OPPOSITION BACKS WOMEN’S QUOTA BUT REJECTS ‘POLITICALLY MOTIVATED’ DELIMITATION

VINAY KUMAR

NEW DELHI: As a three-day special sitting of Parliament begins today with a debate on a key Constitution amendment Bill, the government and the Opposition are all set for sharp and heated exchange in the Lok Sabha, signalling a stormy session ahead.

The Constitution amendment Bill has provisions for the women's quota law implementation and the contentious delimitation exercise.

While the government is set to push The Constitution (One Hundred and Thirty-First Amendment) Bill, 2026 as a big-ticket reform, the Opposition has decided to oppose the Bill due to its provisions on delimitation. Both sides appear set to lock horns on the issue.

Both sides are making all-out efforts to drum up support at Centre as well as in states amid concerns in Southern

KEY POINTS

» STORMY SESSION LIKELY: Three-day special sitting opens with debate on Constitution (131st Amendment) Bill, 2026

» Core flashpoints: Contentious delimitation exercise

» Numbers game: NDA 292 vs Opposition 233; special majority key (~360 if full House votes)

» Seat expansion plan: Lok Sabha may rise from 543 to up to 850 before 2029 polls

» Southern pushback: Fears of reduced political weight despite better population control

states that a delimitation exercise under the provisions of the Bill would reduce their political standing because of a better performance on population control.

On the Women's quota, sources in the government said there would be 50 per cent increase of current Lok Sabha seats in each state without any injustice to any of the states, the seats will be proportional and the government side would clarify each and every aspect during debate in Parliament.

On the eve of the special three-day sitting of Parliament, top Opposition leaders met in the Capital at the residence of Congress president Mallikarjun Kharge to discuss and evolve a joint strategy on the Bills brought for the implementation of the women's quota law and delimitation.

Besides Kharge and Rahul Gandhi, the other leaders at the meeting included DMK's T R Bалу, the RJD's Tejashwi Yadav, Trinamool Congress's Sagarika Ghosh, Shiv Sena (UBT) leaders Sanjay Raut and Arvind Sawant, and the NCP-SCP's Supriya Sule, with Samajwadi Party chief Akhilesh Yadav joining virtually.

CPI leader Annie Raja, the CPI-M's Nilotpal Basu, AAP leader Sanjay Singh, Independent MP Kapil Sibal, the IUM's E T Mohammed Bashir and the RSP's N K Premachandran also attended the meeting, other than Congress general secretaries K C Venugopal and Jairam Ramesh.

Speaking with reporters after the meeting, Kharge said the Opposition parties decided to unite in voting against the delimitation provisions in the Constitution amendment Bill in Parliament, asserting that they were not against women's reservation but opposed to the “politically motivated” manner in which the Bill was being brought.

All Opposition parties want that one-third reservation be given to women, and it be implemented based on the current Lok Sabha strength of 543 for the next general election in 2029, Ramesh told journalists.

In a post on X, Gandhi alleged that the government's proposed amendments to the Constitution constitute an “attempted power grab” through the use of delimitation and gerrymandering. The Leader of Opposition in the Lok Sabha emphasised that his party would

US-Iran agree ‘in principle’ to extend ceasefire: Report

Pak delegation reaches Iran for talks

ASSOCIATED PRESS & PTI

ISLAMABAD/ TEHRAN:

The United States and Iran have reportedly agreed “in principle” to extend a two-week ceasefire, set to expire on Wednesday next week, to buy more time for diplomacy aimed at ending the war, though Tehran denied the claim.

The AP, citing unnamed sources, said mediators were making progress in their efforts to salvage the fragile truce and moving closer to restarting talks between the two countries.

Iran's foreign ministry, however, said any speculation about extending the ceasefire has not been confirmed, and consultations are currently being conducted only through Pakistani mediators.

It came as the US military claimed on Wednesday to have “completely halted” Iran's maritime trade amid an ongoing naval blockade around the Strait of Hormuz. The strategic waterway, which carries about one-fifth of global oil and LNG supply, had been largely closed by Iran after the US and Israel launched a military campaign against the Islamic Republic on February 28.

Meanwhile, a Pakistani delegation, led by Chief of the Army Staff Field Marshal Asim Munir, reached Tehran as part of Islamabad's efforts to resolve the conflict between the US and Iran.

The Inter Services Public Relations, the media wing of the military, said in a statement that Munir is part of a delegation that also includes Interior Minister Mohsin Naqvi.

India slips to 6th in IMF GDP rankings

NEW DELHI: India has slipped to sixth place in global GDP rankings, moving behind the United Kingdom after the latest estimates from the International Monetary Fund revised earlier projections. The shift reflects changes in measurement and currency movements rather than a sudden slowdown in growth.

According to the IMF's April update, India's GDP at current prices is estimated at about $3.92 trillion in 2025 and $4.15 trillion in 2026. The UK is projected at roughly $4 trillion and $4.26 trillion over the same period, placing it ahead.

The reversal follows earlier projections that had suggested

Justice Sharma's children empanelled govt lawyers: Kejriwal in HC on recusal plea

MPOST BUREAU

NEW DELHI:

Arvind Kejriwal has moved the Delhi High Court seeking recusal of Justice Swarna Kanta Sharma from hearing the CBI's plea challenging his discharge in the excise policy case, alleging a “direct conflict of interest” linked to the judge's family members. In an additional affidavit dated April 14, the former chief minister claimed that the judge's children are empanelled central government lawyers who receive work through Solicitor General Tushar Mehta, who appeared for the probe agency. He argued that this raised serious concerns about “judicial detachment, independence and neutrality.”

Citing information obtained through RTI and other public records, Kejriwal said thousands of cases were allocated to the judge's son, including 2,487 in 2023, 1,784 in 2024 and 1,633 in 2025. He also alleged he was not given an adequate opportunity to present rejoinder submissions before the court reserved its order on April 13 after extended proceedings.

The plea was opposed by Solicitor General Mehta, who termed the concerns “apprehensions of an immature mind” and urged the court to consider contempt action, warning against setting a precedent based on “unfounded allegations”.

Separately, the High Court administration directed police to act against unauthorised circulation of court proceedings related to the case on social media. A complaint by advocate Vaibhav Singh sought action against Kejriwal and several political leaders, alleging the sharing of video clips was prohibited and intended to influence judicial proceedings.

A promise to return, a life cut short

Blast at Chhattisgarh power plant: Death toll rises to 20; sixteen workers undergoing treatment

OUR CORRESPONDENT

SAKTI (Chhattisgarh): The promise was simple and ordinary. Sheikh Saifuddin had told his teenage children that he would soon return home to West Bengal, cast his vote in the Assembly elections, and spend time with them. Just two days later, that promise was shattered in a violent boiler explosion at a power plant in Chhattisgarh's Sakti district, one of 20 lives lost in an industrial accident that has left families across several states grappling with grief, uncertainty, and unfulfilled dreams.

Saifuddin, 40, had spent years moving across the country in search of work, from Jammu to Kerala and Odisha, before arriving in Chhattisgarh a few months ago. A painter by trade, he earned around Rs 24,000 to Rs 25,000 a month, nearly double what he made back home. That income sustained his two children, an 18-year-old daughter and a 17-year-old son, both still studying. His wife had died two years ago, and he had been raising the children alone.

In recent weeks, he had sent money for his son's appendix surgery. “His children spoke to him just two days ago. He promised he would come home,” said his brother Rafiq, who rushed overnight to Chhattisgarh after hearing that Saifuddin had been hospitalised. By the time he arrived, Saifuddin was dead. “Now he will never return,” he said, his voice breaking, as he called for support for the children's education and future.

Saifuddin's story echoes across the victims of the explosion, many of whom were migrant workers who had travelled far from home, driven by the need to earn more than what their villages could offer. They carried modest aspirations, often centred on education for their children, building a house, or simply ensuring stability for their families.

For Ritesh Kumar, that dream was taking shape brick by brick. The 45-year-old welder from Bhagalpur in

Indian team to visit US next week for trade pact talks

Recalibration of agreement on table

MPOST BUREAU

NEW DELHI: Chief negotiators from India and the United States will resume in-person discussions on a proposed bilateral trade agreement with a three-day round of talks in Washington starting April 20, as both sides revisit the terms of a pact shaped by a rapidly shifting US tariff regime. The meeting comes after a gap of several months and follows the February announcement of a framework for the first phase of the agreement, which now requires adjustments after significant changes in American trade policy and global tariff conditions.

Commerce Secretary Rajesh Agrawal confirmed that an Indian delegation led by chief negotiator Darpan Jain will travel to the US capital for the discussions. He said the engagement is aimed at advancing the legal framework of the agreement, describing it as a continuation of the joint statement issued on February 7. “The negotiating teams will be meeting in person after a gap of about three to four months. We are looking at finalising the legal agreement,” Agrawal said, while noting that further discussions and follow-up engagements are necessary.

BUDH VIHAR: FIVE ESCAPE

Locked door & roof collapse trap family as fire kills couple, toddler

OUR CORRESPONDENT

NEW DELHI: A couple and their two-year-old daughter were charred to death after a massive fire tore through a small cluster of shanties near Mange Ram Park in north-west Delhi's Budh Vihar area in the early hours of Wednesday, officials said.

While five people managed to escape the fire, according to police, neighbours said a roof collapse hampered the couple's attempt to save their child and the lock on the door kept them trapped. According to the Delhi Fire Services (DFS), a call was received at 1.25 am, following which seven fire tenders were rushed to the spot. High flames and thick smoke engulfed four temporary huts that housed around seven people who collected scrap.

Police said a PCR call was also received at Budh Vihar police station regarding the incident. Firefighters later recovered three charred bodies from the debris. The deceased were identified as Mosibur Dastagir (23), his wife Monara Sekh (19), and their two-year-old daughter.

Officials said the fire spread quickly due to the highly combustible nature of the materials used in the shanties, including tarpaulin sheets, scrap items and other flammable waste stored in and around the huts. Eyewitnesses said that the fire spread within minutes, leaving little time for residents to react. However, four other occupants of the cluster managed to escape. "The toddler could have been saved, but the flames spread so fast that everything was engulfed in no time," a neighbour said.

He added that the couple tried to push the child out, but just then, the tin roof, along with the tarpaulin, collapsed.

"Mosibur had locked the door at night because thefts are common here. When the fire broke out, he could not find the key. He even tried to break the lock with a knife, but before the family could get out, the burning roof came crashing down,"

The inconceivable family members of the victims said several locals are natives of West Bengal and were soon going to leave for their hometowns ahead of the assembly elections.

Bride-to-be grievously injured in acid attack by groom's lover

OUR CORRESPONDENT

NEW DELHI: A wedding celebration turned into a horror story when a 21-year-old bride-to-be was burned with acid, allegedly by the groom's girlfriend in northeast Delhi's Gokalpuri area, police said on Wednesday.

The victim, who was set to be married on April 19 along with her sister, is under treatment for burns on her eyes, face, neck and hand at Guru Teg Bahadur (GTB) Hospital, a police source said.

The incident took place around 12.30 pm on Tuesday at the victim's house in Indira Vihar, where a "mehendi" ritual was underway.

The accused arrived at the house, joined the celebrations without raising suspicion, and attacked her when she got the chance.

"Initially we got to know that the two women were conversing normally, even discussing how to apply the henna, when the situation took a sudden turn," said the police source. The woman opened a bottle, purportedly carrying acid, with a quick movement, and threw it in the bride's face and then tried to attack her with some object.

The house erupted in chaos, and family members rushed to help the bride, who screamed in pain. The attendees caught the 26-year-old woman and called the police.

Doctors have placed the victim under observation and her condition is being closely monitored.

Initial probe suggests that both women are neighbours and the manner in which the accused gained entry into the house and concealed the acid in a bottle hints at a premeditated attack.

"The accused is a neighbour of the victim and had been in a relationship with the groom-to-be for the past five years," said the source.

The alleged attacker was arrested and produced before a local court, the source said. She was sent to judicial custody by the court.

By the time a team from the police station reached the house, the woman had already been taken to the hospital.

"Investigations revealed that the victim's marriage had been fixed with a man and the wedding was scheduled in the near future. However, the accused woman, who was reportedly in a relationship with the same man, was opposed to the marriage.

"Driven by jealousy and anger, the accused allegedly attacked the victim by throwing acid on her," the police said.

The police are trying to locate the source of the acid used in the crime.

Police arrest 58 and seize liquor, cash in 24-hour drive

OUR CORRESPONDENT

NEW DELHI: In a major crackdown on organised crime, Delhi Police's Outer District unit registered 47 cases under the Excise and Gambling Acts and apprehended 58 individuals, including eight women, within 24 hours.

The special drive, conducted under the supervision of Vikram Singh, Deputy Commissioner of Police (Outer District), targeted illegal gambling and illicit liquor trade across multiple police station jurisdictions.

Police recovered Rs 26,470 in cash linked to betting and seized 2,432 quarters of illegal liquor. Officials said 29 individuals were apprehended for gambling, with 18 cases registered under the Gambling Act at police stations including Rani Bagh, Mangolpuri, Raj Park, Sultanpuri, Mundka, Ranhola and Paschim Vihar. Gambling materials were also seized. In a parallel crackdown, 29 individuals, including eight women, were arrested under the Delhi Excise Act, with 29 cases registered. The liquor consignments were recovered from multiple locations, suggesting a widespread network.

Officials said the drive was part of a broader strategy to dismantle organised crime networks. Investigations are underway to trace supply chains and identify larger syndicates, with further arrests likely.

Woman found dead, husband surrenders

PRAJYOT DEOGHARE

NEW DELHI: A 28-year-old man has surrendered at Welcome Police Station after allegedly strangling his 23-year-old wife to death, police said.

The accused, identified as Deepak (28), son of Dinesh and a resident of Janta Mazdoor Colony in Welcome, approached the police station and confessed to the crime, informing officers that he had killed his wife.

Acting on the disclosure, a police team rushed to the couple's residence, where the woman was found lying unresponsive on the floor. She was taken to Jag Praveesh Chandra Hospital, where doctors declared her brought dead.

The body has been sent for post-mortem examination to ascertain the exact cause and timing of death, though initial findings suggest death by strangulation.

Police have registered an FIR under Section 103(1) of the Bharatiya Nyaya Sanhita, which pertains to murder. The accused was taken into custody following his confession and is currently being interrogated.

A forensic team examined the scene and collected physical and circumstantial evidence. Officials said all relevant material has been preserved for further analysis. Preliminary inquiry suggests couple lived together in Welcome; motive unclear.

Police probe possible domestic dispute, record statements of neighbours and relatives; further investigation awaits post-mortem report.

UNION ALLEGES IDEOLOGICAL PUSH

JNUSU slams Ram Madhav event & calls for campus-wide boycott

ANAMTA FATIMA

NEW DELHI: A strong wave of protest has emerged at Jawaharlal Nehru University (JNU) as the Jawaharlal Nehru University Students' Union (JNUSU) called for a boycott of an upcoming event featuring Ram Madhav, organised under the banner of the RSS-linked "Yuva Kumbh."

Framing the issue as a defence of the university's core values, the union asserted that the matter goes beyond a single speaker and reflects a larger ideological challenge to higher education.

In a sharply worded statement, JNUSU alleged that the event represents an attempt to reshape academic spaces in line with a "narrow ideological agenda."

The union pointed to Ram Madhav's remarks at an international conservative gathering in 2024, where he spoke of "reclaiming universities and media" and using the National Education Policy (NEP) to instil conservative values among the youth.

