The Supreme Court on Tuesday said its judgment on the Bihar special intensive revision (SIR) of electoral rolls had already clarified that deletion of a person's name from the voter list does not, by itself, result in the loss of other citizenship-related or social welfare benefits. The observation came during the hearing of petitions challenging the SIR exercise in West Bengal, where the court was told that people excluded from electoral rolls were allegedly being denied ration under the Public Distribution System (PDS) and other benefits, including domicile certificates. Govt mulls random drug tests for all commercial pilots

At present, rules require random tests for 10 per cent of pilots and air traffic controllers annually. "Everyone has to go through it the whole year at a random time," Naidu said, adding that the regulator would consider stakeholders' responses before deciding on the way forward. Delhi government unveils Rs 56,000-crore water overhaul

AIMAN FATIMA
New Delhi, August 25

Delhi is set for a major overhaul of its water and sewerage infrastructure, with Chief Minister Rekha Gupta and Water Minister Parvesh Sahib Singh on Tuesday unveiling a long-term plan involving a Rs 56,000-crore Water Master Plan, ADB-backed projects worth Rs 1,741 crore and a Rs 11,427-crore transformation of water networks in West and Southwest Delhi. The government aims to move towards 24x7 pressurised supply, universal metering and real-time monitoring while sharply reducing leakages and unauthorised connections.

836-km network overhaul
Under the ADB-assisted Wazirabad project, 836 km of water network will be upgraded across 43.96 sq km, covering seven UGR command areas and eight Assembly constituencies. The Rs.1,741-crore project will include 570 km of new or replacement pipelines, rehabilitation of UGRs and pumping systems, 131 District Metered Areas and 2.15 lakh household connections.

The system will use SCADA, smart meters, pressure and flow sensors and NRW monitoring. The target is 100 per cent metering, 150 LPCD supply and reduction of non-revenue water to 15 per cent. The project will receive 70 per cent ADB funding and 30 per cent from Delhi.
“The sewer and water issue is one of the biggest issues of the Delhi government. We are working on this legacy issue,” Gupta said.

Rs 11,427-crore West, Southwest plan
Two projects covering 363.2 sq km, 20 UGR command areas and 20 Assembly constituencies will benefit around 36.4 lakh people. West Delhi’s Rs.4,330.72-crore project will cover 1,447 km of network and benefit 14.16 lakh people, while the Rs.7,096.35-crore Southwest Delhi project will cover 2,383 km and benefit 22.23 lakh.

The projects are proposed under the Urban Challenge Fund, with 25 per cent each from the Centre and Delhi and 50 per cent through loans/HAM/PPP.

Sewerage, reuse and local infrastructure
Work orders worth Rs.2,990 crore have been issued for 28 decentralised STPs, while Rs 1,090 crore has been sanctioned for upgrading existing plants. Sewerage has been completed in 114 unauthorised colonies, covering 1,28,633 households, while work continues in 276 colonies and connections are being provided to 5,44,680 households across 647 colonies.

A new 18-MLD UGR costing Rs.55.21 crore is planned at Harsh Vihar, Shakur Basti. Okhla’s Batla House and Abul Fazal Enclave will receive 2.2 MGD and 3.7 MGD UGRs and a booster station at Rs.74 crore, benefiting two lakh residents.

Reclaimed water push
Under the proposed Reclaimed Water Policy, 2026, Delhi will tap the 363 MGD of treated wastewater currently available for reuse. Of 750 MGD treated, around 483 MGD is reusable but only 120 MGD is currently being reused. The water will be promoted for construction, horticulture, landscaping, washing and industrial cooling, with eligible bulk consumers targeted for 100 per cent reclaimed-water use by 2036.

Bills, assets and employee welfare
The LPSC waiver scheme has collected Rs.743 crore, benefiting 5.15 lakh domestic and 15,796 commercial consumers. The unauthorised water connection regularisation scheme has been extended to March 31, 2027, with 3,544 connections regularised.
The government also announced cashless healthcare for around 18,000 DJB employees and pensioners and plans to appoint a transaction adviser to assess and monetise underused DJB assets, including Varunalya, Haiderpur and Lajpat Nagar properties. Water Minister Parvesh Sahib Singh said a Water Master Plan and Drainage Master Plan were being implemented, with work underway at 60 of 169 waterlogging spots identified in 2025.

H1N1 curable, but highly contagious, say doctors

SHIVANGI SHUKLA
New Delhi, August 25

H1N1 is a curable but highly contagious respiratory infection, doctors say, urging people to take the seasonal flu vaccine as a preventive measure.

Doctors have also noted that the number of patients this year is significantly higher than last year. Dr Vikas Maurya, Senior Director and HOD, Respiratory Medicine and Respiratory Critical Care at Fortis Hospital, said flu infections have become common again after Covid-19, with the number of cases this year higher than in the last few years.

He advised people, particularly those at a higher risk of lung related complications, to take the seasonal flu vaccine every year. According to him, the vaccine is ideally taken between April and June, though it can also be taken between August and October before the winter season.

With dengue cases also being reported during the season, Dr Maurya said the two infections can initially be confusing as fever and body ache are common symptoms in both. However, H1N1, being a respiratory virus, is also associated with sore throat, throat irritation and cough.

He added that platelet levels generally remain normal in H1N1, unlike in dengue. Moderate H1N1 cases can recover within three to five days, he said. However, patients who develop pneumonia along with H1N1 and have severe lung involvement may take longer to recover. In cases where the lung infection becomes severe, hospital admission may be required.

Dr Maurya warned that H1N1 spreads rapidly and can affect multiple members of a family. Elderly people, pregnant women and those with immunity related problems are more vulnerable to severe complications, including pneumonia involving both lungs and respiratory failure, which may require ventilator support.

Delhi govt orders comprehensive maintenance of Signature Bridge

OUR CORRESPONDENT
New Delhi, August 25

The Delhi government has ordered a comprehensive maintenance and rehabilitation programme for the Signature Bridge, prioritising protection of its foundations, treatment of steel corrosion, restoration of its Bridge Health Monitoring System (BHMS) and repairs to the skywalk. The move follows a detailed inspection conducted in July 2026 after the bridge was handed over to the Delhi PWD a few months ago.

The inspection examined the bridge’s major structural components, including its foundations, bearings, expansion joints, steel deck, 154-metre pylon, stay cables, approach structures, skywalk ramp and glass façade. PWD Minister Parvesh Sahib Singh said the government was addressing the bridge’s maintenance requirements systematically. “Our priority is clear - every component of the bridge must remain safe, strong and properly maintained. We will not allow past gaps in maintenance to become future risks,” he said.

The inspection found the BHMS largely non-functional, with several sensors damaged, missing or operating in passive mode. The proposed restoration will include sensors for temperature, strain, wind, displacement, acceleration, inclination, corrosion, traffic and structural forces.

The incident took place at Le Meridien Hotel in the heart of Lutyens’ Delhi, following which the man — identified as Divij Maria — was rushed to Ram Manohar Lohia Hospital nearby, where he was declared brought dead, they said. A crime team inspected the spot, and the body was preserved for postmortem, police said.

Farmhouses to pay ₹10K per acre monthly for treated sewage water

AIMAN FATIMA
New Delhi, August 25

Farmhouses in Delhi using treated sewage water for lawns and other permitted activities will have to pay Rs 10,000 per acre per month under the proposed Reclaimed Water Policy, while the one-time infrastructure charge for providing a connection has been increased tenfold from Rs 10,000 to Rs 1 lakh per acre.

The policy, approved by the Delhi Jal Board, seeks to reduce dependence on groundwater and potable water by turning treated sewage into a larger source for non-drinking purposes. The DJB will hold consultations with stakeholders before sending the policy to the Delhi government for approval.

Water Minister Parvesh Verma said the charges had been fixed after considering the cost of creating the supply network. “For spreading the pipeline from STPs to farmhouses, crores are spent, so the amount has been decided considering everything,” he said. Delhi currently treats around 750 MGD of sewage, of which nearly 483 MGD is available for reuse after accounting for environmental flows. However, only around 120 MGD is currently being reused, leaving nearly 363 MGD of treated water available for wider use.

Under the proposed policy, DJB will identify Reclaimed Water Service Areas around compliant sewage treatment plants and connected sewer networks. Construction sites measuring 500 square metres or more in these areas will be required to use reclaimed water for dust suppression, curing, washing and road watering.

Verma said the government would arrange treated-water tankers for construction activities at rates lower than prevailing market prices. Housing societies will also be encouraged to install dual-piping systems so that reclaimed water can be supplied separately. Until such systems are installed, societies and other users can receive treated water through tankers. The policy proposes a phased shift by bulk consumers, with the government targeting 100 per cent use of reclaimed water for eligible non-potable requirements by 2036. The water can be used for horticulture, landscaping, washing, industrial cooling, flushing, irrigation and fire-fighting. The proposed regulations will require colour coding, separate infrastructure, metering, on-site storage and physical separation from potable-water networks. DJB officials will be empowered to inspect premises, examine records and collect samples, with penalties for violations.

The Centre is procuring onions from the key-producing state of Maharashtra, where it has maintained buffer stock to deal with any price rise. The first consignment of 800 tonnes will reach the national capital on Wednesday via ‘Kanda Express’ train.

TO REACH DIFFICULT AREAS Drone joins MCD’s mosquito fight

ANAMTA FATIMA
New Delhi, August 25

The Municipal Corporation of Delhi (MCD) on Tuesday deployed a drone to spray insecticide over Naini Lake in Model Town, in a move aimed at strengthening its efforts to control mosquito breeding ahead of the peak vector-borne disease season.

Delhi Mayor Pravesh Wahi, who launched the initiative, said drone technology would allow the civic body to cover large water bodies and other difficult-to-reach areas in a shorter time. The initiative, he said, would supplement conventional measures such as larvicidal spraying, fogging and field inspections.

The MCD has identified water bodies, drains, vacant plots and construction sites as among the vulnerable locations requiring regular surveillance. The drone-based spraying could also be extended to other large water bodies and inaccessible areas, officials said. Standing Committee chairperson Satya Sharma said the civic body was undertaking mosquito-control measures “on a war footing”, with teams inspecting potential breeding sites and carrying out spraying and awareness drives.

Shah: Strong internal security first condition for Viksit Bharat by 2047

NARESH BISWANI
New Delhi, August 25

Union Home minister Amit Shah on Tuesday said that strong internal security in the country is the first condition for Prime Minister Narendra Modi's vision for a developed India by 2047 and emphasised on foreseeing threats before they emerge.

Addressing the concluding session of the Intelligence Bureau's National Security Strategies Conference (NSSC) here today, Shah said that the forum must focus on the developments taking place over the next 15-20 years and be prepared to tackle them.

"The earlier government had tackled the challenges of narcotics, Left Wing Extremism, and the Northeast and we have emerged successful. The three hotspots of internal security are now addressed thanks to the efforts of state

To industrial production," the ministry said, adding that the initiative would help increase domestic value addition and strengthen India's defence industrial base.

The ministry has not released a list of missile systems that could be manufactured by private companies under the decision. However, the potential scope could include systems such as the Akash air defence missile, Astra air-to-air missile and Nag anti-tank guided missile. Conventional missiles use explosives or kinetic impact against targets, unlike missiles carrying nuclear, biological or chemical warheads. DRDO has developed a broad range of indigenous missile programmes, including the Agni family, Akash, Astra, Nag, Pralay tactical missiles, Rudram anti-radiation missiles and submarine-launched ballistic missiles such as K-4. BrahMos is a separate India-Russia programme developed by BrahMos Aerospace, with DRDO handling the Indian side of development.

The latest decision seeks to widen the industrial base supporting such programmes. Missile production requires specialised capabilities in propulsion, guidance, navigation, seekers, electronics, control systems, communication, testing and precision manufacturing. Expanding the number of qualified manufacturers could also strengthen the network of suppliers involved in components, software, sensors, composites and other specialised areas.

The move builds on DRDO's existing technology-transfer programme. The government said earlier this year that more than 2,200 DRDO technologies had been transferred to industries. A revised technology-transfer policy had also removed the earlier 20% fee for certain development and production partners and production agencies.

Private companies have increasingly entered India's defence manufacturing sector. Larsen & Toubro, Tata Advanced Systems and Kalyani Strategic Systems are among firms that have developed capabilities in areas previously dominated by government organisations. In 2015, DRDO's Aeronautical Development Establishment signed a technology-transfer agreement with Larsen & Toubro for production of an upgraded digital version of the Lakshya pilotless target aircraft.

The private sector has also gained a role through defence partnerships. Kalyani Rafael Advanced Systems, a joint venture between the Kalyani Group and Israel's Rafael, established a missile production facility in Hyderabad for anti-tank guided missiles. Such partnerships have combined Indian manufacturing capabilities with foreign technology and investment.

