

STORMY SESSION SEES SHARP POLITICAL CLASH

Women’s quota defeat: Delhi House passes censure motion against Oppn

AIMAN FATIMA

NEW DELHI: A stormy special session of the Delhi Assembly on Tuesday witnessed sharp political confrontation as the House passed a censure motion against the Opposition over the recent defeat of the Women’s Reservation Bill in Parliament, with Chief Minister Rekha Gupta calling the episode “a black chapter of Indian democracy”.

Moving the motion, Gupta accused Opposition parties of indulging in “narrow political gains” and “conspiring” to block a historic opportunity for women’s representation. “Women across the country were watching Parliament with hope that their 78-year-long wait would end. What happened instead was deeply disappointing,” she said, adding, “It was a sad day and a black chapter of our democracy”.

The Chief Minister asserted that the Centre, under Prime Minister Narendra Modi, had taken a decisive step through the Nari Shakti Vandan Adhiniyam to ensure 33 percent reservation for women in legislatures. However, she alleged that the Opposition stalled its implementation on “technical grounds” to delay women’s empowerment. “This is not just about a Bill, but about the dignity and rights of half the population,” she said.

Gupta also launched a sharp attack on Opposition leaders, stating that “those who speak of women’s empowerment step back when it is time to act.” Targeting Congress leader Priyanka Gandhi, she remarked, “Priyanka Gandhi gave the ‘Ladki Hun Lad Sakti Hun’ slogan, and herself ran away when women were fighting for their rights.” The session saw high drama as AAP members walked out, alleging they were not allowed to speak freely. Speaker Vijender Gupta rejected the charge, saying every member was given time and that the Opposition “created drama” to avoid listening to ruling party members. In a symbolic gesture, BJP MLA Shikha Roy was invited by Speaker Vijender Gupta to conduct proceedings for a brief period. Earlier, BJP MLAs, along with ministers, staged a protest inside the Assembly wearing black armbands. Health Minister Dr Pankaj Kumar Singh said, “If there was genuine intent, the Opposition would have supported the Bill instead of creating excuses to derail it.” He added, “This is not just about a Bill; it is about the dignity and rightful representation of crores of women.”

Cabinet Minister Manjinder Singh Sirsa termed the Opposition’s stand a historic mistake, saying, “History will not forgive those who played politics with women’s rights.” He added that the Bill would have ensured representation for “our sisters and daughters” in key legislative bodies. Opposition members, however, hit back, questioning the BJP’s record on women’s leadership and alleging that the Bill was being used for electoral gains. They also raised concerns over issues such as delimitation and caste expansion. Despite the heated exchanges, the ruling BJP

“Women across the country were watching Parliament with hope that their 78-year-long wait would end. What happened instead was deeply disappointing... It was a sad day and a black chapter of our democracy — CM Rekha pushed through the censure motion by voice vote, framing the debate as a larger battle over women’s rights and political intent. The Constitution (131st Amendment) Bill failed to pass in the Lok Sabha after being voted down by opposition parties. The proposed legislation aimed to raise the total number of Lok Sabha seats from the existing 543 to as many as 816, in order to facilitate the implementation of women’s reservation ahead of the 2029 general elections. This expansion was to be carried out through a delimitation exercise based on the 2011 Census.

CM Rekha Gupta leads torch march in Delhi over Women’s Reservation Bill

NEW DELHI: A large group of women, led by Chief Minister Rekha Gupta and Delhi BJP president Virendra Sachdeva, took out a torch march in Connaught Place on Tuesday, protesting against opposition parties over the Women’s Reservation Bill and holding a public awareness campaign on the issue. Women from diverse backgrounds, including doctors, teachers, advocates and homemakers, participated in the “Mashal Jaloos”, which was organised to express support for the Nari Shakti Vandan Act introduced by the Centre and to criticise opposition parties for allegedly attempting to stall it.

Addressing the gathering, Chief Minister Rekha Gupta launched a sharp attack on opposition leaders, saying, “The opposition cannot see beyond the women of their own families, due to which an ordinary woman can neither contest elections nor reach the Lok Sabha.” She added, “The way the opposition has, on one pretext or another, violated women’s rights, the anger in the hearts of women across the country has now come out from homes onto the streets.” Gupta also said that the Women’s Reservation Bill had been introduced multiple times in Parliament over the years but was repeatedly blocked. Relief: DJB plans 250 school water ATMs

OUR CORRESPONDENT

NEW DELHI: The Delhi Jal Board is planning to install 250 water ATMs in schools as a measure to tackle heatwave and adverse weather conditions in the national capital, officials said on Tuesday.

Under the Delhi government’s action plan, Chief Minister Rekha Gupta has announced several measures that were being implemented in the city to tackle the heatwave. One of which is installing more water ATMs in schools, bus queue shelters, and other public spaces, they said.

“The aim is to provide regular, safe, and clean drinking water to children studying in government, government-aided, and local body schools, as well as to residents and passersby, thereby reducing dependence on tanker water,” the officials said.

As per the plan, the machines will be equipped with a GPS for showing real-time location and the facility of remote monitoring, auto-flushing, and self-regulation of key processes, ensuring minimal human intervention. “Each machine will have four to six taps, and the water will go through four levels of filtration before being supplied in schools,” an official added. The work has to be completed in three months. The schools in Delhi have also been directed to ring a bell every 45-60 minutes to remind students to drink water and pair them up in a “buddy system” to monitor each other’s health. These were part of fresh precautionary measures issued by the Directorate of Education (DoE) last week for Delhi government schools, aided schools, and private unaided recognised schools. This comes as the India Meteorological Department (IMD) warned of a likely heatwave and adverse weather conditions in the national capital in the coming days. During a recent review meeting with all the departments, Gupta also directed the DoE to make arrangements for the ORS solution across schools in Delhi.

Duty refusal lands 142 teachers in TROUBLE

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA

NEW DELHI: The district magistrate of Old Delhi has asked the director of education to terminate the services of 142 guest teachers for allegedly refusing to perform their statutory duty as census enumerators, terming the act “gross negligence and indiscipline”.

In a letter to the director of education dated April 24, the magistrate said, “The teachers declined to carry out assigned census work despite an earlier communication issued on April 16 highlighting the difficulties caused by their unwillingness to participate in the exercise.”

Commenting on the issue, Delhi Education Minister Ashish Sood said that census is a matter of national importance which everyone should support.

“We will look into the matter and consider the special cases sympathetically,” Sood said. The magistrate said the refusal amounted to gross negligence, dereliction of duty and was detrimental to public interest.

“It is being informed that 142 guest teachers have refused to perform the above-mentioned duty. The list is attached for reference,” the letter said.

The magistrate requested that their services be discontinued or terminated with immediate effect, saying that tolerating such acts of indiscipline could affect other staff members currently engaged in census duty.

He also said that allowing such non-compliance could disrupt the census process and weaken discipline among the employees performing the same statutory responsibility.

However, the teachers claimed that they have not received any termination letter yet.

Meanwhile, the Government Teachers Association (GTA) of Delhi has requested Sood to withdraw the proposed termination of the guest teachers.

GTA general secretary Ajay Veer wrote to Sood that all the concerned guest teachers are working on annual contracts, which are scheduled to expire on May 8.

Veer claimed the refusal to join census duty was not an act of deliberate disobedience but a result of practical difficulties, lack of adequate resources and extremely low remuneration.

He said there had been no increase in the daily remuneration of guest teachers for nearly eight years, and the existing amount was insufficient even to meet basic expenses such as commuting.

“The remuneration is not even adequate to meet basic expenses, making the discharge of such duties practically unviable,” he said.

Veer urged the authorities to withdraw the proposed termination and ensure that the annual contracts of the guest teachers are not discontinued during the summer vacation.

He also demanded that guest teachers continue to receive regular remuneration without any interruption and be given additional honorarium for census duty, similar to the extra payment provided to regular teachers over and above their salaries for the exercise.

L-G reviews NDMC heatwave plan

OUR CORRESPONDENT

NEW DELHI: Delhi Lt Governor Taranjit Singh Sandhu on Tuesday visited the Integrated Command and Control Centre (ICCC) at Palika Kendra to review the Summer Action Plan and ongoing heatwave mitigation measures.

The L-G’s official X handle posted that the New Delhi Municipal Council (NDMC) command centre serves as the digital nerve center of the capital, using Internet of Things (IoT)-based systems to integrate services — from water management to environmental monitoring.

“This technology-enabled model of governance has potential for replication in urban local bodies across the country to improve civic delivery,” the L-G said in a post.

As India moves toward a “Viksit Bharat”, the L-G said Delhi’s role remains central, with New Delhi symbolising that vision. “While the technological capabilities are commendable, the real priority shall be strong on-ground execution to protect vulnerable communities and frontline workers,” the L-G’s post read.

He said the administration is committed to supporting and strengthening resilient and citizen-centric urban governance.

According to officials, the NDMC has already issued a special circular directing departments such as horticulture, civil engineering, sanitation, and health to ensure availability of ORS packets, safe drinking water, protective gear, and revised working hours for field staff so as to minimise exposure during peak heat hours.

Public awareness campaigns through information, education, and communication activities and social media are also being conducted extensively, officials said.

NDMC chairperson Keshav Chandra said the ICCC was inaugurated in September 2020 under the Smart City Mission and has since emerged as a key governance platform.

“It integrates more than 49 civic services, including solid waste management, street lighting, parking systems, sewage treatment plants, sanitation operations, and emergency response mechanisms,” Chandra said.

NDMC Vice-chairman Kuljeet Singh Chahal said with advanced technologies such as GIS mapping, supervisory control and data acquisition integration, and GPS-enabled waste management systems, NDMC has elevated urban governance to new benchmarks of precision and efficiency.

Ahead of Mayoral polls, BJP sets 15-mth target to clear landfill

OUR CORRESPONDENT

NEW DELHI: Delhi BJP president Virendra Sachdeva on Tuesday urged party councillors, in a meeting ahead of the April 29 mayoral polls, to ensure cleanliness across every street and road in the city.

Sachdeva said councillors, along with their MLAs, should commit to maintaining cleanliness while the MCD works to clear all three landfill sites in the next 15 months.

According to the statement, the meeting held at the party’s state headquarters is to ensure a unified front as the electoral college prepares to elect the next mayor, deputy mayor and three vacant seats in the standing committee for Municipal Corporation of Delhi (MCD) elections.

Newly inducted into the BJP, Rajya Sabha MP Swati Maliwal attended the meeting for the first time.

The electoral college for this year’s mayoral election comprises 273 votes, including 249 councillors, 14 MLAs nominated by the Delhi Assembly, seven Lok Sabha MPs, and three Rajya Sabha members from Delhi who will decide the mayor. A candidate requires 137 votes to win the election.

The BJP has already fielded

Pravesh Wahi, a seasoned three-term councillor from Rohini-East, as its mayoral candidate.

With AAP opting out of the contest and the Congress nominating Haji Zarif, it is likely that the BJP candidate is going to sail through, as the incumbents hold the majority.

With the recent induction of AAP’s seven Rajya Sabha members into the party’s fold, the BJP’s sole focus is on capitalising on its strengthened numbers in the 273-member electoral college.

Going by current numbers, the BJP holds an edge with 143 votes, including 123 councillors, seven Lok Sabha and two Rajya Sabha MPs and 11 MLAs. The AAP has 105 votes, comprising 100 councillors, three MLAs, and two Rajya Sabha members, with Swati Maliwal recently quitting the party and joining the BJP.

Within the saffron camp, senior leaders emphasised that the new Mayor would prioritise resolving the administrative deadlock and fast-tracking civic projects across the city. Meanwhile, the Indraprastha Vikas Party, which splintered from AAP, has 15 councillors; the Congress has nine; two are independents; and one seat is vacant.

On Monday, Delhi Assembly

Speaker Vijender Gupta nominated 14 legislators to the MCD mayoral poll electoral college, with 11 MLAs from the BJP and three from AAP.

Further, the next full general election for all 250 wards of the Municipal Corporation of Delhi (MCD) is likely to be held in 2027, as the current term of the House is five years from its first meeting in late 2022. The mayor’s term, as per the Delhi Municipal Corporation (DMC) Act, is only one year.

The MPs, who hold vital voting rights in the MCD alongside the newly nominated 14 MLAs, reviewed the strategy to ensure a seamless victory for their candidate, Pravesh Wahi, party officials said.

The meeting was addressed by Sachdeva and Union Minister of State Harsh Malhotra and attended by MPs Manoj Tiwari, Yogender Chandel and Kamaljeet Sehrawat, among others.

Current Mayor Raja Iqbal Singh, mayoral candidate Pravesh Wahi, deputy mayoral candidate Monika Pant, and Standing Committee candidates Jaibhagwan Yadav and Manish Chadha were also present. Singh thanked councillors for their support during his tenure as Mayor and earlier as Leader of the Opposition.

Student body alleges textbook delay in government schools

Minister says distribution by April 30

NEW DELHI: Students in Classes 1 to 8 at several Delhi government schools are still waiting for textbooks, nearly a month after the new academic session began, a student body said on Tuesday.

However, Delhi Education Minister Ashish Sood said the process of textbook distribution is underway, and all books for students will be distributed by April 30. The Democratic Youth Federation of India (DYFI) said in a statement that the delay is affecting students’ studies and holiday homework ahead of summer vacations.

DYFI Delhi state secretary Aman Saini said many children from poor and middle-class families studying in government schools could not afford to buy books from the open market and depended on timely distribution by schools. The student body said its members visited schools in Yamuna Vihar and other districts and found that students of Classes 6, 7 and 8 have not received textbooks.

The DYFI claimed that senior advocate Ashok Agarwal has also approached the High Court on the issue.

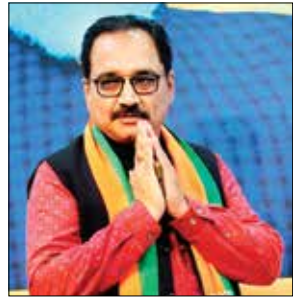

The organisation urged the government to ensure immediate textbook distribution so that students do not face further academic disruption. PFI

OUR CORRESPONDENT

NEW DELHI: With the West Bengal elections nearing a close, the race for the Delhi BJP president’s post has picked up pace with some party insiders citing the names of NDMC vice-chairman Kuljeet Chahal and Union minister Harsh Malhotra as among the top contenders.

However, one section of leaders said that incumbent Delhi BJP chief Virendra Sachdeva is expected to get a second term in view of the party’s historic victory in the Delhi polls held last February.

Sachdeva completed three years in office in March.

According to the BJP’s constitution, the state president’s term is three years, with a maximum of two consecutive terms.

Under Sachdeva’s leadership, the BJP won 48 out of 70 seats in the Assembly polls to form the government in Delhi after 27 years.

Earlier, the party maintained its track record of winning all seven Lok Sabha seats in Delhi in 2024 under Sachdeva’s presidency.

Sources in the party said the national leadership is likely to take a call on the top post in the Delhi BJP after the Assembly elections are complete in West Bengal. The second and final phase of Bengal polls will be held on Wednesday, and the results will be declared on May 4. Sachdeva was nominated as the working president of Delhi BJP in December 2022. He became a full-time chief in March 2023.

“The national leadership will decide the leader from which community becomes the Delhi BJP chief,” a senior BJP functionary said.

Chahal, the vice-chairman of the New Delhi Municipal Council (NDMC), is a Jat, while Sachdeva, Malhotra and Babbar are Punjabis.

Names of other leaders, such as Jai Prakash, are also doing the rounds as the next president of the Delhi BJP. Jai Prakash belongs to the Gujar community.

Chahal, who is also the national convener of the NaMo app, is considered close to the national leadership, while Union minister Harsh Malhotra is learnt to be close to the RSS, party leaders said.