Criticising the NEP, the student body described it as exclusionary and anti-student, arguing that measures such as compulsory modules,

The student body described the NEP as exclusionary and anti-student centralised assessments, and digitally driven evaluation systems have curtailed academic freedom and disproportionately affected students from marginalised backgrounds.

It further alleged that programmes like "Siddhanta," influenced by RSS-affiliated think tanks, undermine institutional autonomy.

The union also raised concerns over Ram Madhav's public rhetoric, accusing him of repeatedly targeting institutions like JNU by labelling them as "left-liberal" or "anti-national," thereby delegitimising critical thought.

Equally contentious is the role of the university administration. JNUSU alleged that despite clear rules barring political or religious organisations from using campus spaces, the Convention Centre has been made available for the event, while students and faculty continue to face restrictions for academic use.

Calling the development an attempt to "safronise" the campus, JNUSU urged students to boycott the event and defend JNU's ethos of equality, inclusivity, and critical inquiry.

As of now, the administration's clarification on the matter is awaited.

Heritage Week draws students at Mehrauli

ANAMTA FATIMA

NEW DELHI: Over 120 students from five schools participated in Heritage Week activities organised by the Delhi Development Authority (DDA) at Mehrauli Archaeological Park on April 15, 2026. The initiative aimed to promote awareness of heritage, history, and conservation through interactive, student-centric programmes.

Competitions including dialogue, story writing, and sketching and drawing provided students with an outdoor learning experience, encouraging them to engage directly with Delhi's cultural legacy. The DDA said such activities help deepen understanding beyond classroom learning by fostering creativity and critical thinking.

As per the notification issued by the mission, stated, "...the arrangement, whereby application for Saudi Transit Visa was submitted via the embassy, has been suspended forthwith."

Moreover, as per the directive, any Indian citizens who plan to take flights through Saudi Arabia need to contact their airlines for all details regarding immigration requirements and other formalities related to transit and visas prior to arranging their travel.

Additionally, the embassy mentioned that it would not be accepting any new applications for transit visas to Saudi Arabia using the previous system.

Importantly, the decision, especially, comes against the backdrop of both the upcoming Hajj season and heightened geopolitical tensions across West Asia, particularly involving Saudi Arabia and Iran.

Every year, prior to the Hajj, Saudi Arabia implements a much stricter visa policy for travelers coming into the country from all parts of the globe.

placed on the country's logistical infrastructure.

This year, amid the fragile security environment in West Asia - especially the recent escalation between Iran and its regional adversaries - has led to periodic disruptions in airspace use, heightened surveillance, and stricter immigration checks across key transit hubs.

As an influential country in the region, Saudi Arabia has taken a relatively conservative approach to cross-border travel as there were issues related to security risks, illegal immigration, and improper usage of transit visas at a particularly crucial time.

Flights that go through regions where conflicts might be arising require regular updates on advice given to airlines.

Countries such as India, which have a sizeable diaspora population in the Gulf region, along with heavy passenger traffic from West Asian airports, would have found themselves compelled to adapt to the new reality of increased decentralisation, where the airlines handle visa and transit processing.

As explained by diplomatic corridor, the move to suspend embassies' role in processing transit visas is purely out of caution and is meant to prevent any form of confusion that might arise due to the fast-paced changes taking place in immigration policies.

Airlines still maintain direct connections with the Saudi immigration system.

The status quo will continue until the end of the Hajj season when regular visa facilitation procedures can be evaluated according to the security situation and demand for travel.

not permit southern, north-eastern, northwestern, and smaller states to be treated unfairly.

The government plans to bring a Constitution amendment Bill, a Bill on delimitation law and an enabling Bill for Delhi, Jammu and Kashmir and Puducherry -- three Union territories with a legislature -- on Thursday in the Lok Sabha to fast-track implementation of the women's reservation Act of 2023.

Lok Sabha seats will be increased to a maximum of 850 from the current 543 to "operationalise" the women's reservation law before the 2029 parliamentary polls following a delimitation exercise to be carried out on the basis of the last published census.

According to the draft Constitution amendment Bill, which will be introduced and is expected to be passed in the upcoming special sitting of Parliament, seats would also be increased in state and Union territory assemblies to accommodate 33 per cent reservation for women.

Amending the Constitution requires a special majority in both Houses of Parliament: a majority of the total membership (more than 50 per cent) and a two-thirds majority of members present and voting. So if all 540 members, that are there in the House currently, are present and voting, the two-thirds majority mark would be 360.

The total strength of the NDA in the Lok Sabha stands at 292, while the major Opposition parties have 233 MPs.

There is discomfort and growing opposition among southern states over apprehensions that a delimitation would reduce their political weight vis-a-vis their northern counterparts.

Two prominent non-BJP chief ministers from the south -- the DMK's M K Stalin (Tamil Nadu) and the Congress's A Revanth Reddy (Telangana) -- have sharpened their attack on the Centre over the issue of delimitation, with the Tamil Nadu CM warning of a "massive agitation" if the state was harmed and his Telangana counterpart flagging "injustice".

Reddy has written an open letter to Prime Minister Narendra Modi, urging him to convene an all-party meeting to deliberate on the proposed delimitation, alleging that an increase in Lok Sabha seats based on pro rata, without considering economic contribution, would lead to a distortion in the country's federal balance.

Reddy has also written to his counterparts from Andhra Pradesh (Chandrababu Naidu), Karnataka (Siddaramaiah), Kerala (Pinarayi Vijayan), Puducherry (N Rangasamy) and Tamil Nadu, calling for collective engagement among southern states to ensure that their concerns are articulated effectively at the national level.

The ruling NDA has also closed ranks and rallied behind the prime minister, pitching the move for early implementation of the 'Nari Shakti Vandan Adhiniyam' as a "historic step".

In a letter to the women of the country, Modi has asserted that Indian democracy will become stronger and more vibrant if elections to the Lok Sabha and the various assemblies in 2029 are held with the women's quota fully in place.

Modi said that when women become active participants in policy and decision-making, the journey towards Viksit Bharat (developed India) is strengthened.

Opposition parties across the country questioned the BJP-led NDA government over delimitation, expressing concern over the proposed exercise that has seen southern non-BJP CMs rally together, expressing concern over their state's interests.

The ruling DMK in Tamil Nadu announced a state-wide black flag demo on April 16 coinciding with a special session of Parliament that is likely to discuss amendments to the Women's Reservation Act and delimitation.

Opposition leaders raised concerns over the lack of consensus and timing of the session.

DMK president and Tamil Nadu Chief Minister M K Stalin, who has been opposing delimitation tooth and nail saying it will harm the southern states' interests, stepped up the attack against the Centre, warning the Centre of consequences and a "heavy price" if it did not heed to Tamil Nadu's voice.

Stalin, after chairing an emergency meeting of party MPs and DMK district secretaries through video conference on the issue, said, "The sword that hung over our heads has now descended upon us."

The DMK is reaching out to MPs across states and devising a coordinated strategy to counter this "grave danger", he said.

In a statement, Stalin alleged that the delimitation amendment the Union government planning to bring in Parliament on Thursday is a "massive, historic injustice" against Tamil Nadu and the southern states.

He asked if the delimitation exercise, which would allegedly be against southern states, was a "punishment for contributing to India's progress". "Is this how Tamil Nadu and the southern states are repaid?" he asked.

Invoking Tamil Nadu's history of political assertion, Stalin suggested that if institutional responses failed, public expression would follow. He asked, "Atal Bihari Vajpayee froze delimitation to preserve balance until the country evolved more evenly. Why abandon that wisdom now?"

As part of his efforts to mobilise support against delimitation, Stalin had last year convened a meeting of non-BJP ruled states here and Kerala Chief Minister Pinarayi Vijayan, his counterparts from Telangana and Punjab, Bhagwant Mann and A Revanth Reddy, respectively and Karnataka deputy CM DK Shivakumar, among others had attended the deliberations.

Kerala Chief Minister Pinarayi Vijayan alleged that delimitation could undermine the federal structure and adversely affect states like Kerala.

The Bill proposed to be introduced in a special session of Parliament, based on the 2011 Census, would significantly affect the rights of states and the principle of equitable justice. He said it was also worrying that the Centre was proceeding on such a crucial issue without arriving at a consensus with the states

The Trinamool Congress too attacked the Centre over delimitation, where the government intends to increase the existing Lok Sabha seats from 543 to 850.

The government is executing a "devious plot" to usher in delimitation under the cover of women's reservation, TMC leader Derek O'Brien charged.

Targeting PM Modi and Home Minister Amit Shah, he charged that the government is using women's reservation as a pretext.

"Delimitation is the devious agenda. Women, their excuse," he said, adding the ruling dispensation has "never cared a fig about women."

"Mock the Constitution, mock Parliament and mock the women of this great nation," he said.

Centre's delimitation will 'suppress' voices of southern states, senior Congress leader and former union minister P Chidambaram said.

Labelling the timing of the parliamentary session as a "planned conspiracy", he argued that it is aimed at preventing MPs from Tamil Nadu and West Bengal, engaged in election campaigns, from attending it.

Noting that Congress has requested the Centre to postpone the session, citing elections in these two states, he asked, "What is the danger if the Parliament session could be held after the elections?"

In his response, TVK chief Vijay urged the Centre to withdraw the Constitution (131st amendment) Bill since it will be a "biased action" in reducing the voices of the people of southern states, particularly Tamil Nadu, in the Parliament.

Shiv Sena (UBT) leader Sanjay Raut called delimitation contentious, saying it is being undertaken without a Census and could face fierce opposition from southern states.

Raut said there was no reason for his party to oppose the 'Nari Shakti Vandan Adhiniyam', or Women's Reservation Act, which the Centre plans to implement early.

"It is the delimitation (of Lok Sabha seats) which will create a serious situation in the country. The issue of delimitation is contentious and is being done without conducting the Census", Raut said.

BJD chief Naveen Patnaik urged Odisha Chief Minister Mohan Charan Majhi to convene a special session of the assembly "within 48 hours" to discuss ways to protect the state's interest in the delimitation Bill. He, however, welcomed the Women's Reservation Bill.

WITH AGENCY INPUTS

US-Iran agree

Citing sources, Geo News reported that officials and security agencies in Pakistan have been instructed to make necessary administrative and security arrangements ahead of the next round of talks. A day earlier, US President Donald Trump said that a second round of talks with Iran could be held in Islamabad "over the next two days".

PM Shehbaz's visits to Saudi Arabia and Qatar will be in the bilateral context, where the prime minister will meet the leadership of the two countries to discuss ongoing bilateral cooperation as well as regional peace and security, the Foreign Office said.

The visits are part of an effort to facilitate the US and Iran to reach an agreement to end the ongoing conflict. The US and Iran held rare direct talks in Pakistan over the weekend aimed at ending their conflict, but the talks ended early Sunday without any agreement.

US Vice President JD Vance, who led the American delegation, said the talks failed to reach a deal, citing Tehran not forgoing its nuclear programme as one of the key sticking points.

Iran, however, said that the Islamabad talks failed due to "excessive demands" made by the American side.

Mohammad Bagher Ghalibaf, the Iranian Parliament Speaker who led his country's delegation in marathon peace talks, said that his team raised "forward-looking initiatives, but the opposite side ultimately failed to win the trust of the Iranian delegation in this round of negotiations."

According to Pakistani officials, the second round is expected in the coming days for which Pakistan has been making all-out efforts.

Raghav Chadha

of people present during the searches. There was no immediate response from the institutions.

The timing of the ED action has drawn attention because it came days after Mittal replaced Chadha as AAP's deputy leader in the Rajya Sabha. The party had written to the Rajya Sabha Secretariat seeking Chadha's removal from the post and also requested that he not be allotted speaking time from its quota. Mittal later described the leadership change as routine, saying such responsibilities are rotated among leaders.

Chadha's removal has exposed a deepening rift within AAP. Once seen as a close aide of party chief Arvind Kejriwal and a key strategist behind the party's Punjab victory in 2022, Chadha has in recent months found himself at odds with the leadership. After being dropped, he said he had been "silenced, not defeated," a remark that drew a sharp response from the party.

AAP leaders had accused Chadha of not following the party line in Parliament and of failing to strongly take on the Centre. In response, Chadha had shared a video highlighting his speeches and interventions, pushing back against the criticism and calling the allegations baseless.

The situation became more tense after the Punjab government withdrew Chadha's Z-plus category security cover, which had earlier been provided to him as a Rajya Sabha MP from the state. Sources said the cover was withdrawn a few days ago. At the same time, there are indications that the central government may provide him security, a possibility that has added to the political friction.

AAP leaders have linked these developments to the ED action against Mittal. MLA Saurabh Bhardwaj alleged that there appears to be a pattern connecting Chadha's removal, the ED searches on Mittal and the reported move to give Chadha central security. Other leaders, including Sanjay Singh and Anurag Dhandu, also questioned the timing of the enforcement action and alleged that central agencies were being used to influence politics ahead of elections.

Punjab Chief Minister Bhagwant Mann said the searches showed that the BJP had started preparing for the upcoming Punjab Assembly elections. Arvind Kejriwal also accused the Centre of misusing investigative agencies against political opponents. The BJP has rejected these allegations. Union minister Raveen Singh Bittu accused AAP of corruption and said agencies were acting against wrongdoing. "Modi ji's policy is Clean India; under it, the filth will certainly be cleaned up," he said.

Opposition parties in Punjab have also reacted. Shiromani Akali Dal leader Bikram Singh Majithia criticised the withdrawal of Chadha's security and accused the AAP government of politicising the police. He asked the state's Director General of Police to explain why the security was first given and then withdrawn. Congress leader Partap Singh Bajwa alleged that both AAP and the BJP were misusing agencies and acting in a coordinated manner for political benefit.

Mittal, 61, entered politics in 2022 and was elected to the Rajya Sabha the same year. He has served on parliamentary committees such as Defence and Finance and has been part of international delegations. AAP currently has 10 MPs in the Rajya Sabha, including seven from Punjab and three from Delhi.

A promise to return

Bihar had spent decades working across states, from West Bengal and Andhra Pradesh to Odisha, before joining the plant in Chhattisgarh three months ago. He had recently laid the foundation for a family home and was saving to complete construction.

"He was saving money to build our house. Now, who will do it?" asked his younger brother Santosh Kumar, sitting outside the post-mortem centre in Raigarh, his eyes swollen from grief. Santosh had travelled nearly 700 km overnight with Ritesh's wife after receiving a call that his brother had been injured. What awaited them was finality.

Ritesh leaves behind his wife, two daughters in college, and a young son still in school. The future he had been working toward now hangs uncertain. "If the government supports the children's education, we will be grateful," Santosh said quietly.

In another corner of the hospital, grief unfolded in a similar pattern. Uday Ram, who had rushed from Jharkhand, struggled to piece together the final hours of his son-in-law, Brijesh Kumar. Just 28, Brijesh had spent eight years working as a carpenter in cities across India before shifting to painting imposed under the International Emergency Economic Powers Act, had placed duties of up to 25 per cent on Indian goods. In their place, the US administration introduced a uniform 10 per cent tariff on imports from all countries for a period of 150 days beginning February 24, altering the competitive landscape.

Under the February framework, the US had agreed to reduce tariffs on Indian goods to 18 per cent, giving India a relative advantage over other trading partners at the time. However, with all countries now subject to the same 10 per cent tariff, that advantage has narrowed, prompting both sides to revisit the structure of the proposed deal. A government source said the agreement will need to be "recalibrated" and "redrafted" to reflect the new realities, adding that India has flexibility to revise its position since the pact has not yet been formally signed.