The government now wants to extend this industrialisation model to technologies originating within DRDO. Under the broader approach, DRDO can focus more heavily on research, next-generation systems and technology development, while qualified companies undertake manufacturing, industrialisation and supply-chain expansion.

The Defence Ministry said the initiative would also support operational capability and reduce reliance on imported weapons. "DRDO remains committed to working closely with Indian industry to facilitate the transfer and absorption of advanced defence technologies and to further strengthen the country's indigenous defence capabilities," it said.

The policy comes as India's defence production has expanded sharply. Domestic defence production reached Rs 1.78 lakh crore in 2025-26, compared with Rs 46,000 crore in 2014, according to government data. Defence exports also rose to Rs 38,424 crore in 2025-26.

The government's larger objective is to build a broader domestic ecosystem in which research, manufacturing, component supply and eventual upgrades can be handled increasingly within the country. The success of the missile technology transfer will depend on whether transferred systems move from development facilities into sustained industrial production and military supply, while sensitive technologies continue to be governed by the required security and regulatory controls.

Electoral roll

V Mohana to issue an order preventing such a "ripple effect" from electoral roll exclusions.

The bench, however, declined to pass a separate order on the issue. The CJI said the court was presently concerned with matters relating to pending appeals before tribunals and that other grievances could be raised before the High Court.

Rahim argued that even a word from the Supreme Court could prevent people from being deprived of essential benefits. Justice Bagchi, however, pointed out that the Bihar SIR judgment had already dealt with the issue.

The court had held in the Bihar case that the Election Commission's inquiry into citizenship during SIR was limited to determining eligibility for inclusion in the electoral roll. It had made clear that the Commission could not conclusively decide a person's citizenship and that any finding reached during the exercise would have only electoral consequences.

The judgment said exclusion from the electoral roll does not "divest the individual of claims of citizenship" or prevent the competent authority under the Citizenship Act from deciding the issue. The bench also said anyone denied social welfare benefits following removal from the electoral roll could approach the High Court. Rahim said this was difficult for people already struggling to meet basic needs, arguing that the High Courts were overburdened.

He referred to the alleged case of a NEET rank holder who was being denied a domicile certificate following exclusion from the electoral roll. "Just imagine the plight of a person who doesn't know when his matter is being listed. He doesn't get ration. On an empty stomach, how can they go to High Court?" he said. Justice Bagchi responded, "Empty stomach - he can come to the Supreme Court but not go to the High Court?" Rahim replied that around 35 lakh people were waiting in the matter and asked why they should be left without food. He also said that while the Anna-purna Yojana continued, PDS benefits had been stopped for some excluded persons.

In an earlier case concerning West Bengal, the Supreme Court had orally said that removal from the electoral roll does not automatically take away entitlement to certain benefits, including ration, while allowing the petitioner to approach the High Court. The court has also previously said that the Election Commission's role is confined to electoral rolls. Any citizenship question arising from the process must be referred to the Union government for determination under the Citizenship Act.

was the entire backlog and stressed the need for expeditious disposal.

Senior Advocate Gopal Sankaranarayanan told a bench headed by Chief Justice of India Surya Kant and comprising Justices Joymalya Bagchi and V Mohana that around 31 lakh appeals challenged the inclusion of voters, while only about seven lakh were filed by persons excluded after the SIR exercise.

Citing an RTI reply furnished to Congress MP Isha Khan Choudhary, he said that of around 83,000 exclusion appeals decided so far, more than 75,000 had resulted in voters being restored to the rolls. He urged the court to prioritise exclusion appeals, particularly from constituencies going to civic polls, arguing that those objecting to inclusions had remedies under the Representation of the People Act.

The bench asked the ECI to file an affidavit giving the total number of pending appeals; a break-up between appeals by excluded persons and those challenging inclusions; the number disposed of and the relief sought; the number allowed and consequential steps taken to update the rolls. The Commission must also state whether additional tribunals are needed and what measures have been taken to speed up disposal.

Justice Bagchi said the break-up could help the court consider prioritisation, observing that exclusion immediately affects a person's rights.

Delhi records

Singh holding an inter-sectoral meeting attended by senior officials from the Health Department, MCD, NDMC and Delhi Cantonment. The review covered disease trends, surveillance, hospital preparedness, medicines, testing facilities and preventive measures. "H1N1 is currently the predominant influenza subtype in Delhi," Singh said, adding that the health system had adequate doctors, staff and medicines. "There is no need for panic. Patients are coming, but they are getting treated and then going back."

Hospitals have been directed to maintain adequate isolation beds and ensure that patients requiring admission are not denied treatment. Singh also warned that strict action would be taken against hospitals found overcharging patients for tests.

Preparedness has already been strengthened at several government hospitals. At Guru Tegh Bahadur Hospital, fever clinics, isolation beds and bed allocation are being monitored, with teams placed on alert. Officials said a fever clinic had been set up as a precaution, although the hospital had not seen a major rise in cases. At Baba Saheb Ambedkar Hospital, an established flu clinic is operating as part of seasonal preparedness. Patients showing warning signs are being sampled immediately, while those with severe influenza symptoms or infectious pneumonia are admitted. The hospital has increased H1N1 sampling through nasal swabs sent to laboratories. Around 240 patients reported with flu-like symptoms on Monday, and about 30 to 40 were admitted depending on their clinical condition and severity. Beds have also been earmarked for isolation and treatment.

Lok Nayak Hospital has similarly increased flu sampling and is assessing patients for warning signs and severe symptoms before deciding on admission.

The Delhi government has directed the Health Department to strengthen surveillance for influenza-like illness and severe acute respiratory infection, ensure early detection and timely reporting, conduct testing of eligible cases and maintain adequate supplies of antiviral medicines and other hospital requirements. The Centre's health advisory is also being implemented across hospitals and concerned departments.

Gupta said preparedness measures must reach the ground and not remain confined to official reports. The government has also ordered wider awareness and information campaigns through public-facing platforms and high-footfall areas. Participating agencies have been asked to provide details of awareness camps and submit action-taken reports within a specified timeframe.

The Directorate of Education separately issued an advisory to all government, aided and private recognised schools, asking them to follow a "Healthy School-Healthy Community" approach. Students and staff have been advised to cover their nose and mouth while coughing or sneezing, dispose of tissues properly and wash their hands regularly, particularly before meals and after coughing or sneezing.

Schools have also been asked to maintain reasonable distance from people with respiratory symptoms, use masks where considered necessary, improve ventilation and regularly clean classrooms, common areas and frequently touched surfaces. They have been told to discourage spitting and promote hydration, nutritious food, adequate rest and personal hygiene.

The advisory cautioned students and staff against self-medication, saying antibiotics and other medicines should be taken only on medical advice. Awareness is to be spread through assemblies, classroom sessions, notice boards, parent communication channels and digital platforms. District and zonal education officials will monitor compliance and submit consolidated reports by August 31. Education Minister Ashish Sood said there was no emergency situation in Delhi but urged schools and families to remain cautious. He said simple measures such as handwashing, hygiene and precautions around symptomatic people could help protect students and staff.

ICMR Director General Dr Rajiv Bahl said the current H1N1 activity was consistent with seasonal influenza. He said the circulating virus was the Influenza A H1N1 pdm09 lineage that has been present since the 2009 pandemic and has since become an endemic seasonal virus.

"H1N1 is one of the types of Influenza A," Bahl said, adding that influenza viruses mutate regularly but this did not mean a new strain had emerged. ICMR surveillance shows H1N1 is currently the most commonly detected respiratory infection among people presenting with cough and cold symptoms.

Bahl said most cases were mild and self-limiting and that there was no need for everyone with cough or cold symptoms to undergo testing to identify the virus. He said outbreaks generally reach a peak before declining, although the exact timing cannot be predicted. The number of cases is expected to begin falling in the coming weeks.

H3N2 and Influenza B Victoria are also being detected, while COVID-19 cases are present but declining. Bahl cautioned against trying to calculate a total H1N1 case count by extrapolating surveillance figures, noting that ICMR does not track hospital admissions and that testing everyone would be required for a comprehensive case count.

People with flu, cough, cold or fever have been advised to drink enough fluids, eat properly, rest, avoid close contact with others, cover their nose and mouth while coughing or sneezing and wash their hands frequently. Medical attention should be sought for warning signs such as breathing difficulty or chest pain. Elderly people, pregnant women and immunocompromised individuals have been advised to take greater precautions and discuss influenza vaccination with their doctors.

Dr Yoginder Pal Singh, head of HLA and Molecular Biology at Agilus Diagnostics, said influenza can spread rapidly in crowded and poorly ventilated settings. He noted that symptoms such as fever, cough, sore throat, body aches, headache, fatigue, chills and a runny or blocked nose can overlap with COVID-19 and other respiratory infections. Agilus Diagnostics recorded an H1N1 positivity rate of nearly 30 per cent at its reference laboratory among those tested over the past week. The government's review also covered dengue and malaria. Delhi has reported 570 dengue cases and 215 malaria cases this year, with no deaths from either disease. MCD, NDMC and Delhi Cantonment have been directed to intensify anti-larval measures, source reduction, spraying and fogging, particularly around schools, hospitals and other public places. Alongside the health response, the Delhi government has begun preparing for a possible rise in onion and sugar prices. Officials said there was currently no shortage of either commodity, but Gupta directed them to prepare measures against a potential price increase. The government plans to begin the process of procuring onions from NAFED and make them available to consumers at affordable rates. Distribution camps may be established at different locations across Delhi, with the government bearing transportation and related costs. Officials have also been asked to monitor supplies and prevent hoarding. On sugar, Minister Kapil Mishra said the government would enforce stock limits prescribed by the Centre. Establishments holding quantities above permitted limits could face action, while the department has been asked to examine ways of ensuring affordable availability.

Gupta said that if onion and sugar prices rise, the government would procure supplies from NAFED and make them available to consumers at lower rates.

Jaishankar also co-chaired a meeting of the India-Russia Inter-Governmental Commission on Trade, Economic, Scientific, Technological and Cultural Cooperation with Russia's First Deputy Prime Minister Denis Manturov. The discussions are part of preparations for further engagement between the two countries ahead of Putin's expected visit to India. Jaishankar's talks with Lavrov covered both bilateral matters and a range of international issues where New Delhi and Moscow continue to coordinate through major multilateral forums.

meetings at the BRICS summit in Kazan in 2024 and the Shanghai Cooperation Organisation (SCO) summit in Tianjin last year. The NSA also pointed to recent developments in people-to-people ties. "The successful conduct of Kailash Manasarovar Yatra via Nathu La and resumption of our traditional border trade via all the three passes brought tangible benefits for our people, particularly people living in the border areas," he said.

Wang said the relationship between the two countries had acquired significance beyond their bilateral ties. "It is important for us to step up communication, to enhance mutual trust, to remove disturbances and overcome obstacles," he said, calling on the two sides to be "good friends that enjoy good neighbourliness" and partners that contribute to each other's success. The Chinese foreign minister said Beijing and New Delhi should learn from history, place the boundary dispute in its appropriate position within the broader relationship and continue moving forward without stagnation or reversal.

According to a statement issued by China's Foreign Ministry, Wang called for a more positive approach to boundary-related issues, with dialogue, peace, consultation and cooperation forming the main channels for handling differences. He said he looked forward to further discussions with Doval on the boundary question and ways to maintain peace in the border areas while giving fresh momentum to bilateral ties.

Wang said the two countries had remained in regular contact through diplomatic and military channels on boundary matters and were implementing the directions provided by Modi and Xi. Describing his talks with Doval as "very in-depth and candid", he expressed hope that the two sides could reach a new consensus. The discussions covered advancing boundary delimitation negotiations, strengthening border management and control, improving institutional mechanisms and promoting cross-border cooperation, according to the Chinese statement.

The SR mechanism was established in 2003 to address the India-China boundary dispute, which covers 3,488 km. Although it has not resolved the territorial dispute, officials on both sides have continued to use the structured dialogue to address border-related tensions.

Before meeting Wang, Doval met Chinese Vice President Han Zheng. Their discussions included maintaining peace and tranquillity along the border and improving bilateral relations in economic, political and multilateral areas, the Indian embassy said. Han said China and India should approach their relationship from a strategic and long-term perspective and implement the consensus reached by their leaders. "The two sides should enhance strategic mutual trust, tap the potential for cooperation, maintain close multilateral coordination, properly manage differences, and promote the sustained and stable development of China-India relations," he was quoted as saying by state-run Xinhua.