Govt plans to start FNB prog at GTB Hospital

OUR CORRESPONDENT

NEW DELHI: The Delhi government has decided to start a Fellowship of National Board (FNB) programme in paediatric emergency medicine at Guru Tegh Bahadur Hospital, with an intake of two seats per year, officials said on Wednesday. The move is aimed at strengthening specialised care for children in critical condition and enhancing super-specialty training capacity in the national capital, an official statement said.

The hospital caters to around 30,000-35,000 paediatric emergency patients annually and has been witnessing a growing need for structured training in paediatric emergency medicine. The introduction of the programme is expected to improve the quality of care and help reduce under-five mortality, it added. The FNB course, conducted under the National Board of Examinations, is a two-year post-MD super-specialty programme equivalent to senior residency. Trainees will be accommodated against existing vacant senior resident posts, ensuring no additional financial burden on the exchequer. “Strengthening paediatric emergency care is a priority for the Delhi government. This step will enhance specialist training capacity and ensure better, timely treatment for children...,” Delhi Health Minister Pankaj Kumar Singh said.

number of candidates (19), while Goghat in Hooghly has the lowest (5).

In terms of electorate size, Bhatpara in North 24-Parganas has the smallest voter base at 1.17 lakh, while Chinsurah in Hooghly has the highest at over 2.75 lakh.

Arrangements include 8,845 all-women-managed booths, 13 PwD-managed stations and 258 model polling stations. A total of 55,331 ballot units, 55,162 control units and 59,463 VVPAT machines will be deployed.

In the 2021 Assembly elections, the Mamata Banerjee-led Trinamool Congress won 123 of these 142 seats. While the BJP secured 77 seats statewide, it won only 18 in this region.

The Election Commission is deploying 2,343 companies of Central Armed Police Forces (CAPF), averaging about three personnel per booth — among the highest such deployments in recent elections.

North 24-Parganas has been allotted the highest share at 517 companies, followed by South 24-Parganas (413). Kolkata, with 5,172 booths and 274 companies, will see an average of 3.8 CAPF personnel per booth, supplemented by mobile patrols and reserve forces.

Howrah will have 258 companies, Nadia 287, Hooghly 323 and East Burdwan 276.

Chief Electoral Officer Manoj Agarwal announced a control room number (18003450008) for complaints related to intimidation or obstruction of voting. “We will immediately alert the concerned police authorities for intervention,” he said, adding that 3,000 arrests had been made till Tuesday evening.

Nearly 30% of booths — around 12,000 — have been identified as sensitive.

Twenty-six senior officers deployed during the first phase will continue in the second phase to boost voter confidence.

Strict enforcement of Section 163 of the BNSS (earlier Section 144) will be in place within a 100-metre radius of polling stations. Booth premises will be demarcated to prevent unauthorised entry and impersonation. The Commission has warned of strict action against officials found guilty of bias or negligence.

All polling stations will have 100 per cent webcasting, with two cameras per booth — one inside to monitor polling activity and one outside to track queue management and potential disturbances. Sensitive booths will have additional internal surveillance. Monitoring systems will also be set up at district control rooms and Returning Officer offices.

Voters will undergo two levels of verification: identity checks by central forces at the entrance, followed by confirmation at Voter Assistance Booths by Booth Level Officers before entering the voting compartment.

Among high-profile contests, Chief Minister Mamata Banerjee faces Leader of the Opposition Suvendu Adhikari in Bhowanipore.

Other prominent candidates include Firhad Hakim (Kolkata Port), Chandrima Bhattacharya (Dum Dum Uttar), Shashi Panja (Shyampukur), Aroop Biswas (Tollygunge), Bratya Basu (Dum Dum) and Sujit Basu (Bidhannagar).

EC adds 1468

He added that even if all pending cases were disposed of, deletions would have been minimal.

With the addition of 1,468 names, the total electorate for the second phase stands at 3.21 crore. Polling will be held across 142 Assembly constituencies on Wednesday.

The TMC said that removing six names out of 1,474 reflects a deletion rate of 0.4 per cent. It argued that such findings undermine the rationale behind the SIR exercise, reiterating that those flagged were “genuine electors” whose voting rights were being curtailed. The party also claimed that many of these voters, despite being cleared, would still be unable to vote on April 29 as their names would not appear on the rolls.

The additions have been made following directions of the Supreme Court of India, after applicants were cleared by appellate tribunals. According to the supplementary list, 677 names have been added in Kolkata South and 596 in Kolkata North. Other additions include 77 in Howrah, 39 in Nadia, 34 in North 24-Parganas, 30 in South 24-Parganas, eight in East Burdwan and seven in Hooghly. All these voters will be eligible to cast their ballots in this phase.

However, the Commission has not specified how many cases were disposed of by tribunals before the second phase. Ahead of the first phase, 657 cases were disposed of, with 139 voters added to the rolls and eight names deleted, while the rest were rejected due to procedural errors.

The apex court had directed that individuals whose cases were decided up to two days before polling, and who were subsequently found eligible, must be allowed to vote. ECI officials said the supplementary roll was prepared based on tribunal decisions up to Monday.

Following the SIR of West Bengal’s electoral rolls, over 60 lakh voters were placed under adjudication. Of these, around 33 lakh names were cleared while 27 lakh were deleted. The court had allowed aggrieved voters to appeal before tribunals headed by retired judges.

Polling in this phase will cover constituencies across Kolkata (North and South), South 24-Parganas, North 24-Parganas, Howrah, Hooghly, Nadia and East Burdwan.

UAE says it

oil supplies — including much of the UAE’s — is transported.

On Tuesday, Brent crude, the international benchmark, traded above $111 a barrel, or more than 50% above its pre-war price.

OPEC’s market power had already been waning in recent years as the United States ramped up its production of crude oil. Saudi Arabia had been pumping over 10 million barrels of oil a day before the war. The US pumps more than 13 million barrels a day.

US President Donald Trump has been a steady critic of the cartel during his two terms in the White House.

The UAE, which joined OPEC through its emirate of Abu Dhabi in 1967, had been producing around 3.4 million barrels of crude a day just before the US-Israeli war with Iran began on Feb 28. Analysts say it has capacity to produce roughly 5 million barrels a day.

In its announcement on Tuesday, made via its state-run WAM news agency, the UAE said it also would leave the wider OPEC+ group, which Russia had led to try to stabilise oil prices.

“This decision reflects the UAE’s long-term strategic and economic vision and evolving energy profile, including accelerated investment in domestic energy production,” the UAE said, adding that it would bring “additional production to market in a gradual and measured manner, aligned with demand and market conditions.”

The UAE’s withdrawal removes one of OPEC’s few members with the ability to quickly increase production, said Jorge Leon, head of geopolitical analysis at Rystad Energy.

“A structurally weaker OPEC, with less spare capacity concentrated within the group, will find it increasingly difficult to calibrate supply and stabilise prices,” he said.

Saudi Arabia and the UAE increasingly have competed over economic issues and regional politics, particularly in the Red Sea area.

The two countries had jointly fought against Yemen’s Iran-backed Houthis rebels in 2015. However, that coalition broke down into recriminations in late December, when Saudi Arabia bombed what it described as a weapons shipment bound for Yemeni separatists backed by the UAE.

As tensions rose in recent months, Saudi broadcasters long based in Dubai, the economic hub of the UAE, have pulled back to the kingdom.

“This exit of OPEC fits into the UAE need for flexibility with key energy consumers as well -- including a future relationship with China and a more competitive relationship with Saudi Arabia,” said Karen Young, a senior research scholar at Columbia University’s Center on Global Energy Policy.

The UAE hosted the United Nations COP28 climate talks in 2023, a conference that ended for the first time with a pledge by nearly 200 countries to move away from planet-warming fossil fuels. But the UAE still plans to increase its production capacity in the coming years, even as it pursues more clean energy at home, a move decried by climate activists.

“The demand for power is going to go up and up and up,” US Interior Secretary Doug Burgum told an Abu Dhabi oil conference in November. “Today’s the day to announce that there is no energy transition. There is only energy addition.”

He drew widespread applause from his Emirati hosts.

US unmoved by Iran offer

Since the war began, at least 3,375 people have been killed in Iran and at least 2,521 people in Lebanon, where fighting between Israel and the Iran-backed Hezbollah militant group resumed two days after the Iran war started.

Another 23 people have been killed in Israel and more than a dozen in Gulf Arab states. Sixteen Israeli soldiers in Lebanon, 13 U.S. service members in the region and six U.N. peacekeepers in southern Lebanon have been killed.

United Nations General Assembly President Annalena Baerbock said urgent efforts to secure a ceasefire in the Iran war are critical.

During a visit on Tuesday to India, Baerbock warned the conflict is disrupting global supplies and deepening regional crises, with attacks and blockades in the Strait of Hormuz increasing oil and fertilizer prices worldwide.

“Every effort to come to a ceasefire is highly needed,” Baerbock said, adding that the escalation is diverting attention from humanitarian crises in Gaza. “It overshadows the devastating situation for the people in Gaza. The humanitarian situation in Gaza is still heartbreaking.”

President Trump on Tuesday claimed that Iran “has just” informed the US that it is in a “state of collapse.”

“They want us to ‘Open the Hormuz Strait,’ as soon as possible, as they try to figure out their leadership situation,” Trump posted on social media.

He added that he believes they will be able to sort out reported divisions within the Islamic Republic government about negotiations with the US.

India to get in Operation Sindoor, underscoring their operational significance.

Last month, New Delhi approved procurement of five additional S-400 units, doubling the planned fleet to 10. Sources indicated that concerns over potential US sanctions under the Countering America’s Adversaries Through Sanctions Act are unlikely to affect the new order, describing it as a follow-on to the existing deal.

Russian teams have already trained Indian personnel to operate the system, regarded as one of the most advanced long-range air defence platforms globally.

At UNSC, India calls waterways in the maritime domain.

“As a major trading nation, India strongly deplores the recent targeting of commercial shipping through the Strait of Hormuz and the endangerment of innocent civilian crew members,” Patel said, noting that such incidents have led to the loss of Indian lives.

India is among the world’s top three suppliers of seafarers, accounting for around 13 per cent of the global workforce in the sector. Highlighting the human cost of disruptions, Patel said New Delhi remains deeply concerned about the safety and welfare of its nationals working at sea.

The government has reiterated that freedom of navigation must be upheld in line with international law, including principles under the United Nations Convention on the Law of the Sea. It stressed that any “purported closure” or obstruction of vital maritime routes affects not only trade but also energy and humanitarian supply chains.

Data shared by the Ministry of External Affairs last month indicated that eight Indian nationals have died and one remains missing in separate incidents linked to the ongoing regional tensions.

India outlined several priority areas requiring urgent attention, including ensuring navigational safety, maintaining supply chains with a focus on humanitarian needs, improving maritime situational awareness and strengthening communication systems for seafarers.

Patel also pointed to measures already undertaken by India, including a 24-hour helpline operated by the Directorate General of Shipping. The service has received nearly 7,500 calls and over 15,000 emails from seafarers of various nationalities seeking assistance.

Reaffirming its position, India said it remains committed to promoting a free, open and rules-based maritime order, while working towards secure waterways that support global stability and economic continuity.

AGENCIES

agencies including the Reserve Bank of India and the Department of Telecommunications to jointly develop a framework for victim compensation.

The report, filed through Attorney General R Venkataramani, outlines actions taken since January 2026. It notes that WhatsApp launched a targeted, multi-week investigation into digital arrest scams affecting Indian users. The company adopted a structured approach involving detection of initial signals, mapping of networks, enforcement across linked accounts and deployment of automated safeguards at scale.

Among new measures, WhatsApp has introduced systems to identify and remove accounts displaying official-looking police or government insignia. It is also considering features to alert users when they receive calls from newly created or unverified accounts, which are often associated with scams. Another planned safeguard would automatically hide profile photos of suspicious unknown callers to prevent misuse of visual cues that suggest authority.

On the telecom front, the Department of Telecommunications and service providers have agreed to stricter timelines for disabling fraudulent SIM cards. A proposed mechanism aims to block suspicious SIMs within two to three hours of detection, significantly reducing the window for fraudulent activity.

The report further states that the Central Bureau of Investigation has set a threshold of Rs 10 crore in losses for taking over digital arrest cases. The agency has already re-registered three major cases, including two in Gujarat involving large-scale financial fraud and one in Delhi where a victim was allegedly defrauded of Rs 22.92 crore.

A high-level inter-departmental committee held its third meeting on March 12, bringing together stakeholders from telecom, banking and technology sectors. One of its key proposals is the introduction of a Biometric Identity Verification System to enable real-time monitoring of SIM card issuance across networks. The Department of Telecommunications has been tasked with implementing this system by December 2026.

In parallel, WhatsApp has committed to additional safeguards, including a SIM-binding mechanism expected to be rolled out within four to six months. This feature would require an active, KYC-verified SIM to remain inserted in a device for the app to function, thereby limiting misuse through SIM swapping.

The Reserve Bank of India has also finalised a standard operating procedure directing banks to place temporary holds on suspicious transactions to curb the use of mule accounts.

Seeking further directions, the Ministry of Home Affairs has urged the court to ensure timely implementation of these measures, including stricter SIM verification rules and faster blocking of fraudulent numbers. It has also called for compliance from technology platforms to roll out promised safeguards without delay.

prices will result in unsurmountable losses for airlines and will lead to grounding of aircraft,” the federation said, warning of possible flight cancellations if conditions persist.

The industry body pointed to recent pricing disparities as a major concern. While the government capped the increase in ATF prices for domestic operations at Rs 15 per litre last month, rates for international operations rose by Rs 73 per litre. Airlines said this imbalance has made international routes particularly difficult to sustain, even as domestic networks face mounting pressure.

To ease the burden, the federation has sought immediate financial support and policy intervention. Among its key demands is a temporary suspension of the 11 per cent excise duty on ATF, arguing that the tax amplifies cost pressures in an already volatile environment. It has also urged the government to work with states to reduce value-added tax on jet fuel, which varies widely across the country. VAT stands at 25 per cent in Delhi and as high as 29 per cent in Tamil Nadu, while other major aviation hubs such as Mumbai, Bengaluru, Hyderabad and Kolkata impose rates between 16 and 20 per cent. These six cities together account for more than half of India’s airline operations.

The federation has also called for the reintroduction of a transparent pricing framework under the previously used crack band mechanism of USD 12 to 22 per barrel, arguing it would ensure more predictable fuel costs and reasonable margins for oil marketing companies.

Airlines said sustained high fuel costs are already straining cash flows and limiting their ability to plan routes and pricing. “In order to survive, sustain and continue operation, we request your urgent intervention,” the letter stated.

Industry executives indicated that if prices remain elevated, carriers may be forced to cut capacity, rationalise routes and consider fare increases. For passengers, this could translate into higher ticket prices and reduced flight options, particularly on routes that become financially unviable.

Centre fixes OCI card

The Union Home Ministry has also introduced changes to the application process. Officials said the earlier requirement mandating applicants above 12 years to have stayed continuously in India for six months has been removed. “The six-month stay is no longer required for the submission of the OCI application,” an official said.

Applicants must now present a passport valid for at least six months at the time of submission, along with a visa valid for a minimum of three months. Those applying on the basis of marriage to an Indian citizen or an existing OCI cardholder must ensure that the marriage has been registered and has continued for at least two years before applying.

Authorities clarified that individuals holding tourist, missionary, mountaineering or e-visas are not eligible to seek OCI registration while in India. Existing OCI cardholders are required to update their details within three months of obtaining a new foreign passport, failing which a $25 penalty will be imposed.

