Ensure order at Liberty bus stop

S.N. RAJARAM

Liberty bus stop on First Main Road at United India Colony in Kodambakkam is visibly constricted, its lack of size standing to reason during rush hour. It serves as a stop for buses headed towards Poonamallee, Thiruverkaadu, Iyyappanthangal, K.K. Nagar, Saligramam and Vadapalani. One can see a crowd of commuters during peak hours.

Buses arrive one after another simultaneously, and are therefore rendered unable to halt at the designated space. Commuters have no choice but to run to board these buses. Heavy traffic congestion on the narrow First Main Road adds to the inconvenience.

MTC should therefore consider creation of a few more designated spots with sufficient spacing between them. That alone will ensure order and discipline at the stop. Further, this stop lacks a shelter. Given the number of commuters the stop witnesses, the existing single shelter is not sufficient. A few more are required.

The stop was earlier located on Arcot Road where halting points were comfortably spaced.

And it was shifted to United India Colony a few years ago, as a temporary arrangement, with the aim of facilitating Metro rail construction on Arcot Road which is currently under way.

As the work is expected to continue for two more years, appropriate measures should be taken to decongest the temporary bus stop.

'Spruce up Guild Street'

V. JOHAN DHANAKUMAR

Guild Street in T. Nagar which connects Madley Road and Natesan Street bustles with activity most of the time. Given this, it has to be maintained better than how it being, currently. The garbage bins are overflowing producing a conducive environment for breeding of flies, mosquitoes and rodents. An electricity transformer is located near the bins. A spark from it is enough to cause a major fire accident. Further, the street stinks as it is being misused as an open toilet.

Greater Chennai Corporation should ensure the street is kept tidy.

P. SENTHIL KUMAR

Three sections of Krishna Nagar Main Road at Noombal in Thiruverkaadu Municipality are marked by waste trails.

The waste includes plastic, debris, biomedical waste and offal from slaughter houses.

Waste is allowed to accumulate for months, and cleared once in four to six months. These images say it all. Besides, instead of being disposed of responsibly, it is set on fire.

This situation has continued for many years now, and has aggravated in the last five years.

Toxins from the waste mounds can enter the food chain as cattle owners who sell milk allow their cows to feed on these waste pile-ups.

The place is fly-blown and infested with rodents giving room for disease outbreaks. There is leaching, and groundwater can be affected. There are no waste bins on the road. Further, door-to-door collection of waste is also erratic.

This is a one-kilometre road connecting Pillayarmadathangal (Mettu Street) in Iyyappanthangal and Perumal Kovil Street in Noombal.

The road is secluded and traffic movement is low; this could probably be one of the reasons Thiruverkaadu Municipality is not attending to this issue.

‘Revamp sewage drain network in West Jhafferkhanpet’

Widening of Pachaippan Street and optimal use of vacant government lands are among the main election demands of a residents’ forum in West Jhafferkhanpet, a neighbourhood in Virugambakkam Assembly Constituency

P. SUDHAKAR

Federation of Residential Welfare Associations, West Jhafferkhanpet in Virugambakkam Assembly Constituency, wants a lasting solution for the recurrent sewage overflow on the roads. The areas in West Jhafferkhanpet known for sewage overflow are as follows: Pillayar Kovil Street, Pachaippan Street, Sapthagiri Colony and Thirunagar. Many commercial and residential buildings have cropped up over the years resulting in an increased load on the sewage drainage network, said to be 35 years old. The sewage drains out to be widened.

The federation wants widening of Pachaippan Street which connects West Jhafferkhanpet and Ramapuram. A decade ago, when a small bus service was introduced in this street, encroachments along this street were removed to ease the bus’ movement. A plan was also afoot to widen the street, but it failed to take shape.