The latest talks follow the 24th round of SR discussions held in August last year, when the two sides held candid and detailed exchanges on the boundary question and reached several common understandings.

The dialogue is part of continuing efforts to restore relations after ties suffered a major setback following the deadly Galwan Valley clashes in 2020 and the subsequent military standoff in eastern Ladakh.

The court asked Upadhyay to approach the Allahabad High Court seeking quashing of the FIR and listed the matter for September 7. In his petition, Upadhyay said the FIR had not been provided to him and alleged that police were pressuring nearby shopkeepers to delete CCTV footage from the relevant period. He sought quashing of the case or, alternatively, transfer of the investigation to an agency other than the Uttar Pradesh Police. He alleged that the FIR was lodged against him in connection with his reporting on alleged corruption in Uttar Pradesh.

SC may set up

"We will have to set up a special bench," the CJI said, adding that he would consult the judges. The Centre wants permission to finalise service allocation for 958 UPSC-recommended CSE-2025 candidates using the OBC creamy-layer criteria applicable before March 11, 2026.

The CSE notification was issued on January 22, 2025, followed by the preliminary exam on May 25 and mains from August 22 to 31. UPSC announced the final result on March 6, 2026, five days before the judgment.

The Centre said applying the ruling retrospectively could disadvantage candidates who had relied on the earlier rules. Some may have appeared as general-category candidates or skipped the OBC category, along with benefits such as three-year age relaxation and additional attempts. It also warned that reopening verification could delay the CSE-2025 Foundation Course at LBSNAA, tentatively scheduled for the last week of August, affecting service allocation, cadre allocation, seniority, pay fixation and training schedules. The Centre has invoked prospective overruling, saying the plea does not seek to dilute the March 11 judgment but only clarify its implementation for CSE-2025.

BPSC EXAMINATION ROW

Stone-pelting, lathi-charge, water cannons mark Bihar students' stir

MPOST BUREAU

Patna, August 25

Thousands of students fought a pitched battle with the Bihar Police here on Tuesday, hurling stones and braving water cannons and lathi-charge, upon being prevented from marching to the chief minister's residence to air their grievances.

The protesters, most of them aspirants for Teachers' Recruitment Exams to be conducted by Bihar Public Service Commission (BPSC) next month, had announced a 'Mukhyamantri Awas gherao' to press the demand for holding the written exams in a single stage, instead of prelims followed by mains.

A section of the protesters also demanded the cancellation of Combined Competitive Exams held by the commission earlier this year, alleging that the tests were marred by "irregularities".

They were joined by a number of Left-wing activists, owing allegiance to organisations like SFI and DYFI, in the procession that began at the historic Gandhi Maidan, which has witnessed many upheavals in the near and recent past.

Tight security arrangements were in place along the nearly 5-km stretch from Gandhi Maidan to the chief minister's residence, and police used water cannons at J P Golambar, the in Delhi. "We repeatedly urged the crowd to maintain peace. We told them that we will help them send a delegation to authorities concerned to register their demands. Water cannons were used when the situation became tense," Patna Senior Superintendent of Police Kartikeya Sharma said. The protesters broke past the barricades to reach Dak Bungalow crossing, the city's busiest thoroughfare that leads to the Patna Junction as well as vital installations like Patna High Court and the Income Tax Office.

Videos have gone viral on social media of the lathi-charge that took place at Dak Bungalow crossing, where many of the agitators also hurled stones at the police personnel.

In one such video, a young officer could be seen slapping a protester, while another clip showed a female agitator fainting by the roadside, though it was not known whether she was knocked unconscious by an injury or whether it was dehydration caused by humid weather.

Several protesters were detained and taken away to various locations by the police, though the number of such persons and other details were not known.

"The situation is now under control. Traffic movement is also being restored. Once the road is completely cleared, we will ascertain the number of detainees. Some people tried to resort to violence, which we prevented. We will examine camera footage to ascertain whether anti-social elements were involved. Some people have been injured, but our priority is to restore normal traffic," the SSP said.

Many of the protesters were also heard venting spleen against a remark by BPSC examination controller Rakesh Kumar Singh on Monday when he had allegedly belittled the agitators, who had been staging a dharna at Gardani Bagh for several weeks, by using the Hindi proverb "Hathi chale bazaar, kutta bhunke hazaar".

The protesters said the BPSC must not only address their grievances with regard to the examination system but also act against the foul-mouthed examination controller, "who had likened them to barking dogs".

Haryana steps up safe water supply

MPOST BUREAU

Chandigarh, August 25

Haryana Chief Minister Nayab Singh Saini on Tuesday directed officials to convert all old water works where groundwater mixing is affecting water quality into reinforced cement concrete (RCC)-based structures and prioritise the conversion of tube-well-based water works into canal-based systems wherever feasible.

Chairing a meeting to review drinking water supply across the state, Saini said providing safe drinking water was a priority and directed officials to ensure uninterrupted supply. Public Health Engineering Minister Ranbir Singh Gangwa was also present.

Officials said Haryana currently has 1,888 canal-based water works, 4,199 boosting stations, 12,404 tubewells and five Ranney Well schemes. Work is underway on 103 new

Of the 7,005-km distribution network, 1,525 km of pipelines need replacement, with 837 km targeted for completion by March 2027. As many as 466 brick-built water works are being converted into RCC structures at an estimated cost of Rs 1,000 crore.

Saini said directed officials to plan new water works as per population.

Kejriwal steps up attack on Centre over E20 fuel

MPOST BUREAU

Panaji, August 25

AAP national convenor Arvind Kejriwal on Tuesday criticised the Centre over the implementation of E20-blended petrol, alleging that the government would not withdraw the fuel policy without political pressure. Addressing a Townhall in Miramar, Goa, he urged voters to defeat the BJP in Goa and Uttar Pradesh.

Kejriwal claimed that 80 per cent of vehicles in India were not compatible with E20 and alleged that mileage had fallen by 30-40 per cent in many vehicles, while engines and fuel transmission systems of 60-70 per cent vehicles were being damaged.

He said Goa was particularly affected due to its high vehicle ownership, with 87 per cent of families owning two-wheelers and 47 per cent four-wheelers. He claimed that since April 1, 2026, only E20 petrol had been available at petrol pumps across the country.

Kejriwal said he had written to 29 automobile manufacturers seeking their views on the use of E20 in vehicles manufactured before 2023, but received no response. He claimed officials of nine companies later told him anonymously that using E20 in older petrol vehicles could be dangerous.

He also alleged that the Society of Indian Automobile Manufacturers (SIAM) had submitted a research-based report to the Centre on July 28 seeking discontinuation of E20, but withdrew it within a week after pressure from the government.

Kejriwal claimed that sugarcane equivalent to 25 lakh tonnes of sugar had been diverted for ethanol production, contributing to a rise in sugar prices.

SC rejects plea to reopen CBSE answer key portal

MPOST BUREAU

New Delhi, August 25

The Supreme Court on Tuesday declined to direct reopening of the CBSE portal for re-evaluation of Class 12 answer sheets amid complaints over its On-Screen Marking (OSM) system.

A bench headed by Chief Justice of India Surya Kant, along with Justices Joymalya Bagchi and V Mohana, said the portal had been opened for all candidates for a specified period and reopening it could lead to fresh claims.

The petitioner sought a one-week extension, alleging the website had crashed and prevented several students from applying for verification. Solicitor General Tushar Mehta, appearing for CBSE, said 1.68 lakh students had successfully applied during the notified window.

Mann orders mass awareness drive for Punjab health schemes

MPOST BUREAU

Chandigarh, August 25

Punjab Chief Minister Bhagwant Singh Mann on Tuesday directed the Health Department to intensify outreach and launch a massive awareness campaign to ensure that more people across the state avail themselves of the benefits of the government's two flagship healthcare initiatives - Mukh Mantri Sehat Yojna (MMSY) and Aam Aadmi Clinics (AACs).

Chairing a meeting to review the implementation and progress of both schemes, Mann stressed the need for sustained public awareness so that the benefits reach every eligible beneficiary.

Mann said 1,090 Aam Aadmi Clinics, including 603 in rural areas and 487 in urban areas, were providing quality healthcare facilities across Punjab.

'AWARENESS WAS NEEDED TO ENSURE MAXIMUM ENROLMENT UNDER THE SCHEMES'

The clinics have so far recorded 6.11 crore OPDs, with 1.91 crore unique patients visiting them for the first time to avail free treatment.

Around 93,000 patients visit Aam Aadmi Clinics every day, with an average of 86 OPDs per clinic daily.

Mann said the data generated through the clinics was also helping the government understand disease patterns across districts and strengthen healthcare interventions.

Women account for 53.7 per cent of patients visiting the clinics, while men constitute 46.3 per cent. As many as 107 medicines are being provided free of cost at the facilities, he said.

Reviewing MMSY, Mann

said more than 50 lakh households, covering 1.25 crore beneficiaries, had been brought under the scheme. More than 5.90 lakh beneficiaries have already availed free treatment at 892 empanelled hospitals, including 223 government and 669 private hospitals.

He said 68 per cent of MMSY beneficiaries were from rural areas and 32 per cent from urban areas.

The growing number of private hospitals applying for empanelment, he added, reflected their willingness to partner with the government in providing quality healthcare.

Mann said the results of both schemes were encouraging but greater awareness was needed to ensure maximum enrolment. He said he would directly interact with stakeholders to strengthen implementation and address beneficiaries' issues.

UPSMA rejects EBP link to spike in sugar prices

BISWAJEET BANERJEE

Lucknow, August 25

The Uttar Pradesh Sugar Mills Association (UPSMA) on Tuesday rejected claims that diversion of sugar for the Ethanol Blended Petrol (EBP) programme was responsible for the recent rise in sugar prices, saying the allegations were not supported by facts.

The association said the quantity of sugar being used for ethanol production had declined over the past few years, while Uttar Pradesh continued to be the country's largest supplier of ethanol. It also said all member mills had adequate sugar stocks and there was no shortage at the mill level.

UPSMA expressed concern over reports and public apprehensions regarding sugar availability amid rising prices, rejecting claims of artificial scarcity.

It said hoarding or unnecessary accumulation of stocks was a matter of concern and maintained that available stocks were sufficient to meet household consumption during the festival season.

The association said it was in regular contact with the state and Central governments and was working according to their directions to respond to demand and policy requirements.

Uttar Pradesh has 121 sugar mills, including 95 in the private sector, making it the country's largest sugar producer. UPSMA said its members release sugar into the market according to the monthly sale quota issued by the Department of Food and Public Distribution.

Calling reports of a possible shortage a rumour, UPSMA urged consumers and the media to avoid unverified information.

New Delhi, August 25

Prime Minister Narendra Modi on Tuesday reviewed six key infrastructure projects worth over Rs 30,000 crore spanning nine states and said that delays of such works have consequences beyond cost escalation, as they also postpone the benefits intended for citizens, businesses and the economy.

HEATED EXCHANGES AT PARL PANEL MEET

Oppn demands discussion on use of force against students

OUR CORRESPONDENT
New Delhi, August 25

A meeting of a Parliament committee on Tuesday witnessed heated exchanges over the use of force against protesting students on July 20 as Opposition members demanded a discussion on the issue, sources said.

The matter was raised by Congress member Ajay Maken during the meeting of the department-related Parliamentary Standing Committee on Home Affairs, where views of officials of various ministries were to be presented on the subject of “crimes against children”.

Maken said the issue of use of force against protesters should be taken up for discussion but committee chairman Radha Mohan Das Agarwal did not allow it, noting that the matter is sub judice, the sources said.

The verbal sparring continued for about an hour as several Opposition members, including Priyanka Gandhi Vadra and Jai Prakash of Congress, Shiv Sena-UBT’s Sanjay Raut, RJD’s Sanjay Yadav and IUML’s Haris Beeran, too demanded that the matter be discussed at the meeting.

Maken and others raised the issue of alleged use of pellet guns, nail-fitted batons and lathis on protesters, including children, who were marching to Parliament on July 20 over the issue of paper leaks.

Rejecting the demand, the chairman said that the already listed agenda of the meeting would be taken up, where several ministry officials would present their views on the issue of crimes against children.

Abhishek's disqualification plea: SC seeks replies from 20 rebel MPs

OUR CORRESPONDENT
Kolkata, August 25

The Supreme Court on Tuesday sought responses from around 20 MPs facing disqualification petitions filed by Trinamool Congress (TMC) MP Abhishek Banerjee over their alleged defection from the party to the Nationalist Citizens Party of India (NCP), but refrained from issuing notice to Lok Sabha Speaker Om Birla.

A bench headed by Chief Justice of India Surya Kant and comprising Justices Joymalya Bagchi and V Mohana was hearing Banerjee’s plea alleging delay in deciding the petitions pending before the Speaker.