The government has also withdrawn the Person of Indian Origin card scheme from December 31, 2025, with all PIO cardholders now deemed OCI cardholders. The OCI framework, introduced through an amendment to the Citizenship Act, 1955 in 2005, allows eligible persons of Indian origin to register, subject to specified conditions, while excluding those with links to Pakistan or Bangladesh.

‘Roads cannot be blocked

Justice Nagarathna illustrated this by referring to temple festivals, stating that while rituals can continue, they cannot justify blocking public roads. “You do your religious activity, but not by blocking the roads. The State can always step in to regulate,” she said.

The bench reiterated that the Constitution grants autonomy in religious affairs, but that autonomy is not absolute. “Court cannot sit in judgment” over the manner of worship, Justice Nagarathna noted, adding that the State is empowered to intervene where secular activities are affected.

Advocate Akshay Nagarajan, appearing for the Hindu Dharma Acharya Sabha, argued that the State cannot use Article 25(2)(a) to interfere with denominational rights. The provision allows regulation of secular aspects associated with religion, including economic and political activities. Nagarajan submitted that protections under Article 25 extend beyond belief to include rituals, observances and ceremonies tied to worship.

He further argued that matters involving secular aspects of religious institutions can be addressed under Article 26(d), which grants denominations the right to manage their properties in accordance with the law.

The proceedings also saw broader arguments on religious identity and historical context. Advocate Ashwini Upadhyay referred to historical divisions of the Indian subcontinent, claiming that denominational conflicts had led to multiple partitions over centuries. He also made submissions on linguistic limitations in English compared to Sanskrit.

Justice Mahadevan, however, cautioned against straying from the core legal issues. “You are going beyond the subject being discussed,” he said, urging counsel to remain focused on the matter at hand.

Earlier in the day, the bench stressed that the right to manage religious institutions cannot translate into a lack of structure. Justice Amanullah observed that every institution must have a system governing its functioning. “There cannot be anarchy,” he said, adding that regulation is essential to ensure order while remaining within constitutional limits.

Advocate Nizam Pasha, representing Peerzada Syed Altamash Nizami of the Chishti Nizami lineage linked to the dargah of Hazrat Khwaja Nizamuddin Aulia, told the court that a dargah holds deep spiritual significance in the Sufi tradition. He outlined the structure of Sufi orders in India, including the Chishtiya, Qadriya, Naqshbandiya and Suhrawardiya, and argued that these constitute distinct religious denominations.

Pasha maintained that managing entry into a religious institution forms part of its administrative rights. In response, Justice Amanullah said that while management rights exist, they must be exercised within a defined framework. “It cannot be that everyone says I will do whatever I want,” he remarked, noting that institutions require clear norms and oversight.

The court also underlined that any regulatory framework must adhere to constitutional guarantees, including non-discrimination.

The hearing is scheduled to continue on Wednesday.

Salim Dola from Türkiye enabled global tracking and provisional detention pending extradition or deportation. Officials said the operation reflected coordinated efforts between Indian agencies, Turkish authorities and international policing channels.

Union Home Minister Amit Shah said the development demonstrated the government’s determination to dismantle drug syndicates operating across borders. In a statement posted online, he said India’s anti-narcotics agencies had expanded their reach globally and warned that “no place is safe for drug kingpins,” adding that the crackdown would continue irrespective of where offenders attempt to hide.

Officials familiar with the case said Dola will be produced before a Delhi court to seek transit remand, after which he is expected to be taken to Mumbai for further legal proceedings. Niraj Kumar Gupta, Deputy Director General of the NCB, confirmed that Dola faces charges under the Narcotic Drugs and Psychotropic Substances Act and is wanted by multiple agencies, including the Maharashtra Police, Gujarat Anti-Terrorism Squad and the Directorate of Revenue Intelligence.

Investigators say Dola’s alleged criminal network spans more than two decades, with operations stretching across the Middle East, Africa and Europe before feeding into distribution channels in India. His name has been linked to several high-value seizures involving heroin, charas, mephedrone, mandrax and methamphetamine, particularly in Maharashtra and Gujarat. Authorities described him as a bulk supplier who played a central role in sustaining downstream drug networks.

The Ministry of Home Affairs noted that his return represents a broader strategy focused on dismantling organised criminal structures rather than isolated arrests. Officials pointed to growing international cooperation as a critical factor, with intelligence sharing and coordinated enforcement enabling agencies to track suspects across jurisdictions that were once difficult to access.

Dola’s case also connects to earlier enforcement actions targeting his associates. In 2025, his son Tahil Salim Dola and several others were arrested by Mumbai Police following their deportation from the United Arab Emirates, in a move that investigators said helped tighten the net around the larger network. Authorities said the success of Operation Global-Hunt illustrates a shift toward sustained, cross-border enforcement, where investigations extend beyond domestic boundaries and rely on long-term intelligence gathering.

The approach, officials added, focuses on disrupting supply chains and limiting safe havens for traffickers rather than only responding to individual incidents. The case remains under active investigation as agencies pursue further leads linked to the syndicate. Officials indicated that the effort forms part of a continuing campaign aimed at identifying and bringing back fugitives involved in organised narcotics trafficking, reinforcing what they described as a policy of zero tolerance backed by coordinated global action.

After Kejriwal, Sisodia

Referring to Kejriwal’s earlier communication, Sisodia said the concerns raised were “troubling” and that he agreed with the position taken, which he described as rooted in Mahatma Gandhi’s teachings on Satyagraha. Kejriwal had written to the judge after his request for recusal was rejected on April 20.

Sisodia said he would not reiterate all the points already made but noted that the issues flagged by Kejriwal also weighed on his mind. Among them, he cited Justice Sharma’s “repeated public attendance” at events linked to the Akhil Bharatiya Adhivakta Parishad, which he described as being associated with the RSS.

He also raised concerns about the professional roles of the judge’s children on various Union government panels, suggesting this created an “appearance of closeness” with law officers appearing in the case. Sisodia questioned whether there was a duty to disclose such circumstances at the outset.

Stating that his position was not driven by hostility towards the court, Sisodia said he faced a moral dilemma about continuing in proceedings while holding doubts about impartiality. “After much reflection, my answer is similar to Kejriwal’s. I cannot,” he said, confirming he would neither appear personally nor through counsel.

SCO MEET IN BISHKEK

No place for any double standards in combating terrorism, says Rajnath

MPOST BUREAU

NEW DELHI: Operation Sindoor demonstrated India's firm resolve that "terror epicentres" are no longer immune to "justifiable punishment", Defence Minister Rajnath Singh said on Tuesday, in remarks widely seen as a warning to Pakistan over cross-border terrorism.

In an address at a conclave of Shanghai Cooperation Organisation (SCO) in Bishkek, Singh also called on the influential grouping to not lose sight of "state-sponsored" cross-border terrorism and that there should not be any place for any "double standards" in combating the menace.

Delving into ongoing conflicts and geopolitical upheavals, Singh said that the "real test of power" is not in using it against the poor and the weak, but to use it in the interest of those who are unable to defend themselves. There is a need to focus on global consensus where "co-existence, co-habitation and compassion take precedence over chaos, competition and conflict", he said.

The Defence minister emphasised that the SCO should not hesitate in seeking appropriate action against those who "abet, shelter and provide safe havens" to terrorists.

"We must not lose sight of state-sponsored cross-border terrorism which attacks the very sovereignty of a nation state. There is no place for any double standards and SCO should not hesitate in seeking appropriate action against those who abet, shelter and provide safe havens to terrorists," he said.

Singh strongly pitched for a unified front to tackle the "evils" of terrorism, separatism and extremism.

entire humanity," he said.

"During Operation Sindoor, we demonstrated our firm resolve that terrorism epicentres are no longer immune to justifiable punishment," he added.

Singh also recalled the declaration unveiled at last year's SCO summit in Chinese city of Tianjin saying it brought out firm and collective stance against terrorism.

"It was a testimony to our zero-tolerance outlook towards terrorism and its perpetrators, which was endorsed by this esteemed forum. But the real test of our collective credibility remains in consistency," he said.

"We must not forget that terrorism has no nationality and no theology. No grievance, real or supposed, can become an excuse for terrorism and humanitarian loss," he said.

The defence minister highlighted the significant role being played by the SCO's Regional Anti-Terrorist Structure and referred to the joint statement of the Heads of State on 'Countering Radicalisation leading to Terrorism, Separatism and Extremism' that was issued during India's chairmanship of the grouping.

'Labour Day': Punjab Assembly to convene special session on May 1

MPOST BUREAU

CHANDIGARH: The Punjab Cabinet, led by Chief Minister Bhagwant Singh Mann, on Tuesday approved the convening of a special one-day session of the state Assembly on May 1 to mark Labour Day and honour the contribution of the working class.

Announcing the move on X, Mann said: "In a significant decision taken by the Punjab Cabinet, it has been decided to convene a special session of the Legislative Assembly on May 1, on the occasion of Labour Day. This one-day session will be dedicated to the hardworking labourers and artisans who make a vital contribution to the country's social and economic development."

He further wrote: "As part of this historic initiative, representatives of labour unions will be invited to the House as special guests. The session will also witness serious discussions on the impact of changes in the MGN-REGA scheme on the working class, along with broader national and international challenges affecting them."

"In addition, during the session, other essential legislative business as determined by the Business Advisory Committee of the Assembly will be carried out in accordance with established procedures, ensuring that key decisions necessary for the state's development and the strengthening of democracy are undertaken," the post concluded.

According to the Chief Minister's Office, the session will pay tribute to the role of workers in the state's socio-economic progress. It added that labour union representatives would be invited as special guests and discussions would be held on the impact of changes in the MGNREGA scheme, including its restructuring into the G-Ram-G scheme, on labourers.

The session will also deliberate on emerging challenges facing workers amid national and global developments. Other legislative business will be finalised by the Business Advisory Committee as per established procedures.

The minister also launched the "Vision to Action Artificial Intelligence" planning tool. Director General of Swarna Jayanti Haryana Institute for Fiscal Management, Raj Nehru, informed the chief minister that the tool has been designed keeping the action plan in mind. Its objective is to ensure clarity in 5-year targets while generating uniform departmental reports. The tool will also help departments easily track their year-wise goals. In this way, Haryana will be able to contribute in a phased manner towards the goal of Viksit Bharat 2047, fulfilling the vision of Prime Minister Narendra Modi, he said.

CCTVs in police stns: SC asks amicus to convene meeting on utilisation of funds

MPOST BUREAU

NEW DELHI: The Supreme Court on Tuesday said that a meeting be convened on May 6 to deliberate on the aspect of utilisation of funds by the states on installation of CCTVs in police stations across the country.

A bench of Justices Vikram Nath and Sandeep Mehta asked senior advocate Siddhartha Dave, who is assisting it as an amicus curiae in a suo motu matter concerning lack of functional CCTVs in police stations, to hold a meeting on May 6 with the Centre, all states and Union Territories.

"We are of the view that a meeting be convened by the amicus, as done earlier, in which the Home secretary of the Central government or his nominee not below the rank of joint or additional secretary and the Home secretary of states/Union Territories will participate," the bench said.

The issue cropped up after the amicus flagged the aspect of utilisation of funds by the states.

Dave told the bench that in UTs, the Centre gives 100 percent funds while in hilly states, the central government gives 90 percent funding.

He said in remaining states, the Centre gives 60 percent while the rest 40 percent funding is by the respective state.

"Why don't we get responses of the states only on utilisation of funds?" the bench said.

Material stores energy, shows charge via colour

Developed by scientists at CeNS

OUR CORRESPONDENT

NEW DELHI: Scientists at the Centre for Nano and Soft Matter Sciences (CeNS), Bengaluru, have developed a novel material that can both store energy and visually indicate its charge level through colour changes, potentially transforming electronic device design.

The breakthrough material, an oxygen-deficient bimetallic oxide made from molybdenum and tungsten, shifts from blue when fully charged to transparent when discharged. This allows users to instantly gauge battery status without relying on separate display components. The research was led by Principal Researcher Ashutosh Kumar Singh, whose team synthesised the compound using solvothermal techniques.

The innovation leverages the material's oxygen-deficient lattice, which creates pathways for ions to move freely. As ions shift during charging and discharging, they alter the material's electronic structure, producing visible colour changes.

Tests on large-area devices (5x5 sq cm) showed strong electrochromic performance, with 43 per cent optical modulation and high coloration efficiency. As a supercapacitor electrode, the material delivered a specific capacitance of 234 farads per gramme.

He said that merely setting goals is not enough; it is equally important to achieve them on time and regularly review them so that the benefits of schemes directly reach the people.

Saini was chairing a meeting related to the 'Swarna Jayanti Haryana Institute for Fiscal Management' at the Civil Secretariat. During the meeting, various departments were reviewed regarding their 5-year implementation roadmaps.

On this occasion, the chief minister also launched the "Vision to Action Artificial Intelligence" planning tool. During the meeting, officials deep Chahal and SSP Patiala Varun Sharma said the module was unearthed within 12 hours of the attempted railway track blast.

They identified Pardeep Singh Khalsa as the kingpin, claiming he was in close contact with a Malaysia-based pro-Khalistani operative and Pakistan-based arms suppliers.

According to police, Khalsa allegedly facilitated the movement of radicalised youth to Malaysia for training and later assigned them roles in terror activities. He is also accused of forming a radical outfit named "Chalda Vaheer Chakarwari, Attariye".

Preliminary interrogation has revealed that the accused were involved in a low-intensity IED blast on the main line near Shambhu railway station and were planning further attacks targeting public infrastructure and property.

A case has been registered at Police Station Kotwali, Patiala, under relevant provisions of the Bharatiya Nyaya Sanhita, Explosive Substances Act, Arms Act, and the Unlawful Activities (Prevention) Act. Investigations are ongoing.

that the amicus can convene a meeting with the Centre, states and UTs on the issue.

It posted the matter for hearing on May 13 and said that a report be submitted before it. On April 7, the Centre told the top court that all issues concerning installation of CCTVs in police stations would be sorted out within two weeks.

Attorney General R Venkataramani had told the bench that he was taking stock of the issue and a lot of things were happening.

On February 26, the apex court directed the Centre and others to participate in a meeting to deliberate upon the feasibility, modalities and implementation framework of the issues, including creation of a centralised dashboard and standardisation of CCTV infrastructure in police stations.

The top court had earlier directed registration of a suo motu case over the lack of functional CCTVs in police stations after taking cognisance of a media report.

The apex court had in 2018 ordered the installation of CCTV cameras across police stations to check human rights abuses.

In December 2020, the top court directed the Centre to install CCTV cameras and recording equipment at the offices of investigating agencies, including the Central Bureau of Investigation (CBI), the Enforcement Directorate (ED) and the National Investigation Agency (NIA).

Chhattisgarh: Korba gets 40 MVA new power transformer

RAIPUR: The Chhattisgarh State Power Transmission Company has enhanced power infrastructure with the installation and energisation of an additional 40 MVA transformer at the 132 kV Chhurikhurd substation in Korba district. Executed at a cost of about Rs 4.31 crore, the project aims to meet rising electricity demand and improve supply reliability.

Around 50 villages in the Katghora-Pali area will benefit from the upgrade, with farmers expected to receive improved voltage for irrigation, while domestic users may see fewer fluctuations and outages.

Managing Director Rajesh Kumar Shukla inaugurated the facility and said the company is focusing on strengthening power systems in rural and remote areas.

Thane security guards stabbed: Note on lone wolf attack, IS found

MUMBAI: Investigators have found a note referring to 'lone wolf' attacks and the Islamic State at the house of a man arrested for allegedly attacking two security guards after asking their religion in Maharashtra's Thane district, an official said on Tuesday.

