meeting emphasised on the need for standardisation and enriching industry data to support evidence-based policy interventions. Noting claim assessment and grievance outcomes should not focus only on settlement ratios but also on absolute values, it wanted insurers to mull publishing standard treatment guidelines and treatment package rates for aiding more informed choices by policyholders.

Review of exclsions

Among other things, the sub-committee favoured a further review of exclusions in the Customer Information Sheet to improve clarity and customer trust. Setting the backdrop for the meeting was the report of the Parliamentary Standing Committee on Health and Family Welfare,

HDFC Bank MD&CEO Jagdishan not to seek reappointment

The private sector lender said board has decided to fast-track the process for the selection and appointment of his successor well within time

MUMBAI

Sashidhar Jagdishan, HDFC Bank's MD & CEO has conveyed his decision not to seek his re-appointment. India's largest private sector bank said in an exchange filing. "At its meeting held today, the board of directors took note of Mr. Sashidhar Jagdishan's communication not to seek reappointment. Despite persuasion, Mr. Jagdishan reiterated his decision to not seek reappointment. Accordingly, he shall retire from the services of the Bank upon the close of business hours on October 26, 2026," the lender said.

"The board deeply appreciated his commitment, leadership, contribution to the growth and stability of the bank and his role in the successful completion of one of the largest mergers in corporate India. The board conveyed its best wishes to him in his future endeavours," it added.

Selection fast-tracked

The bank said it's board has decided to fast-track the process for selection and appointment of his successor well within time.

Mr. Jagdishan had taken over as the MD & CEO after Aditya Puri's retirement.

Sashi, as he's known to friends and colleagues, joined HDFC Bank in 1996

and played a critical role in its growth ever since.

Recently, he had come under criticism for the bank's stock's underperformance in the market and faced allegations of violating corporate governance norms, which the bank had denied. In the last week, the stock had fallen to a multi-year low, analysts said.

Earlier this year, the previous part-time chairman of the bank, Atanu Chakraborty, had resigned citing ethical grounds and following this, Mr. Sashidhar came under a cloud.

Slapped fines

Recently, Mr. Jagdishan, the bank's CFO and one more top official were fined by the bank for "business overreach" after running an internal review into the its deposit arrangements with Maharashtra State Road Development Corporation for garnering deposits in 2017 and 2021.

The Special Disciplinary Committee of Independent Directors had concluded the conduct of the employees involved constituted business overreach rather than any mala fide action, personal enrichment, or improper motive.

The board also communicated the matter to the Reserve Bank of India.

The RBI is also believed to have expressed discomfort with his continuation at the top post.

With less than two months to go before his tenure ends and no green signal coming from the board, and the regulator, Mr. Jagdishan preferred to opt out, it is learnt.

Having started his tenure at the bank as a manager in the finance department, he became business head - finance in 1999 and in 2008, the chief financial officer of the bank.

High cost of funds

Prior to HDFC Bank, he worked with Deutsche Bank AG, Mumbai, for a period of three years.

It was during Mr. Jagdishan's tenure that HDFC Ltd. was merged with HDFC Bank in 2023, and the merger remained a drag on the bank's performance due to the high cost of funds raised by HDFC Ltd, the mortgage lender.

Singapore Airlines to weigh capital infusion in AI

Lalatendu Mishra
MUMBAI

With questions being raised about Air India's (AI) future amid mounting losses and delay in turnaround plan, Singapore Airlines (SIA) reiterated its long-term commitment to AI in which it holds 25.1% stake.

SIA said investment in AI received the full attention of its board and any requests for additional capital for AI would be evaluated under the group's disciplined capital allocation framework.

This is considering AI business strategy, the group's operating cash flow and the investment needs for new aircraft and products, SIA said in a Letter to the editor of Singapore's The Business Times.

The publication had published an article titled "Singapore Airlines faces some bleak choices as it lies trapped in Air India's money pit."

It asked if SIA should just cut losses and walk away from AI when additional infusion of $1.5 billion was needed out of which $375 million was to come from SIA.

Huge losses

In the last fiscal, the majority Tata-owned airline suffered losses of over ₹20,000 crore. Tata Sons board reportedly asked chairman N. Chandrasekaran to arrest the losses.

"The SIA Group's investment in AI is aligned with its long-term multi-hub strategy to enable direct participation in the growth of a key market like India," SIA said in its response to The Business Times article.

Huge market

Stating India was projected to be the world's third-largest economy by 2030, SIA said the country was the world's third-largest aviation market by passenger traffic, which was expected to treble by 2044 from 2024 levels. It stated SIA and Tata had recognised AI transformation programme would take time.

Many challenges

"In the past year, AI had also had to contend with the prolonged Pakistan airspace closure to Indian carriers since April 2025, the impact of the tragic AI171 accident in June 2025, the depreciation of the Indian rupee against the U.S. dollar, the loss of a key market due to the Middle East conflict and sustained high fuel prices," SIA said.

"Nonetheless, AI is making tangible progress across customer experience, fleet renewal, network growth and operational performance," it said. Highlighting AI continued to take delivery of new aircraft and retrofit existing aircraft to enhance customer offering, SIA said, "this approach supported sustainable growth for the SIA Group and long-term shareholders' returns." Meanwhle, Singapore's Temasek, the majority shareholder of SIA, backed the airline's investment in AI.

Apparel exporters worry over cotton, yarn price hikes

Increase in cotton and yarn prices in the last six months is impacting the apparel value chain leading to even cancellation of garment export orders, claim apparel exporters.

Chairman of the Apparel Export Promotion Council (AEP) A. Sakthivel said export of yarn and increase in cotton yarn prices is affecting the competitiveness of the apparel sector and hence, the Union government should regulate yarn exports.