Solicitor General Tushar Mehta, appearing for the Centre, urged the court not to issue notice to the Speaker. Justice Bagchi said the court was not seeking to pass an order against a constitutional authority but wanted to ensure that the petitions were decided in a timely manner.

Bench dismisses plea seeking exemption from surrendering

OUR CORRESPONDENT
New Delhi, August 25

The Supreme Court on Tuesday directed journalist Tarun Tejpal to surrender within three weeks to undergo his 10-year prison sentence in a 2013 rape case in which he was convicted by the Bombay high court.

A bench of Justice Alok Aradhe dismissed Tejpal’s plea seeking exemption from surrendering.

“The application seeking exemption from surrendering is rejected. However, the appellant (Tejpal) is granted three weeks’ time to surrender and file surrender certificate before this court,” the bench said in its order.

The apex court listed his appeal challenging his conviction and sentence for hearing on September 22, subject to the filing of the surrender certificate.

“In case the surrender certificate is filed on or before September 21, 2026, the registry shall list the criminal appeal for hearing on September 22, 2026 before the regular court,” it said.

Tejpal, former editor of Tehelka, was convicted of raping a junior colleague inside a hotel elevator in 2013 during an event organised by the magazine in Goa. Earlier, the 62-year-old journalist had claimed that he was a political victim. On August 6, the high court convicted Tejpal of rape and sentenced him to rigorous imprisonment for 10 years, overturning his acquittal by the trial court five years ago.

During the hearing on Tuesday, senior advocate Kapil Sibal, appearing for Tejpal, said the incident was of 2013 and the journalist had earlier spent around six months in jail in the case.

“He (Tejpal) has throughout been on bail since then. The high court has directed him to surrender within four weeks. This court may fix the main appeal for hearing on August 31,” he said.

Solicitor General Tushar Mehta, appearing for the Goa government, said the high court has given him four weeks to surrender only to enable him to file an appeal and application for exemption from surrendering before the apex court.

BSP will contest Punjab polls alone: Mayawati

OUR CORRESPONDENT
Lucknow, August 25

Bahujan Samaj Party (BSP) president Mayawati on Tuesday said her party will contest the upcoming Punjab Assembly elections on its own, without entering into any alliance.

The former Uttar Pradesh chief minister made the announcement during a meeting held at the BSP’s central office here to review the party’s organisational work and efforts to expand its support base in Punjab.

Mayawati, according to a party statement, said the BSP would contest the Punjab polls “alone without any alliance or compromise with anyone”, as it did in UP and Uttarakhand.

‘Scrap existing questionnaire’: Kharge, Rahul write to PM Modi

OUR CORRESPONDENT
New Delhi, August 25

Leaders of Opposition Mallikarjun Kharge and Rahul Gandhi have written to Prime Minister Narendra Modi over the caste census issue, demanding that the government scrap the existing questionnaire for it and formulate a new one after consulting political parties, experts, and the general public.

Kharge and Gandhi said they do not accept the caste census being conducted in the current manner and urged the government to take cue from the caste surveys done in Telangana and Bihar.

Briefing reporters on the letter written in Hindi by Leader of the Opposition in the Rajya Sabha Kharge and Leader of Opposition in the Lok Sabha Gandhi on August 20, Congress general secretary Jairam Ramesh said the government’s current efforts towards a caste census are just a “whitewash”.

Ramesh noted that this is the third letter written by the Congress leadership to Modi over the issue but have not received any reply.

Ramesh highlighted critical flaws in the current 40-question format.

Mallikarjun Kharge and Rahul Gandhi

The caste questionnaire uses open-ended questions rather than pre-defined drop-down menus, making enumeration inconsistent and rendering data unreliable. Critically, the questionnaire omits reference to “Backward Class,” making it impossible to accurately gauge the OBC population.

In their letter, Kharge and Gandhi said social justice policies in India cannot be effectively implemented without accurate data and a precise assessment of the numerical strength and socio-economic status of various castes is possible only if the caste enumeration is conducted correctly.

“Your government has opted for an open-ended question format to record caste details in the census, which is misleading. Under this method, whatever name an individual provides for their caste will be recorded as it is,” the leaders said in their letter to Modi.

In India, the same caste is known by different names, sub-castes, and linguistic variations across different regions, Congress president Kharge and former party chief Rahul Gandhi pointed out.

Consequently, if members of the same caste are recorded under different names during the census, a single caste could end up being fragmented into thousands of distinct names, they argued.

This would result in a list of hundreds of thousands of caste names, rendering the entire dataset obtained from the caste census useless, Kharge and Gandhi argued.

Streets for People

India's cities have spent decades building for vehicles while treating pedestrians as an afterthought. The Supreme Court's insistence that properly demarcated, safe and encroachment-free footpaths are integral to human life therefore addresses a fundamental failure of urban governance. Its earlier recognition of walking on a demarcated footpath as a fundamental right was equally significant. Walking is not merely a recreational activity or a matter of convenience; for millions of Indians, it is the most basic form of mobility and often an unavoidable part of the daily journey to work, school, markets and public transport. Yet pedestrians routinely find themselves pushed onto carriageways because pavements are missing, broken, occupied by parked vehicles, taken over by vendors or obstructed by utilities. The consequences are not simply inconvenient but potentially fatal. A city that forces people to compete with cars, buses and motorcycles for road space cannot credibly claim to provide safe and equitable mobility.

The challenge now is to translate constitutional recognition into visible change on the ground. The Centre has issued advisories, but roads largely fall within the domain of states and local authorities, making implementation dependent on a complex chain of governments, municipal corporations, development authorities and panchayats. This is precisely where well-intentioned urban reforms often falter. India does not suffer from a shortage of guidelines on pedestrian infrastructure; it suffers from weak enforcement, fragmented responsibility and a planning culture in which vehicle movement frequently takes precedence over human movement. Footpaths are often constructed without continuity, ending abruptly at intersections or disappearing around flyovers and commercial areas. Others are designed around existing encroachments rather than pedestrian requirements. Accessibility is another serious concern. A pavement that cannot comfortably accommodate an elderly person, a wheelchair user, a parent with a child or someone with impaired vision cannot be considered adequate merely because concrete has been laid beside a road. The Court's intervention must therefore encourage authorities to think beyond nominal compliance and create continuous, accessible and genuinely usable pedestrian networks.

Making Indian roads safer for walkers will also require governments to confront uncomfortable choices about the allocation of scarce urban space. Removing encroachments cannot become an excuse for indiscriminate action against vulnerable street vendors while illegally parked vehicles, commercial extensions and permanent structures escape scrutiny. Enforcement must be fair, consistent and accompanied by sensible vending and parking policies. More importantly, the Supreme Court's formulation establishes an essential principle: where a road exists, authorities have a corresponding obligation to provide and protect space for those travelling on foot. That changes the footpath from an optional civic amenity into essential public infrastructure. States and Union Territories must now respond with measurable plans, timelines and accountability rather than another round of assurances. Roads are shared public spaces, not corridors reserved primarily for engines. Ensuring that citizens can step outside their homes and walk without being forced into moving traffic is among the simplest tests of humane governance. India's cities cannot become truly liveable until pedestrians reclaim their rightful place on the street.

'Her Choice'

The controversy over Kriti Sanon's Raksha Bandhan advertisement reflects an unnecessary tendency to police women's clothing in the name of tradition. Rahul Gandhi is right that personal attire ultimately remains an individual choice. Indian culture is diverse and evolving, and respect for festivals cannot reasonably be measured by what a woman chooses to wear.

Workers versus Machines

Rising youth unemployment and rapid automation expose the risks of an AI revolution increasingly controlled by a handful of technology billionaires

DIGITAL DIVIDE

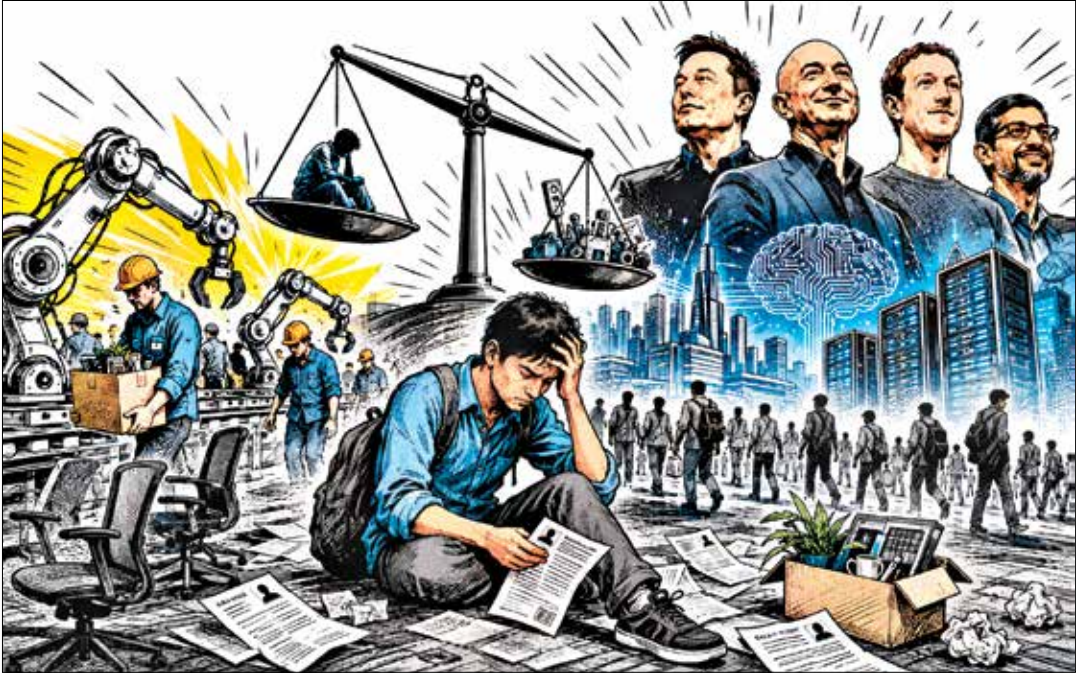

DIPANKAR DEY

THE WRITER IS A PROFESSOR OF BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION

The new ILO report, released on August 11, The Global Employment Trends for Youth 2026: Back to the Future, shows that the global youth unemployment rate rose to 12.4 per cent in 2025, equivalent to 67 million unemployed people aged 15 to 24 years. At the same time, the share of young people not in employment, education or training (NEET) increased slightly to 20 per cent, affecting more than 257 million people. Between 2023 and 2025, youth unemployment rates increased in eight of the world's 11 sub-regions, as slowing economic growth, weak job creation, geopolitical tensions and rapid technological change push countries towards a new youth jobs crisis. A recent report by NITI Aayog, the main public policy think tank of the Indian government, estimated that 87 million Indians aged 15 to 29 are "NEET" – not in education, employment or training. The report further pointed out that only 8.25 per cent of persons who have graduated from college are employed in roles aligned with their qualifications.

In December 2025, UN economists cautioned that millions of jobs across Asia could be at risk as the AI industry booms at the expense of poorer nations still struggling to provide basic digital access and literacy. The Asia-Pacific region is home to more than 55 per cent of the world's population, putting it at the centre of the AI transition. According to UNDP, the region hosts more than half of global AI users and is rapidly expanding its innovation footprint; China alone holds nearly 70 per cent of global AI patents. The report said that although China, Singapore and South Korea have invested heavily in – and benefited massively from – AI, entry-level workers in many South Asian nations face "significant exposure" to changes already underway, including automation. "Limited infrastructure, skills, computing power, and governance capacity constrain the potential benefits of AI while amplifying risks, including job displacement and data exclusion," UNDP said. The economists cautioned that just as industrialisation in the 19th century "split the world into a wealthy few and the impoverished", the AI revolution could do the same. They urged governments to consider the ethics of AI before rolling it out further – and to ensure this is done in as inclusive a way as possible.

AI IS EMERGING IN AN ECONOMY ALREADY MARKED BY EXTREME INEQUALITY

AI is clearly a major technological shock, and this technological shock is occurring in the context of a pre-existing environment of extreme wealth and political inequality. According to economist Paul Krugman, AI is emerging in an economy and society that are already strongly oligarchic, with enormous wealth and political influence in the hands of a handful of billionaires. Since 2024, the techno-financial elites of the USA have begun to be more assertive in trying to legitimise their extreme wealth and to lay claim to being the sources of techno-scientific and societal progress. In his January 2025 farewell address, US President Biden echoed Eisenhower's warning about the 'military-industrial complex', stating: "Today, an oligarchy is taking shape in America of extreme wealth, power and influence that threatens our entire democracy, our basic rights, the freedoms and the fair shot for everyone to get ahead."