The 31-year-old accused, who had lived in the United States for several years, seemed to have undergone "self-radicalisation", Chief Minister Devendra Fadnavis said.

Prima facie, the incident appeared to be a 'lone wolf' attack, and accused Zaib Zubair Ansari allegedly asked the guards at an under-con-

AXIS OF NECESSITY

The optics were unmistakable. As Abbas Araghchi sat across from Vladimir Putin in St. Petersburg, the message being crafted was not merely about bilateral ties—it was about the reconfiguration of power in a region that refuses to settle into stability. In the language of diplomacy, phrases such as “strategic partnership,” “solidarity,” and “support for peace” often conceal as much as they reveal. What is unfolding today between Tehran and Moscow is not simply cooperation; it is a calculated alignment shaped by sanctions, conflict, and the shifting contours of global geopolitics. At one level, the expanding Iran-Russia relationship is unsurprising. Both nations have long been subject to Western sanctions, both seek to resist American influence, and both have found common cause in theatres such as Syria. But the present moment carries a different urgency. The recent conflict involving Iran, triggered by coordinated military action from the United States and Israel, has deepened Tehran’s sense of strategic isolation while simultaneously reinforcing its need for dependable partners. Russia, embroiled in its own confrontation with the West, has emerged as both a political ally and a diplomatic shield. The optics of Putin praising Iran’s “sovereignty” and offering mediation are less about neutrality and more about positioning Moscow as an indispensable power broker in West Asia.

For Iran, the outreach is equally pragmatic. The Islamic Republic has demonstrated resilience in the face of military pressure, but resilience alone cannot substitute for strategic depth. By strengthening ties with Russia, Tehran signals that it is not diplomatically cornered. It also seeks leverage in its fragile engagement with Washington. The stalled peace talks, the uncertainty surrounding a second round of negotiations, and the United States’ fluctuating posture all contribute to a volatile diplomatic environment. In such a scenario, Russia’s willingness to offer “good offices” is not just a gesture—it is a bargaining chip that Iran can deploy in its broader negotiation calculus. Yet, beneath the surface of this growing partnership lies a fundamental contradiction. Russia’s ambition to act as a mediator sits uneasily with its clear alignment with Iran. Mediation, by definition, requires credibility with all parties. While Moscow may present itself as a facilitator of peace, its deepening strategic and military cooperation with Tehran raises legitimate questions about its neutrality. For Washington and its allies, Russia’s involvement is unlikely to inspire confidence. Instead, it reinforces the perception of an emerging bloc that seeks to counter-balance Western influence across multiple fronts.

The United States, for its part, finds itself navigating a complex and evolving landscape. President Donald Trump’s claims of strategic advantage—asserting that Washington “holds all the cards”—reflect a familiar pattern of rhetorical dominance. However, the ground reality appears far more nuanced. The extension of the ceasefire, the withdrawal of negotiators from planned engagements, and the openness to telephonic diplomacy suggest a degree of recalibration. If anything, these moves indicate that the United States recognises the limitations of coercive power in achieving decisive outcomes against a state that has demonstrated both military capability and political endurance. This is where the Iran-Russia axis acquires broader significance. It is not merely about bilateral cooperation; it is about the gradual erosion of a unipolar diplomatic order. As Iran engages with Russia, consults Pakistan, and holds discussions in Oman over critical maritime routes like the Strait of Hormuz, it is constructing a networked approach to diplomacy that reduces dependence on any single interlocutor. This multi-vector strategy allows Tehran to hedge its bets, balancing confrontation with engagement, and resistance with negotiation.

For India and other regional stakeholders, these developments carry important implications. The stability of West Asia remains crucial for energy security, trade routes, and diaspora interests. An entrenched Russia-Iran partnership could alter the dynamics of regional alliances, particularly in relation to the Gulf states and Israel. Moreover, any prolonged uncertainty in the Strait of Hormuz—through which a significant portion of global oil supply passes—has the potential to disrupt markets and exacerbate economic vulnerabilities far beyond the region. At a deeper level, the current moment underscores a recurring truth about international relations: alliances are rarely about shared values; they are about converging interests. Iran and Russia may differ in their long-term ambitions, but their immediate priorities align sufficiently to sustain cooperation. The language of solidarity, therefore, must be read as strategic convenience rather than ideological convergence. It is a partnership forged not in trust, but in necessity. The question that remains is whether this alignment can translate into durable peace. Russia’s offer to mediate may create diplomatic openings, but it cannot, on its own, resolve the underlying tensions that define the Iran-US relationship. These tensions are rooted in decades of mistrust, competing regional ambitions, and fundamentally different visions of security. Any meaningful progress will require not just intermediaries, but a willingness among the principal actors to move beyond maximalist positions.

The meeting in St. Petersburg is less about the immediate prospects of peace and more about the evolving architecture of power. It signals a world where traditional hierarchies are being contested, where regional conflicts are increasingly shaped by global rivalries, and where diplomacy is as much about perception as it is about substance. For Iran, Russia offers a counterweight. For Russia, Iran offers relevance. And for the rest of the world, this partnership serves as a reminder that in times of flux, alliances harden not out of choice, but out of compulsion. Whether this compulsion leads to stability or further fragmentation will depend on how the coming months unfold. What is clear, however, is that the axis taking shape today is not a temporary arrangement. It is a reflection of a changing world—one where power is negotiated, contested, and, above all, constantly recalibrated.

The relics arrive in Leh today, and for 15 days, they will be accessible to devotees, monks, scholars and pilgrims from across the world

Relics of Reverence

The arrival of Buddha’s sacred relics in Ladakh turns a spiritual exposition into a civilisational moment of peace, memory and national recognition

There are moments in a nation’s life when history does not merely repeat itself - it deepens. This Wednesday, as the sacred relics of Tathagata Buddha descend upon Ladakh for the first time in India on this scale of public veneration, I find myself reaching not for the language of officialdom, but for something far older: reverence.

For centuries, Ladakh has held the flame. Through brutal winters that freeze rivers solid, through geopolitical pressures that would test the sturdiest of souls, through the isolation of altitude and the remoteness of high passes - the people of Ladakh have kept the Dharma alive with a fidelity that humbles every institution and every government. It is entirely fitting, then, that India’s first historic public exposition of the Tathagata relics does not take place in a climate-controlled museum in a metropolitan city. It takes place here, on the Roof of the World, where faith is the very architecture of daily life.

And consider where these relics come from. They originate from Piprahwa, in Uttar Pradesh — the site historically identified with ancient Kapilavastu, the very birthplace of Siddhartha Gautama. Bringing them to Ladakh is, in the most literal sense possible, a homecoming.

A First That Carries the Weight of Ages

The Sacred Exposition of the Holy Relics of the Tathagata carries an official title that is also a declaration: “Peace in Times of Conflict.” In a world convulsed by war, fracture, and rising hostility, these words are a challenge to the premise that conflict is inevitable, that strength requires aggression, and that the only answer to uncertainty is force. The Buddha answered that challenge two and a half millennia ago. We bring his physical presence back to remind a watching world that the answer still holds.

The sacred relics of Gautama Buddha - preserved with the utmost sanctity - are travelling for the first time from their permanent place of keeping to be venerated on Indian soil at this scale. Under Z-category security, aboard a special aircraft, they arrive in Leh on April 29th, and for 15 days, from the 1st to the 15th of May, beginning on the auspicious occasion of the 2569th Vesak Buddha Purnima, they will be accessible to devotees, monks, scholars, and pilgrims from across the world.

At a time of global conflict, Ladakh offers the world a quieter grammar of strength — compassion, restraint and spiritual continuity

The venues themselves speak volumes. The Mahabodhi International Meditation Centre, the Dharma Centre at the historic Leh Palace, the teaching ground of Jive-Tsal - the same sacred earth where His Holiness the Dalai Lama has delivered his teachings - will host this exposition. And the relics will not remain confined to Leh alone. Between the 11th and 12th of May, they will travel to the remote Zaskar valley, carrying the Buddha’s grace to a community whose Buddhist traditions remain as deep as the gorges of their landscape.

“This is a celebration of India’s soul, her civilisation, and the enduring message she carries for a fractured world.”

The Land That Never Let the Flame Go Out

To understand why Ladakh is the right home for this occasion, one must understand what Ladakh is. It is not simply a dramatic landscape of monasteries and mountains, however breathtaking that landscape may be. It is a living university of the Dharma. From the serene heights of Hemis Monastery - whose annual festival draws pilgrims from across the Himalayan world - to the ancient frescos of Alchi, painted in the 10th century and still vivid with devotional genius; from the towering Maitreya Buddha of Diskit that faces the Shyok River with a gaze of infinite compassion, to the layered wisdom of Thiksey, often compared to the great monasteries of Tibet - Ladakh has been, for over a thousand years, one of the most extraordinary repositories of Buddhist philosophy, art, manuscript tradition, and living practice on the planet.

These monasteries, the monks who inhabit them - they are the active transmitters of a tradition that has survived every geopolitical storm the Himalayan region has known. And they have done this work of preservation under conditions that would tax the imagination of most administrators: extreme cold, scarce resources, infrastructural isolation, and a geography that demands courage simply to inhabit.

It is India’s formal acknowledgement of what Ladakh has always been - not a peripheral territory at the edge of the map, but a beating spiritual heart at the centre of the nation’s identity.

A Vision Rooted in Civilisational Depth

Prime Minister Shri Narendra Modi has consistently described Ladakh as a vibrant centre of Buddhist culture and spirituality. He has spoken often of the resilience and patriotism of the Ladakhi people - especially in difficult border conditions - linking their spiritual strength with national resolve and unity. He has made clear that development in Ladakh will go hand in hand with the preservation of its unique culture and environment.

As the Prime Minister has emphasised: Ladakh is not only a land of immense strategic importance, but also a living centre of the Buddha’s teachings. The visit of the holy relics is both a spiritual blessing and a recognition of Ladakh’s centuries-old role in preserving Buddhist heritage, as well as the courage and dedication of its people in serving the nation.

This vision - of a Ladakh that is simultaneously a frontier of national security and a citadel of civilisational wisdom - is the most coherent thing about the place.

What Ladakh Teaches a Fractured World

The exposition is expected to be one of the largest congregations of Buddhist communities India has ever hosted. And in a world increasingly defined by conflict, polarisation, and the politics of suspicion, that congregation carries a message that transcends faith.

The Buddha’s teachings on non-violence, compassion, and inner awakening are not the property of any single community, sect, or lineage. Whether it is the Gelug, Drukpa, Kagyu, or any of the other magnificent traditions that flourish in Ladakh, the essence of the Dharma remains singular: the path of karuṇā, of prajñā, of harmony.

The sacred exposition, arriving just as the region welcomes spring and the snow begins to melt from the high passes, is an invitation to cross every border that divides us: of sect, of nationality, of fear.

“The relics bless the faithful. But they also remind a watching world that the quietest forms of strength have always been the most enduring.”

Our Commitment to This Living Heritage

The Government of India recognises Ladakh as one of the most important living centres of Buddhist culture in the world. We remain committed - not in the language of policy documents alone, but in concrete action - to supporting the preservation of its monasteries, the promotion of Buddhist scholarship, and the safeguarding of its unique cultural traditions. A large-scale Buddhist chanting ceremony involving a significant number of monks is being planned as part of this exposition - one that organisers hope will be entered into the Guinness World Records, a fitting symbol of the scale of devotion this land commands.

The Union Government will continue to work closely with the monastic institutions and the people of Ladakh to ensure that this rich heritage flourishes and reaches the world. The recently launched digital portals for both Ladakh Tourism and the Sacred Exposition itself are steps in that direction.

The Ministry of Culture, the Archaeological Survey of India, the International Buddhist Confederation, and the local organisations of Ladakh - the Gonpa Association, the Buddhist Association, the UT Administration under Lieutenant Governor Shri Vinai Kumar Saxena - have worked together with a unity that mirrors the very teachings the relics carry.

A Moment That Belongs to All of Us

As the sacred relics of Tathagata Buddha arrive in Ladakh this Wednesday, something ancient stirs. It is the recognition that some things in the life of a civilisation matter more than the political cycle of any given season. The Buddha’s message of compassion is one such thing. Ladakh’s fidelity to that message is another.

May the blessings of the Buddha bring peace to every home in Ladakh, harmony among all communities, and spiritual awakening to all beings. And may this sacred exposition remind each of us - regardless of faith, regardless of where we stand - that the deepest human aspiration has always been the same: to live without causing suffering, to act with wisdom, and to leave the world a little more at peace than we found it.

ELITE ILLUSIONS

ASIF ULLAH KHAN

THE WRITER HAS WORKED IN SENIOR EDITORIAL POSITIONS FOR MANY RENOWNED INTERNATIONAL PUBLICATIONS

When politics turns punishing, the distance between belief and endurance becomes visible—and for many, comfort quietly wins over conviction

Revolution, Until it Hurts

From Imran Khan to Arvind Kejriwal, elite-driven political movements falter when confrontation replaces comfort, exposing the fragile depth of urban dissent in South Asia

In the leafy avenues of South Delhi and the manicured blocks of Karachi and Lahore’s DHA, a particular brand of revolution was born over the last decade. It was polished, social-media savvy, and smelled of expensive cologne. It promised a “Naya Pakistan” and a corruption-free India, led by messianic outsiders like Imran Khan and Arvind Kejriwal. But as the summer heat of 2023 and 2024 gave way to the cold reality of state crackdowns, this “Burger Class” revolution hit a terminal wall: the ceiling fan—or rather, the lack of one.

The term “burger,” once a light-hearted jab at the Westernised elite of Pakistan, has matured into a potent political metaphor. It describes a demographic that views politics as an intellectual project or a moral crusade, provided it can be conducted from the comfort of an air-conditioned room. To this class, Imran and Kejriwal were not just politicians; they were mirrors reflecting their own aspirations for a “clean” system.

However, politics in the subcontinent is not a debate club; it is a blood sport. It requires “street-fighting” capabilities — the ability to stare down a police baton or endure the psychological warfare of an ED raid or a midnight knock at the door by ISI.

In Pakistan, the May 9 crackdown provided a stark litmus test. We saw the spectacle of fashion designers and tech entrepreneurs — the vanguard of the PTI — walking out of jail cells only to immediately denounce their “Messiah.”

Without endurance, dissent cannot survive beyond the first serious confrontation with power

The reason cited was often surprisingly mundane: the heat. The admission by one high-profile detainee that she could not continue because of the May temperatures and the absence of a ceiling fan in her cell wasn’t just a personal confession; it was the epitaph of an entire movement’s elite wing.

In India, the trajectory of Raghav Chadha offers a parallel study in “burger” pragmatism. Chadha — the London-educated, designer-suit-wearing face of the Aam Aadmi Party — embodied the South Delhi elite’s foray into radical change. Yet, when the “hospitality” of Tihar Jail beckoned, and the “Common Man” branding turned into a legal nightmare, the calculation changed.

Chadha’s recent defection to the BJP, alongside a cohort of Rajya Sabha MPs, is the ultimate “burger” exit strategy. By utilising a constitutional loophole to switch sides, he didn’t just save his career; he saved his comfort. He realised that the revolution Kejriwal promised would require him to endure the same “inhospitality” his colleagues had faced in the Delhi summer. For the urban elite, a seat at the table of power — even a different table — is always preferable to a floor mat in a cell.

The lesson here is grim for grassroots movements. The “Burger Class” brings glamour, funding, and international visibility, but they rarely bring the stomach for the “cesspool” of real politics. When the state stops playing by the rules of civil discourse and starts using physical and legal intimidation, the elite don’t just break — they pivot.

In Pakistan, journalists and social media users have devised a cutting term for such turncoats: they say “their software has been updated” — a reference to the state’s ability to “re-program” a politician’s loyalty through the rigours of jail.