The upcoming meeting is also expected to address two ongoing investigations launched by the United States Trade Representative under Section 301 of US trade law. On March 12, the USTR initiated a probe covering 60 economies, including India and China, focusing on whether their policies related to the import of goods produced with forced labour are discriminatory or restrictive to US commerce. A day earlier, on March 11, a separate investigation targeting industrial and trade practices in 16 economies, again including India and China, was announced.

Agrawal said both sides would discuss how to approach these issues and determine the next steps. "India and the US will work together to finalise timelines and next steps as part of the ongoing engagement," he said.

India has already submitted its response to the USTR investigations, with the deadline for filings falling on Wednesday. Officials indicated that New Delhi will seek clarity on the nature of commitments from the US side that could restore a competitive edge for Indian exports. "What kind of commitments that we will get, which will give us a comparative advantage in the US market, is something that we are looking at," a source said.

With multiple countries reassessing their trade arrangements with Washington under the revised tariff framework, the forthcoming talks are expected to play a key role in shaping the trajectory of the India-US trade partnership.

work at the plant for better wages.

His family did not know the risks he had taken on. "He never told us the nature of the work. If we had known, we would have asked him not to do it," Uday Ram said. Brijesh leaves behind a 22-year-old wife and two sons, aged one and three. The younger child may never remember him.

Only an hour before the explosion, Brijesh had spoken to his wife over a video call during lunch, telling her everything was fine. By the next morning, his body lay in a mortuary, his family unaware of when exactly he had died.

That lack of information compounded the suffering of many families. In the chaotic hours after the blast, relatives moved from one hospital to another in Raigarh, searching for names, faces, or any confirmation. Sani Kumar Anant spent hours visiting five hospitals before learning about his brother, 29-year-old Rameshwar Mahilange. "No one could tell me anything," he said. "He has a young child. Who will take care of his family now?"

For families arriving from distant states, the journey itself became part of the ordeal. Overnight travel, frantic phone calls, and uncertain directions led many to hospital corridors where answers were scarce and grief was overwhelming.

Eyewitnesses among the workers who survived described how abruptly lives were upended. The explosion occurred around 2.30 pm, just as workers were resuming duties after lunch. Ajit Das Kar, a worker from West Bengal, recalled being about 17 metres above the ground when the blast erupted from the boiler below. "It felt like a missile had landed. Within seconds, there was thick smoke everywhere," he said. Those working closer to the source were badly burnt.

For the survivors, the memory is likely to linger. For the families of those who died, the moment has become a permanent divide between what was and what will never be.

The victims came from across India, including West Bengal, Chhattisgarh, Jharkhand, Uttar Pradesh, Bihar, and Madhya Pradesh. Despite differences in geography, their stories share a common thread: migration, hard labour, and hopes anchored in family welfare.

Many had taken up work at the plant only recently. Some had switched trades in search of slightly higher wages. Others had arrived with specific goals, saving for a child's education, a medical expense, or a modest home. In Saifuddin's case, it was both survival and responsibility, raising two children alone. In Ritesh's, it was the dream of a house. In Brijesh's, it was the promise of better earnings for his young family.

Now, those plans have been cut short.

Compensation announcements have followed, with the company offering Rs 35 lakh to families of the deceased and Rs 15 lakh to the injured, along with employment support and counselling. The state government has announced Rs 5 lakh for each deceased worker's family and Rs 50,000 for the injured, while the Prime Minister's National Relief Fund has provided Rs 2 lakh for the next of kin of those who died.

The death toll in the explosion at the Vedanta power plant in Chhattisgarh's Sakti district has risen to 20, with 16 others injured, including five in critical condition undergoing treatment in Raipur and 11 in hospitals in Raigarh. Officials said a total of 36 workers were affected by the blast, which occurred when a high-pressure steam-carrying boiler tube ruptured. The deceased have been identified as Amrit Lal Patel, Thanda Ram Lahre, Udhav Singh Yadav, Rameshwar Mahilange and Nadeem Ansari from Chhattisgarh; Susanta Jana, Sheikh Saifuddin, Manas Giri, Kailash Mahto, Shib-nath Murmu and Dipankar Singh from West Bengal; Tarun Kumar Ojha, Abdul Karim and Ashok Parhiya from Jharkhand; Raju Ram, Pappu Kumar and Brijesh Kumar from Uttar Pradesh; Aakib Khan and Ritesh Kumar from Bihar; and Chitrnanjan Dhulai from Madhya Pradesh.

For many families, however, the immediate concern goes beyond compensation. It is about continuity, schooling, caregiving, and the absence of the person who held everything together.

Rafiq, standing outside the mortuary, spoke not of numbers but of what comes next. "My brother's life will not come back," he said. "But his children must study. They must have a future."

In Bhagalpur, the unfinished structure of Ritesh Kumar's house stands as a quiet reminder of a life interrupted. In Sonbhadra, two young children will grow up with stories of a father who left home to earn more but never returned. In Haldia, two teenagers will remember a promise that was never kept.

Across these homes, the impact of the explosion extends far beyond the site of the accident. It lives in empty chairs, halted plans, and futures suddenly made uncertain.

CBSE Class 10

Among institutions, Kendriya Vidyalayas led with a pass percentage of 99.57 per cent, followed by Navodaya Vidyalayas at 99.42 per cent. Private schools recorded a pass rate of 93.77 per cent, while government-aided schools reported the lowest at 91.01 per cent.

Children With Special Needs achieved a pass percentage of 96.24. Of these, at least 91 students scored above 95 per cent and 452 secured more than 90 per cent marks.

In a significant change aligned with the National Education Policy, the board introduced two board examinations for Class 10 students this year. The first phase was conducted in February and March, while the second is scheduled for May. Appearing for the first examination was mandatory.

CBSE Examination Controller Sanjay Bhardwaj said the results were declared earlier than usual due to faster evaluation. "Traditionally, Class 10 results are announced in mid-May. However, this year, CBSE evaluated approximately 1.6 crore answer books in record time and the result is being declared a month earlier than usual," he said.

He added that students would be required to submit their candidature for the second examination through their schools following the announcement of results.

Continuing its policy to reduce academic pressure, the board did not release a merit list or award divisions. However, merit certificates will be issued to the top 0.1 per cent of students in each subject. "The merit certificate will be made available in the Digi-Locker of the student concerned after second board examinations," Bhardwaj said.

The board also announced results for students in the Middle East, where examinations had been cancelled due to the ongoing West Asia crisis. An alternative assessment policy was used for these candidates. "Given the prevailing situation in West Asian countries, CBSE has decided to release the results of students from this region simultaneously with other students, ensuring fairness and consistency," Bhardwaj said. Foreign schools recorded a pass percentage of 99.10.

On February 21, the CBSE conducted examinations for 24.95 lakh candidates in a single day, making it the largest exam conducted in one day. The exercise involved more than 10 lakh rooms and over 20 lakh invigilators.

Irani launches 'Matri Shakti Card' in WB

KOLKATA: Senior BJP leader Smriti Irani on Wednesday attacked the TMC government in West Bengal, alleging large-scale corruption, financial mismanagement and failure to ensure women's safety, while promising a monthly cash support of Rs 3,000 for every woman if the saffron party is voted to power in the state.

Addressing a press conference after launching the 'Matri Shakti Bharosa Card', Irani claimed that despite substantial central assistance, the state continues to suffer from what she termed a "cut-money culture."

The Matri Shakti Bhorsosa Card is an initiative by the BJP in West Bengal to provide direct financial assistance of Rs 3,000 per month to women. It is designed as a direct benefit transfer (DBT) scheme aimed at empowering women, with the cards used to enrol beneficiaries for this monthly support if the party wins the state election. Responding to TMC allegations of the Centre withholding the state's funds, she claimed West Bengal received Rs 7.24 lakh crore in tax devolution and around Rs 3 lakh crore in grants-in-aid between 2014 and 2026, apart from Rs 24,000 crore in interest-free loans for capital expenditure.

Questioning the utilisation of funds, she alleged irregularities in welfare schemes. MPOST

Ahead of the field exercise, nearly 12 lakh households have already completed self-enrolment online through the government portal, reflecting growing digital participation in the census process.

Officials have said households completing self-enrolment must retain their issued SE ID for verification during enumerator visits. Those who do not complete online submission will be covered through door-to-door enumeration.

Field staff will use a dedicated mobile application for data entry, replacing paper forms to improve accuracy and speed up processing. The Housing Listing Operation will involve 33 questions covering housing structure, amenities, and ownership details, which will later inform policy and welfare planning.

Shah calls for deporting infiltrators in Bengal

KOLKATA: Union Home Minister Amit Shah on Wednesday said that while the Election Commission has only removed infiltrators from the electoral rolls of West Bengal, the larger task would be to drive them out of the country's borders.

Sharpening his anti-infiltration pitch during campaigns for the upcoming assembly elections in Bengal, Shah said once the BJP forms a government in the state, it will "seal the country's eastern borders so that even birds won't be able to flap their wings" around the fences.

"Didi doesn't want to give 600 acres of land to the BSF required to build the border fences. We have decided that once we have a BJP chief minister here, we will complete the task of fencing within 45 days on the required land," Shah told a gathering at Tufanganj in the Bangladesh-bordering Cooch Behar district of north Bengal.

"And it's not just about stopping outsiders from coming in. It's also about those who have already infiltrated. While the Election Commission (EC) has only removed infiltrators from the electoral rolls of West Bengal, the larger task would be to drive them out of the country's borders," he added. MPOST

No Naxal violence-hit districts in India anymore: MHA to state govts

OUR CORRESPONDENT

NEW DELHI: In a first such official communication after its extensive operations, the Centre has informed state governments that there are no Naxal violence-affected districts in the country after more than five decades of Left Wing Extremism (LWE) having originated in India.

The declaration followed a high-level security review held early this month by the Ministry of Home Affairs (MHA) under the mandated 'National Policy and Action Plan to Address Left Wing Extremism (LWE)' formulated in 2015.

Officials told news agency that the Ministry of Home Affairs (MHA) issued a communication on April 8 to nine states, saying that a comprehensive security review completed after March 31 established that "no district in the country falls under the LWE-affected category".

Union Home minister Amit Shah informed Parliament on March 30 that India was free from Maoists.

The high-level security review meeting was necessitated as the deadline set by the Central government to end LWE in India ended on March 31.

The review ascertained the status of armed Naxal cadres, their capability to execute violence, the presence of "liberated" zones and the frequency of violent incidents in the affected states after March 31.

"India becoming free of Naxal violence is a historic achievement obtained through the continuous and coordinated efforts of the Central and various state governments," the ministry said, adding that the categorisation of LWE-affected districts in India has been done away with.

The last such security review undertaken and notified on March 27 listed two districts under the LWE-affected category -- Bijapur in Chhattisgarh and West Singhbhum in Jharkhand.

In its latest communication, the MHA also informed Andhra Pradesh, Bihar, Chhattisgarh, Jharkhand, Madhya Pradesh, Maharashtra, Odisha, Telangana and West Bengal that 37 districts have been categorised as "Legacy and Thrust districts" while one district has been designated as a "District of Concern".

The MHA said this action was taken because these 38 districts require continuity in security and development efforts as they were affected by LWE violence for many years.

A "Legacy and Thrust district" is one completely free of Naxal insurgency. However, sustained security and development measures are required to strengthen the current situation and prevent the menace from resurfacing, according to the National LWE Policy.

A "District of Concern" is one where Naxal violence has been controlled and their organisational setup decimated but sustained security and development coverage is required for the near future.

West Singhbhum in Jharkhand is the only "District of Concern" after March 31.

The districts under the latest "Legacy and Thrust" category include Alluri Sitharamaraju in Andhra Pradesh; Aurangabad, Gaya, Jamui and Lakhisarai in Bihar; Bastar, Bijapur, Kanker, Narayanpur, Dhamtari, Kabirdham, Khairagarh-Chhui-khadan-Gandai, Kondagaon, Rajnandgaon, Mohla-Manpur-Ambagarh Chowki, Gariyaband, Sukma and Dantewada in Chhattisgarh.

In Jharkhand, the districts are Bokaro, Chhatra and Latehar; Mandala and Balaghat in Madhya Pradesh; Boudh, Sundergarh (Rourkela police district), Kalahandi, Koraput, Malkangiri, Nabarangpur, Nuapada, Rayagada and Kandhamal in Odisha; Bhadradri-Kothagudem and Mulugu in Telangana; and Jhargram in West Bengal.

Punjab: 8 killed as bus returning from Anandpur Sahib overturns

'It appears that vehicle developed some malfunction'

OUR CORRESPONDENT

FATEHGARH SAHIB: A bus carrying devotees from Anandpur Sahib overturned in Punjab's Fatehgarh Sahib, killing eight people, including two women and injuring 19 others, police said on Wednesday.

The accident occurred near Himmatpura on the Morinda-Chunni road in the Bassi Pathana area at around 10 pm on Tuesday when the devotees -- all residents of Fatehgarh Sahib's Main Majri -- were returning from Anandpur Sahib in Rupnagar district after paying obeisance on the occasion of Baisakhi. Prima facie, it appears that the vehicle developed some malfunction, Fatehgarh Sahib Senior Superintendent of Police Shubham Aggarwal said.

Around 40 people were travelling in the bus.

Initially, six people, including a woman, died in the incident, while 21 others were injured. Later, two more victims succumbed to their injuries in a hospital, Fatehgarh Sahib Deputy Superintendent of Police Raj Kumar said.

Mangled remains of a bus lies on a roadside after overturned, killing at least 8 people, in Fatehgarh Sahib, Wednesday PTI

The injured were taken to hospitals in Fatehgarh Sahib, Bassi Pathana and Morinda in Rupnagar district, while some critically injured patients were referred to PGIMER in Chandigarh. The remaining passengers were unhurt.

At PGIMER Chandigarh, 12 injured individuals were received with multiple trauma, including maxillofacial injuries and fractures of the limbs, while four were brought dead, a statement by PGIMER on Wednesday evening said.

"All those brought to PGIMER alive, even in the most critical condition, have been promptly attended to with comprehensive multidisciplinary care and have been successfully stabilised," the statement said, adding that PGIMER remains committed to providing the highest standard of care to all affected patients.

Following the accident, several locals rushed to the spot and assisted in rescue operations. An injured woman said the bus suddenly overturned when it was about to reach the Main Majri village. Bassi Pathana MLA Rupinder Singh, who reached the spot on Tuesday night, said all the devotees were from Main Majri village.

President Droupadi Murmu, Vice President C P Radhakrishnan, and Prime Minister Narendra Modi were among those who expressed grief over the death of devotees. "I extend my deepest condolences to the families who have lost their loved ones in this tragedy. I pray for the speedy recovery of those who have been injured," the President said on X.

Punjab CM Mann slams Akali Dal, inaugurates projects worth Rs 150 cr

MPOST BUREAU

CHANDIGARH: Punjab Chief Minister Bhagwant Mann on Wednesday rolled out a ₹150 crore development push in Tanda Urmur, announcing modern road infrastructure, a high-level bridge, and a network of state-of-the-art health facilities for villages that had remained deprived for nearly 70 years.

Positioning the intervention as a decisive break from prolonged political discrimination under previous regimes, the Chief Minister asserted that the Aam Aadmi Party (AAP) government is committed to delivering long-denied basic infrastructure and dignity to the region.

The Chief Minister also

held the Akali Dal responsible for betraying public trust and disrespecting Sri Guru Sahib, framing the moment as both a developmental correction and a moral reckoning for Punjab's politics.