New technologies have revolutionised the world economy over the last quarter-century. In 1992, Bill Gates became the first modern IT mogul to enter Forbes' top 10 billionaires. In Forbes' top 10 in 2025, seven made their fortunes from high-tech: Elon Musk, Jeff Bezos, Mark Zuckerberg, Larry Ellison, Steve Ballmer, and Google's Sergey Brin and Larry Page. The top 10 amassed over $16trn, which is about 8 per cent of US GDP.

Since the Industrial Revolution, technological breakthroughs have inspired dystopian fears but have largely improved human wellbeing. But the current technological revolution is unusual in a particularly unsettling way. It comes at the hands of a small group of very powerful people who hold themselves and their preferences in very high regard. However troubling their views of the future may be, nobody seems willing to stand in their way.

Artificial Intelligence promises extraordinary productivity gains. But it is also creating a growing challenge for governments to tax economies where machines increasingly generate value instead of people. For decades, modern tax systems have relied heavily on labour. Income taxes, payroll taxes and social contributions remain the backbone of public finances across most developed economies. VAT and sales taxes provide the second major pillar. Economists and policymakers across the globe are debating how to impose AI-era taxes to reduce the widening wealth gaps. Alongside broader tax reform, policymakers are exploring more targeted AI-related taxes. Proposals being debated include: robot taxes on businesses replacing workers with automation; token taxes based on AI processing usage; automation levies tied to labour displacement; and social taxes on excess AI profits. In South Korea, senior policymakers recently proposed redistributing part of the AI semiconductor boom through a form of "national dividend" funded by excess AI-related corporate tax revenues. Former RBI Governor Raghuram Rajan said governments could start with a low levy on companies' AI-token use (an AI token is a basic unit of text that an artificial intelligence model reads and generates) and offer credits for retraining and retaining workers.

As technology oligarchs consolidate authority in ways that challenge traditional international relations, revealing a global order increasingly shaped by the ambitions and misconceptions of private actors, a new global governance system is urgently needed to save the world economy and environment from these new oligarchs.

War on Exam Fraud

Stronger laws and smarter technology can restore trust in public examinations

SYSTEM CHECK

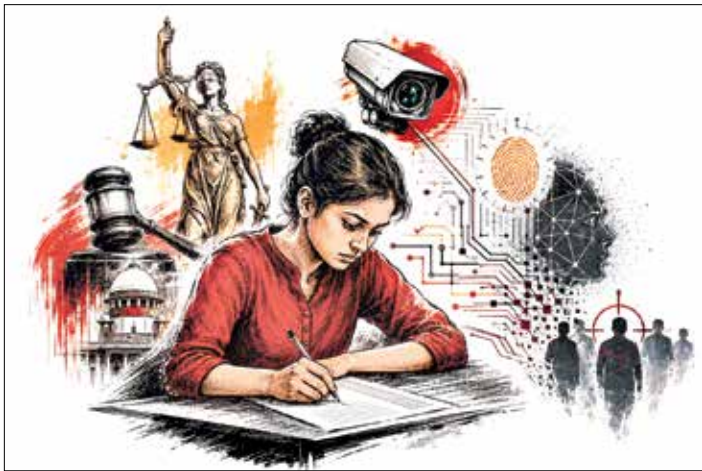

MANOJ KUMAR TIWARI

THE WRITER IS THE DIRECTOR AT IIM MUMBAI

needed amendment to India's examination system to guarantee the integrity of the examination process.

Legislation plays a crucial role in deterring malpractices related to examinations. The Uttar Pradesh Anti-Copying Act, 1992, introduced a revolutionary change in the examination system by providing very strict legal and administrative provisions to prevent large-scale cheating among students in school examinations. This law was later repealed; however, it proved to be a strong deterrent against examination malpractice. The Chinese National College Entrance Examination (Gaokao) is strictly monitored, and cheating is penalised through the use of biometric verification, AI-powered surveillance and administrative measures. With over thirteen million candidates examined annually, it maintains high levels of public trust and confidence through fast identification of and action against candidates who cheat on the exam.

In India, the Public Examinations Act, 2024, had a detailed legal framework, providing a definition of organised examination fraud as a cognisable and non-bailable offence, with stringent punishment. The main drawback, however, was the lack of statutory court timelines for investigations and trials. There were delays in investigations and long delays in the courts, so the law had only a limited deterrent effect and offenders were not held to account in a timely fashion. The 2026 Amendment has overcome this problem by adding a provision for time-bound investigation and fast-track trial in the Special Fast Track Courts. This reform focuses on an important principle of criminal justice: deterrence is as much about the certainty and timeliness of punishment as it is about its severity.

Every exam fraud compromises trust of millions of students

LEGISLATION PLAYS A CRUCIAL ROLE IN DETERRING MALPRACTICES RELATED TO EXAMINATIONS

A central aspect of the 2026 Act is that it targets the nature of the offence, not the method of its occurrence. This is especially crucial in the context of India's examination landscape undergoing a rapid shift from paper-based examinations to technology-enabled digital examinations. The growing digitalisation of public exams is a reminder of the importance of having secure, reliable and robust online examination systems. Notably, of the eight major examinations conducted by the National Testing Agency (NTA), all except NEET (UG) are already conducted as Computer-Based Tests (CBTs), including JEE (Main), CUET and UGC-NET.

Digital exams can help reduce the risks associated with the printing, shipping and storage of paper exams, but introduce a new set of security risks, including cybersecurity, identity theft and data protection. In 2024, the K. Radhakrishnan Committee made a series of recommendations for reliable and secure examinations, such as introducing comprehensive Standard Operating Procedures (SOPs) throughout the testing process, increasing the adoption of Aadhaar-based or biometric authentication and encrypted transmission of question papers, and introducing transparent and well-defined score normalisation processes.

Technology, however, is not enough to ensure the integrity of public examinations. Examination fraud is now becoming more organised, complex and technologically advanced, and a robust legal framework is therefore also vital to penalise those committing fraud. The Public Examinations (Prevention of Unfair Means) Amendment Act, 2026, strengthens the penal regime introduced in the 2024 version of the Act. For instance, the punishment for individual offenders has been increased from 3-5 years' imprisonment and fines of up to ₹10 lakh to 5-10 years' imprisonment and fines of up to ₹50 lakh.

As mentioned in Ramcharit-manas, "अथ किन्तु होइ न श्रीति" – no respect for fair practice without fear of punishment. This enduring principle is still applicable today. The credibility of public exams depends not only on well-designed legislation but also on the expectation that any violations will be quickly identified, examined and punished. Every such occurrence in relation to examinations compromises the trust of millions of honest students who must rely on merit for their future. The Public Examinations (Prevention of Unfair Means) Amendment Act, 2026, provides a comprehensive mechanism to ensure transparency and credibility in the Indian examination system through timely justice, stringent punishments, institutional accountability and cutting-edge technology.

When Justice Risks Becoming Vengeance

From vengeance and mentorship to withdrawal, Parashurama’s life reveals why strength becomes meaningful only when governed by judgement, restraint and purpose

BHARAT

ANIL RAJPUT

THE WRITER IS CHAIRPERSON,
BHARAT KI SOCH

Parashurama enters Bharat’s civilisational memory carrying an axe, but he cannot be understood by the weapon alone. He is a Brahmana by birth and a warrior by temperament, an avatara of Vishnu, a destroyer of oppressive power, a teacher of formidable warriors, a giver of conquered land and a figure who ultimately withdraws into austerity. He appears across the Ramayana, Mahabharata and Puranic traditions, not as a single-note hero or villain, but as a complex figure whose life moves through action, excess, reflection, teaching and relinquishment. His story asks not only whether we have the courage to act when power is misused, but whether we possess the judgement to remain proportionate, the humility to develop successors and the wisdom to step back when our role has been fulfilled.

The turning point in Parashurama’s life comes through the conflict surrounding his father, the sage Jamadagni, and Kartavirya Arjuna. Traditional accounts describe a ruler whose power had become arrogant and intrusive. After the confrontation, Parashurama kills Kartavirya Arjuna. The conflict deepens when the king’s sons later kill Jamadagni. Grief becomes a vow of vengeance, and tradition remembers Parashurama as repeatedly campaigning against the Kshatriya order, famously twenty-one times. Yet the civilisational lesson is not that kingship or Kshatriya authority is itself illegitimate. The deeper concern is the degeneration of rajadharma, when power meant to protect becomes a source of oppression. Parashurama emerges first as a corrective force against that degeneration.

Institutions cannot function if authority is never challenged when it becomes arbitrary or self-serving. There are moments when a leader must intervene because silence would allow the wrong to deepen. In corporate life, this may mean confronting misconduct, resisting the misuse of authority, protecting a vulnerable team or refusing to normalise behaviour simply because it comes from someone powerful. Leadership requires the courage to confront the misuse of power. Courage, however, is only the beginning. Once intervention begins, the harder question is whether corrective action remains tied to its original purpose.

His campaign begins in response to particular acts of wrongdoing, but tradition expands his retaliation far beyond the original perpetrators. A response that begins as correction can lose its moral precision when grievance widens the circle of guilt. This is where Viveka, or discernment, becomes essential. Organisations make the same mistake when one case of misconduct produces restrictions that burden everyone,

Parashurama’s relevance lies in revealing leadership’s true burden: wielding power with courage, restraint and wisdom

or one failed delegation persuades a manager that an entire team cannot be trusted. One betrayal can harden a leader against people who had no part in it. Justice must therefore be guided by Viveka, the discernment to distinguish responsibility from association. Strong institutions resist this drift because accountability must remain specific. Justice requires clarity about who acted wrongly, what harm was caused and what response is proportionate. Justice holds the guilty accountable. Vengeance risks making others pay for their wrongdoing.

Parashurama’s extraordinary capability gives the story another layer. The more power a person possesses, the more consequential a moment of anger or misjudgement becomes. A junior employee may damage a conversation through impulsiveness. A senior executive can damage careers, culture, investment and trust. Modern leadership praises decisiveness and the willingness to take hard calls, but these qualities can become institutional volatility when they are not governed by restraint. The greater the authority, the greater the need for Samyama, or self-mastery. The strongest leaders do not prove themselves by exercising every power available to them. They know when intervention is necessary, when escalation would worsen the problem and when a provocation does not deserve a response. Samyama is not timidity. It is the discipline to ensure that strength remains under the command of judgement.

Parashurama’s story also raises a difficult ethical question through the episode involving his mother, Renuka. In one Puranic account, Jamadagni commands his sons to kill her. The elder sons refuse, while Parashurama obeys. When later offered a boon, he asks that Renuka and his brothers be restored to life. The episode belongs to a sacred narrative world, but it leaves a recognisable question. Does loyalty to authority absolve an individual of moral discernment?

Organisations need discipline and legitimate authority, but obedience cannot become a substitute for ethical judgement. “I was instructed to do it” may explain an action, but it does not automatically make the action right. Strong institutions create room for respectful dissent and value people who are loyal to purpose and principles, not merely to the person occupying the highest chair. Hierarchy never removes the responsibility to exercise conscience. Conscience is what prevents loyalty from becoming blind.

Parashurama is also remembered as a formidable teacher, associated with warriors such as Bhishma and Karna. His confrontation with Bhishma during Amba’s search for justice is especially revealing. Parashurama asks his former disciple to act, while Bhishma refuses because of his vow and understanding of duty. Their conflict presents competing understandings of dharma and shows that genuine learning can produce independent judgement rather than permanent obedience. It also reminds us that even virtues such as commitment to a vow can harden into rigidity when they leave no room to reconsider consequences.

The purpose of mentorship is not to manufacture replicas. A strong teacher transmits knowledge, discipline and character deeply enough that the student can eventually exercise judgement independently, even when that judgement differs from the mentor’s. In business, leaders who demand constant agreement may produce dependence, not leadership. Great leaders create successors capable of thinking for themselves. Institutions become stronger when knowledge is distributed, successors are trusted and disagreement is not automatically treated as disloyalty. The Guru-Shishya parampara, at its best, is not only about receiving knowledge. It is also about becoming worthy of carrying it forward.

The Karna episode adds another dimension to mentorship. Karna seeks instruction from Parashurama while concealing his identity, believing that he would otherwise be denied access. When the deception is revealed, Parashurama responds harshly and curses him that the knowledge of a vital weapon will fail him when he needs it most. The episode raises questions that remain relevant to institutions. What happens when talent believes access depends upon inherited categories rather than demonstrated ability? Does deception erase genuine merit? Can a mentor’s sense of betrayal produce a punishment greater than the original wrong? Leaders must protect trust, but they must also examine whether their systems encourage capable people to hide who they are to receive an opportunity. Fair institutions demand truth, but they must also make inclusion credible enough that truth does not become a disadvantage.