The trajectory of Chadha offers a parallel study in this “burger” pragmatism. Having watched from the sidelines as colleagues like Arvind Kejriwal, Sanjay Singh and Manish Sisodia endured the grit of Tihar Jail, Chadha appears to have reached his own threshold. Despite the discharge of AAP leaders by a Delhi court in February 2026, his dramatic defection to the BJP suggests a calculated choice to avoid any future “inhospitality” of Tihar in Delhi summer.

For the urban elite, the promise of a revolution is rarely worth the sacrifice of personal comfort. Ultimately, Chadha chose a different path: instead of waiting for a “software update,” he simply uninstalled the AAP app and downloaded the more secure, power-packed version offered by the BJP!

Sudama's Quiet Greatness

In Sudama's humility, dignity, and devotion lies a timeless moral framework that challenges today's transactional world to rediscover sincerity, gratitude and authentic human relationships

"The Lord is not won by wealth or grandeur, but by the simplicity of a devoted heart."
- Bhagavata Purana
(Sudama narrative; paraphrased)

Among the many figures in India's sacred narrative tradition, Sudama remains deeply relevant because the values it embodies remain urgently necessary even today. His life is not remembered for achievements in the worldly sense. He did not build kingdoms, command armies, or seek recognition. Yet he continues to endure in the moral imagination of India because he represents a rare and disciplined richness of character. In Sudama, we encounter humility, devotion without greed, self-respect without ego, and friendship without transaction. His story invites us to reflect not on material success, but on the ethical foundations of a worthy life. It asks what truly defines a human being when comfort is absent, when circumstances are modest, and when the temptation to measure worth by possession becomes strongest.

One of the most enduring lessons from Sudama's life is that true relationships see beyond status. His bond with Krishna was not built on wealth, usefulness, or social position. It rested on affection, memory, trust, and inner recognition. Krishna did not receive Sudama according to his outward poverty, but according to the depth of the person before him. That is why the episode continues to speak so powerfully to modern life. It reminds us that true friendship is not altered by external standing, and true leadership does not become blind to human worth merely because the world has become accustomed to ranking people by influence, wealth, and visibility. A person of character must learn to see others for who they are, not merely for what they possess or what advantage they bring.

This is why the story carries such significance for leadership. Greatness is proved in the ability to recognise dignity where society sees little prestige. Krishna's enthusiastic reception of Sudama during his visit to his court reveals a profound leadership principle. The noblest authority is never diminished by humility but is, in fact, affirmed by it. Leadership that sees only status may remain efficient, but it cannot become truly great. Great leadership sees the person before the position, the relationship before the hierarchy, and the inner worth before the outward condition. This is a lesson of immense contemporary relevance in institutions, organisations, and public life, where respect is too often distributed according to leverage rather than character.

In a restless age, Sudama's quiet integrity offers a timeless standard of moral strength and human dignity Sudama also teaches that humility is not a mark of weakness, but a form of strength. He did not complain about his deprivation, nor did he allow poverty to become the defining language of his identity. He bore hardship with dignity, simplicity, and inward composure. This is not passivity. It is discipline. There is a profound difference between being broken by adversity and being refined by it. He shows that when hardship is met with inner steadiness, humility becomes a source of nobility. In a world that frequently rewards self-promotion, noise, and performance, Sudama offers a more enduring model of respect. Quiet integrity does not always attract immediate applause, but it creates a moral stature that time does not easily erode.

Closely related to this is the lesson of self-respect. Sudama's condition was humble, yet he did not reduce friendship to a means of gain. He did not approach Krishna with expectation, nor did he treat affection as a pathway for extraction. This restraint is morally significant. It shows that dignity is not preserved only in what one refuses to endure, but also in what one refuses to exploit. He did not wish to turn companionship into a transaction. That lesson is especially important in the present age, when many relationships are judged by immediate usefulness. Sudama reminds us that some bonds must remain above calculation. To seek support when needed is not wrong, but support must be sought without surrendering dignity, and relationships must not be built or maintained solely for personal advantage.

Here, the role of Sudama's wife acquires a quiet but essential significance. She represents practical wisdom and moral responsibility. She does not undermine Sudama's dignity, but neither does she allow suffering to be disguised as virtue. Her presence in the narrative introduces an important correction to any one-sided celebration of endurance. Human life cannot be sustained by noble thought alone. Duty to family requires responsiveness, courage, and action. Through her, the story teaches that seeking support when genuinely needed is not weakness, provided self-respect remains intact. There are moments when dignity lies in silent endurance, and there are moments when dignity lies in accepting help without diminishing oneself. She reminds us that moral life is not sustained in isolation, but by wise companionship and truthful counsel.

Another profound lesson of the story lies in the humble offering of a small poha packet that Sudama carried for Krishna. While it was materially insignificant, emotionally and ethically, it was immeasurable. Its significance lay not in value, but in sincerity. Intent matters more than magnitude. Honest effort matters more than display. An offering made with affection, humility, and thoughtfulness carries a greatness that wealth can never buy. In a world increasingly enamoured by scale, Sudama reminds us that the spirit behind an act is often more important than the act's visible size. Small offerings can reveal great intentions. What is given from the heart acquires a value that cannot be matched.

This principle extends far beyond the devotional context. In work, relationships, and public life, the same truth remains valid. Sincerity often carries greater weight than spectacle. Effort offered honestly, even when modest in outward scale, creates trust and moral credibility. It asks us to judge not merely by volume, but by intention. The same principle applies to leadership and institutions. Grand declarations often impress, but it is the small and sincere act that builds loyalty, trust, and lasting respect.

Sudama's devotion also offers an equally important lesson in faith without expectation. He did not approach Krishna driven by greed. There was affection, reverence, and trust, a remembrance of their childhood companionship, but no bargaining intent. This is what gives his devotion its purity. He did not calculate devotion in terms of immediate returns. Much of modern life is driven by impatience, by the desire for instant results, visible reward, and measurable return. Sudama represents a different principle. Work with sincerity and let results follow in their own time. Let effort be guided by faithfulness, not greed and expectation. Let relationships be nourished by affection, not by constant accounting. Such a disposition creates inner freedom. It releases the mind from restlessness and allows action to emerge from conviction rather than anxiety.

Gratitude is another central value illuminated by Sudama's life. His heart was not encumbered with disappointment. Even in hardship, he remained rooted in devotion, memory, and thankfulness. Gratitude does not erase suffering, but it keeps suffering from defining the whole of one's experience. That is what gives gratitude its transformative power. It allows hardship to be endured without letting it overcome one's emotions and life. It shifts the mind from scarcity to abundance by building emotional resilience. It allows the individual to remain inwardly content even when outward conditions remain unfavourable. Sudama shows that character far outweighs circumstance. He refused to allow poverty to define him. This is one of the story's most enduring insights for contemporary life. External situations may rise or fall, but identity grounded in values remains a lasting asset. Wealth can be lost. Position can change. Recognition can fade. Character alone travels with the individual through every condition.

Ultimately, Sudama's story teaches that purity of heart, strength of values, and depth of relationships are truer measures of success than material acquisition. To be rich in character is to possess something that cannot be taken away by fortune. This is why his story continues to be meaningful across generations. It is not merely a devotional memory from a sacred past. It is a moral framework for the present. It teaches that humility is strength, that self-respect is indispensable, that sincerity matters more than scale, that gratitude transforms hardship, and that true relationships remain above transaction. It also teaches that great leadership begins in the ability to honour quiet worth without condescension and to give dignity without making another feel small.

That is Sudama's quiet greatness. He shows that a life of modest means can still possess immense moral wealth. He shows that adversity need not diminish identity, that devotion need not become transactional, and that friendship need not become utility. In him, we encounter a standard of conduct that remains deeply relevant to individuals, families, and institutions alike. In an age dominated by display, Sudama reminds us that the deepest forms of greatness often shine quietly. They endure through humility, integrity, gratitude and the unshaken dignity of a devoted heart.

In a six-hitting era, Bhuvneshwar proves longevity and skill can still bend T20 cricket's
relentless tilt
toward batters

Swing, Skill, Survival

Nearly 10 years after his peak, Bhuvneshwar Kumar has found it again—this time with greater control, maturity and purpose, reminding T20 cricket that bowling intelligence still matters

Cricket, in its modern, hyper-accelerated avatar, has steadily tilted the scales in favour of the batsman. Flat pitches, shorter boundaries, heavier bats, and a format ecosystem that rewards relentless aggression have combined to make the fast bowler's craft both unforgiving and, at times, thankless. In such an environment, longevity itself becomes a statement of excellence. It is in this context that Bhuvneshwar Kumar stands apart. In a game increasingly defined by explosive batting and fleeting careers, how many fast bowlers have endured for 15 years in the IPL since their debut? The answer, remarkably, narrows down to just one.

To understand the weight of this moment, one must revisit the arc of his career. A two-time Purple Cap winner in the Indian Premier League, Bhuvneshwar once operated at the peak of his powers, shaping matches with the new ball and suffocating opposition at the death. That phase, nearly a decade ago, established him as one of the finest exponents of swing and control in white-ball cricket. But time, injuries, and the relentless churn of T20 cricket have a way of pushing even the best into the background. For many, such peaks are singular moments. For Bhuvneshwar, remarkably, they appear cyclical.

Against Delhi Capitals, what stood out was not merely the wickets he picked up, but the manner in which he dictated terms. On a surface and in a format that typically rewards aggression, he chose precision. The new ball moved just enough to keep the batters uncertain, the lengths were probing, and the variations were deployed with a clarity that comes only from experience. There was no excess, no theatrics—just a methodical dismantling of rhythm. It was a spell that slowed the game down in a format obsessed with speed.

What makes this resurgence compelling is its timing. Nearly ten years removed from his peak, Bhuvneshwar Kumar is not just surviving; he is influencing games again. In a league where careers can be fleeting and reputations quickly replaced, such a return to form speaks volumes about discipline and reinvention. He has not attempted to outpace the younger bowlers or mimic newer trends. Instead, he has leaned deeper into his strengths—seam position, swing, and control—refining them to meet the demands of a changed game.

There is also a subtle shift in how his performances are being perceived. Earlier, Bhuvneshwar was often seen as a specialist—lethal with the new ball, reliable at the death. Now, he carries the additional weight of experience, functioning almost as a stabilising force in an otherwise volatile bowling landscape. His spell against Delhi Capitals was not just about wickets; it was about restoring balance, about proving that even in a batsman-dominated format, a bowler can still script the narrative.

In many ways, this phase of his career is as significant as his initial rise. The first peak established his credentials; the second underscores his resilience. It tells a story that goes beyond statistics—a story of adaptation in an unforgiving era, of patience in a format that rewards immediacy. For young fast bowlers watching, there is a lesson here that transcends technique: longevity is not just about surviving the game's demands, but about evolving with them.

Bhuvneshwar Kumar's resurgence will inevitably invite comparisons with his past. But perhaps that is missing the point. This is not a nostalgic echo of what once was; it is a fresh assertion of what still can be. In a game increasingly tilted towards the bat, his bowling stands as a quiet but firm reminder—fast bowling, when executed with intelligence and control, remains an art capable of shaping outcomes and redefining narratives.

Preventing Iranian nuclear weapon remains core issue: Secretary Rubio

WASHINGTON: US Secretary of State Marco Rubio was asked in a Fox News interview about Iran's latest proposal, which would postpone discussions on its nuclear programme but end its chokehold on the Strait of Hormuz if the US lifts its blockade and ends the war.

"There's no doubt in my mind that at some point in the future, if this radical clerical regime remains in charge in Iran, they will decide they want a nuclear weapon," Rubio said.

"That fundamental issue still has to be confronted," he said. "That still remains the core issue here."

Asked if he thinks the Iranians are serious about a deal, Rubio said they are skilled negotiators looking to buy time.

"We can't let them get away with it," Rubio said. "We have to ensure that any deal that is made, any agreement that is made, is one that definitively prevents them from sprinting towards a nuclear weapon at any point."

US Secretary of State Marco Rubio

Meanwhile, the Trump administration seemed unlikely to accept Iran's offer to end the war and reopen the Strait of Hormuz if the US lifts its blockade on the country.

Iran's proposal also would postpone discussions on its nuclear programme, and

US Secretary of State Marco Rubio appeared to rule that out.

"We have to ensure that any deal that is made, any agreement that is made, is one that definitively prevents them from sprinting towards a nuclear weapon at any point," Rubio said in a Fox News interview Monday.

The White House said Trump's national security team discussed the offer, which was delivered by Pakistan, and Trump would address it later. The offer emerged Monday as Iran Foreign Minister Abbas Araghchi visited Russia, long a key backer of Tehran.

What assistance Moscow might offer now was unclear.

United Nations General Assembly President Annalena Baerbock said urgent efforts to secure a ceasefire in the Iran war are critical.

During a visit Tuesday to New Delhi, Baerbock warned the conflict is disrupting global supplies and deepening regional crises, with attacks and blockades in the Strait of Hormuz increasing oil and fertilizer prices worldwide.

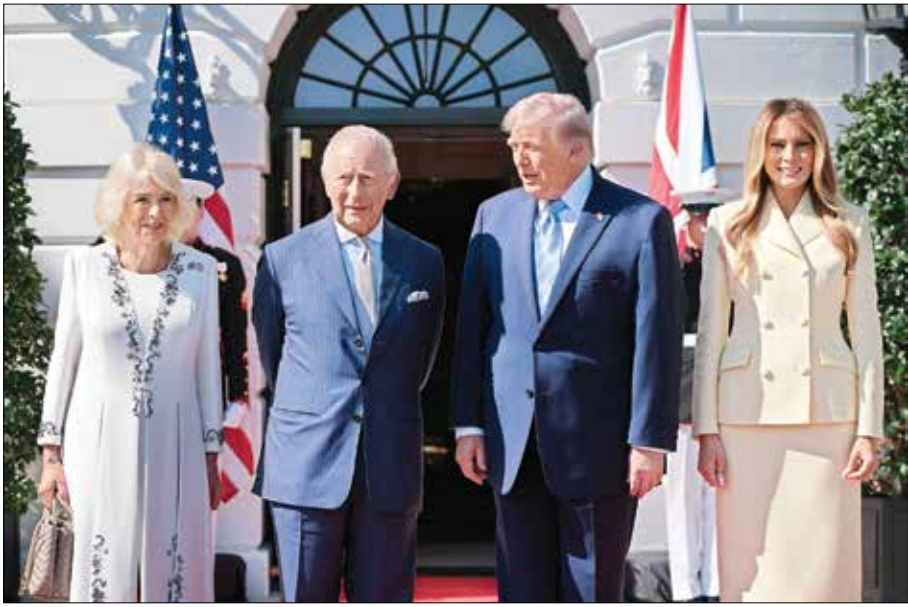

"Every effort to come to a ceasefire is highly needed," Baerbock said, adding that the escalation is diverting attention from humanitarian crises in Gaza.

"It overshadows the devastating situation for the people in Gaza. The humanitarian situation in Gaza is still heartbreaking."

The war began when the US and Israel jointly attacked Iran on February 28, killing Iranian Supreme Leader Ayatollah Ali Khamenei and several top commanders.

The retaliation by the Islamic Republic extended the war to the entire Gulf region.

King Charles III meets with Trump at White House before address to Cong

US President Donald Trump and first lady Melania Trump greet Britain's King Charles III and Queen Camilla as they arrive at White House

WASHINGTON: President Donald Trump and King Charles III greeted each other warmly on Tuesday as the monarch began a day of diplomacy in Washington designed to emphasize a bond between the United Kingdom and the United States that is so strong it can withstand the political turmoil of the moment.