Cotton yarn prices have increased by around 60% since January. With increase in export of Indian cotton and cotton yarn to apparel-producing countries such as Bangladesh and Vietnam, Indian garment manufacturers are losing their competitiveness, he said.

R. Sakthivel, a garment exporter in Tiruppur, said cotton yarn prices rose by ₹7 a kg in March and in August by more than ₹17 a kg. In the last six months, the prices have gone up by ₹60 to ₹70 a kg. Garment exporters have entered into price contracts with the foreign buyers and cannot revise them now.

Due to recent supply and production issues in Bangladesh, some of the major international apparel importers began looking at India as an alternative sourcing destination. However, with continuous increase in yarn prices, price gap between India and Bangladesh widened and some of these orders were diverted to competing countries, he said.

Textile mills are revising yarn prices frequently and without prior notice, while MSME units cannot buy yarn in bulk, say garment exporters.

However, textile mills contend that hike in cotton prices is the reason for jump in yarn prices. Prices of the widely used Shankar 6 variety of cotton jumped 26% in the last six months.

Tata Sons secures RoC nod for 3-month extension for AGM

Aneesh Phadnis
MUMBAI

Tata Sons has secured an extension from the Registrar of Companies (RoC) to hold its annual general meeting by December-end, a company executive confirmed on Saturday.

They submitted an application for an extension as a lack of quorum had resulted in the adjournment of its shareholders' meeting on August 18.

As per the Companies Act of 2013, an AGM must be held within six months of the end of the financial year (that is, by September end) and within 15 months of the last AGM.

The application was made under section 96(1) of the Companies Act, and consent was granted for a three-month extension until the end of December.

Affects accounts

The deferral of the AGM has affected the finalisation of Tata Sons' FY26 accounts, the declaration of a ₹4,474 crore dividend and the reappointment of N. Chandrasekaran as a director retiring by rotation.

The quorum issue arose as Sir Ratan Tata Trust (SRTT), is restricted by the Charity Commissioner of Maharashtra (CCM) from holding meetings. The Articles of Association of Tata Sons require participation of a joint representative of SRTT and Sir Dorabji Tata Trust for fulfilment of the quorum. Since SRTT can't meet, the quorum requirement can't be fulfilled.

Separately, SRTT made another plea to the CCM to lift the curbs it imposed in May. The action was initiated on complaints of violations of the Maharashtra Public Trusts Act.

The trustees have now petitioned the CCM to grant relief as charitable activities, such as the disbursement of funds, are on hold. The trust has to adhere to statutory norms and needs to submit annual accounts and investment declaration to the CCM.

Importantly, the curbs are delaying decisions on AGM participation and the formation of a selection committee to choose the next chairman of Tata Sons after Mr. Chandrasekaran's term ends in February.

A Himalayan tragedy

Scientists investigate how a high-altitude rock-and-ice avalanche may have triggered one of Nepal's most devastating floods; while experts have not directly attributed this event to climate change, they note that rising temperatures are warming the Himalayas and accelerating glacier melt

While scientists initially considered whether this year's flood could also have been linked to a GLOF, its velocity and ferocity, which washed away villages downstream in three districts – Rasuwa, Nuwakot and Dhading – prompted experts to examine it from a different angle.

It could take weeks, if not months, to assess the full scale of the damage, officials said, adding that the toll could further rise.

Kamal Kishore, the head of the UN Office for Disaster Risk Reduction, said the floods had once again highlighted how fragile mountain ecosystems are and how challenging it is to set up early-warning systems in mountain environments.

Clearing the way: Rescue workers and heavy machinery clear mud and debris in a flood-hit area of Nepal, after a devastating flash flood swept through villages in the northern part of the country.

Temporary refuge: A woman feeds a child at a relief camp in Nuwakot. Nepal's disaster authority said 4,451 people had been rescued so far and search operations are still on.

A trail of ruin: The remains of homes and other buildings are seen buried under mud and debris in a flood-hit area of Nepal.

Hope hangs in the skies

Rescue teams in Nepal's Nuwakot district are searching for people feared trapped in a blocked hydropower tunnel in Rasuwa, while families at relief camps wait anxiously for helicopters carrying their loved ones

In August 26, a catastrophic flash flood triggered by a high-altitude glacial collapse along the Nepal-Tibet border decimated the Bhotekoshi and Trishuli river corridors. The disaster heavily impacted multiple regions, completely devastating the Trishuli River basin and Bidur Municipality in Nuwakot district with extreme torrents and sudden landslides. Those rescued are constantly scanning the skies for helicopters, hoping they are bringing back family members who remain stranded in villages upstream. As floodwaters from the Bhotekoshi flowed into the Trishuli River, the sudden surge triggered landslides and widespread destruction downstream in Bidur Municipality and across Nuwakot district. The Nepal Army and Armed Police Force are trying to clear a blocked tunnel at a hydropower project in Rasuwa district, hoping to find people who may be trapped inside.

Emergency care: Nepali Army doctors treat a woman at a field hospital in Battar, Nuwakot, after she was rescued from the Bhotekoshi flood.

Into the field: Nepali Army rescue personnel head towards an airstrip near Nuwakot as teams remain on alert for further flooding after a debris dam burst on August 28.

A long wait: Relatives search lists of missing people outside a hospital in Battar, Nuwakot, on August 28; at least 2,426 people remain missing.

Rescue under way: A helicopter flies rescue missions in Rasuwa district of Nepal where many people have been stranded.

Seeking answers: Relatives give the names of missing family members to officials as the search for survivors continues; among those out of contact are hundreds of foreign nationals.

Tears of relief: A woman becomes emotional at a Nepali Army camp in Nuwakot after being rescued, as her injured husband is taken to Kathmandu for treatment. Her family, originally from western Nepal, ran a hotel in Rasuwa.