Sharing a few snippets from the event, CM Bhagwant Singh stated on X: "Today, I participated in the state-level event held on the occasion of the inauguration of various development projects worth ₹150 crore in Tanda, Hoshiarpur district. Our government is taking the state's infrastructure and health facilities to new heights."

The Chief Minister further wrote: "Projects worth ₹141.88 crore for the renovation of the area's link roads have been dedicated to the people. At the same time, a 'High Level Bridge' will be constructed at a cost of ₹2.39 crore for the convenience of the congregation heading to Gurdwara Ramrup Kheda Sahib. In a major expansion of health facilities, 'Health Wellness Centers' are being established in 6 villages at a cost of ₹3.30 crore, and an 'Urban Primary Health Center' is being set up in Garhiwala at a cost of ₹1.35 crore."

Khattar launches Rs 1L cr 'Urban Challenge Fund'

MPOST BUREAU

CHANDIGARH: Union Minister for Power, Urban Development, and Housing Manohar Lal Khattar launched the 'Urban Challenge Fund' (UCF) and the 'Credit Repayment Guarantee Sub-scheme' (CRGSS) today.

Alongside the ₹1 lakh crore Urban Challenge Fund, a roadmap has been prepared to mobilise investments totalling ₹4 lakh crore, with a special focus on plans to economically empower Tier-2 and Tier-3 cities.

Khattar today formally launched the Urban Challenge Fund from New Delhi. The Urban Challenge Fund will provide urban local bodies with opportunities to mobilise resources through municipal bonds, bank loans, and Public-Private Partnerships (PPP). Additionally, through the CRGSS, smaller cities will receive the support of credit guarantees, enabling them to participate in large-scale infrastructure projects as well.

Representatives from various states—including Madhya Pradesh, Gujarat, and Odisha—participated in the event.

The Chief Minister of Madhya Pradesh, Mohan Yadav, and the Chief Minister of Odisha, Mohan Charan Majhi, joined the proceedings via video conferencing.

Union minister Khattar stated that, through this fund the Central govt aims to attract investments totalling up to ₹4 lakh crore. Moving beyond the traditional system of grants, this fund will play a pivotal role in attracting investments.

The Centre's primary objective is no longer merely to provide funds to cities, but rather to make them financially robust, accountable, and investment-ready.

The Union minister remarked that India's cities are today emerging as hubs of economic growth, innovation, and employment, and the vision of a 'Viksit Bharat @ 2047' (Developed India by 2047) hinges upon the strength of these very cities.

A key feature of the UCF is that central assistance will be capped at a maximum of 25 per cent of the project cost, while at least 50 per cent of the funds are to be raised through municipal bonds, bank loans, and Public-Private Partnerships (PPPs).

This will not only ensure fiscal discipline but also boost private investment. Out of the total allocation, ₹90,000 crore has been earmarked for projects, ₹5,000 crore for project preparation and capacity building, and ₹5,000 crore for the Credit Repayment Guarantee Sub-scheme.

The UCF fund will foster transformative projects in cities, including the redevelopment of historic city centres and markets, urban transport and last-mile connectivity, non-motorised transport, water and sanitation infrastructure, and climate-resilient development.

Chhattisgarh Cabinet initiates UCC push, 50% property registration relief for women

RAIPUR: Under the chairmanship of Chief Minister Vishnu Deo Sai, the Chhattisgarh Cabinet on Wednesday took a series of important decisions at Mantralaya (Mahanadi Bhawan), aimed at strengthening governance, promoting social equity, and accelerating economic development in Chhattisgarh.

The Cabinet approved the constitution of a high-level committee under the chairmanship of retired Justice Ranjana Prakash Desai to prepare a draft for the implementation of the Uniform Civil Code (UCC) in the state. Chief Minister has been authorised to nominate members of the committee.

At present, matters such as

marriage, divorce, inheritance, adoption, maintenance, and family disputes are governed by separate personal laws across religions. As envisaged under Article 44 of the Constitution of India, the move towards a Uniform Civil Code is aimed at ensuring legal uniformity, simplifying judicial processes, and promoting religious as well as gender equality.

The committee will undertake extensive consultations with citizens, organisations, and subject experts, and may also invite feedback through a dedicated web portal. The draft prepared on the basis of these recommendations will be placed before the Cabinet and subsequently introduced in the State Assembly following due legal procedures.

In a progressive step towards women's empowerment, the Cabinet approved a 50 per cent reduction in registration fees for property registered in the name of women. While this decision is expected to result in a revenue loss of approximately Rs 153 crore to the state exchequer, it is seen as a vital measure to encourage asset ownership among women and enhance their financial independence.

The Cabinet has taken important decision in the larger interest of serving soldiers, ex-servicemen, and their widows by approving a 25 per cent concession in stamp duty on the purchase of property (land or building) up to Rs 25 lakh within the state, once in their lifetime. Recognising the transient nature of military service, the decision seeks to provide financial relief as they establish permanent residences. MPOST

BEED: A stray dog went on a rampage, biting at least 40 people within a span of two hours in Kaj town in Beed district of Maharashtra, prompting the victims to queue up at a govt hospital to secure anti-rabies vaccinations.

An official said the canine targeted people in several localities, including Mangalwar Peth, Azizpura, Bhimnagar and Roza Mohalla on Monday.

Witnesses described a scene of chaos as the dog targeted anyone in its path, prompting several people to run for safety.

The sudden influx of victims led to long queues at the Kaj sub-district hospital as people rushed to secure anti-rabies vaccinations.

"We have administered rabies injections to all 40 injured people who reported to the hospital. Among them, ten individuals sustained deep or multiple puncture wounds and have been referred to the Swami Ramanand Teerth Govt Rural Medical College and Hospital Ambajogai for advanced treatment," Kaj sub-district hospital superintendent Dr Dattatray Kendre stated. DIGITAL
DIVIDE

India's artificial intelligence story is, at once, a tale of remarkable promise and quiet imbalance. By most global metrics, the country now stands among the leading AI markets—particularly in coding, data analysis, and complex reasoning. Users are not merely experimenting; they are solving complex problems, building tools, and engaging with AI at a depth that places India in the global top tier of “thinking capability” usage. The surge in adoption of advanced tools such as ChatGPT and the rapid uptake of the OpenAI Codex ecosystem underscore how quickly India's digital class has embraced this technological shift. Yet, beneath this headline success lies a structural concern: the benefits of this AI boom are clustering in a handful of urban centres, leaving much of the country on the margins of a transformative revolution.

The numbers tell a revealing story. The top ten Indian cities account for nearly half of all AI users, even though they represent less than 10 per cent of the population. This makes AI adoption in India roughly three times more concentrated than in comparable economies such as the United States or Germany. Cities like Bengaluru, Hyderabad, Delhi and Chennai have emerged as powerful hubs of innovation, talent, and infrastructure, driving the country's AI momentum. But this concentration is not merely geographic—it is deeply tied to access: access to high-speed internet, English-language fluency, advanced education, and professional networks that enable meaningful engagement with AI tools. In effect, India's AI leadership today is being shaped by a narrow slice of its population.

What is more troubling is that the disparity widens as one moves up the value chain. Advanced use cases—those that generate the most economic and intellectual value—are even more unevenly distributed. Data analysis usage is up to 30 times higher in leading cities compared to lagging regions, while coding usage is four times higher. The gap in AI developer activity is even starker. This suggests that while millions may access AI superficially, the capacity to build, innovate, and monetise these tools remains concentrated among a privileged minority. In a country where demographic advantage is often cited as a strength, such a skew risks converting opportunity into inequality. The digital divide, once measured in terms of internet access, is now evolving into a far more complex “capability divide.”

And yet, beyond the metropolitan centres, a different and equally significant story is unfolding—one that points to the transformative potential of AI when it reaches everyday contexts. In states such as Assam, Odisha and Tripura, AI engagement is being driven not by coding or software development, but by education and learning. In Assam, for instance, a disproportionately high share of AI interactions relates to educational use, suggesting that students and learners are turning to AI as a knowledge companion. Similarly, regions like Jammu and Kashmir and Kerala show elevated usage in health and wellness queries, reflecting how AI is being woven into daily decision-making. These patterns are important because they reveal that the real promise of AI in India may not lie solely in elite innovation clusters, but in its ability to augment human capability in ordinary settings—classrooms, homes, and clinics.

This dual reality—of elite concentration and grassroots experimentation—poses a critical policy question: how can India democratise AI without diluting its momentum? The answer lies in addressing three foundational barriers. First is language. Much of advanced AI usage remains tied to English, effectively excluding large segments of the population. Expanding high-quality multilingual interfaces is not just desirable but essential. Second is affordability and infrastructure. Reliable internet access, affordable devices, and cloud-based tools must reach beyond urban centres. Third, and perhaps most crucial, is skill-building. AI literacy must move from being a niche competency to a foundational skill, embedded in school curricula, vocational training, and public digital platforms. Without this, India risks producing millions of passive users but very few creators.

There is also a deeper philosophical challenge at play. India has often framed its digital journey in terms of scale—how many users, how many transactions, how many platforms. But the AI era demands a shift from scale to depth. It is not enough for millions to use AI; what matters is how meaningfully they can use it. If the current trajectory continues, India could emerge as a paradox: a global leader in AI usage, yet a country where its most powerful applications remain confined to a few urban islands. That would not only limit economic gains but also undermine the technology's potential to address structural challenges in education, healthcare, and governance.

The next phase of India's AI journey, therefore, will not be defined by how fast adoption grows, but by how widely capability spreads. Democratisation—through language inclusion, affordable access, and mass skilling—must become the central pillar of policy and innovation. The country's young population, already among the fastest adopters of new technologies, offers a unique advantage. But demo-

The 24x7 ON Court is a proof of concept that India's overburdened judiciary can become faster, simpler, and more citizen-centric through smart design and public-private collaboration

During a glittering function on November 16, 2025, the 24x7 ON Court was one of the proud winners of the Nexus of Good Awards 2025. The jury for the awards was headed by the former Chairman, Union Public Service Commission, Mr Deepak Gupta. The award was given away by the former Cabinet Secretary, Government of India, Mr B K Chaturvedi. This initiative has redefined what scalable judicial transformation can look like in India. The initiative germinated in late 2024. The trigger was the sheer audacity of its vision through a newspaper article on its launch. The headline from Kerala, “India's First Digitally Native Court Goes Live in Kollam”, caught the attention. The piece described a revolutionary pilot for cheque bounce cases—no physical visits, no paper trails, justice reimaged end-to-end. A complainant in Kollam can file on his computer on his own: mandatory fields enforced rules, limitation periods flagged with auto-condonation prompts, templates generated instantly. Scrutiny wrapped up remotely in hours; payments cleared via e-Treasury; summons issued through police and courier integrations. The judge's dashboard offered a summarised history, pre-drafted orders, and bulk digital signing. Trial phases that once took 350 days? Now 48. How efficient, predictable, and profoundly human this was!

More details were sought immediately online and in follow-up reports. The ON Court wasn't an accident. It emerged from a rigorous two-year diagnosis involving field visits to five district courts, over 90 stakeholder interviews—including judges, advocates, litigants, and police—and analysis of 50+ metrics from NJDG, e-Courts, and NITI Aayog's NDAP. Cheque dishonour cases, forming 11 per cent of India's criminal pendency, were strangling the system. Litigants were spending crores in travel and delays; advocates were buried in duplicate filings; judges were drowning in administrative churn.

The ON Court demonstrates that judicial pendency is not just a problem of numbers, but of process design

The team led by the High Court of Kerala, in partnership with PUCAR collective (a public mission dedicated to transforming dispute resolution, including Samgara Governance, Agami, XKDR, and E-Governments foundation), didn't settle for incremental fixes. They built a Theory of Change anchored on four pillars: Efficiency, Predictability, Seamlessness, and Openness. The goal? Operationalise one citizen-centric pilot in Kollam and create a replicable blueprint.

And they delivered. By November 2024, the 24x7 ON Court went live. Powered by DRISTI, a modular, open-source Digital Public Infrastructure, it broke court functions into reusable services—filing, scrutiny, scheduling, signing—configurable for any case type. Unlike monolithic systems, DRISTI allowed local innovation without fragmentation. Policy tweaks enabled digital-first workflows. Physical courtrooms were redesigned with litigant lounges and Nyay Mitra helpdesks. Staff were retrained; advocates were brought on board through training and testing of the platform with them.

- The results speak louder than any vision document.
- ▶ Filing to registration: 3 days (down from 10).
 - ▶ Registration to cognisance: 23 days (down from 150).
 - ▶ Summons and warrants: 52 days (down from 300).
 - ▶ Trial duration: 48 days (down from 350).
 - ▶ Average time to first judgment: 223 days—against a national average of 600.
- Hearings now occur every 19 days with 98 per cent adherence, and substantive hearings have risen from 19 per cent to 25 per cent. Scrutiny? Completed within 24 hours in 95 per cent of cases.

Behind these numbers are changed lives. A small trader from the district no longer loses wages travelling to court. An advocate corrects defects remotely instead of queuing at e-sewa kendras. A judge in Kollam focuses on adjudication, not paperwork.

An independent evaluation by NyayNeethi Policy Collective confirms the shift: 94 per cent of advocates are satisfied; 70 per cent of litigants believe their cases will resolve faster. SMS alerts, digital case lists, and voice-to-text transcription (in English and Malayalam) have become trusted companions in the justice journey.

This is not just a Kerala story. It is a national blueprint.

The ON Court exposes the fragility of old assumptions. Why should justice require physical presence? Why can't processes be asynchronous? Why shouldn't ecosystems—police, treasury, couriers—talk to each other seamlessly? It reveals policy gaps: rigid filing formats, manual payment norms, and absent data uniformity. And it offers solutions—model rules, interoperability standards, and modular technology.

At its core, the ON Court embodies the Nexus of Good philosophy: identify what works, understand how it works, replicate it, and scale it through public-private partnership.

The judiciary brings authority and reach. Innovators like PUCAR bring agility and user-centric design. Technology firms contribute modular platforms. Advocates and litigants co-create through feedback. The state provides infrastructure and policy backing. Together, they've built something greater than the sum of its parts.

This is not the end. It is the beginning.

With playbooks, open-source code, and capacity built within the Kerala High Court IT team, ON Court is ready for replication. Other High Courts are watching. Chhattisgarh has expressed interest in MACT pilots. Tamil Nadu is exploring asynchronous workflows. The movement is gathering pace.

There is no shortage of pendency in India—5 crore cases and counting. But there is also no shortage of possibilities. The 24x7 ON Court proves that when intent meets rigorous diagnosis, bold design, and relentless implementation, transformation is not just possible—it is inevitable.

The need now is to commit to becoming facilitators—of replication, of scaling, of systemic change. The need is to build nexuses between courts and citizens, between tradition and technology, between justice delayed and justice delivered. The model that has been put in place can be a game-changer. It presents a wonderful example of Nexus of Good. The model can be replicated through a public-private partnership in the true spirit of Nexus of Good.

The best lack conviction, wrote Yeats, while the worst are full of passionate intensity. The 24x7 ON Court reminds us that the good, when organised, can outshine the noise. It is time to amplify it.

Political empowerment cannot begin with reservation alone if women are first pushed out of the very rolls that confer democratic citizenship

Purging Her Vote?