Trump welcomed Charles and Queen Camilla to the White House in a ceremony on the South Lawn. The king shook hands with members of Trump's Cabinet before joining the president for a rendition of the national anthem.

The leaders will huddle later in the Oval Office for a meeting that's closed to the public, reducing the potential for the freewheeling, sometimes controversial meetings with foreign officials that have become routine during Trump's second term.

“CHARLES WILL LATER BECOME THE FIRST BRITISH MONARCH TO ADDRESS THE CONG SINCE HIS MOTHER IN 1991”

Charles will later become the first British monarch to address the US Congress since his mother, Queen Elizabeth II, in 1991.

Her speech highlighted the shared history of both countries and the importance of their democratic values, themes Charles will likely reinforce on Tuesday.

Such addresses are an opportunity afforded to only the most prominent world leaders, including Pope Francis, Vaclav Havel and Winston Churchill. It will likely mark the most extensive public remarks Charles will deliver during a four-day visit to the US that's intended to celebrate the country's 250th anniversary of independence from Britain.

House Speaker Mike Johnson became the first sitting leader of his chamber to address the UK Parliament earlier this year.

He attended a garden party with the king in Washington on Monday and said he told him he would be "well received" in Congress.

The visit comes at a challenging moment for US-UK relations.

Trump's up-and-down relationship with British Prime Minister Keir Starmer has taken a particularly sour turn over the past several months as the Republican president has sought to rally international support for the war in Iran.

‘Pleased’ to engage with Russian leadership: Iran foreign minister

Reports say Araghchi’s meeting with Putin lasted 2 hours

MOSCOW: Iranian Foreign Minister Abbas Araghchi said on Tuesday that the cooperation between Russia and Iran is expanding even as the region is in major flux, as he welcomed Moscow's solidarity and support to Tehran amid uncertainty over the second round of peace talks with the US.

Araghchi, who met Russian President Vladimir Putin in St. Petersburg on Monday, said he was "pleased to engage" with Russia at the highest level as the region is in major flux.

"Recent events have evidenced the depth and strength of our strategic partnership. As our relationship continues to grow, we are grateful for solidarity and welcome Russia's support for diplomacy," he said in a post on X.

During the meeting, Putin hailed the Iranian people for fighting bravely and heroically for their sovereignty and said Moscow is ready to do its best to help bring peace to West Asia as soon as possible.

"We will do everything that meets your interests and the interests of all peoples in the region in order to ensure that this peace is achieved as quickly as possible," Putin told Araghchi, according to the Kremlin.

Regardless of everything that is happening, Iran-Russia relations will continue to grow stronger, Araghchi told Putin, according to the Kremlin.

"It has also been proven to everyone that Iran has friends and allies, such as the Russian Federation, who stand by Iran in difficult times. We are grateful to you for your firm and strong positions in support of the Islamic Republic of Iran," he said. According to Russian media, Araghchi's meeting with President Putin lasted nearly two hours.

Foreign Minister Sergey Lavrov, who attended the meeting, described it as "constructive and practical."

The Iranian minister arrived in Russia after a whirlwind trip to Islamabad, which, according to him, was "very productive" and involved "good consultations" with Pakistan's Army Chief Field Marshal Asim Munir.

Talking to Russian media, Araghchi said that the United States failed to achieve any of its objectives in its recent war against Iran. Replying to a question about US President Donald Trump's claim of victory, Araghchi said that Iran had stood firm against one of the world's major powers, and none of Washington's stated goals was met, the official IRNA reported.

Pakistan Army targets Afghan Taliban posts

ISLAMABAD: Pakistan on Tuesday responded to alleged unprovoked aggression by the Afghan Taliban and attacks by the TTP along the border, according to a media report.

The reported clashes came after a pause in Operation Ghazab Lil Haq, launched by Pakistan on Feb 26 in response to attacks on border posts by the Afghan Taliban.

Citing security sources, The Express Tribune newspaper reported that Afghan Taliban and "Fitna al-Khawarij" were targeted in the retaliatory fire by the Pakistan Army.

The term "Fitna al-Khawarij" is used by the state for militants belonging to the banned Tehreek-e-Taliban Pakistan (TTP).

"The Pakistan Army, in the Chaman sector, effectively targeted and destroyed multiple Afghan Taliban posts," the sources said.

Mali's junta leader meets Russian envoy

BAMAKO: Mali's junta leader met with Russia's ambassador to Bamako on Tuesday, authorities said, his first public appearance since the West African nation saw a massive, coordinated attack by Islamic militants and separatists over the weekend. Russia, the junta's key ally, called the attack a coup attempt.

The office of the military leader Assimi Goita released photos showing him meeting a Russian delegation led by the Ambassador Igor Gromyko in what appeared to be the presidential palace in Bamako, the Malian capital.

Meanwhile, the US Embassy in Mali issued a security alert, citing "possible terrorist movements within Bamako, including reports of forced school closures".

ZELENSKYY WARNS OF SANCTIONS Ukraine in diplomatic tussle with Israel over grain Kyiv says ‘stolen’ by Russia

KYIV: Ukraine accused Israel on Tuesday of allowing the import of grain it says Russia stole from occupied areas, prompting a sharp exchange between officials.

President Volodymyr Zelenskyy said a vessel carrying grain had arrived at an Israeli port and was preparing to unload, calling the trade illegal and warning of sanctions against those involved.

Israel claimed that the vessel had not entered the port and had not yet submitted its documents. The MarineTraffic.com marine tracking website showed the ship had been in Haifa for several days.

"In any normal country, purchasing stolen goods is an act that entails legal liability," Zelenskyy wrote on X, adding that Ukraine's intelligence services were preparing sanctions targeting companies and individuals profiting from the shipments. "We will also coordinate with European partners to ensure that the relevant individuals are included in European sanctions regimes," he said.

Ukrainian President Volodymyr Zelenskyy

Israel's Foreign Minister Gideon Saar said the country's tax authority had opened an investigation into a ship expected to dock at Haifa port.

Saar dismissed Zelenskyy's comments as "Twitter diplomacy", telling a press conference in Jerusalem that Ukraine had not provided sufficient information or requested legal assistance.

Heorhiy Tykhyi, a spokesman for Ukraine's Foreign Ministry, said Kyiv had informed Israeli authorities about the

‘We will also coordinate with European partners to ensure that the relevant individuals are included in European sanctions regimes’ vessels in advance. He said more than two had arrived in Israel carrying agricultural products Ukraine described as illegally taken by Russia from occupied Ukrainian land.

The ministry said it had summoned Israel's ambassador, Michael Brodsky, and handed him a note of protest over what it called a continuing flow of such shipments. It added that the origin of the grain had been established and that concealment methods, including ship-to-ship transfers in the Black Sea, were well known.

Belarus frees journalist Andrzej Poczobut in prisoner swap

WARSAW: Prominent journalist Andrzej Poczobut has been released from jail in Belarus in a swap with Poland that also saw a total of 10 prisoners released as the authoritarian leader of Belarus seeks improved relations with the West, officials in both countries said Tuesday.

Poczobut, a correspondent for the influential Polish newspaper Gazeta Wyborcza and a leading figure among Belarus' Polish minority, was serving eight years in prison in a case condemned as politically motivated. His arrest in 2021 drew widespread criticism from Europe, and he was later awarded the European Union's most prestigious human rights award, the Sakharov Prize.

Polish Foreign Minister Radek Sikorski described Poczobut as a symbol of the fight for freedom in Belarus but also of the effectiveness of the Polish state in leaving no one behind.

UK police probe arson attack near Jewish Centre

LONDON: The UK's counter-terror officers are investigating a suspected arson attack at a memorial wall near a Jewish Centre in north London, the Metropolitan Police said on Tuesday.

The force said it had received reports of a fire on Monday evening and while it is not being treated as a terrorist incident, officers are "keeping an open mind" about the motive behind the attack.

The memorial wall at Limes Avenue in Golders Green, which depicts Iranians killed protesting against the country's regime, was not damaged.

"We recognise that this incident will heighten concerns in the Golders Green area, where residents have already faced a series of attacks," said Detective Chief Superintendent Luke Williams.

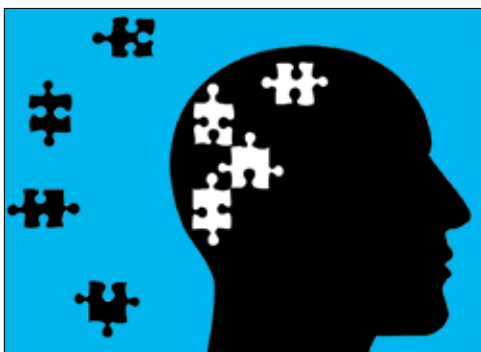

Study describes three distinct trajectories of cognitive decline in Alzheimer’s disease

Alzheimer is a neurodegenerative condition in which memory & cognition steadily declines with age

NEW DELHI: A study has revealed three trajectories of cognitive decline in Alzheimer's disease -- stable or no change, slow decline, and fast decline -- based on scans of over 1,100 people in the US who had an elevated level of amyloid protein clumps in the brain, a hallmark feature of Alzheimer's disease, but were cognitively unimpaired.

Alzheimer's disease is a neurodegenerative condition in which memory and cognition (thought processes) steadily declines with age, eventually interfering with one's abilities to perform daily activities. Scans of patients commonly show agglomerates or clumps of brain proteins, such as amyloid and tau.

Researchers from the University of Southern California's school of medicine found higher levels of tau and phosphorylated tau (P-tau217, a modified form of tau) among participants who showed a gradual or a fast cognitive decline, compared to those who remained stable.

Findings published in the Alzheimer's and Dementia: The Journal of the Alzheimer's Association also showed a smaller hippocampus among the participants with cognitive decline, a brain region involved in memory formation and among the first affected due to the neurodegenerative disease.

"Most studies look at the average across participants, which can make it seem like everyone is slowly getting worse at the same rate," said author Michael Donohue, professor of neurology and associate director of biostatistics at the University of Southern California's Keck School of Medicine.

"But we found that this approach masks major differences between people, suggesting that Alzheimer's disease is more variable than often depicted," Donohue said.

The researchers said while previous studies suggest that people with the neurodegenerative condition suffer cognitive decline at differing rates, the study is among the first to tie the patterns of cognitive decline to biomarkers, including phosphorylated tau.

The team also found that using blood tests and brain scans, they could predict and classify participants into 'stable' and 'cognitive decline' groups with about 70 per cent accuracy.

The findings also point to

Takeaways

- » Findings published in the Alzheimer's and Dementia
- » They added future trials should focus less on average results and more on different patterns of decline
- » Data for the analysis was taken from the Anti-Amyloid Treatment in Asymptomatic Alzheimer's Disease (A4) study a major challenge in Alzheimer's prevention research -- during early stages of the disease, participants may remain stable even without treatment, making it harder to detect whether a drug is working, the researchers said.

They added future trials should focus less on average results and more on different patterns of decline.

Data for the analysis was taken from the Anti-Amyloid Treatment in Asymptomatic Alzheimer's Disease (A4) study, a clinical trial of the monoclonal antibody solanezumab, and Longitudinal Evaluation of Amyloid Risk and Neurodegeneration Extension (LEARN), a companion study of people without the elevated levels of amyloid in the brain.

Scores of cognitive tests measuring memory, attention and thinking were used to assess cognitive decline among the participants.

‘PAKISTAN CONDUCTS TRAINING LAUNCH OF FATEH-II MISSILE SYSTEM’

ISLAMABAD: Pakistan has successfully conducted a training launch of the indigenously developed Fateh-II missile system, the army said on Tuesday. The launch of the system equipped with advanced avionics and state-of-the-art navigational aids was carried out by the Army Rocket Force, according to a statement by the army. "The training launch was aimed at training of troops, validating various technical parameters and performance evaluation of different sub-systems incorporated for improved accuracy and enhanced survivability," it said.

CROATIA, BOSNIA SIGN PIPELINE DEAL TO REDUCE DEPENDENCY ON RUSSIA

DUBROVNIK: Croatia and Bosnia signed an agreement Tuesday to build a gas pipeline designed to reduce energy dependency on Russia in the volatile Balkans region. The Southern Interconnection pipeline will link Bosnia with Croatia's gas network and the liquefied natural gas terminal on the Adriatic Sea island of Krk. Bosnia has designated a US-based company, AAFS Infrastructure and Energy, as the project's investor and developer. Croatian Prime Minister Andrej Plenkovic and the chair of Bosnia's Council of Ministers, Borjana Kristo, signed the deal in the presence of US Secretary of Energy Chris Wright on the sidelines of a summit of the countries.

Mfg drags IIP growth down to 5-month low of 4.1% in March

The factory output, measured in Index of Industrial Production (IIP), expanded by 3.9 per cent in March 2025, an official statement said

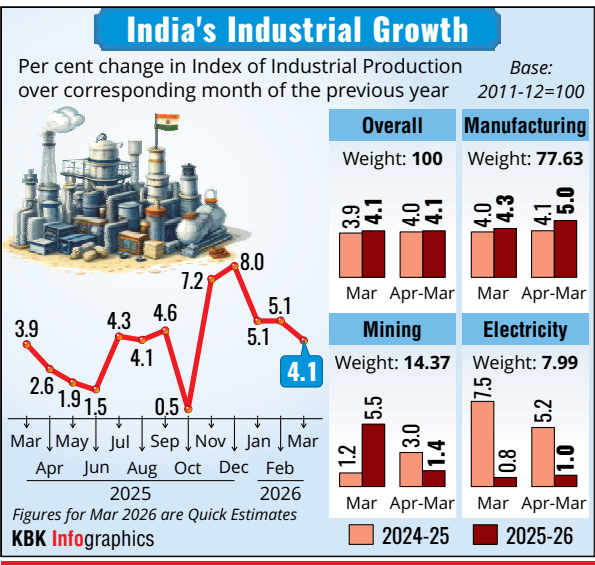

OUR CORRESPONDENT

NEW DELHI: India's industrial production growth decelerated to a five-month low of 4.1 per cent in March on account of subdued manufacturing growth and almost flat expansion in the power sector amid the West Asia crisis, according to official data released on Tuesday.

The factory output, measured in terms of the Index of Industrial Production (IIP), expanded by 3.9 per cent in March 2025, an official statement said. The National Statistics Office (NSO) revised the industrial production growth for February 2026 to 5.1 per cent from the provisional estimate of 5.2 per cent released last month.

The previous low of IIP growth was recorded at 0.5 per cent expansion in October 2025. The NSO data further showed that the manufacturing sector's output growth remained subdued at 4.3 per cent in March 2026 compared to 4 per cent in the year-ago month.

Mining production growth improved to 5.5 per cent from a meagre growth of 1.2 per cent

The National Statistics Office (NSO) revised the industrial production growth for February 2026 to 5.1 per cent from the provisional estimate of 5.2 per cent released last month recorded a year ago.

Power generation grew marginally by 0.8 per cent in March against 7.5 per cent expansion in the year-ago period.

In fiscal year 2025-26, the country's industrial production growth remained almost flat at 4.1 per cent compared to 4 per cent a year ago.

In the manufacturing sector, 14 out of 23 industry groups have recorded a positive growth in March 2026 over March 2025.

- ### Highlights
- » The previous low of IIP growth was recorded at 0.5 per cent expansion in October 2025
 - » In manufacturing sector, 14 out of 23 industry groups have recorded a positive growth in March 2026 over March 2025
 - » The top three positive contributors for March 2026 are 'Manufacture of basic metals' (8.6%), 'Manufacture of motor vehicles, trailers and semi-trailers' (18.1%) & 'Manufacture of machinery and equipment n.e.c.' 11.2%)
 - » Further, the indices for consumer durables and consumer non-durables stand at 146.2 & 150.6

'Manufacture of basic metals' (8.6 per cent), 'Manufacture of motor vehicles, trailers and semi-trailers' (18.1 per cent) and 'Manufacture of machinery and equipment n.e.c.' 11.2 per cent).