In addition, the Federation wants public facilities: West Jhafferkhanpet lacks a park, playground, a library, and a community hall. But parcels of land belonging to Greater Chennai Corporation, Tamil Nadu Housing Board, and Chennai Metro Rail Limited are lying vacant in West Jhafferkhanpet and these should be considered for setting up the aforementioned facilities.

Other demands include: stopping the use of TNHB land at Gurushev Street in S.M.Block as a dumping ground for construction debris; providing underground electricity cable facility in MGR Nagar; fencing electricity transformers; shifting of R10 MGR Nagar Police Station to a location that is central to West Jhafferkhanpet; and establishing a study centre for the benefit of youngsters in Surapallam Sathya Nagar where many financially disadvantaged families reside.

A 'developing' story with civic and social underpinnings

PRINCE FREDERICK

Designing community spaces falls into two loose taxonomies. The first one involves a space where nothing exists to thwart the purpose. Head in there and knuckle down to the work of turning it into a space for all, and not a fairyfly would buzz in protest. No better example than OSR land up for development of parks. There is a clear policy behind it, and everyone involved follows the letter of the law.

In the other taxonomy are roadside spaces. This is a coarse-grained category, one militating against standard action plans. Expect curveballs. Expect regression to a former state of chaos, after some progress in designing it has been made. On the upside, expect to see unlikely heroes emerge during the process of reclaiming the space. Belonging to this category with a fuzzy border is a space along East Mada Street in Thiruvannamiyur, one sandwiched between the temple tank and the road. In mid-November of 2025, residents rallied behind Project

A civic engagement of a kind that involves multiple stakeholders, Project Thiruvannamiyur Mada Street is refreshing its initiative to reclaim a space from unauthorised parking and squalor

Thiruvannamiyur Mada Street, spearheaded by two architects, Dhanya Rajagopal and Pavithra Sriram and Design Co Lab, to reclaim this space from unauthorised parking and general squalor for art, culture, music, hyperlocal history, community, reading and for a plain hangout culture.

After the pilot, the effort got derailed to some extent with unauthorised parking rearing its head again, triggering a fresh wave of efforts to reclaim the space all over again. The life stories of the dramatis personae in this live theatre of civic responsibility are hugely varied. Enter a patron. "A patron came forward to pave a 480 sq.ft. of space in front of the Anna statue. The paving was completed in mid-January." In Pavithra's words, paving the space gave a sense of permanence and completeness to it. Enter a guardian. Pavithra notes that from mid-January to now, the space has been protected against misuse and vandalism with the help of a shopkeeper around the space. Owner of a briyani shop, Sabari cares for the space without a title; he monitors it and tips off the people powering the project about any issues.

Enter multiple contributors. Through crowd-funding, they have placed bin-based planters around the paved area to ward off the evil of unauthorised parking.

Enter creative collectives. One classic example is Pagir (@pagir-chennai41) which incidentally is organising a drive to beautify the drum planters at this space on April 12 (from 4 a.m. onwards).

The engagement of a multiplicity of constituencies with this community space has had a multiplier effect on it, making it vibrant and inclusive. To underline the multiple uses this space is being put to, Pavithra notes that during the Pangu festival, an annadhanam was conducted there; and for heritage walks that are part of the project, this space is the starting point; and a celebratory and decorative shelter was created for Tamil Nadu Chief Minister M.K. Stalin's birthday. On the plans for the immediate future, Pavithra points out that one has to do with having a space on North Mada Street, part of the corner it forms with East Mada Street, to be paved as well. Having a resource person who would gather data pertaining to people's behaviour with respect to this community space that would drive expansion moves is also being considered. CSR funding opportunities are also being explored.

Pavithra points out the presence of a WhatsApp group that drives activities pertaining to development of this community space; to be part of this WhatsApp and to volunteer, one can call 9080892008. The project can be followed on Instagram (@projectthiruvannamiyurmadast).