Parashurama’s most important leadership lesson may come from a battle he chooses not to continue. In the Ramayana, after Rama breaks Shiva’s bow, Parashurama confronts him and challenges him with the bow associated with Vishnu. Rama accepts the challenge and demonstrates his power. Parashurama then withdraws. Read symbolically, the episode marks a transition from one form of power to another, from corrective and retributive force to power governed by Maryada, by limits, duty and ordered conduct. Parashurama does not need to remain at the centre merely because he still possesses strength.

Founders, senior executives and institution-builders often face a similar test. The qualities needed to correct disorder may not be the same qualities needed for the next phase of growth. A leader must recognise when a historical role has been fulfilled and when another person, generation or style of leadership must take over. Leadership reaches maturity when achievement no longer becomes a claim to permanent authority. Succession is not an admission of irrelevance. It can be the final proof that leadership succeeded.

This moral arc becomes clearer in traditions that remember Parashurama giving away the earth he had conquered and withdrawing to a life of austerity. Possession becomes donation. Intervention becomes withdrawal. The exercise of power becomes the transmission of knowledge. This is Tyaga, relinquishment, not as weakness but as freedom from the need to possess indefinitely what one had the strength to win.

Parashurama’s relevance therefore lies neither in celebrating his strength without question nor in reducing him to a cautionary figure consumed by anger. His life illuminates the complete burden of leadership. To confront adharma without becoming consumed by grievance. To punish wrongdoing without abandoning proportion. To possess authority without surrendering self-mastery. To respect hierarchy without silencing conscience. To train successors capable of judgement. And, when one’s task is complete, to relinquish power with dignity.

For leaders and institutions, that may be the most enduring lesson of all. Power has a purpose, and purpose must place limits upon power. The leader who knows only how to act remains incomplete. Leadership becomes mature when courage is joined by Viveka, strength by Samyama, authority by Maryada and achievement by Tyaga. The final test of strength is not whether we can wield power, but whether we possess the wisdom to govern it and the detachment to lay it down.

Beyond Treaties and Talks

Cultural diplomacy complements formal negotiations by sustaining trust during periods of conflict; writes Rajdeep Pathak

In an age of protracted conflicts and fractured trust, cultural diplomacy often operates in the background of high politics, yet its contribution to conflict resolution is underappreciated. Where formal negotiations stall over territory, security or ideology, shared cultural spaces can reopen communication, humanise the “other” and create conditions for dialogue. Cultural diplomacy does not end wars, but as an instrument of ‘soft power’, it can reduce the emotional temperature that makes compromise difficult.

The concept of soft power was developed by American political scientist Joseph S. Nye, who described it as the ability of a country to obtain desired outcomes through attraction rather than coercion or payment. Culture is a principal source of such attraction. Literature, music, cinema, food, spirituality and education can create familiarity and goodwill among foreign populations. Cultural exchange programmes introduce foreign audiences to India’s traditions while creating channels for dialogue and collaboration, building networks of trust that remain valuable during political tension.

India’s approach has historical roots. Its civilisational links with Southeast Asia, Central Asia, Africa and the Middle East developed through trade, Buddhism, Hindu philosophical traditions, maritime exchanges, literature and artistic interaction. India’s Cultural Exchange Programmes with over 98 countries, coordinated under the Global Engagement Scheme, illustrate this approach. India can draw upon its history of civilisational exchange to emphasise connections, mutual influences and shared heritage.

Through artistic exchanges, heritage conservation partnerships, Festivals of India and scholarships, India invests in long-term cultural relationships. Initiatives such as ‘Project Mausam’, which reconnects

YOGA IS INDIA’S MOST RECOGNISABLE INSTRUMENT OF CULTURAL DIPLOMACY

Indian Ocean societies through shared maritime heritage, and ‘Brihattar Bharat’, which maps civilisational linkages across Asia, highlight these connections. By August 2026, the ICCR reported that it operated 39 Indian Cultural Centres abroad and provided more than 4,500 scholarships to students from over 190 countries.

India’s assistance in restoring temples and archaeological sites in Cambodia, Vietnam, Indonesia and Sri Lanka strengthens trust through shared stewardship, bringing archaeologists, conservation experts and communities together around interconnected histories. Cultural tracks within BRICS, G20, SCO and BIMSTEC similarly allow countries with political differences to cooperate on creative industries and heritage.

The 2026 Bhopal Declaration, adopted during the 11th BRICS Culture Ministers’ Meeting under India’s BRICS Chairship, demonstrates how culture can create a parallel lane of engagement despite geopolitical turbulence. It emphasised developing creative industries while protecting traditional culture. Discussions addressed responsible use of new technologies, protecting artists from AI-related copyright abuse and combating illegal trade in historic art. India also introduced a digital registry to help artists connect across borders.

Since the International Day of Yoga was proclaimed by the United Nations in 2014, yoga has become one of India’s most recognisable instruments of cultural diplomacy, providing a global platform for its contributions to health, wellness and philosophical thought. Its diplomatic value depends on presenting it as a multifaceted tradition rather than merely a promotional brand.

Language promotion is another important dimension. Teaching Hindi, Sanskrit, Tamil, Bengali and other Indian languages allows foreign learners to engage directly with Indian literature and intellectual traditions. Similarly, museum exchanges involving Indian art, manuscripts, textiles and archaeological objects deepen scholarly and institutional relationships.

Cultural diplomacy is no substitute for hard negotiation or security arrangements. It cannot resolve core disputes over borders or nuclear programmes by itself. Yet durable peace settlements are rarely sustained by treaties alone. They require societies that retain enough mutual familiarity and goodwill to make implementation politically feasible. Cultural diplomacy provides that sustained conversation between societies.

IMPORTS FROM GULF SUPPLIERS HAVE FALLEN SHARPLY

India pivots to US for LPG, LNG as West Asia crisis disrupts supplies

OUR CORRESPONDENT
 New Delhi, August 25

India has sharply increased purchases of liquefied petroleum gas (LPG) and liquefied natural gas (LNG) from the United States as disruptions linked to the conflict in West Asia constrain supplies from traditional Gulf suppliers, data from maritime intelligence firm Kpler showed.

India imported about 0.62 million tonnes of LPG from the United States in August, in addition to 0.89 million tonnes in July, accounting for more than 73 per cent of the country's LPG imports, according to Kpler data.

The July US volume was almost equal to the highest-ever monthly LPG import from the UAE, India's traditional supplier, of 0.891 million tonnes in October 2025. Imports from Gulf suppliers have fallen sharply after the effective closure of the Strait of Hormuz, following the outbreak of war between Iran and the United States. The waterway is a key shipping route for crude oil and gas exported by Gulf producers to major consumers, including India.

UAE LPG imports fell to about 1,40,000 tonnes in August, while Qatar supplied around 60,000 tonnes, Kpler data showed. Saudi Arabia supplied no LPG to India in either July or August.

The shift has also been visible in LNG, although India's sourcing pattern has been more diversified.

LNG imports from Qatar, India's largest source of the fuel, fell to zero in April, while US supplies rose to about 0.75 million tonnes in August from 0.72 million tonnes in July. Qatar has historically supplied as much as 1.2 million tonnes of LNG a month to India.

"The shift towards the US has broadly continued over the past few months, particularly for LPG," said Sumit Ritolia, senior manager - modelling. "I would, however, be cautious about viewing this purely as India deliberately replacing Middle Eastern supplies with US volumes. A large part of the change has been driven by constrained Middle Eastern availability and the need for Indian buyers to diversify and secure replacement cargoes."

"For LNG, the supplier mix has been somewhat more fluid, with India sourcing incremental cargoes not only from the US

- » UAE LPG imports fell to about 1,40,000 tonnes in August, while Qatar supplied around 60,000 tonnes, Kpler data showed but also from other Atlantic Basin and non-traditional suppliers. So, while the US has become increasingly important, the broader story is one of supply diversification following reduced Middle Eastern availability."

A brief easing of tensions between Iran and the United States has so far not produced a meaningful or sustained decline in US supplies to India, Ritolia said, noting that energy trade flows do not adjust immediately to geopolitical developments because of contractual commitments, cargoes already in transit and procurement lead times.

The increased reliance on more distant suppliers is also raising India's import costs. "There is clearly an additional cost associated with replacing nearby Middle Eastern supply with cargoes from the US and other more distant origins," he said. "Freight is higher because of the significantly longer voyage, while tighter global availability has also raised the underlying commodity cost."

"However, I would not attribute the entire increase in India's LNG or LPG import bill to the shift towards US supplies. The increase reflects a combination of higher international prices, tighter Middle Eastern availability, freight and insurance costs, and longer supply routes. In the current environment, India is effectively paying a premium for supply security and diversification."

While India's LNG and LPG sourcing has shifted toward the United States, Russia continues to be the country's largest crude oil supplier despite the threat of the Graham Bill and potential secondary tariffs, Ritolia said.

The government has extended the time period for processing and domestic sale of imported raw sugar to two months from the date of its entry, in response to the concerns raised by the industry over shipping delays.

While permitting import of 1 million tonnes of raw sugar to boost local supplies and rein in prices, the government had earlier asked importers to process the raw sugar and sell it in the domestic market by October 31. However, the industry, in a recent meeting, told the ministries concerned that this timeline was not feasible, citing port congestion in Brazil and a 40-day shipment period for cargo to reach India after quantity approval.

Taking this into account, the Directorate General of Foreign Trade on August 24 issued a corrigendum to its August 20 notification, extending the timeline for processing and sale of imported raw sugar.

"The raw sugar imported under the TRQ (Tariff-Rate Quota) shall be processed into white/refined sugar within a reasonable period after import, provided that the importer shall convert the raw sugar into white/refined sugar & sell the same in the domestic market within a period not exceeding two months from the date of filing of bill of entry," the corrigendum stated. National Federation of Cooperative Sugar Factories (NFCFSF) Managing Director Prakash Naiknavare welcomed the move, calling it "a positive development" that would "encourage more mills to apply for import."

Mills have already begun applying online for raw sugar import through a DGFT portal. The DGFT may takes 2-3 days to process applications and allocate quantities and mills will then sign contracts by mid-September, and, subject to port congestion, shipments are expected to reach Indian shores by the third week of October.

Sugar imports have been allowed to boost domestic supply and check retail prices, which stood at nearly Rs 64 per kg on Tuesday. Retail prices have remained firm even as ex-mill rates have eased in recent days following the government's decision to permit imports and other measures to curb hoarding and speculation.

Meanwhile, sugar continued its upward march, rising by about Re 1 per kg to nearly Rs 64 on Tuesday in the retail market as recent government measures to curtail the surge take effect.

On Monday, the average price was Rs 63.05 per kg.

As per the data compiled by the Department of Consumer Affairs (Price Monitoring Division), the all-India average rate of sugar stood at Rs 63.97 per kg on August 25, a 31 per cent increase from Rs 48.81 per kg a month back.

The average rate is 38 per cent higher than the year-ago level, when sugar was available at Rs 46.31 per kg. The data showed that the maximum selling price on Monday was Rs 76 per kg, while the modal rate was Rs 65 per kg.

Rupee jumps 26 paise to 95.44 against dollar

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA
 Mumbai, August 25

The rupee pared initial losses and settled for the day higher by 26 paise to 95.44 against the US dollar on Tuesday, driven by positive domestic markets, a weaker greenback, and a fall in crude oil prices.

Forex traders said the overall weakness in the US dollar on declining odds of a rate hike may support the rupee at lower levels.

The USD/INR pair remained largely range-bound around 95.50-96.00, with oil prices & RBI's intervention likely to remain the key near-term drivers, they added.

At the interbank foreign exchange, the rupee opened at 95.74, then touched an intraday high of 95.40 and finally settled for the day at 95.44 against the dollar, higher by 26 paise from its previous close.

Dilip Parmar, Senior Research Analyst, HDFC Securities, said the combination of heavy central bank intervention & tumbling crude oil prices breathed fresh life into the domestic unit. "A sharp retreat in global oil prices successfully revived broader market risk appetite, leaving the greenback struggling to sustain its early momentum as the Dollar Index slipped beneath the 99 mark," Parmar said.

INDIA LESS LIKELY TO BE HIT BY EXTRA US TARIFFS
‘Indian economy resilient on robust domestic demand’

OUR CORRESPONDENT
Mumbai, August 25

Indian economy demonstrated notable resilience on buoyant domestic demand as well as increased industrial activities, and recovery in monsoon mitigated agriculture sector risks, RBI's latest bulletin said on Tuesday.