In the industry group "Manufacture of basic metals", item groups "MS slabs", "Flat products of Alloy Steel" and "HR coils and sheets of mild steel" have shown significant contribution in growth.

As per the use-based classification, the indices stand at 173.3 for primary goods, 156.2 for capital goods, 181.4 for intermediate goods and 229.0 for infrastructure/construction goods for March 2026.

Further, the indices for consumer durables and consumer non-durables stand at 146.2 and 150.6, respectively.

The corresponding growth rates of Index of Industrial Production as per Use-based classification in March 2026 over March 2025 are 2.2 per cent in primary goods, 14.6 per cent in capital goods, 3.3 per cent in intermediate goods, 6.7 per cent in infrastructure/construction goods, 5.3 per cent in consumer durables and 1.1 per cent in consumer non-durables.

Sensex, Nifty decline on surging oil prices, foreign fund outflows

OUR CORRESPONDENT

MUMBAI: Stock market benchmark indices Sensex and Nifty buckled under selling pressure on Tuesday as a sharp rally in oil prices and foreign fund outflows amid persistent geopolitical uncertainties dented investors' sentiment.

Deep losses in banking, financial and auto stocks also dragged the equity benchmarks lower, traders said.

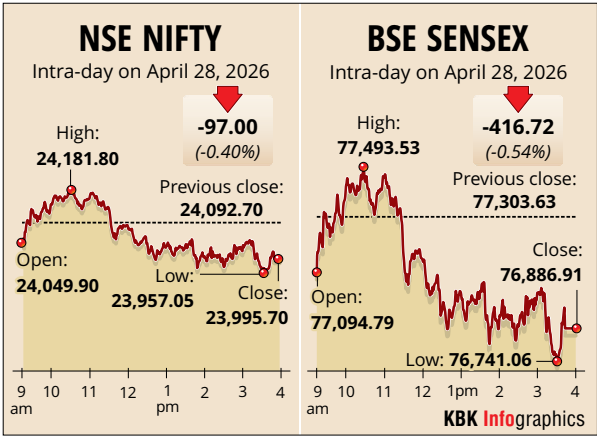

The 30-share BSE Sensex declined 416.72 points, or 0.54 per cent, to settle at 76,886.91. During the day, it lost 562.57 points, or 0.72 per cent, to 76,741.06.

A total of 2,257 stocks declined, while 1,998 advanced and 172 remained unchanged on the BSE.

The 50-share gauge NSE Nifty dropped 97 points, or 0.40 per cent, to end at 23,995.70.

"The session was largely influenced by persistent geopolitical uncertainty, particularly around US-Iran negotiations, which kept crude oil prices elevated and weighed on sentiment.

"Additionally, pressure in banking stocks following regulatory developments related to provisioning norms further capped the upside. Despite these headwinds, buying in select index heavyweights and commodity-linked stocks, along with stock-specific earnings triggers, helped cushion the downside," Ajit Mishra – SVP, Research, Religare

The rupee depreciated by 53 paise to close at 94.68 against the US dollar on Tuesday

Broking Ltd, said.

From the 30-Sensex firms, Axis Bank, HCL Tech, InterGlobe Aviation, Maruti, State Bank of India and ICICI Bank were among the biggest gainers.

The 50-share gauge NSE Nifty dropped 97 points, or 0.40 per cent, to end at 23,995.70.

RBI launches Mission SAKSHAM for UCB sector

MUMBAI: RBI Governor Sanjay Malhotra on Tuesday launched the Mission SAKSHAM for capacity-building of the Urban Cooperative Banking (UCB) sector. The RBI has been taking various regulatory and supervisory measures to support the UCB sector, the central bank said in a release.

Under Mission SAKSHAM, a large number of training programmes would be conducted for UCBs, covering about 1.40 lakh participants, for various target groups, including board members, senior management, heads of risk, compliance and audit functions, and employees working in IT functions and other critical areas.

"The Reserve Bank shall endeavour to conduct these training programmes with content delivery in regional languages to the extent feasible," the release said. The Mission has been designed in consultation with the Umbrella Organisation of UCBs and the National/State Cooperative Federations.

RBI said the Mission is expected to enhance managerial & operational capabilities, improve the compliance culture, and strengthen institutional resilience across UCBs.

Mission SAKSHAM aims to establish a sustainable, self-reinforcing ecosystem for continuous learning, contributing significantly to systemic stability and healthy growth and development of the UCB sector.

Goyal announces waiver of IP filing fees for sports sector for three years

NEW DELHI: Commerce and Industry Minister Piyush Goyal on Tuesday announced a three-year waiver of application fee for intellectual property rights (IPRs), such as patents, trademarks, and designs, related to the sports sector.

A notification in this regard will be issued by the Office of the Controller General of Patents, Designs and Trade Marks (CGPDTM), he added.

"So, from today, any IP, whether it's trademark, copyright, patent, design, traditional knowledge, or a GI product, for three years, as a special drive to promote sports, the fee will be zero," he said here at World IP Day 2026 event, organised by DPIIT in association with FICCI.

The function was organised by the Department for Promotion of Industry and Internal Trade (DPIIT) and industry sports leagues register their trade marks.

"That will help them get better media rights... That will also help you franchise your products. If your core product has an IP, then you can franchise it to others and encash value for it," he said, adding that there is a need to promote the manufacturing of sports goods like hockey sticks, balls, and gym equipment in the country.

"We can also look at scaling up some of the clusters where sports goods are made," he said.

He added that the government can provide support measures for that.

"So, let's study what in India is importing and let's see how we can increase the local manufacturing," he noted. The minister also encouraged Jammu and Kashmir to look at ways to boost the manufacturing of these products.

Adani, Mittal see Vizag as emerging AI gateway

VISAKHAPATNAM: Adani Group Director Jeet Adani and Bharti Enterprises Vice Chairman Rakesh Bharti Mittal on Tuesday underscored the importance of infrastructure, energy and connectivity in building India's artificial intelligence ecosystem, saying Visakhapatnam is poised to emerge as a key digital gateway.

The remarks came after the foundation-laying ceremony of a $15-billion AI data centre project led by Google near the port city. Adani said the group, along with Bharti Airtel, is playing a significant role in developing the facility, adding that the global AI race is increasingly defined by the ability to build large-scale infrastructure alongside software capabilities.

Calling the moment pivotal, Adani said the project signals Visakhapatnam's emergence as a hub for India's AI-driven future. The facility is being developed in partnership with AdaniConneX and Nxta by Airtel, and aims to create a gigawatt-scale ecosystem aligned with the Viksit Bharat vision.

He noted that India currently has about 1.3 gigawatts (GW) of data centre capacity, with nearly 1 GW planned at a single location in Visakhapatnam, underlining the scale of the project. Energy, he said, will be central to AI growth, with the "cost of intelligence" closely tied to power costs. Affordable and reliable energy, he added, will be critical for scaling AI adoption.

Adani also highlighted the role of undersea cable infrastructure in positioning the city as a digital gateway, saying it would reduce latency and enable faster processing of AI workloads.

Mittal credited the Andhra Pradesh government, led by Chief Minister N Chandrababu Naidu, for its policy clarity and execution, which he said have helped attract large-scale investments. He said Visakhapatnam, historically a maritime hub, is now set to evolve into a gateway for the "intelligence age," supported by robust fibre networks and digital infrastructure.

He added that Nxta by Airtel operates more than 120 data centres across India and said the upcoming facility will be sustainable, powered by renewable energy. Plans also include a state-of-the-art cable landing station and extensive intra-city and inter-city fibre networks to enhance resilience and capacity.

Anti-vaping group welcomes EU move flagging new nicotine devices as public health threat

NEW DELHI: Mothers Against Vaping (MAV) has welcomed the European Commission's recognition of emerging nicotine devices as a growing public health concern, warning that their increasing use among youth is driving addiction rather than helping people quit smoking.

MAV, a collective of women opposing the promotion of vapes and e-cigarettes to Indian youth, said these products—often marketed as safer alternatives—are drawing in younger users and acting as a gateway to nicotine dependence while exposing them to long-term health risks.

Citing the European Commission's evaluation of the EU tobacco control framework, the group noted that while traditional smoking has declined, new challenges have emerged due to the rapid rise of novel nicotine products, particularly among young people.

Dr Rajesh Gupta of Yashoda Medicity, Indirapuram, flagged serious risks linked to adolescent use, including impaired brain development affecting attention, memory and emotional regulation, along with increased vulnerability to anxiety and mood disorders.

He added that respiratory irritation and cardiovascular strain are also associated with these devices, which often sustain or initiate nicotine addiction.

The group highlighted that claims of e-cigarettes aiding in smoking cessation remain questionable. It cited reports suggesting that e-cigarette use may triple the likelihood of initiating cigarette smoking among youth.

It also referred to the World Health Organisation's stance that such devices are not proven cessation tools, and noted that a 2023 Eurobarometer survey found most respondents do not believe they help smokers quit.

In India, MAV alleged that vested interests are promoting these products through illegal online sales, smuggling, surrogate advertising and influencer campaigns, despite an existing ban. Misleading safety claims and narratives pushing for legalisation are being used to create demand, it said.

Calling for stricter enforcement and surveillance, the group urged action to curb illegal sales. Educationist Seema Anis emphasised the need for awareness in schools and families, warning that evolving nicotine products require regular policy review to remain effective. The European Commission's findings also point to growing evidence linking e-cigarettes to cardiovascular, respiratory and potential cancer-related risks, alongside concerns over pregnancy and long-term health impacts.

KOLKATA: Bandhan Bank announced its results for FY26. The bank's total business grew by more than 11 per cent, to close at over Rs 3.2 lakh crore. The Bank's share of retail to total deposits now stands at nearly 74 per cent.

The business growth observed in the FY26 was driven by the Bank's expanded distribution network, improved operational efficiency, and a consistent endeavour towards excellence. Profit earned for the financial year 2025-26 stood at Rs 1,224 crore.

The Bank now serves around 3.2 crore customers through over 6,350 banking outlets across the 35 out of 36 states and UTs of India. The stands at 29.3 per cent. The Bank's Capital Adequacy Ratio (CAR), a key indicator of financial stability, is at a robust 18 per cent well above the regulatory threshold.

Speaking on the Bank's performance, MD & CEO, Partha Pratim Sengupta said, "Bandhan Bank's FY26 performance underscores the strength of our franchise, supported by disciplined execution and diversifying business model. We will continue to pursue customer centric, digital led growth by enhancing distribution channels, expanding our product suite, and leveraging data driven insights to deliver sustainable, risk adjusted growth."

CORPORATE KALEIDOSCOPE

A well-attended Exporter-Importer Meet was successfully conducted by Canara Bank Chandigarh on April 27, 2026 at The Lalit, Chandigarh, bringing together key stakeholders from the business and trade community. REC posts net profit of ₹16,282 crore in FY26

NEW DELHI: State-run REC Limited on Tuesday reported its highest-ever annual net profit of Rs 16,282 crore for FY26, driven by strong asset quality, loan growth and improved conditions in the power sector.

The company said reforms in the sector have led to a turnaround, with loss-making distribution companies posting a rare collective net profit.

REC's loan book rose by about Rs 17,000 crore to a record Rs 5.84 lakh crore as of March 31, 2026. Its renewable energy portfolio grew 30 per cent year-on-year to Rs 75,347 crore. Asset quality strengthened, with net Stage-3 NPAs at just 0.12 per cent and Stage-2 loans down 75 per cent.

Margins remained healthy, with interest spread at 2.62 per cent and net interest margin at 3.43 per cent. Earnings per share increased to Rs 61.71. The board declared a final dividend of Rs 1.55 per share, taking the FY26 total to Rs 18.55.

REC also maintained strong operational performance, securing 'Excellent' MoU ratings for three consecutive years and improving its ranking among CPSEs in the Department of Public Enterprises survey. Its Maharashtra status was reaffirmed, and it topped ESG ratings by the NSE.

A Royal flush

Rajasthan's Ferreira, Dubey deal Punjab Kings first defeat

MULLANPUR: Donovan Ferreira's audacious stroke-play handed Punjab Kings the bitter pill of defeat for the first time in this edition of IPL as Rajasthan Royals cantered home by six wickets in a high-octane chase here on Tuesday.

Chasing a target of 223, Rajasthan Royals needed 71 off the last six overs when Ferreira smashed his way to an unbeaten 52 off 26 balls in company of an unheralded Shubham Dubey (31 not out off 12 balls) to clinch the victory with four balls to spare.

Ferreira was brilliant while picking his areas as PBKS trioka of Arshdeep Singh (1/68 in 4 overs), Lockie Ferguson (0/57 in 4 overs) and Marco Jansen (0/41 in 3.2 overs) would like to forget this day in a hurry.

Between Ferreira and Dubey, they hit nine fours and five sixes as they undid all the good work done by Yuzvendra Chahal (3/36 in 4 overs).

The manner in which Vaibhav Sooryavanshi (43 off 16 balls) started with a deluge of sixes -- five -- including a couple of flicked maxims off Arshdeep Singh and Lockie Ferguson, it seemed RR would make a meal of the chase.

Arshdeep was lucky that Sooryavanshi missed out on a sixth six when he mistimed a full-toss only for Shreyas Iyer to grab it with ease.

However, it was the wily Chahal who brought the Royals back in the game just when Yashasvi Jaiswal (51 off 27 balls) looked like slowly taking the game away in company of Dhruv Jurel (20 off 16 balls).

However, Jurel committed a hara-kiri, offering an easy skier off a full-toss but it was the manner in which Jaiswal and skipper Riyan Parag (29 off 16 balls) were taken out deserved more than honourable mention.

For both, the pace on the ball was considerably taken off and flighted outside the off-stump line without giving enough room to chance their arms. Both were holed out at long-off. But then, Ferreira and Dubey had other ideas as Chahal's good work went down the drain.

Earlier, Stoinis muscled his way to a 20-ball half-century despite a gallant effort from young leg-spinner Yash Raj Punja as Punjab Kings posted a competitive 222 for 4 after being put into bat. While PBKs' top three -- Prabhsimran Singh (59 off 44 balls), Priyansh Arya (29 off 11 balls) and Cooper Connolly (30 off 14 balls) -- all looked dangerous, but none of them went on to play a big knock on a track that was hard and offered appreciable bounce. It was Stoinis, who bludgeoned his way to an unbeaten 22-ball 62 with a half a dozen of sixes and four boundaries as RR gave as many as 55 runs in last 3 overs. AGENCIES

Suryakumar sweats it out in nets

MUMBAI: For a batter who thrived in moving away from the game for a short while to find his way back to runs, it was a contrasting sight here on Tuesday as Suryakumar Yadav sweated it out in the nets on the eve of Mumbai Indians' IPL match against Sunrisers Hyderabad here.

It was in January this year when Suryakumar banished his batting woes from 2025 with three half-centuries against New Zealand in a five-match affair right before the T20 World Cup, and helped India tide the challenge from the USA in the tournament opener with another gritty knock. On Tuesday, Suryakumar was the first to hit the nets much before MI's slated practice session from 6pm and wrapped up a one-and-a-half hour session.

Once done, Suryakumar immediately walked over to have a long chat with his Abhishek Sharma. AGENCIES

MUMBAI: Mumbai Indians will hope for a massive turnaround in fortunes against an in-form Sunrisers Hyderabad, with the five-time champion's campaign at stake in a crucial Indian Premier League clash here on Wednesday.