India's women have fought long and hard for a political voice, but electoral roll revisions now risk undoing decades of democratic progress

The right of women to vote is a hallmark of the modern political system and a fundamental right born of protracted global struggle. From the mid-1880s campaigns in England to the mockery faced by Henry Hunt in 1832 when he presented Mary Smith's petition for female suffrage to Parliament, the path was never easy. It took John Stuart Mill's seminal 1869 work, The Subjection of Women, to argue formally for gender equality in the British legislature. While New Zealand became the first nation to grant women national voting rights in 1893, it set off a global domino effect that reshaped the 20th and 21st centuries.

The Indian Context

In India, the roots of women's enfranchisement are deeply intertwined with the nationalist movement. The Swadeshi movement in Bengal first brought the question of women's suffrage to the forefront. Influenced by both English education and the global suffrage movement, the Women's Indian Association, established in Madras in 1917, demanded an “enlarged role for women in public life.”

While women gained limited voting rights between 1920 and 1930, the Government of India Act of 1935 expanded these rights further. However, it remained a restricted franchise; the Act enfranchised only one woman for every five men and introduced 41 reserved seats in provincial legislatures—a move opposed by many women leaders who sought universal, equal status rather than colonial categorisation.

Rise of the Woman Voter

Post-Independence, India witnessed a slow but steady ascent of the female electorate. In 1952, there were 7.7 crore women voters; by 2014, that number surged to 39.6 crore. More importantly, the participation gap has narrowed:

- ▶ 1957: Women's turnout was 39 per cent (compared to 56 per cent for men).
- ▶ 2019: The share of women electors rose to 48.6 per cent.
- ▶ 2024: A historic milestone was reached as women's turnout (65.8 per cent) finally overtook male turnout (65.6 per cent).

Crisis of the SIR

Despite these gains, the current Special Intensive Revision (SIR)—aimed at updating rolls across 12 states and UTs covering 51 crore voters—appears to be reversing the tide. While SIR is meant to “clean” the lists, the data suggests a disproportionate impact on women.

THE GENDER SLUMP POST-SIR
State	Pre-SIR Gender Ratio	Post-SIR Gender Ratio	Key Statistic
Bihar	907 (per 1000 men)	893	Significant drop in rural pockets.
West Bengal	969 (per 1000 men)	964	First ratio drop since 2012.
Uttar Pradesh	—	—	1.5 Crore women deleted (out of 2.5 crore total).
Tamil Nadu	—	—	50 lakh women deleted (out of 94 lakh total).

You cannot celebrate “Nari Shakti” while deleting women from the voter list

An internal investigation by The Hindu reveals a startling correlation: constituencies with the highest female turnout have seen the greatest number of women subsequently deleted from the rolls.

Triple Whammy

Mass deletions are often attributed to administrative technicalities, such as women changing their surnames after marriage. If officials follow rigid rules without considering social realities, the result is systemic disenfranchisement. Of the 3.5 crore voters deleted across several states (excluding UP and Chhattisgarh), roughly 58 per cent are women.

As Yogendra Yadav argues, the Indian woman's political clout has historically suffered from a “double whammy”: the missing girl child (demographic) and under-enfranchisement (registration). The current SIR has introduced a “triple whammy”: the active disenfranchisement of women who were already on the rolls.

Conclusion

This trend stands in direct opposition to India's commitment to the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) regarding gender equality. With the government moving toward a special session to modify the Women's Reservation Act for immediate implementation, there is a clear state agenda for empowerment. However, if the foundational right—the right to be on the voter list—is eroded by administrative “cleaning,” the promise of political equality remains a distant dream. Ensuring that “Nari Shakti” (woman power) translates to the ballot box requires more than just legislation; it requires an electoral roll that protects, rather than purges, the female vote.

MIXED FEELINGS IN LEBANON OVER TALKS WITH ISRAEL

New Israeli strikes hit Lebanon day after historic talks in Washington

TYRE: Israel pressed on with bombarding southern Lebanon on Wednesday, a day after historic talks between Lebanese and Israeli officials in Washington. Smoke rose over the coastal city of Tyre, underscoring the fragility of diplomatic efforts. Although Israeli strikes on Beirut have eased since last week's shattering 10-minute bombardment without warning killed over 350 people across the country, southern Lebanon remains under attack.

The Israeli military has periodically issued warnings urging residents to flee wide swathes of southern Lebanon as it targets the Iranian-backed Hezbollah militant group, but tens of thousands of people have stayed — either because they don't want to leave their homes or because they have nowhere to go.

Tyre, too, is under Israeli evacuation order, but many displaced families had seen it as a refuge of last resort, removed from the heaviest clashes closer to the Israeli border. Increasingly, though, residents say nowhere even in Tyre feels safe.

Across the city, the war was visible in shattered buildings, mounds of rubble and debris-strewn streets. Residents moved cautiously along wreckage-lined roads.

Mourners gathered for the funeral of 19-year-old Ghadir Baalbaki, killed overnight in an Israeli drone strike just outside Tyre's city centre. It was not immediately clear who was targeted, but witnesses said Baalbaki had been sitting outside close to the front lines.

Baalbaki's father, Mohammed Baalbaki, stood beside the grave in tears. "We cannot adapt to life without her," he said.

Across southern Lebanon, Israeli forces said they had struck more than 200 Hezbollah targets over the past 24 hours. Hezbollah claimed rocket attacks on military targets in northern Israel and on Israeli forces in the town of Khiam near the border, which has seen intense fighting in recent weeks.

Tuesday's talks between Lebanon and Israel in Washington have drawn backlash from Hezbollah and its supporters. Hezbollah lawmaker Hassan Fadlallah on Wednesday castigated Lebanese authorities for what he called the "disgraceful image" of direct negotiations with Israel "at a time when it is killing Lebanese people and committing massacres." Student kills nine in Turkey's second school shooting in two days

ANKARA: A student opened fire on two classrooms at a middle school in Turkey on Wednesday, killing nine people and wounding 13 others, the interior minister said, in the country's second such shooting in two days.

The 14-year-old gunman was killed.

He arrived at the school armed with guns believed to belong to his father, a retired police officer, Kahramanmaraş provincial Gov Mukerrem Unluer said. He was carrying five firearms and seven magazines.

The motive of the attack wasn't immediately known. It was not clear whether the gunman was killed by police or killed himself.

Six of the 13 people wounded were in serious condition, Interior Minister Mustafa Ciftci said.

The attack came a day after 16 people, mostly students, were wounded when a former student opened fire at a high school in nearby Sanliurfa province.

The assailant later killed himself.

Until this week, school shootings were rare in Turkey. State-run broadcaster TRT, identified the latest shooter as Isa Aras Mersinli and said his father was detained for questioning.

Turkish authorities imposed a ban on the broadcast of "traumatic" images from the shooting, warning media organizationstolimit coverage to statements from officials.

Parents rushed to the school in Kahramanmaraş' Oznikisubat district after hearing reports of an armed attack, NTV television reported. AGENCIES

Zelenskyy pursues more arms deals with allies

KYIV: Ukraine's top diplomatic priority is securing its allies' help to buy and build more air defence systems, President Volodymyr Zelenskyy said Wednesday between meetings with European leaders, as Russia kept up its deadly attacks on civilians and public infrastructure.

Russian strikes hit more than a half-dozen areas of Ukraine behind the front line from Tuesday to Wednesday, killing an 8-year-old boy in the central Cherkasy region and a woman who was in a kiosk near a bus stop that was hit in southern Zaporizhzhia, according to Zelenskyy and local officials.

"Every day we need air defense missiles - every day Russia continues its strikes," Zelenskyy said in a post on the Telegram messaging app. AGENCIES

WAR ENTERS FOURTH YEAR

Look at Sudan's war by numbers

CAIRO: Sudan on Wednesday enters a fourth year of war that's being called an "abandoned crisis. The fighting has pushed many people into famine, caused a huge displacement crisis and left over 30 million people in need of humanitarian assistance.

Both sides have been accused of committing atrocities like ethnic cleansing, extrajudicial killings and sexual violence against civilians.

Sudan has been described as the world's largest humanitarian challenge, notably in terms of displacement and hunger. There is no end in sight to the fighting between the military and the paramilitary Rapid Support Forces that witnesses and aid groups say has laid waste to parts of the vast Darfur region.

Growing evidence shows regional powers like the United Arab Emirates backing combatants behind the scenes. Attempts by the United States and regional powers, now distracted by the Iran war, have failed to establish a ceasefire.

"This grim and chastening anniversary marks another year when the world has failed to meet the test of Sudan," United Nations humanitarian chief Tom Fletcher said.

At least 250 people missing, including Rohingya, Bangladeshis, after boat sinks in Andaman Sea

DHAKA: At least 250 people, including Rohingya refugees and Bangladeshi nationals, were missing after a boat capsized in the Andaman Sea recently on the way to Malaysia, according to the United Nations' refugee and migration agencies.

While details remained sketchy, Bangladesh Coast Guard spokesperson Lt. Com. Sabbir Alam Suzan told The Associated Press on Wednesday that nine people, including three Rohingya and six Bangladeshis, were rescued on April 9. Suzan said the Bangladesh flag carrier M.T. Meghna Pride rescued the nine people when the crew found them floating at sea after the capsized. When the boat sank and the status of any search Wednesday were unclear. The UN high commissioner for refugees and the International Organisation for Migration in a joint statement said Tuesday that the trawler departed from Teknaf in the southern Bangladeshi district of Cox's Bazar carrying a large number of passengers to Malaysia. AGENCIES

Another US strike on suspected drug boat in eastern Pacific kills 4

The campaign began more than seven months back

Takeaways

» The operation is the latest in a series of strikes on vessels

» The latest strike brings the death toll to 175 since the operations began in early Sept

CRITICS HAVE QUESTIONED THE OVERALL LEGALITY OF THE BOAT STRIKES

WASHINGTON: The US military launched a strike on another boat accused of carrying drugs in the eastern Pacific Ocean on Tuesday, killing four people in the fourth such attack announced in the past few days.

The operation is the latest in a series of strikes on vessels that the Trump administration says were trafficking drugs in Latin American waters, a campaign that began more than seven months ago and continues even as the military has been preoccupied with the Iran war.

The latest strike brings the death toll to 175 since the operations began in early September. The US Coast Guard has suspended the search for one survivor from an attack Saturday.

US Southern Command posted aerial video on social media Tuesday showing a vessel bobbing in the water before being struck by a projectile and exploding.

The military earlier said it struck two boats on Saturday and a third on Monday.

The military said all the vessels were "operated by Designated Terrorist Organizations" and that intelligence confirmed they "were transiting along known narco-trafficking routes in the Eastern Pacific and were engaged in narco-trafficking operations" but did not provide evidence.

President Donald Trump has said the US is in "armed conflict" with cartels in Latin America and has justified the attacks as a necessary escalation to stem the flow of drugs into the United States and fatal overdoses claiming American lives. But his administration has offered little evidence to support its claims of killing "narco-terrorists".

The strikes began months ahead of the US raid in January that captured then-Venezuelan President Nicolás Maduro. He was brought to New York to face drug trafficking charges and has pleaded not guilty.

Critics have questioned the overall legality of the boat strikes as well as their effectiveness, in part because the fentanyl behind many fatal overdoses is typically trafficked to the US over land from Mexico, where it is produced with chemicals imported from China and India. AGENCIES

TRADE WITH WEST ASIA NOSEDIVES

India's exports plunge 7.44% in March

MPOST BUREAU

NEW DELHI: Exports posted the steepest fall in five months, declining by 7.44 per cent in March to USD 38.92 billion due to trade uncertainty and geo-political tensions, with shipments to West Asia contracting by more than 50 per cent in the month, according to official data released on Wednesday.

The trade deficit, however, narrowed to a nine-month low of USD 20.67 billion in March on account of lower imports.

Imports dipped by 6.51 per cent to USD 59.59 billion in March, driven by a significant decline in inbound shipments of crude oil and gold, the data showed.

For the full 2025-26 fiscal year, exports grew 0.93 per cent to an all-time high of USD 441.78 billion, while imports rose 7.45 per cent to USD 775 billion. The trade deficit ballooned to USD 333.2 billion due to a jump in gold and silver imports during the last fiscal.

Commerce Secretary Rajesh Agrawal told reporters that the country's goods and services exports increased by an estimated 4.22 per cent to an all-time high of USD 860.09 billion in 2025-26 against USD 825.26 billion in 2024-25.

He said that despite global challenges, Indian exporters are showing resilience and are registering positive growth.

"We are hopeful that 2026-27 will be a much better year," he said.

The secretary said that India's exports to the Middle East region fell by 57.95 per cent in March, while imports from the Gulf nations fell by 51.64 per cent.

"Our exports to the Middle East in March dipped by 3.5 billion dollars (USD) and it has impacted (overall) exports," Agrawal told reporters.

Agrawal said that April could also be a tough month for exports due to the conflict, which is hampering ship movements in international waters.

Crude oil imports in March dipped 35.91 per cent to USD 12.18 billion, while in 2025-26, it declined 6.37 per cent to USD 174 billion. Gold imports in March dipped 31.63 per cent to USD 3.06 billion, while in 2025-26, these rose by 24 per cent to USD 71.97 billion.

The war in the Middle East has disrupted the flow of oil and gas through the Strait of Hormuz, pushing up freight and insurance costs for exporters.

"We hope the challenges that we face today will not sustain for long, and we may have smoother trades across the world in months to come," the secretary said.

Services exports, the secretary said, have remained robust.

Meanwhile, China has overtaken the US to emerge as India's largest trading partner in 2025-26, with bilateral trade reaching USD 151.1 billion, while the country's trade deficit with Beijing widened to USD 112.16 billion during the period, government data showed.

The US was India's largest trading partner for the four consecutive year till 2024-25.

The country's outbound shipments to the US grew marginally 0.92 per cent to USD 87.3 billion during the last fiscal, while imports increased 15.95 per cent to USD 52.9 billion.

The trade surplus declined to USD 34.4 billion in 2025-26 from USD 40.89 billion in 2024-25.

The secretary said that energy imports from the US, including LPG, have gone up.

He added that despite global challenges, India's exports have remained in positive territory in 2025-26.

Free trade agreements that India will implement this year will provide opportunities for domestic exporters.

While the India-UK trade pact is expected to come into force from May, the trade deal with Oman may be implemented in June.

Govt mulls ECLGS-type credit guarantee scheme for MSMEs

MPOST BUREAU

NEW DELHI: The Ministry of Small and Medium Enterprises is in touch with the Department of Financial Services to explore an ECLGS-like credit guarantee scheme to support MSMEs amid the West Asia crisis, a senior official stated on Wednesday.

Responding to a media query on whether a credit guarantee scheme was in the works for MSMEs, Additional Secretary in the Ministry of Micro Small and Medium Enterprises (MSMEs) Rajneesh said, "We are in constant touch with the Department of Financial Services regarding ECLGS kind of a mechanism. So, at an appropriate stage I will be in a position to share further details on this".

The Emergency Credit Line Guarantee Scheme (ECLGS) was launched in May 2020 as part of Aatmanirbhar Bharat Abhiyan to support eligible MSMEs and enterprises in meeting their operational liabilities and restarting their businesses in the context of the disruption caused by the COVID-19 pandemic. The scheme covers all the sectors. Field officers of the MSME Ministry are in constant touch with MSME associations and the National Small Industries Corporation (NSIC) to provide domestic bulk raw materials to MSMEs, Rajneesh said.

"So, in the last three months, more than one lakh metric tonne of raw material has been provided. If we look at the figures of March on a year-to-year basis, a 12.5 per cent increase has happened," he added.

Addressing an inter-ministerial briefing here on the developments in West Asia, Rajneesh said the MSME Ministry continues to engage with all stakeholders and believes in a holistic government approach, with the situation being closely monitored by the ministry as it is committed to supporting MSMEs.