Short film contest at SRM Vadapalani draws teams across India

The Department of Visual Communication, Faculty of Science and Humanities, SRM Institute of Science and Technology, Vadapalani Campus, organised "Jump Cut 2026", a national-level short film competition, on April 7, 2026, at the prestigious LV Prasad Studio.

The event brought together aspiring filmmakers from across the country. A total of 78 entries were received nationwide, reflecting diverse themes, narratives and cinematic approaches, says a press release.

In the final round, selected films were screened before an audience and jury. The panel of judges comprised Tamil film director Aravind Raj and cinematographer and Tamil film director Shanmugsundaram, who evaluated the films based on storytelling, technical excellence and overall cinematic impact.

The first prize, carrying a cash award of ₹20,000, was awarded to a participant from the Film and Television Institute of India in Pune. The second prize (₹15,000) was secured by a participant from Shiv Nadar University, while the third prize (₹10,000) went to a participant from PSG College of Arts and Science, says the press release.

Apart from the main awards, special recognitions were presented in categories such as Best Cinematography, Best Sound Design, and Best Acting, highlighting excellence in technical and performance aspects of filmmaking.

Inter-PSBB Sports Quiz showcases high quizzing standards

The ninth edition of the highly anticipated SportLight, the Inter-PSBB Sports Quiz, was held on April 8 at the Mrs. YGP Auditorium in PSBB K.K. Nagar.

A press release notes that organised by the school's Quiz Club, the quiz is conducted at three levels – sub-junior, junior and senior levels – with two teams each from PSBB K.K. Nagar, Siruseri and Nungambakkam.

From Manchester United's viral fan haircut challenge to the auction of Mohammad Ali's unsigned Vietnam War draft card to the only capped player to play all 18 seasons of IPL, the wide range of questions left the participants and audience wanting more. Famed quizmaster Venkatesh Srinivasan, co-founder of Nexus Consulting, kept the teams and the audience engaged with his witty comments and intriguing hints. Not a single question on the quiz remained unanswered thanks to the brilliant contestants and passionate audience. The level of quizzing at PSBB was demonstrated by Venkatesh's admission that these questions were often saved for corporate and college quizzes, the release points out.

After five tough rounds, PSBB K.K. Nagar emerged winners in the sub-junior and junior levels, while PSBB Nungambakkam were the winners in the senior category.

The head physiotherapist for the Indian cricket team, Kamlesh Jain Kewalchand, was the chief guest. He congratulated the champions and gave inspiring anecdotes about his experiences training both the Indian squad and Kolkata Knight Riders. In order to stay physically active, he encouraged students to engage in sports and outdoor activities. To succeed in any field they choose, he urged them to passionately follow their aspirations.

Sheela Rajendra, dean & director and correspondent, PSBB Group of Schools, Y. G. Rajendraa, executive trustee and the heads of the three branches graced the occasion.

Pillai Thamizh released

The third edition of a series of seminars titled 'Celebrating Dr Anandalakshmi - Conversations on Education' was held at Bala Mandir Cultural Centre on April 4. This year's theme was 'Reimagining Learning for Children: Voice, Culture, and Context'.

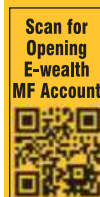

Late Dr Anandalakshmy was a towering figure in the field of Education and Early Childhood Care and Development. The highlight of this year's programme was the release of a book titled Pillai Thamizh, written by Lakshmi Gopal by Justice Prabha Sridevan (retired).

"I wanted to focus on the girl child and the specific play activities described for her in Pillai Thamizh. Fortunately, I found what I was looking for in Meenakshiammai Pillai Thamizh by Kumaragurubharar, which lovingly portrays the goddess Meenakshi as a child. Hence Meenakshiammai Pillai Thamizh forms the primary source for my portrayal of the female aspect of Pillai Thamizh," says Lakshmi. In a release, Justice Prabha Sridevan says the first thought that struck her when she read the draft of the book was that this has enough material for a scholar to write a thesis.