Presenting an optimistic picture amid multiple global headwinds, the bulletin also highlighted that the country is likely to be less affected by the additional 10 per cent US tariffs compared to neighbouring China and some other Asian economies.

The global economy is confronting a fragile geopolitical environment and continuing trade-related uncertainties. Nevertheless, the domestic economy has demonstrated notable resilience to the ongoing global headwinds, characterised by buoyant domestic demand and rising manufacturing and services activity, an article in the August bulletin said.

The southwest monsoon picked up in July after recording a deficit in June. While headline CPI inflation rose fractionally, reflecting food inflation; core inflation remained stable.

Further, liquidity conditions eased, supporting credit growth and ongoing investment activity. Foreign capital inflows rebounded, reinforcing the external sector, it said.

Monsoon activity picked up in July after a deficit in June.

“The recovery in southwest monsoon in July helped in kharif sowing reaching closer to normal acreage, partly mitigating some of the risks to the agriculture sector,” said the article on ‘State of the Economy’.

With increased rainfall in July, the all-India reservoir storage stood close to its decadal average and higher than the preceding level.

On the US Section 301 tariffs that imposed an additional 10 per cent tariff on India, the article said India's major export commodities to the US, such as smartphones, petroleum products and pharmaceuticals, remain outside its purview.

“India is likely to be less affected than some of the Asian economies in the US market, such as China, Vietnam and Thailand,” it said.

It also said foreign direct investment (FDI) flows improved in June 2026 from the previous month, supported by higher gross inflows.

Singapore, the Netherlands, the US, and Canada accounted for around 74 per cent of the total equity inflows.

As RBI's concessional swap window draws to a close this month end, SBI Chairman C S Setty has expressed confidence that the bank would garner about $10 billion from non-resident Indians and foreign investors.

“In aggregate, we must be reaching the $10 billion mark, predominantly coming from the deposit side. But there is visibility of ECBs. ECB, of course, will have a longer period available to us, but by August 31, we should have mobilised around $9-10 billion on a consolidated basis,” he said.

Earlier this month, the Reserve Bank of India advanced the closure of the Foreign Currency Non-Resident Bank (FCNR-B) deposits swap window by a month to August 31 as against the earlier cut-off date of September 30.

Goyal discusses long-term capital flows, deeper Japanese investment in India

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA
Tokyo, August 25

Commerce and Industry Minister Piyush Goyal on Tuesday held discussions with representatives of Japan's leading financial and investment institutions on strengthening long-term capital flows, deepening investment partnerships and expanding Japanese participation in India's growth story.

The meeting brought together senior representatives of Mitsubishi UFJ Financial Group (MUFG), Development Bank of Japan (DBJ), Mizuho, Morgan Stanley, Nomura and Nippon Life, providing a platform for an exchange of views on India's economic outlook, emerging investment opportunities and measures to further facilitate Japanese institutional investment.

In the meetings, Goyal highlighted the strength and resilience of the Indian economy, noting that India recorded 7.7 per cent growth last year despite global uncertainties and is working towards becoming a USD 30 trillion economy by 2047.

He underlined India's strong banking sector, robust capital adequacy and low levels of non-performing assets, along with the country's expanding middle class and rising disposable incomes.

He added that significant opportunities exist for Japanese firms in sectors such as semiconductors, artificial intelligence, data centres, renewable energy, green hydrogen, advanced manufacturing and digital infrastructure.

“The Japanese financial institutions shared their growing engagement with India and expressed strong confidence in the country's long-term growth prospects,” the commerce ministry said in a statement.

It said that MUFG highlighted its investment of around USD 4 billion in Shriram Finance and its expanding interests in areas including renewable energy and hydrogen, while DBJ outlined its dedicated India strategy and growing interest in property development, venture capital and other long-term investments.

PREVENT ESCALATION OF WEST ASIA CONFLICT

Pak, Iran explore reopening Hormuz

ASSOCIATED PRESS
Islamabad, August 25

Pakistan Army Chief Field Marshal Asim Munir has held “comprehensive discussions” with the Iranian leadership in Tehran, focusing on measures to prevent further escalation of the West Asia conflict and the reopening of the Strait of Hormuz, the army’s media wing said on Tuesday.

The army chief, who was accompanied by Interior Minister Mohsin Naqvi, concluded a day-long visit to Iran as part of Islamabad’s diplomatic efforts to break the deadlock in the ongoing US-Iran conflict, the Inter-Services Public Relations (ISPR) said in a statement.

It added that the visit was “part of Pakistan’s diplomatic efforts to end the stalemate in the ongoing US-Iran conflict and

Putin issues decree opening door to state control of key sites

Moscow, August 25

Russian President Vladimir Putin

Russian President Vladimir Putin signed a decree allowing the government to temporarily take control of critical infrastructure if private owners fail to protect it from Ukrainian drone attacks or rebuild it after strikes, apparently the latest indication that Moscow is feeling the strain of war.

Russia is facing economic and political pressure due to months of escalating, deep and increasingly accurate Ukrainian strikes. Kyiv has used domestically developed long-range drones to target vital oil facilities, triggering fuel shortages that Putin publicly admitted, and major commercial hubs, embarrassing the Russian leadership.

Ukraine has also reeled from relentless Russian aerial attacks that have smashed its power grid ahead of winter and heav-into its fifth year. The Kremlin’s intentions with Putin’s decree, announced late Monday, are unclear. However, it applies to various sectors, including energy and fuel infrastructure, industrial, communications, transport and logistics facilities. Kremlin spokesman Dmitry Peskov said Tuesday that “often business owners do not pay enough attention to taking measures to ensure safety, anti-drone safety.”

Trump floats renaming Lake Ontario as ‘Lake America’

ASSOCIATED PRESS
Washington, August 25

President Donald Trump said Tuesday that he is considering changing the name of Lake Ontario to “Lake America” as the trade war between the United States and Canada intensifies.

Such a change would be reminiscent of the Republican president’s unilateral action last year by executive order to rename the Gulf of Mexico to the Gulf of America.

The United States and Canada are locked in a trade dispute, with Canada expected to announce retaliatory measures Tuesday. That’s in response to the Trump administration enacting 50 per cent tariffs on $20 billion of Canadian goods over the weekend after talks between the countries broke down.

“The United States is giving serious consideration to changing the name of Lake Ontario to Lake America in that we don’t expect to do much business with Ontario any longer,” Trump said Tuesday on social media.

UN, Red Cross step up call for international rules on ‘killer robot’ weapons systems

‘The fundamental concerns remain unchanged, but the risks have intensified’

ASSOCIATED PRESS
Geneva, August 25

The United Nations and the International Committee of the Red Cross on Tuesday ratcheted up a joint call for countries to adopt bans and restrictions on use of autonomous weapons systems – often known as “killer robots” – warning that “the risks have intensified.”

Building on an initial appeal three years ago and international talks on the issue for years, the appeal stops short of calling for a blanket ban, but notes that such weapons systems are being developed – though the UN and Red Cross haven’t confirmed their use on the battlefield. “We are now dangerously close to crossing a moral red line: The autonomous targeting of humans by machines,” said UN Geneva spokesperson Alessandra Vellucci, reading a joint statement by UN Secretary-General António Guterres and ICRC President Mirjana Spoljaric.

“Today, we renew this call with even greater urgency,” the statement said. “The fundamental concerns remain unchanged, but the risks have intensified.”

The two international organisations say the development of weapons technology at “record speed” has strained the international rules system, and widened the gap between technological capacities and regulatory constraints.

“Autonomous weapons systems are not part of a distant future – a race toward greater autonomy in weapons systems is already well underway,” the joint statement said.

PRASIDH, SUTHAR STRIKE AS LATE SL RESISTANCE STALLS INDIA

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA
Colombo, August 25

Indian bowlers failed to break through the Sri Lankan resistance spearheaded by Sonal Dinusha and Pasindu Sooriyabandara in the company of the late-order batters as the home side finished Day 3 of the second Test on 265 for eight here on Tuesday. Dinusha (85 batting) and Lahiru Kumara (8 batting) were at the crease when stumps were drawn early because of rain and bad light. Sri Lanka still need 38 runs to avoid the follow-on after India amassed 503 for nine in their first innings.

Once the hosts resumed from the tea score of 216 for seven, they were starting at an earlier end to the innings.

But Dinusha notched up his third 50-plus score in as many innings in this series to keep the Indians at bay across two sessions.

A diminutive left-hander, Dinusha displayed towering spirit and technical nous to counter the Indians. Prasidh tested him with lifters and toe-crushers while spinners – Manav Suthar, Ravindra Jadeja and Saransh Jain – teased his awareness of lines.

The 25-year-old, however, came out of those tough interrogation spaces with flying colours, leaving the Indians a frustrated lot for 201 minutes.

However, Dinusha, who fetched his fifty in 84 balls, had two equally stone-minded companions – Keshara Nuwantha and Lahiru Kumara. With Nuwantha, he added 57 runs for the eighth wicket and the former played out 74 balls, and then added 35 runs for the ongoing ninth wicket with Kumara, who consumed 50 balls in 65 minutes.

The Indians will be a massively disappointed lot to see an old failing against tail-end batters resurfacing at a very inopportune moment at the SSC ground.

But before they hit the roadblock, the Indians appeared to have primed to put an early end to Sri Lankan innings, reducing them to 216 for seven at tea. In the pre-lunch session, Sri Lanka were competitive despite losing two wickets as they had added 122 runs. But in the middle passage, the visiting bowlers took command of the proceedings, scalping four wickets and conceded just 86 runs.

India inflicted an early jolt on Sri Lanka as left-arm spinner Suthar found his correct length.

From that point, there was no respite for the Lankan batters.

But the body blow was the dismissal of Sooriyabandara (80), who batted with a rare mix of patience and elegance.

Jadeja, who made only a cameo appearance in the opening session of the day, bowled one close to Sooriyabandara’s body, and the batter’s effort to guide the ball down point saw his stumps getting rearranged.

Wake-up call? India’s transition troubles laid bare at World Cup

Former stars say India not handling transition well

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA
Amstelveen, August 25

India had a below-par FIH World Cup

The Indian men’s hockey team was not expected to end its 51-year-old World Cup title drought but its failure to even reach the semi-finals has exposed some long-standing frailties, including lack of intent to carry out a tough transition.

The 3-5 defeat to Argentina, which ended India’s semifinal hopes, exposed weaknesses that have repeatedly surfaced since the Paris Olympics.

Two-time Olympic bronze medalist goalkeeper PR Sreejesh is aghast as to how none of the talented juniors coming through the system have been given exposure with less than two years left for the Los Angeles Olympics.

“Who is there to take the reins when seniors retire? Have we developed a second string? LA Olympics is just two years away and we will play around 30 quality international matches before that. Is that enough to prepare a player for the Olympics? No,” a fuming Sreejesh said while talking to PTI.

“The 2026 World Cup team is still revolving around the same core group of players while promising juniors like Manmeet Singh, who was the top scorer at the Junior World Cup with six goals, Amir Ali, Roshan Kujur, Shardanand Tiwari, Talem Priyabarta, Rohit, and Arshdeep Singh were simply overlooked,” he added.

The 1980 Moscow Olympics gold medal winning captain V Baskaran was scathing about India’s attacking output and the failure to integrate youngsters.

“The transition from junior to senior has not taken place properly. Germany and the Netherlands have had a smooth transition. Look at the Netherlands team from the Paris Olympics and the World Cup - six gold medallists are missing.”

“We are selecting the team on sympathies, past records and numbers. Six players could have been tried in the Pro League,” Bhaskaran added.

‘World-class’ Prasidh leaves Morkel smiling

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA
Colombo, August 25

India bowling coach Morne Morkel showered encomium on pacer Prasidh Krishna for ignoring “outside voices” to work hard on his game, developing into a “world class bowler.”

Prasidh took three wickets (3/47) in an intense 14-over spell across the day to lead India’s bowling unit against Sri Lanka. “It (the spell) showed the character of Prasidh. He has the media on his back, the commentators on his back, to fight through that...and his bowling at the moment is very impressive,” Morkel said during the post-match press meet. “He is an extremely hard worker, he is a guy that will do a lot of homework, going into games. It is just great to see him grow and develop into a world class bowler.”

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA
New Delhi, August 25

Indian women cricketers are “hungry for more” after a string of impressive victories, with captain Harmanpreet Kaur saying a winning culture is taking shape as they head into the Asia Cup in the UAE and Asian Games in Japan.

Fresh from winning the first-ever women’s Test match at Lord’s by defeating England last month, India will now turn their attention to the UAE Asia Cup T20, where they are record seven-time champions, before embarking on their title defence at the Asian Games. “The last 4-5 years has been good and where we have played good cricket. Now, we are coming after the win at Lord’s, so the team has already tasted success and will be hungry for more.”