He observed that the ministry is conducting stakeholder consultations regularly with all MSME associations at the central, state and sub-state levels, and all field offices of the ministry are constantly in touch with them.

"I would like to share that despite the global headwinds, more than 20 lakh micro, small and medium enterprises have registered on the Udyam portal of the ministry in February and March.

"So, this is a sign of resilience of the MSMEs of India, and presently, the total number of MSMEs registered with us has crossed more than eight crore," the additional secretary said.

"The credit flow in the micro, small and medium enterprises is one of the core areas on which we work, and I am happy to share that the credit outstanding with the micro, small and medium enterprises stands at over Rs 36.7 lakh crore. In the last quarter, January, February and March, the growth in credit flow to the MSMEs has been 23.5 per cent," he added.

US Sec 301 probe: India rejects USTR allegations

Seeks terminations of investigations

NEW DELHI: India has strongly rejected allegations by the US Trade Representative in its investigations on excess structural capacity and production involving several countries, including India, asserting that the initiation notice has failed to provide "cogent rationale" to substantiate the claims.

India requests that the USTR issue a negative determination with respect to India and terminate the investigation against it, according to a submission from New Delhi to the USTR.

On March 11, the US announced initiation of investigations against its trading partners, including India, China, Japan and the EU, to look into and address "unfair foreign practices" that adversely impact American manufacturing.

United States Trade Representative (USTR) Jamieson Greer announced the initiation of a probe regarding the "acts, policies, and practices" of various economies under Section 301(b) of the Trade Act of 1974, relating to structural excess capacity and production in manufacturing sectors.

The economies subject to these investigations are Bangladesh, Cambodia, China, the European Union, India, Indonesia, Japan, Korea, Malaysia, Mexico, Norway, Singapore, Switzerland, Taiwan, Thailand and Vietnam. India in response to the notice issued by the USTR on the initiation of Section 301 investigation relating to structural excess capacity and production in manufacturing sectors, "firmly denies all allegations made in the initiation notice".

"The initiation Notice is premised on aggregate macroeconomic indicators, without identifying any specific act, policy or practice of the Government of India that could be considered 'unreasonable or discriminatory' and that 'burdens or restricts United States commerce' as required by Section 301(b) of the Act," according to the submission made by India.

The notice, it said, provides no cogent rationale or prima facie evidence to substantiate its allegation that India has "structural excess capacity" in its major industries, leading to a trade surplus with the United States. "India submits that the present investigation does not satisfy the requirements for the initiation of this investigation pursuant to Sections 301 and 302 of the Trade Act of 1974. India calls upon the USTR to make a negative determination and terminate the investigation forthwith," it said.

It added that since India and the US have initiated a process of negotiating a Bilateral Trade Agreement, any trade concerns should be addressed within the framework of the trade negotiations and not through unilateral measures.

Unemployment among individuals aged 15 and above rises marginally to 5.1% in March

NEW DELHI: The unemployment rate (UR) for individuals aged 15 and older rose slightly to 5.1 per cent in March from 4.9 per cent in February this year, mainly due to high joblessness in urban areas, according to government data released on Wednesday.

The Periodic Labour Force Survey (PLFS), conducted by the National Statistics Office (NSO) under the Ministry of Statistics and Programme Implementation (MoSPI), is the primary source of data on activity participation, employment and unemployment conditions of the population.

The PLFS survey methodology has been modified from January 2025 to provide monthly and quarterly estimates of labour force indicators for the country.

The Monthly Bulletins for April 2025 to February 2026 have already been released. The present Monthly Bulletin for March 2026 is the twelfth in the series. A statement on the PLFS stated that the UR among persons aged 15 years and above rose slightly to 5.1 per cent in March 2026 from 4.9 per cent in February 2026, mainly driven by urban UR, which edged up from 6.6 per cent in February 2026 to 6.8 per cent in March 2026.

Among rural females aged 15 years and above, the UR remained almost stable in March 2026, whereas the male UR in the same age group was marginally higher in March 2026 in comparison to February 2026. Female Unemployment Rate (UR) in rural areas remains stable in March 2026.

At the all-India level, the monthly estimates are based on information collected from a total of 3,75,262 persons surveyed. Urban Labour Force Participation Rate (LFPR) shows a steady trend.

The overall LFPR among persons aged 15 years and above was reported as 55.4 per cent in March 2026, slightly lower than 55.9 per cent in February 2026.

Rural LFPR was 58 per cent in March 2026 compared to 58.7 per cent in February 2026, while urban LFPR remained almost stable during this period. Female Labour Force Participation Rate (LFPR) in March 2026 was reported as 34.4 per cent against 35.3 per cent in February 2026.

Female LFPR in rural areas was found to be 38.9 per cent in March 2026, while the same stood at 25.2 per cent in urban areas during the month.

The Worker Population Ratio (WPR) in the age group 15 years and above remained broadly stable in urban areas in March 2026.

The overall WPR was estimated at 52.6 per cent in March 2026. In rural areas, WPR stood at 55.5 per cent in March 2026 compared to 56.3 per cent in February 2026, while WPR in urban areas stood at 46.8 per cent in March 2026 against 47 per cent in February 2026. MPOST

'Wheat procurement by govt falls 69% so far'

NEW DELHI: The government's wheat procurement reached 15.30 lakh tonne so far in the current 2026-27 rabi marketing season, over 69 per cent lower than the year-ago period, according to FCI data.

Wheat, the main rabi (winter) crop, is procured through the April-March period. However, much of the grain is bought in the first few months itself, mainly by the Food Corporation of India (FCI) and state agencies.

According to the FCI data, the agencies have procured 15.30 lakh tonne so far since the start of the procurement operation from April 1, while the arrival stood at 34.74 lakh tonne. In the same period of the previous 2025-26 rabi marketing season, the agencies had procured 50.08 lakh tonne, and the arrival was 92.72 lakh tonne. The arrival of the wheat crop into mandis and procurement was affected due to recent unseasonal rainfall and hailstorms. As of April 13, wheat procurement in Punjab was 29,925 tonne, Haryana, 11.23 lakh tonne, Uttar Pradesh 96,670 tonne, Madhya Pradesh 1.02 lakh tonne, Rajasthan 8,957 tonne, Uttarakhand 1.66 lakh tonne.

The government has set a wheat procurement target of 30.3 lakh tonne for the ongoing 2026-27 season. The procurement in major states such as Punjab and Madhya Pradesh commenced on April 1, 2026, while specific regions like Rajasthan began as early as March 10, 2026.

Wall Street flirts with a record after its big rally last two weeks

NEW YORK: The US stock market is flirting with a record Wednesday following its big rally over the last two weeks as hopes have built that the global economy can avoid a worst-case scenario because of the US-Iran war.

The S&P 500 rose 0.2 per cent in early trading and was on track to edge past its all-time high, which was set in January. The Dow Jones Industrial Average was up 91 points, or 0.2 per cent, as of 9:35 am Eastern time, and the Nasdaq composite was 0.3 per cent higher.

Treasury yields were also holding relatively steady in the bond market as mediators moved closer to extending the ceasefire between the United States and Iran and restarting negotiations before the agreement expires next week.

After falling nearly 10 per cent below its record at one point, a drop steep enough that Wall Street calls it a "correction," the S&P 500 has roared 10 per cent higher since late March. That move was mostly on expectations for calming tensions to come in the war and a resumption of the full flow of oil from Persian Gulf producers to customers worldwide through the Strait of Hormuz.

If those expectations get dashed, which has happened before in the war, stocks could easily resume their fall. Oil prices drifted up and down on Wednesday and showed that caution remains in financial markets.

The price for a barrel of Brent crude, the international standard, rose 0.2 per cent to USD 94.94. That's still well above its roughly USD 70 price from before the war, though it's down from its USD 119 peak when worries about the fighting have been at their heights.

But if US-Iran talks do happen and if they are successful, the war could end up being only a temporary setback for the global economy instead of the harbinger of a new normal of very high oil prices and inflation. And that in turn could allow investors to return their attention to what matters most for the stock market: Money.

Through all the day-to-day noise that can affect investors' opinions, stock prices tend to move with the direction of corporate profits over the long term. And positive trends there had stock markets worldwide doing well before the war began. Analysts also see continued growth ahead, for now at least.

Bank of America climbed 2.5 per cent Wednesday after saying it made USD 8.6 billion in profit during the first three months of the year.

That's up 17 per cent from a year earlier and more than analysts expected.

CEO Brian Moynihan said the bank saw signs of a "resilient American economy," including solid spending by US consumers. Trends were encouraging enough that the bank set aside less money to cover potential credit losses during the quarter, USD 1.3 billion, than the USD 1.5 billion it did a year earlier.

Morgan Stanley jumped 5.1 per cent after the investment bank likewise delivered a better-than-expected quarter of results.

In stock markets abroad, indexes were mixed in Europe following modest gains in Asia.

In the bond market, the yield on the 10-year Treasury remained at 4.26%, where it was late Tuesday.

'Govt likely to roll out mobile PLI 2.0'

NEW DELHI: The government is likely to roll out production-linked incentives to boost mobile phone exports from the country by May with an outlay of over USD 5 billion, about Rs 46,000 crore, sources aware of the development said.

The Scheme for Large Scale Electronics Manufacturing (LSEM) was launched in 2020 with the aim to boost domestic manufacturing of mobile phones in the country with an outlay of Rs 40,995 crore, or about USD 5.7 billion based on exchange rate at that time.

LSEM was commonly known as production-linked incentive scheme (PLI) for mobile phones.

"The PLI 2.0 for mobile phones is in the works with a focus on boosting exports. It should be in place by May. The outlay is expected to be over USD 5 billion," a source on condition of anonymity said. Another source said the Ministry of Electronics and IT is in discussion with the finance minister for the PLI after which it will be placed before cabinet for final approval.

"Target is to double export of mobile phones from India.

'The PLI 2.0 for mobile phones is in the works with a focus on boosting exports. It should be in place by May. The outlay is expected to be over USD 5 billion,' sources said However, a lot of things are dependent on the outlay," the source said.

According to official data, smartphones worth Rs 2.62 lakh crore, about USD 28 billion, were exported in 2025 with Apple emerging as the poster boy of the scheme.

Total exports under the scheme till February 2026 have crossed 6.2 lakh crore, which is 27 per cent more than the target of Rs 4.87 lakh crore set up under the scheme. The scheme, however, generated 1.85 lakh jobs which is 8 per cent less than the target of 2 lakh jobs envisaged by the government under the scheme.

pletely unacceptable. Global growth demands that energy markets are not constricted," Jaishankar said on social media.

"As a major energy consumer, India will work with like-minded partners to develop supply chain resilience," he said.

The meeting was joined by 11 members of AZEC such as Australia and Singapore and the grouping's partner nations India, Bangladesh and South Korea. At the meeting, Japan released a new initiative called Partnership On Wide Energy and Resources Resilience (POWER) Asia to provide financial cooperation to Asian countries impacted by fuel supply shortages and supply chain disruptions. The financial support totalling about USD 10 billion will be used to provide fiscal support to Asian governments, strengthening energy supply systems and diversifying energy sources, the Japanese foreign ministry said.

"This framework aims to cooperate in emergency responses through financing procurement of crude oil, petroleum products and maintaining supply chains in Asia and addressing structural responses such as establishing stockpiling and release systems as well as the construction and utilization of storage tanks," it said. The foreign ministry said the initiative is also aimed at securing critical minerals and diversifying energy sources.

"The support involves financial cooperation of approximately 10 billion dollars," it said.

Takaichi said the countries most affected by disruptions in the supply of energy and other resources through the Strait of Hormuz are located in Asia, and it is necessary for them to work together to respond to this shared challenge.

MISMATCH CONCERNS

NHAI asks FASTag issuer banks to validate VRNs to enhance accuracy

MPOST BUREAU

NEW DELHI: State-owned NHAI on Wednesday said it has issued directions to all FASTag issuer banks to undertake immediate validation of vehicle registration numbers to enhance the accuracy and reliability of data in the electronic toll collection system.

NHAI, in a statement, said the decision follows receipt of complaints regarding instances where the VRN (vehicle registration number) captured by FASTag readers does not match the actual registration number displayed on the vehicle number plate.

Such discrepancies have the potential to undermine enforcement mechanisms and may lead to revenue evasion and also attract other penal provisions under the Motor Vehicles Act, 1988, it added.

It has been observed that a considerable number of such mismatches are associated with FASTags issued prior to their issuance with the VAHAN database, the statement said.

During that period, validation mechanisms were relatively limited and relied more on manual processes, leading to potential inconsistencies in vehicle identification records, it noted.

NHAI said it has emphasised that ensuring the correctness of VRN mapping with FASTag is of critical importance, especially in view of upcoming technology-driven initiatives such as Multi-Lane Free Flow (MLFF) tolling.

Under the MLFF framework, enforcement actions, including the issuance of electronic

NHAI said the decision follows receipt of complaints regarding instances where the VRN captured by FASTag readers does not match the actual registration number displayed on the vehicle number plate notices (e-Notices) to non-compliant vehicles, will significantly depend on accurate and verified vehicle identification data.

"In this context, all FASTag issuer banks have been directed to undertake urgent verification of FASTags issued by them and to blacklist those FASTags that are found to be linked with incorrect or invalid VRNs, in accordance with established Government guidelines," NHAI said.

SHARPEST MONTH-ON-MONTH INCREASE SINCE AUG 2023

WPI inflation hits over 3-year high of 3.88% in March on higher fuel prices

MPOST BUREAU

NEW DELHI: Wholesale price inflation rose sharply to an over 3-year high of 3.88 per cent in March, driven by a sharp spike in rates of fuel, power and manufactured items amid the West Asia crisis.

Government data released on Wednesday showed that the Wholesale Price Index (WPI)-based inflation rose for the fifth straight month in March as core inflation accelerated, amid softening of primary food items. The high WPI inflation in March reflects elevated global commodity prices and the impact of the energy price shock since the beginning of the US-Israel-Iran conflict on February 28.

WPI inflation was 2.13 per cent in February, and 2.25 per cent in March last year.

“Positive rate of inflation in March 2026 is primarily due to increase in prices of crude petroleum & natural gas, other manufacturing, non-food articles, manufacture of basic metals and food articles, etc.,” the industry ministry said in a

According to the latest WPI data, inflation in the fuel and power basket spiked to 1.05 per cent in March, from a deflation of 3.78 per cent in February.

Inflation in crude petroleum surged to 51.57 per cent during March, against a deflation of 1.29 per cent in the previous month.

Manufactured products inflation rose to 3.39 per cent in March, from 2.92 per cent in February. Barclays, in a research note, said that March WPI is the sharpest month-on-month increase seen since August 2023.

“As global energy prices stay elevated and eventually trickle to other commodity prices, we expect WPI inflation to rise further going ahead,” Barclays said, adding that it expects RBI to persist with a pause in interest rates through 2026.

During March, the pace of hike in food articles prices, however, eased to 1.90 per cent, from 2.19 per cent in February.

In vegetables, inflation softened to 1.45 per cent in March, against 4.73 per cent in February.

WPI inflation in FY26 averaged at 0.7 per cent, lower than the 2.3 per cent average seen in FY25.

India-UK FTA likely to come into force from May: Commerce Secy

‘FTA with NZ may be signed on Apr 27’

MPOST BUREAU

NEW DELHI: India and the UK Free Trade agreement (FTA), signed in July last year, is likely to come into force from May, Commerce Secretary Rajesh Agrawal said on Wednesday.