With five defeats in the first seven matches, and their most recent being their heaviest in history by margin of runs (103 vs Chennai Super Kings), Mumbai Indians (rank 9th, 4 points, NRR -0.736) have their backs firmly pressed against the wall in a season marred by no-shows from their top guns.

Comprising as many as four players from India's T20 World Cup-winning squad, MI's woes have been compounded by ordinary returns from skipper Hardik Pandya (3 wickets and 97 runs) and Suryakumar Yadav (157).

Tilak Varma's maiden IPL hundred against Gujarat Titans did help MI snap a four-match losing streak, but their massive loss to CSK once again threw their faltering campaign in a tailspin. MI also have had Jasprit Bumrah (2 wickets) languishing far behind. Usually preserved for breakthroughs in middle-overs and stifling oppositions at the death, Bumrah has uncharacteristically opened the attack for MI in the last two games since the other new-ball bowlers have failed to deliver.

Neither Trent Boult (1) nor Deepak Chahar (1) have been penetrative, and overall, MI have more often than not allowed oppositions to seize control in the powerplays with a lack of wickets and ordinary bowling.

Meanwhile, Rohit Sharma's absence created a void which Danish Malewar (2, 0) hasn't been able to fill in the last two games, and it remains to be seen if the former skipper has regained fitness after a hamstring issue.

With an injured Mitchell Santner being replaced by Keshav Maharaj, it also remains to be seen if Will Jacks finds a place in the playing XI. He had thrived in similar conditions in the T20 World Cup.

SRH, meanwhile, will feel they are primed to end a three-match losing streak against MI when they take the field in batting-friendly conditions of the Wankhede Stadium here.

Unfazed by an onslaught from the 15-year-old Vaibhav Sooryavanshi, SRH came out all guns blazing to record a second victory of the season over Rajasthan Royals. AGENCIES

India take lessons home after S Africa drubbing

India lost by 23 runs in the fifth and final match

BENONI: Head coach Amol Muzumdar struck a reflective note after India women's national cricket team slumped to a 1-4 defeat against South Africa women, saying the visitors would return richer in "learnings" despite the disappointing result.

India won the fourth game but ended the series with a 23-run defeat in the fifth and final T20 here on Monday.

"I think it's been a fantastic series, fought really well. It was competitive right from the start and it's been fantastic to come here in South Africa," Muzumdar said after the conclusion of the series.

"Obviously, the result hasn't gone our way. We've been a little disappointed with the 4-1 result, but we have got a lot of learnings out of the series."

The coach identified India's inability to strike in the powerplay and lapses in finishing with the bat as key areas of concern, though he noted visible improvement in the latter half of the rubber.

"Initially, in the powerplay we weren't able to pick up wickets, that was one concern area for us and also the finish with the bat. But we addressed those things in the last three games," he said.

“We’ve been a little disappointed with the 4-1 result, but we have got a lot of learnings out of the series”
— Amol Muzumdar, India coach

He lauded the opposition for coming out as strong rivals. "Credit to South Africa, and especially to Laura Wolvaardt, the way she battled. She has battled beautifully in this series."

The opener had scores of 51, 54, 115, 18 and 92 not out in the series.

Muzumdar, however, drew positives from individual performances, highlighting skipper Harmanpreet Kaur's form and work ethic.

"To start with, Harman's form has been fantastic, she's batting well and her work ethics have been spot-on," he said.

He also praised late contributions from Richa Ghosh and a return to form for Deepti Sharma. AGENCIES

Junior lifters bag four gold

NEW DELHI: Indian lifters impressed at the ongoing Commonwealth Youth and Junior Weightlifting Championships and the corresponding Universal Cup (Senior) in Apia, Samoa, securing four gold medals on the second day of competition.

Sunil Singh lifted a total of 271kg (126kg in snatch and 145kg in clean and jerk) to clinch the gold in the 65kg men's category, while Aisangfa Gogoi won the top prize in women 58kg and Abhinob Gogoi bagged the yellow metal in men's 71kg division.

Aisangfa lifted a total of 185kg (79kg in snatch and 106kg in clean and jerk) to bag gold in the 58kg women's category, while Abhinob totalled 284kg (129kg in snatch and 155kg in clean and jerk) to secure top finish in the 71kg men's division.

In the Universal Cup, Arunachal Pradesh's Charu Pesi bagged the gold medal in the men's 65kg category with a total lift of 289kg (127kg in snatch and 162kg in clean and jerk).

Indian Weightlifting Federation (IWF) president Sahdev Yadav congratulated the athletes, coaches and support staff for their performances in the tournament. AGENCIES

Women lose 0-5 to China to end campaign in Uber Cup

HORSENS: Two-time Olympic medallist PV Sindhu squandered a strong position as India failed to capitalise on chances, going down 0-5 to China to end their campaign at the Uber Cup Finals here.

The Indian women's team had opened with a 2-3 loss to hosts Denmark before bouncing back with a 4-1 win over Ukraine.

China, the most successful team in Uber Cup history with 16 titles, was always going to be a formidable opponent, with India having lost to them three times in their last three major ties.

While Sindhu remained the leader of the group, Isharani Baruah and Devika Sihag were drafted in place of Unnati Hooda and Tanvi Sharma for the other two singles.

Sindhu raised hopes as she looked set for a statement win before letting slip an 18-12 lead in the decider to go down 16-21, 21-19, 19-21 to world No. 2 Wang Zhiyi in the opening singles, handing China a 1-0 lead in the must-win Group A tie on Monday.

It would have taken a miracle to upset the defending champions thereafter and, though the young Indian shuttlers showed fight, they lacked the finishing touch and faltered at crucial moments.

Priya Konjengbam and Shruti Mishra were no match for world No. 1 pair Liu Sheng Shu and Tan Ning, losing 11-21, 8-21 in the first doubles.

Tasked with keeping the tie alive, Isharani Baruah produced a fast-paced display to trouble Tokyo Olympic champion Chen Yufei but left too many shuttles and committed errors at the net. The world No. 38 Indian missed a sitter at 20-19 in the opening game as the world No. 4 Chinese eventually sealed a 22-20, 21-13 win in 44 minutes to give China an unassailable 3-0 lead.

The pair of Treasa Jolly and Kavipriya Selvam also had their moments before going down 10-21, 21-12, 19-21 in a 59-minute clash against Luo Xu Min and Zhang Shu Xian.

World No. 43 Devika Sihag, who had won her maiden Super 300 title in Thailand this year, too made a strong start but failed to sustain the momentum, losing 21-19, 17-21, 10-21 to world No. 97 Xu Wen Jing in the third singles. AGENCIES

No demons in pitch, just RCB's brilliance: Krunal on DC Collapse

NEW DELHI: RCB all-rounder Krunal Pandya says the dramatic Indian Premier League contest against Delhi Capitals was decided as much by skill as by staying "one step ahead" in the mental game.

Reflecting on the comprehensive nine-wicket win, which will be remembered for an incredible capitulation of Delhi, Krunal underlined that there no demons in the wicket but just that pacers Bhuvneshwar Kumar and Josh Hazlewood were exceptional.

"To get six wickets in the powerplay, you have literally taken the game away from the opponent. The wicket wasn't that bad, but it was pure skill set and why they are among the best," Krunal said.

Krunal also shed light on his own evolution as a bowler, revealing that the introduction of variations like the bouncer and altered trajectory deliveries was a conscious attempt to outthink batters in a format increasingly dominated by power-hitting. "Every year the opposition prepares for you, so it becomes a mental game as well. I was thinking what I can add to be one step ahead. AGENCIES

That's where the bouncer and change in trajectory came in," he explained.

The left-arm spinner acknowledged that executing such variations is physically demanding, particularly for a spinner. "It's not easy for a spinner to bowl a bouncer. A lot depends on fitness. But I've never been scared to try new things. I took it as a challenge."

Despite the dominant performance, Krunal struck a cautious note on RCB's campaign, insisting that the team is not looking too far ahead. AGENCIES

World Team Table Tennis C'ships: India men thrash Tunisia 3-0

LONDON: The Indian men's team made a strong start to its campaign at the World Team Table Tennis Championships with a convincing 3-0 win over Tunisia, while the women's side was awarded a walkover here on Tuesday.

Manush Shah, Manav Thakkar and Harmeet Desai registered impressive wins for India. Shah got the team off to a steady start, defeating Essid Wassim 3-1 (11-5 9-11 11-3 11-5) before Thakkar and Desai picked up identical 3-0 wins.

World No 38 Thakkar then extended the lead, overwhelming Yousef Aidli 11-3 11-3 11-3 in a one-sided contest.

Desai wrapped up the tie with a composed display, beating Aboubaker Bourass 11-5 11-4 11-8 to seal a comprehensive win for the Indian side.

Earlier in the day, the Indian women's team received a 3-0 walkover after Uganda failed to report for the tie

Placed in Group 7 of Stage 1B, the result has propelled the Indian men's team to the top of the standings in a group that also features Slovakia and Guatemala.

Earlier in the day, the Indian women's team received a 3-0 walkover after Uganda failed to report for the tie.

Like the men, the women's side is also competing in Stage 1B of the tournament.

The top two seeded groups, featuring the top seven teams plus hosts England, start in Stage 1A, while the remaining teams play in Stage 1B.

Only group winners are guaranteed direct entry into the main draw from Stage 1B, while second-placed teams face a complicated qualification route based on match ratios.

Meanwhile, the Sports Authority of India (SAI) has extended significant support ahead of the Championships, sanctioning over Rs 90 lakh for preparations and participation.

This included a national coaching camp in Bengaluru followed by an overseas training stint in Sheffield.

SAI also released a total fund of approximately Rs 60.1 lakh to the Table Tennis Federation of India to ensure the teams' participation. AGENCIES

FIFA proposes new World Cup rule on yellow cards to avoid knockout bans

VANCOUVER: FIFA is preparing to tweak World Cup rules on yellow cards to ensure fewer players are suspended for key elimination games in North America.

An extra amnesty for yellow cards -- wiping player disciplinary records twice during the expanded tournament -- will be proposed to a meeting Tuesday of FIFA's ruling council, people familiar with the plan told The Associated Press. They spoke on condition of anonymity because the decision is not yet official.

At the World Cup, players must serve a one-game ban if they are shown a yellow card in two different games but they were canceled at previous tournaments after the quarterfinals stage. That ensured no player would miss the final through suspension just because of getting a yellow card in the semifinal.

Lookman a doubt for Atletico against Arsenal

MADRID: Atletico Madrid could be without striker Ademola Lookman when it takes on Arsenal looking to return to the Champions League final for the first time in a decade. Atletico and Arsenal meet on Wednesday in Madrid in the first leg of the semifinals, seeking their first Champions League title. Lookman has been key for Atletico since arriving from Atalanta this year, but he missed the last two games because of a muscle issue from the Copa del Rey final on April 19.

He practiced with the rest of the squad in the last few days and seemed ready to make his return. But Atletico coach Simone said on Tuesday the Nigeria striker was still a doubt to start at Metropolitan Stadium. "We'll see if he recovers well tomorrow," said Simone, who turned 56 on Tuesday.

Sara Arjun called Deepika Padukone and Alia Bhatt her inspiration in an old video Sara Arjun is getting a lot of love for her performance in 'Dhurandhar' opposite Ranveer Singh. Playing the role of Yalina, she struck a strong connection with audiences, while the film has become an all-time blockbuster. Amid the buzz around her breakout performance, an old childhood video of Sara has resurfaced on the internet. Sara, who started her career as a child artist, can be seen calling Deepika Padukone and Alia Bhatt her inspiration in this old video.

In the clip, which appears to have been filmed by her mother, a young Sara is seen answering a fan's question about her role model. She said, "My role model... I love the way Alia Bhatt looks and acts and I really love Alia Bhatt and Deepika Padukone. But they are not my role models, I just love them and they are my inspiration, but I wanna be Sara Arjun. If I am honest, I never want to be next to someone else."

Her words, marked by a clear sense of individuality at such a young age, have impressed many online. Social media users have been quick to praise her confidence and self-belief. One user wrote, "The girl has a sense of individuality at such a young age. Couldn't be more impressed," while another commented, "What a sorted girl!" Others described her as 'confident', 'focused' and 'incredibly talented'.

Veteran actor Bharat Kapoor dies at 80

The late actor had a cardiac arrest

Veteran actor Bharat Kapoor passed away in Mumbai on Monday following a cardiac arrest. He was 80. Actor Avtar Gill confirmed the news to SCREEN. Gill said, "I have just come from the cremation ground. When his son called me, he shared that Bharat had not been keeping well for the past three days. The main cause of death is cardiac arrest. He was at home only. Before that, he was in the hospital."

He added, "Very few people, including close relatives and members of our theatre group IPTA, attended the funeral. Rakesh Bedi, director Ramesh Kumar, actor Kuldeep Singh and a few other people from our theatre group paid their last respects to him. His prayer meeting is on April 30 from 5 to 7 pm at his house."

A widely recognised figure in Bollywood, Bharat Kapoor appeared in tens of films over four decades, starting in the early 1970s, during which he played a wide range of roles, unperturbed by how they would shape his image.

Karl Urban talks about his series 'The Boys'

OUR CORRESPONDENT

Before Prime Video's 'The Boys' blew up into the kind of series people quote, meme and obsess over, Karl Urban, who plays the now fan-favourite Billy Butcher, approached it with measured optimism. He had hope, certainly, but what unfolded over the seasons was something far bigger than a typical hit series run. As the series catapulted from a superhero drama into a full-blown pop culture force, the shift, for Karl, wasn't just visible in ratings or numbers; it played out in real time. And what followed was a steady, unmistakable rise, from growing buzz to real-world recognition and eventually, the kind of behind-the-scenes intrigue (including an on-set mole leaking script) that signalled that the series had truly entered the big leagues.

As 'The Boys' inches closer to its much-awaited finale, Karl Urban reflected on how the series' success unfolded far beyond his expectations. He shared, "I learned a long time ago it's dangerous to have expectations. I wouldn't say I had any expectations of the show, but I certainly had hopes. We were greenlit for a second season and it slowly dawned on me that this show is a hit and not just by the ratings numbers, but in day-to-day life. The interactions with people who are coming up and saying, 'Hey, I love your show, can I have my picture with you?' It was this slow process as the show became more and more popular, directly proportional to the loss of anonymity, that I knew we had reached a totally new threshold."

'It's dangerous to have expectations,' says the actor

Akhtar opened up about the 'messy' 'Don 3' row with Ranveer Singh

Farhan Akhtar finally opened up on the ongoing row with Ranveer Singh over the fate of his long-awaited next directorial, 'Don 3'. The actor-filmmaker admitted the disagreement became 'messy', but having learnt from past setbacks, he chose to count his blessings instead. Farhan also opened up about his learnings from the episode.

"What I've learnt is expect the unexpected. You can't take anything for granted until it's on film," said Farhan in a chat with 'The Hollywood Reporter India'. Completing 25 years in the film industry this year, Farhan recalled how he was incredibly lucky when stars like Aamir Khan, Saif Ali Khan, Akshaye Khanna, Preity Zinta and Dimple Kapadia instantly said yes to him for his 2001 seminal debut, 'Dil Chahta Hai'.

"You realise at some point there'll be a period that would come that would be a bit challenging. You've had it good. It's okay, just take it in your stride. I inculcated a lot from the experiences of people who came before me. There will be these moments that will come along that'll be challenging creatively and existentially. You'd wonder, 'Do I have what it takes?'" Farhan said.

But he also pointed out that his most defining success in 'Dil Chahta Hai' was followed by his most crushing failure in his sophomore directorial, 'Lakshya', starring Hrithik Roshan. That box-office failure took time to heal but eventually made him stronger to tackle similar uncertainties.