Seamus Murphy's human landscape

THE AWARD-WINNING IRISH PHOTOGRAPHER BRINGS THREE DECADES OF LOOKING, LISTENING AND OBSERVING TO MUSEO CAMERA IN GURUGRAM

SEAMUS MURPHY

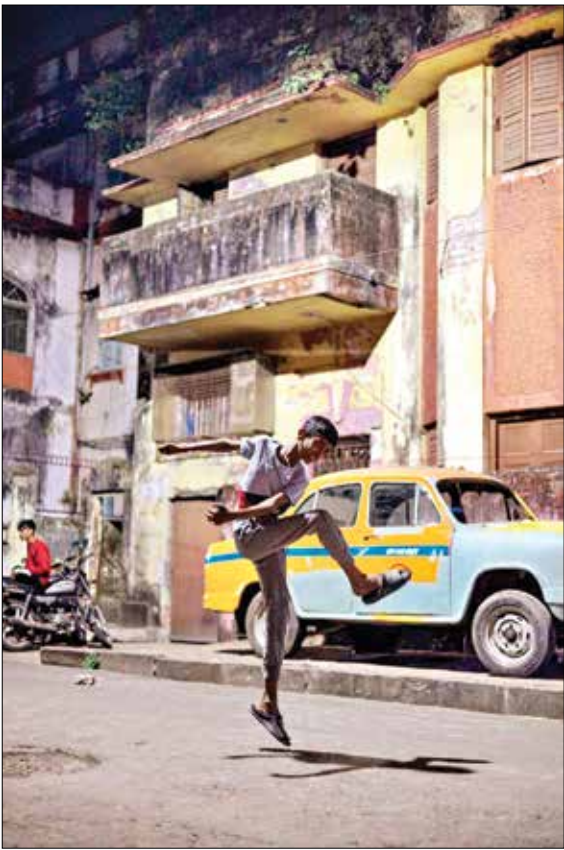

CHINKY JHA MULLEN
New Delhi, August 25

Award-winning Irish photographer Seamus Murphy brings three decades of looking, listening and observing to Museo Camera in Gurugram.

There are places we learn about through news headlines: war in Afghanistan, the politics and history of Ireland, the pageantry, myth and faded grandeur of Kolkata. Irish photographer Seamus Murphy has spent much of his career looking beyond those familiar narratives.

His photographs are less interested in the event than in the people living through it; less concerned with spectacle than with the quiet details that reveal how people inhabit a place. It is this deeply human approach that runs through 'Life is in Many Days', a major exhibition of Murphy's work currently on view at Museo Camera, Gurugram, from August 22 to October 25. The exhibition is assembled by renowned curator and editor Zelda Cheatele.

Bringing together four major bodies of work made over more than three decades across Afghanistan, Ireland, India, Russia and the United States, the exhibition offers a portrait of a photographer constantly searching for intimacy within the complexity of everyday life. "I'm always striving for intimacy and a certain kind of poetic realism," Murphy says. That idea is perhaps the thread that connects the very different worlds in his photographs.

His long relationship with Afghanistan began in 1994. Murphy has developed an understanding of a country that goes well beyond the conventions of war photography. His images acknowledge conflict without allowing it to define the people he photographs. In faces, gestures, streets and moments of ordinary life, he finds dignity, humour and resilience.

Ireland, too, appears through a more personal lens in 'The Republic'. Made after a period away from his homeland, the series moves beyond the familiar political and cultural narratives associated with Ireland. Murphy instead turns his camera towards rituals, memories, humour and fleeting encounters, creating a portrait of contemporary Irish life that feels intimate rather than definitive.

His more recent work in India takes him to Kolkata. Like the Dublin of James Joyce's 'Ulysses', from which the exhibition borrows its title, Mur-

HIS PHOTOGRAPHS ARE LESS INTERESTED IN THE EVENT THAN IN THE PEOPLE LIVING THROUGH IT

Chaudhuri writes. That observation captures something essential about Murphy's lens and his literary influences. He doesn't seem to impose a story on a place, but rather a narrative is revealed.

This same sensibility informs 'Strange Love', Murphy's recent book, which brings together photographs from Russia and the United States. Two countries frequently presented as opposites, even natural enemies, are juxtaposed through the lives of ordinary people. Political power remains a backdrop. What we see are the shared experiences of hope, hardship, work and uncertainty.

Across his work, Murphy's camera repeatedly returns to the same fundamental subject: people and the worlds they make around themselves - the universality of the local.

'Life is in Many Days' is therefore not simply an exhibition about Afghanistan, Ireland, Kolkata, Russia or America. It is an exhibition about a way of seeing and about what becomes visible when a photographer takes the time to look beyond the obvious. These images invite the viewer to pause, to notice a gesture, a face, a fragment of architecture, a moment of humour or a particular quality of light. And in those seemingly small details, they find something larger: the shared texture of human life.

Curated by Zelda Cheatele, 'Life is in Many Days' is on view at Museo Camera, Gurugram, from August 22 to October 25, 2026

DRIVING THE VISION FORWARD

Excerpts of Chairman's Message at the 39th Annual General Meeting held on 25th August, 2026

Shri. Manoj Kumar Dubey
Chairman and Managing Director & CEO
DIN: 07518387

Chairman's message

Dear Shareholders,

I am privileged to present the 39th Annual Report of Indian Railway Finance Corporation Limited (IRFC), India's premier infrastructure financing institution & the backbone of Indian Railways. Achievements of FY 25-26 are not just numbers – they are stories of ambition turned into action. As we step into the future, IRFC 2.0 stands committed to fuelling India's growth, financing tomorrow, and empowering generations to come.

It gives me great satisfaction in sharing that we exceeded our guidance in FY 2025–26, creating an additional sanction pipeline of ₹72,949 crore against the target of ₹60,000 crore and achieving disbursements of ₹35,067 crore against the guidance of ₹30,000 crore. This outstanding performance reflects the Company's strong execution capabilities, efficient fund mobilization, and its pivotal role in meeting the financing needs of Indian Railways and allied infrastructure.

FY 2025–26 was distinguished as a breakthrough year for IRFC, delivering its highest-ever results in terms of revenue being ₹27,284.15 crore, Profit After Tax being ₹7,009.17 crore, Net Worth being ₹56,748.76 crore, AUM being ₹4.85 Lakh crore and EPS being ₹5.36/-. With a CRAR of 110.91% and zero NPAs, we reaffirmed the strength of our model and disciplined governance. Beyond stellar results, IRFC scripted capital market milestones – making a triumphant return to the ECB market after three years and pioneering its debut in Zero Coupon Bonds, expanding the frontiers of infrastructure financing with innovation and leadership.

Our focus on efficiency and cost optimization enabled consistent value creation, including a record dividend payout of ₹2,744.38 crore (₹2.10 per share) viz. 31% higher than FY 2024–25, reflecting our commitment to rewarding shareholders. Guided by the vision of 'IRFC 2.0', we advanced our transformation journey, diversifying into allied infrastructure sectors and engaging global investors through international borrowings and strategic roadshows, positioning IRFC as a future-ready institution aligned with India's development priorities.

As India marches towards Viksit Bharat 2047, IRFC stands uniquely positioned to power this transformation — with a strong balance sheet, zero-NPA record, and unwavering commitment to sustainable growth, innovation, and value creation. The conferment of 'Navratna' status by the Government of India in the previous year further enhanced our agility and strategic capabilities, empowering us to seize new opportunities.

I invite you to explore this Annual Report, confident that the foundations we have laid today will support even greater structures of achievement tomorrow. Together, we are not just financing projects — we are building the enduring architecture of India's future.

MoU Rating

The Company enters Memorandum of Understanding (MoU) with Ministry of Railways (MoR) every year wherein Company is evaluated on various financial and non-financial parameters. Based on its performance, the Company has been rated 'Excellent' by the Department of Public Enterprises (DPE) for the year 2024-25.

Lending & Borrowing Portfolio:

Total Disbursements during FY 2025-26 stood at ₹35,067 crore, including ₹12,386 towards railways, ₹9,516 crore towards Power and ₹13,165 towards fertilizers. No disbursement was made to the Ministry of Railways (MoR) due to a 'NIL' target allocation for the year. The diversified expansion resulted in improved spreads and a consistent rise in net interest margin (NIM), while IRFC maintained its pristine zero NPA status.

The Company mobilised ₹46,263.69 crore through diversified instruments, including taxable bonds (₹13,575.42 crore), rupee term loans (₹23,950 crore), 54EC bonds (₹2,306.21 crore), and ECBs (₹6,432.06 crore). The diversified borrowing mix supported financial flexibility, competitive cost and efficient asset-liability management.

Business Diversification

During FY 25-26, the company executed twelve (12) financing agreements beyond conventional railway financing worth ₹72,949 crore, significantly scaling its diversified lending portfolio. Notably, over 75% of business has been acquired through competitive RFPs.

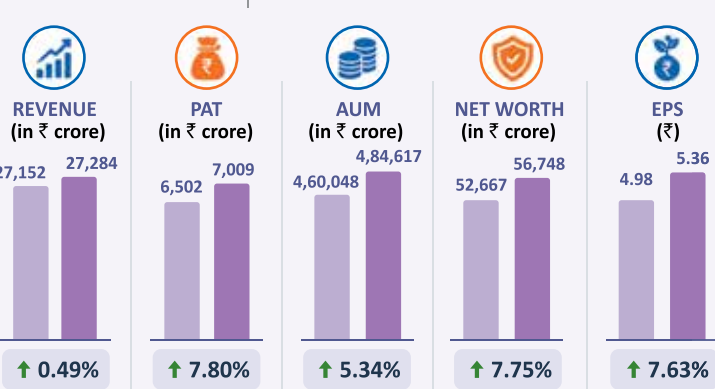

Among key transactions, IRFC refinanced Dedicated Freight Corridor Corporation of India Limited's (DFCCIL) World Bank exposure through a ₹9,821 crore long-term rupee facility, resulting in savings of approximately ₹2,700 crore for DFCCIL. In line with its strategy to diversify into rail-linked infrastructure financing, IRFC also sanctioned a ₹12,640 crore loan to CSPGCL and committed financing of close to ₹15,000 crore to MAHAGENCO for its power generation projects, further strengthening IRFC's presence in the energy infrastructure space. The company also executed a ₹12,842 crore refinancing deal for Hindustan Urvarak & Rasayan Limited (HURL), marking its entry into large-ticket refinancing in the fertilizer sector.

The diversification strategy has begun to materially improve profitability metrics, with higher-yielding assets contributing to enhanced spreads compared to the traditional cost-plus railway financing model.

Road Ahead

IRFC enters FY 2026–27 with strengthened financial capacity, supported by a Board-approved borrowing limit of ₹70,000 Crore. With its elevation to Navratna CPSE status, IRFC gains greater autonomy to pursue new opportunities, refinance borrowings, and diversify into broader infrastructure sectors. The Company expects growth to accelerate in the coming years, supported by a steady pipeline and emerging opportunities in sectors such as metro and ports, in line with its whole-of-government approach.

Going forward, IRFC aims to play a larger role in financing nation-building infrastructure projects by providing long-term and competitively priced financing solutions. Key focus areas would include railway infrastructure, Metro Rail projects, Regional Rapid Transit Systems (RRTS), dedicated freight corridors, high-speed rail corridors, ports, Multi-Modal Logistics Parks (MMLPs), renewable energy, railway SPVs and other infrastructure projects having strategic linkages with the railway sector. Through such financing, IRFC seeks to contribute towards improving logistics efficiency, strengthening multimodal connectivity and supporting sustainable economic growth.

Acknowledgement

It is with great pride and humility that I acknowledge the unwavering support and trust bestowed upon IRFC by our valued shareholders, debenture-holders, investors, and lending institutions, our customers and partners, especially Indian Railways, for their steadfast collaboration and longstanding association during the financial year 2025–26.

I extend my heartfelt gratitude to the Hon'ble Minister of Railways and Hon'ble Minister of Finance, along with all officials of their ministries, for their continued guidance and vision. Their insights and leadership have been instrumental in positioning IRFC as a key enabler of infrastructure transformation.

I also express gratitude to the Comptroller and Auditor General of India (C&AG), the Statutory Auditors, Secretarial Auditors, and Internal Auditors for their commitment to transparency, accountability, and good governance, and for their valuable support and guidance throughout the year.

I wish to place on record my appreciation for the Company's Board of Directors for their strategic oversight, and our employees whose professionalism, dedication, and commitment have been critical in navigating challenges and delivering consistent performance.

We remain deeply committed to driving the nation's growth journey through strategic financial solutions and prudent governance.

Regards,