India and the UK signed the Comprehensive Economic and Trade Agreement (CETA), under which 99 per cent of Indian exports will enter the British market at zero duty, while tariffs on British products, such as cars and whisky, will be reduced in India.

“We expect the free trade agreement related to UK to come into operation in May sometime. We are yet to finalize the date because there are certain discussions on their (UK) side also,” he told reporters here.

He also expressed hope that FTA with Oman would come into force by June 1.

India and Oman signed an FTA in December last year. It will provide duty-free access to 98 per cent of India’s exports including textiles, agri and leather goods in Oman.

On the other hand, India will reduce tariffs on Omani products such as dates, marbles and petrochemical items.

“We also expect our FTA with New Zealand to be signed on April 27,” he said.

The two countries had announced the conclusion of negotiations for the trade deal on December 22 last year, with

The pact would provide tariff-free access for Indian goods in the New Zealand market and attract up to USD 20 billion in investment over the next 15 years.

Further, he said that the “mother of all trade deals” - the India-EU FTA - is expected to be signed within this calendar year.

“We will try to get it into operation before the end of this financial year. That is the ambition with which we are working,” the secretary said.

Once all these pacts come into operation, Indian businesses will see an increased opportunity for exports.

On the proposed trade pact with Canada, the secretary said the next round of negotiations will be held here in May.

China surpasses US as India’s ‘largest’ trading partner in FY26

Trade deficit with Beijing widened to $112.16 billion

However, exports to the UAE, Germany, Hong Kong, Italy, Nepal, Brazil, Spain, Belgium, and Vietnam registered positive growth last fiscal year.

The major trading partners with which India recorded negative imports growth in 2025-26 include Russia, Iraq, Indonesia, Australia, Qatar, and Taiwan.

However, imports from the UAE, Saudi Arabia, Hong Kong, Switzerland, Singapore, Japan, Korea, Germany, Thailand, and Malaysia registered positive growth in the last fiscal year.

IIFCL hosts roundtable on infrastructure risk resilience

NEW DELHI: India Infrastructure Finance Company Limited (IIFCL), in collaboration with Swiss Re and the Embassy of Switzerland to India and Bhutan, hosted a closed-door roundtable on strengthening risk resilience in India’s infrastructure sector.

Held at the India Habitat Centre, the roundtable brought together senior representatives from government, financial institutions, insurers, developers and multilateral agencies, including the World Bank. Discussions focused on integrating insurance and reinsurance solutions into infrastructure financing to address rising climate and operational risks.

Setting the context, IIFCL Deputy Managing Director Palash Srivastava highlighted the increasing scale of infrastructure investments alongside growing exposure to climate-related and systemic risks. He stressed the need to embed risk transfer mechanisms early in project structuring to improve resilience and credit quality.

The roundtable featured two sessions examining risk hotspots, protection gaps and strategies for mobilising insurance and pension capital, as well as pathways for enhancing project bankability through risk de-risking.

The deliberations concluded with key insights on identifying priority risk areas, developing scalable solutions and strengthening collaboration among stakeholders to support resilient infrastructure growth.

India among world’s most advanced AI users but adoption uneven: Report

India is one of fastest-growing AI builder ecosystems globally: OpenAI

MPOST BUREAU

NEW DELHI: India ranks among the world’s most advanced AI markets, particularly in coding, data analysis, and complex reasoning, but adoption here is 3-times more concentrated in top cities than in comparable nations, OpenAI said on Wednesday citing its latest ‘capability gap findings’ for India.

India ranks among the top five nations globally in thinking capability usage per person (measured via reasoning tokens used by ChatGPT Plus users), with users regularly solving complex problems and interacting with AI at an advanced level.

India is one of the fastest-growing AI builder ecosystems globally, with four times growth in ‘Codex users’ (AI coding tool) in just two weeks after the launch of OpenAI’s Codex app in Feb 2026, as well as strong rankings in both coding and data analysis usage.

That said, this capability is

CLOSER LOOK

» The top ten cities in India account for about 50% of all AI users, led by Delhi NCR, which has the highest population penetration of ChatGPT in the country

» Taken together, these cities represent less than 10% of the population, making AI adoption about 3-times more concentrated in India than in countries like the US, UK, Brazil, & Germany not evenly distributed. AI usage in India remains highly concentrated in a handful of cities, with advanced use even more unevenly spread, a release by OpenAI, said.

The top ten cities in India account for about 50 per cent of all AI users, led by Delhi NCR, which has the highest population penetration of ChatGPT in the country.

Taken together, these cities represent less than 10 per cent of the population, making AI adoption about 3-times more concentrated in India than in comparable countries like the US, UK, Brazil, and Germany.

In advanced use cases, the gap widens significantly - data analysis usage is up to 30 times higher in leading versus lagging cities, coding usage is 4-times higher, and AI developer (Codex) usage shows a 9-times gap. “This indicates that while India has competitive AI capability, its deepest advantages are clustering in a small number of urban hubs, including Bengaluru, Hyderabad, Delhi, and Chennai,” the release further said.

The capability gap findings highlight that beyond the top cities, some of the most meaningful use cases are emerging in areas like education and health, reflecting the manner in which AI is already being used in day-to-day contexts.

In education and learning, eastern states are seeing particularly strong engagement. A case in point is Assam, where 22 per cent of all messages relate to education and learning, around 20 per cent higher than the national average.

Odisha, Manipur, Tripura, and Chhattisgarh show similar patterns. In health and wellness, higher engagement is visible in regions such as Jammu & Kashmir, Punjab, Chandigarh, Himachal Pradesh, and Kerala.

Royal Challengers have a ball

RCB ride on pace bowlers' excellence to outclass LSG by 5 wickets

BENGALURU: Experience of pacers Josh Hazlewood and Bhuvneshwar Kumar found an ally in the youthful exuberance of Rasikh Salam Dar as Royal Challengers Bengaluru outclassed Lucknow Super Giants by five wickets in an IPL match here on Wednesday.

A slightly slow Chinnaswamy pitch, much against the pre-match notions, would have been RCB's bigger concern in the chase of 147.

But once Virat Kohli (49) and skipper Rajat Patidar (27) mastered the deck and the LSG bowlers, the home side scaled down the target in 15.1 overs.

Kohli played a typical innings during the chase, striking well over 200 at the start as RCB quickly overcame the early dismissal of Phil Salt.

Kohli, who slammed four fours in a Prince Yadav over, and Devdutt Padikkal added 57 runs for the second wicket and the latter's contribution was a handsome 10 before getting out. However, the former skipper could not complete yet another IPL fifty as he holed out pacer Avesh Khan to Nicholas Pooran at long-on.

But Patidar continued his six-hitting ways -- two in a row of Mohammed Shami and one off Prince -- as RCB whittle down the target considerably.

Royal Challengers Bengaluru's Rasikh Salam was the pick of the bowlers

PTI

Patidar and Jitesh Sharma got out in their effort to finish off the chase in quick time, but they have already done enough to seal points from this game.

Before batters showed up, RCB gained upper hand over LSG through exceptional spells by Salam (4/24), Bhuvneshwar (3/27) and Hazlewood (1/20).

Hazlewood might have taken only a wicket but his effort with the new ball in the Power Play went a long way to bundle out LSG for a sub-par 146.

The night turned out to be even grimmer for the Super Giants as their skipper Rishabh Pant had to retire hurt on zero after a copping a blow on his left elbow by RCB pacer Hazlewood. However, Pant returned to bat briefly later when his side was struggling at 118 for five after the dismissal of Ayush Badoni in the 16th over.

He did not keep the wickets either as Mukul Choudhary did the duty during RCB's chase.

Hazlewood bowled three overs in the Power Play that read a scarcely believable 3-0-10-1, helping RCB restrict LSG to a way below par 35 for one in the Power Play. Apart from cutting short a struggling Pant's tenure brutally, Hazlewood (4-0-20-1) inflicted more pain on LSG by dismissing out for form Pooran, who dragged the pacer on to his stumps. The lengths of Hazlewood, who returned in place of Jacob Duffy for this match, was so immaculate that none of the LSG batters could find any space to get him away. AGENCIES

No Rohit as Mumbai face PBKS

MUMBAI: Rohit Sharma is all but ruled out of selection for Mumbai Indians' Indian Premier League clash against Punjab Kings on Thursday and is currently being assessed by the team's medical staff. Rohit had walked off during MI's batting innings in the sixth over after experiencing discomfort in his hamstring during last Sunday's clash against Royal Challengers Bengaluru.

MI would nevertheless need a collective effort to come out of the mire they are in. For a squad which promised to have all bases covered before the IPL began, MI have largely had an underwhelming campaign even after they won their tournament opener for the first time in 13 seasons. Since their most recent loss, MI must have gone back to the drawing board in order to overcome their powerplay woes. AGENCIES

Ajinkya Rahane has painted a sorry picture so far in the IPL

PTI

NEW DELHI: Ajinkya Rahane seems to be living in a bubble these days, a common characteristic with some of the accomplished Indian cricketers.

The "bubble" is a shield for them to deflect any proverbial "outside noise" which in another world means valid criticism that one doesn't want to hear.

There have been many instances when teams have had horrible start to their IPL campaigns but never has a team looked so disjointed and a captain so clueless and with a batting approach as archaic as the inception of the IPL.

Truth be told, the grammar of T20 batting has been changed upside down by the young turks like Abhishek Sharma, Ishan Kishan and now Vaibhav Sooryavanshi has taken it to an altogether different level. Not to forget the Ayush Mhatres and Priyansh Aryas. At 37, Rahane is simply incapable of playing the catch-up game or mould his batting philosophy, which is based on muscle memory built over the past 20 years.

There are serious questions being raised on how Rahane could remain the captain of this side when he shouldn't be making the squad as a batter.

In five games, Rahane has managed only seven sixes but what is more baffling is that he has been able to hit only eight boundaries. For a top-order batter, who is either opening or coming in at No.3, an average of three boundaries (fours or sixes) per game is criminal at this level. The strike-rate of less than 150, which perhaps was good enough in pre-Covid days, is only cutting a sorry picture for the man, who is a respected former Test skipper with 80 plus red ball games for the country.

With his deputy Rinku Singh in equally poor form, handling another player battling his own form is the last thing that KKR management would like to do. AGENCIES

A NETS CHAT THE REASON How Dhoni helped Noor spin a web against KKR

Praful Hinge burst onto the IPL scene with a magical first over

PTI

CHENNAI: Spinner Noor Ahmad's match-winning spell against Kolkata Knight Riders followed a lengthy conversation with Chennai Super Kings icon MS Dhoni in the nets.

The left-arm wrist spinner from Afghanistan ended with figures of three for 21 in four overs, accounting for wickets of Ajinkya Rahane, Rinku Singh and Cameron Green in the middle overs to set up CSK's 32-run win.

Up till Monday night, Noor was yet to make an impact in the ongoing tournament, having taken a solitary wicket in four games.

On a pitch offering little bit of help, Noor was able to get on top of the batters. He got rid of Green with a quicker one into the stumps that the Australia failed to connect.

CSK assistant coach Sridharan Sriram spoke about the work Noor had put heading into the game and the chat with Dhoni, who has not been in action yet this season due to a calf strain.

"I think it was good, the wicket helped today, there was a little bit of boredom for him. The other wickets were quite flat. Today, he was a little bit slower through the air. There was more side spin on the ball, and there was more drop. So that's something he's been working on.

MS had a long chat with him during one of the practice sessions, getting him to bowl more leg break.

"Even MS had a long chat with him during one of the practice sessions, getting him to bowl more leg break. So I think it was very helpful today and the results were there to show," said Sriram at the post-match press conference.

Sriram stressed on the importance of getting deviation off the pitch for spinners.

"I think to be able to get some deviation off the surface is very important. I think that is what he's been working on. Everybody accepts there are going to be days when the wickets are going to be very flat." AGENCIES

End of an era as Axelsen hangs up racquet; Sen pens emotional tribute

NEW DELHI: Two-time Olympics and world champion Danish badminton great Viktor Axelsen announced his retirement on Wednesday, saying that his injury-ravaged body has told him to "stop".

The 32-year-old has not competed since October last year due to a back problem which had needed surgery and left him in chronic pain.

"As most people know, I have been struggling with my back for quite some time. After I had surgery in April last year and went through a long rehabilitation process, I unfortunately had a setback in October," Axelsen, a three-time European champion, told 'Badminton Europe'.

"Since those tournaments, I have not been able to play or train at the level required. I have not been able to play or train due to pain, and that is why I am unfortunately forced to make this extremely difficult decision," he said.

Axelsen, who held the world No. 1 position for 183 weeks which is the third longest run of all time, said that with the pain not subsiding and doctors warning him of another surgery if he continued, he finally had to listen to his body.

Vaishali stays calm to win Candidates

PAPHOS: Grandmaster R Vaishali regained her composure at a crucial juncture and staged a fine comeback to outplay Kateryna Lagno in the final round, sealing victory to be crowned the outright champion of the Women's Candidates Tournament, which concluded here on Wednesday.

R Vaishali, long seen in the shadow of her younger sibling R Praggnanandhaa, has now carved her own path to the biggest stage in women's chess, earning the right to take on China's Ju Wenjun in the World Championship match later this year.

In doing so, Vaishali, who secured a total of 8.5 points, followed in the footsteps of Koneru Humpy, a feat that underscores the steady rise of women's chess in the country.

In the Open section, Javokhir Sindarov played out a draw with China's Wei Yi to seal his place as the challenger to reigning world champion D Gukesh.

India's Praggnanandhaa signed off with a draw against American star Hikaru Nakamura.

PRIME VIDEO'S 'MATKA KING'

Kritika decodes the game of 'Matka'

Kamra said that privilege can be its own kind of trap and nobody knows that better than Gulrukh

OUR CORRESPONDENT

Privilege can be its own kind of trap and nobody knows that better than Gulrukh. Brought to life by Kritika Kamra in Prime Video's 'Matka King', she is a young Parsi widow from an affluent, sheltered world, yet with little real experience of life beyond it, making this unlike any character Kritika has played before. What drew Kritika in was the contradiction at Gulrukh's core and how the world of 'Matka' becomes the unlikely place where she finally finds herself.

Talking about playing Gulrukh in 'Matka King', Kritika shared, "Gulrukh comes from a space of power, privilege and a protected environment, yet despite all of this, she feels powerless and that's what makes the character so interesting. It's about how her journey in the show eventually leads her to discover her own sense of power. There's a strong contrast in her world. She belongs to one reality but finds herself stepping into another and that dynamic between people and power is extremely fascinating. My upbringing and Gulrukh's upbringing have nothing in common, so it was especially interesting to step into the shoes of someone who comes from privilege yet is looking for power to be liberated."

Elaborating on understanding the game of

'It's about how her journey in the show eventually leads her to discover her own sense of power,' she says

'Matka', Kritika Kamra added, "We played 'Matka' multiple times, during table reads, on set, just to understand, because until you play the game, you won't understand the technicalities of it. We had received a brief which helped us understand the game theoretically; we read it, re-read it and then finally, after multiple rounds, understood the game."

Created and written by Abhay Koranne and created, written and directed by Nagraj Popatrao Manjule, the series features Vijay Varma, Kritika Kamra, Sai Tamhankar, Siddharth Jadhav, Bhupendra Jadawat and Gulshan Grover in lead roles. The cast also boasts Bharat Jadhav, Girish Kulkarni, Jamie Lever, Kishor Kadam, Cyrus Sahukar, Arpita Sethia, Sambhaji Tangade, Ishiyak Khan, Sanjiv Jotangia and Simran Ashwini in key roles.

Yash opens up about 'Toxic'

He said gangster drama goes beyond action and explores human psychology

Yash has been away from the big screen for nearly four years. Following the massive success of 'KGF: Chapter 2' in 2022, the actor has been working on two ambitious projects - 'Toxic' and 'Ramayana'.

While the Ramayana is slated for a grand Diwali release this year, Toxic, which was initially scheduled to hit theatres on March 19 alongside Ranveer Singh's 'Dhurandhar 2', was abruptly postponed, reportedly due to the ongoing conflict in the Gulf. Even earlier, when the teaser of 'Toxic' was unveiled, it sparked intense debate online. Filmmakers like Ram Gopal Varma praised director Geethu Mohandas for her bold vision, while others criticised it, calling it misogynistic. However, Yash believes the film carries a deeper psychological layer that audiences will only fully grasp once it is released.

Speaking to 'Fandango', Yash said, "'Toxic' is a very ambitious film. For the first time, we have also shot it in English. At face value, it may seem like a typical gangster drama packed with action, but it's far more layered. It explores deep psychological themes and aspects of human behaviour that audiences can relate to. It's a unique way of presenting a dark character. Working with Geethu Mohandas has been exciting - she has brought a fresh perspective to the genre. With some of the best technicians on board, it will be a visual spectacle that also leaves a strong psychological impact."

'Toxic is a very ambitious film. For the first time, we have also shot it in English,' he says

Reflecting on his affinity for intense roles, the actor added, "I have often played dark characters because they allow for greater exploration - there are no boundaries. 'Toxic' offers multiple shades, distinct looks and powerful performances by a talented ensemble. India itself is incredibly diverse - every few kilometres, there's a new language and culture. The idea of 'Pan-India' cinema is to bring all of that together. This film blends commercial appeal with a fresh storytelling approach, making it a truly unique experience."

Yash also revealed that both 'Toxic' and 'Ramayana' stem from a shared vision of bridging Eastern and Western storytelling sensibilities.

I wish I had sat with him more: Bobby

He talked about his father Dharmendra

Legendary Bollywood actor Dharmendra passed away in November last year, leaving a void that is impossible to fill. In a recent interview, the late actor's son Bobby Deol opened up about the grief that has settled in after such a loss and how it has brought the entire family together in a transformative way.

In a conversation with 'Esquire India', Bobby shared, "There are all these days, when I wish I had sat with him more. I wish I had asked him more questions." Reflecting on a time when his father spoke about poems he had written, verses born from his own regret at not spending enough time with his own father, Kewal Kishan Singh Deol, the 'Animal' actor said, "That really moved me. But I suppose this is the cycle of life."

He further spoke about the changes that have occurred within him since his father's passing. "Now more than ever, I'm mindful of being with my sons, my wife and my family. The box office, the reviews, the roles, eventually they don't matter, man. Success is measured in how much time you can afford to spend with the ones you love. What's the point of fame and wealth when there's no one to witness it with you?"

Bobby Deol said that his father Dharmendra's passing has brought him closer to Esha Deol and Ahana Deol

Bobby Deol also reminisced about Dharmendra, saying, "You know, I keep watching his reels on 'Instagram'. He was so candid, so full of warmth. Sometimes it feels like he's talking directly to me." Reflecting on his father's final film, 'Ikki', Bobby revealed that during the premiere, he wore one of Dharmendra's favourite shirts. "He'd wear it everywhere, so I took it out and wore it at the premiere. It felt like he was there with me."

Grief has also brought Bobby closer to his half-sisters, Esha Deol and Ahana Deol. "I feel we're all dealing with it in our own ways."

YOUNG SHERLOCK SEASON 2

Prime Video greenlights second season

OUR CORRESPONDENT

Prime Video announced the renewal of 'Young Sherlock', starring Hero Fiennes Tiffin ('After' series) as Sherlock Holmes. From visionary director Guy Ritchie, the series is an irreverent, action-packed mystery that charts the legendary origin story of the world's greatest detective.

"Young Sherlock" has that rare magic - millions of fans around the world aren't just watching a detective story; they're falling in love with the origin of an icon," said Peter Friedlander, Head of Global Television, Amazon MGM Studios. "Guy Ritchie and Matthew Parkhill have cracked the code on making Sherlock's early years feel fresh, dangerous and utterly addictive and have introduced a compelling take on James Moriarty that sets the stage for what's to come. We can't wait to see where they take him next in season two."

Guy Ritchie will return to direct the first episode of the second season

Guy Ritchie will return to direct the first episode of the second season. Through its first 28 days of release, 'Young Sherlock' reached 45 million viewers. The series hit number one in over 95 countries worldwide, with 63 per cent of its audience coming from international markets and an outside performance in the UK, India and Germany.

Season one of 'Young Sherlock' also starred Donal Finn ('The Wheel of Time'), Zine Tseng ('3 Body Problem'), Joseph Fiennes ('The Handmaid's Tale'), Natascha McElhone ('Halo'), Max Irons ('Condor') and Colin Firth ('The King's Speech').

Guy Ritchie serves as an executive producer and will return as a director in season two to direct the first episode of the season.

Kavita Kaushik reveals what drew her to 'Kaptaan'

OUR CORRESPONDENT

Amazon MX Player continues to captivate audiences with its gritty cop drama, 'Kaptaan'. Set in the volatile world of Jwalabad, the series is driven by power struggles, shifting loyalties and characters who operate in morally complicated spaces. And one such stand-out character is Kavita Kaushik's DSP Preet. For audiences, Kavita in a cop's uniform isn't new. It's rather iconic. It's a space she owned and redefined on the small screen. But with 'Kaptaan', she returns to that familiar uniform after years, only to completely flip it on its head.

Talking about what drew her to her character, Kavita shared, "When I was approached for 'Kaptaan', what truly drew me in was the negative shade of my character. I've portrayed strong characters before, but this one required me to explore darker, funnier and more layered shades. It was challenging to balance intensity with subtlety and to understand the character's motivations without making them one-dimensional. As an actor, that process pushed me out of my comfort zone."

Reflecting on the pace and energy

'What truly drew me in was the negative shade of my character,' she says of the shoot, she added, "One word that truly captures the spirit of working on 'Kaptaan' for me is speed. The pace of the shoot was phenomenal. I don't think I've ever filmed my scenes faster on any project before. What's remarkable is that this rush never felt chaotic. There were clarity and preparedness behind every day on set that kept things running efficiently. The energy was simply infectious."

Chitrangda Singh appreciates Salman Khan's work ethic

'He is constantly thinking about the film,' says the actress

Maarubhum: May War Rest in Peace' is an upcoming war epic film starring Chitrangda Singh and Salman Khan in the lead roles. The acclaimed actress recently opened up about working with Salman Khan and what one quality of the star left her shocked.

Chitrangda, while talking about their latest film with 'Variety India', opened up about how Salman Khan often worked on set. She revealed that she was left in awe because of his work ethic, as there was no 'off day' for him. "I mean, he's constantly thinking about work and the film; how he can better it, what else he can add to the VFX or any other part of the frame. That level of dedication requires something else. What I learned from him was how passionate he is about work. He is very interested in what is going on, even with other people's scenes," she revealed.

She further added that he would also go above and beyond for his work and was even by her side when he didn't even have a shoot at the time.

The actress shared that she had an early morning shoot during one of the scenes. Since it was one of the more emotional scenes, the 'Sultan' actor was right there to support her. "He made sure he was there and quite early in the day, to see that I was able to deliver in the scene. He didn't have to be there, but he came because I was reacting to him on the phone."

Iyer says his job to take pressure, urges us to play freely: Nehal

MUMBAI: Skipper Shreyas Iyer urges Punjab Kings' players to go about their job as freely as possible as it is his job to take pressure, said Nehal Wadhera here on Wednesday.

The Iyer-led Punjab Kings, runner-up from the last IPL, will look to maintain their unbeaten run this season when they face off against a struggling Mumbai Indians here at the Wankhede Stadium on Thursday.

"Only yesterday, I was having a chat with him and he told me, 'tu khel bindaas, pressure lena mera kaam hai' (you play freely, it's my job to take the pressure)," Wadhera told reporters ahead of Punjab's training session here.

"This tells a lot about him as Wadhera also said Ponting's presence at practice is also full of important exchanges between players and coach a captain. He enjoys the pressure, that's why you can see it in his performance (and) in his batting."

"I think it's a big thing for a captain to say this to his player. I felt really good after listening to this, that 'you play your own game, don't worry about the results, I am here to take the pressure, and I will get the team across the line,'" he added.

Wadhera said the presence of legendary Australian Ricky Ponting as Punjab's head coach is especially beneficial for those Indian players who have not yet had a taste of international cricket.

"He just speaks positively. He tells us to play freely and that we will back you (the players), and (it is) not just him, even Shreyas Iyer has a big hand in this."

Wadhera said Ponting's presence at the practice sessions is also full of important exchanges between players and the head coach.

"Everything is available to us. If we want to go to practice early, he is always there available for us, standing there at the nets," he said.

STUDY ABROAD CHOICES EVOLVE FOR INDIAN STUDENTS AMID US-IRAN CONFLICT

Germany, France, Spain, Italy, Ireland, New Zealand and Japan emerge as alternative picks

ANINDITA ACHARYA

The ongoing Middle East crisis hasn't deterred Indian students from pursuing education abroad, but it has made both them and their parents more cautious in their decision-making. There is now a sharper focus on choosing destinations based on safety, stability, and long-term prospects. At the same time, traditional favourites such as the USA and the UK continue to remain top choices among Indian students. "Not just from a safety point of view but people also worry about financial risks and the risk of being stranded overseas, particularly since what happened with lockdowns during the Covid-19 pandemic," said Saurabh Arora, Founder & CEO, University Living. In fact, Arora said that the traditional destinations still remain central. The USA hosted over 3.6 lakh Indian students in the latest academic year, the UK around 1.46 lakh, and Australia over 1.4 lakh. These markets continue to form the core consideration set.

Nearly five lakh Indian students, accounting for almost a quarter of India's total overseas student population, are currently based in Gulf countries, many of which are now in the line of fire amid the ongoing US-Israel-Iran conflict. In recent years, the Gulf, especially the UAE and Qatar, has emerged as an attractive higher education destination for Indian students, owing to its proximity to India, relatively lower tuition fees compared to Western countries, and the presence of reputed international university branch campuses.

Meanwhile, of the roughly 1,200 Indian students who were stranded in Iran, most of them from Jammu and Kashmir, around 1,100 have now returned to India. Iran has been a preferred destination for many Indian students pursuing medical education, largely due to its affordable tuition, lower cost of living, and availability of English-medium programmes.

According to Craig Smitherman, Head of International Recruitment at the University of East Anglia, the conflicts demonstrate why keeping an open mind and keeping oneself informed on the opportunities in different study locations is important. "The UK offers not only some of the best higher education opportunities in the world, but also these programmes can be on offer in different countries - even occasionally allowing students to start in one global location and finish in another. Institutions, private, public and international, in the Middle East tend to have many influences from the UK higher education sector, making Great Britain a natural choice as an alternative destination," he said.

In 2025, India had 1.88 million students studying abroad across 150 countries, according to data compiled from various government sources. Abizer Merchant, Director

MOVE WITH CAUTION

- » The Middle East crisis has made Indian students and parents more cautious, but the USA, UK remain top study destinations
- » Students are now looking at alternatives like Germany, Australia, France, Ireland, New Zealand, Japan, Poland, and South Korea
- » Safety, costs, visa rules and career options are now key factors in choosing where to study abroad

(India & Sri Lanka), Macquarie University, Sydney, Australia, informed how the present times require both the students and their parents to think more about the safety and security.

"A number of Indian universities are offering students the opportunity to study part of their degree in India and then transfer with credit to a partner university overseas. These are referred to as dual degrees or twinning arrangements. This allows students to reduce their costs by completing part of their degree in India and then getting the international experience at the overseas partner university. In some cases, the degree is conferred by the Indian university and their overseas partner separately. These options should be seriously considered by students and parents," said Abizer Merchant, Director (India & Sri Lanka), Macquarie University, Sydney, Australia.

With the US-Iran war still on, several other study abroad options are becoming popular among Indian students. Arora informed how stronger interests are being noticed in Germany, France, Spain, and Italy, where lower tuition costs, increasing English-taught programmes, and clearer post-study pathways are making these destinations more viable. "At the same time, destinations like Ireland, New Zealand, and Japan are gaining traction, supported by research opportunities, institutional partnerships, and defined career pathways," said Arora. Students are also evaluating countries like Poland, and South Korea, and making decisions based on cost, career outcomes, and long-term stability rather than familiarity alone.

Merchant highlights how Southeast Asia, Australia and New Zealand remain attractive study destinations despite the conflict. "Besides being geographically away from the conflict zone, these countries continue to offer high quality education and an excellent international experience for students. The conflict is likely to raise the costs of study and living in all destinations and no country will be immune to this," he said.

Arora believes students today need to look at studying abroad as a full journey, not just an admission decision. Of course, safety and stability remain important, but they are now being evaluated alongside how predictable the overall experience will be. "This includes visa timelines, approval consistency, and clarity on post-study work rights. A destination may be attractive academically, but if the policy environment is uncertain, students are factoring that in much earlier," he said.

At the highest levels of an organization, the most consequential work often happens within. Emotional steadiness, the ability to reframe a crisis, and the presence that commands attention do not emerge solely from strategy workshops. They are the result of deliberate inner transformation. Addressing this critical shift, XLRI Jamshedpur is offering the Senior Executive Development Programme in Transformational Leadership for CXOs. Now in its ninth batch, this eight-month reflective journey is designed for experienced leaders ready to lead with greater clarity, resilience, and depth. Having engaged over 300 participants across various industries, the programme moves beyond conventional skill development to foster meaningful, lasting behavioural change.

The programme is deliberately structured to bridge theory and practice. It combines live interactive online sessions, experiential case studies, and continuous cohort engagement. Crucially, the digital learning is anchored by two immersive three-day residential modules at the XLRI Jamshedpur campus. The learning is built around four core pillars including mindful leadership, leading self and others, psychological resilience and ethical anchors.

UK's Birkbeck University of London gets UGC nod to open Bengaluru campus

To offer UK degrees at 60% lower cost for Indian students

OUR CORRESPONDENT

The entry of foreign universities on Indian soil has gained momentum. The latest to enter India with its first overseas campus in Bengaluru is Birkbeck, University of London. Students in India will be able to access the same degree that is offered in London, but at nearly 60% lower cost. "The students will now be able to access world-class international education at significantly lower costs, nearly 60% less compared to studying abroad. This is critical to ensuring equity and expanding opportunities," said Vineet Joshi, Chairperson, UGC.

The Bengaluru campus will offer globally recognised University of London degrees, maintaining the same rigorous academic standards, research-driven teaching, and industry-integrated curriculum as its UK counterpart. Birkbeck also plans to incorporate artificial intelligence into both teaching and learning processes. Founded in 1823, the university has more than 1,000 international students from over 100 countries.

Located in Sattva Tech Park, in one of Bengaluru's most important technology and business districts, which is home to the India headquarters of many global technology companies, students will be able to study both undergraduate and postgraduate degrees in business management and business analytics at the Birkbeck, University of London campus.

Professor Sally Wheeler OBE, Vice-Chancellor of Birkbeck, University of London said, "Birkbeck, University of London is well-known in the UK for the quality of education it provides and for the transformational impact this has on its students' lives, as well as the benefits this brings to the London, UK and wider international economy.
